PARIS, Aug. 19.—Considerable interest has been aroused in military circles here by the severe censures meted out by the Italian Commission of Inquiry into the Caporetto disaster to Generalissimo Cadorna and other chiefs.

The French do not hesitate to admit the existence of lowered morale due to defeatist propaganda and to injudicious conduct on the part of the army leaders, but there is a feeling that the Caporetto Commission underestimated the prime cause of the defeat, namely, the unprecedented and unexpected form of attack launched by the Germans, which subsequently became known as the von Hutier manoeuvre, from the General who first developed it against the Russians before Riga.

This method of attack was used by the enemy in all their great drives on the Western front in 1918, and proved well-nigh irresistible until Gouraud employed "depth defence" against it on 15th July—or, in other words, simply abandoned to the Germans the advanced area four or five miles deep which the von Hutier attack rendered absolutely untenable. In so doing Gouraud gave the enemy positions—notably the famous hills of Champagne—for which the French had battled desperately, but the German wave was smashed against his "battle zone" behind them.

I heard the von Hutier manoeuvre discussed hundreds of times last year by French experts both on the General Staff and at Army Headquarters. Before the summer ended all agreed it was practically irresistible, and that it was at Caporetto it first appeared on the Western front. At the same time it was curious to see the gradual change of tone as the German offensives continued.

French Convinced at Chemin des Dames.

At first there was a tendency to consider that new as was the German attack the Italians and British were somewhat to blame for not resisting it. Then after its success against the French troops on the Chemin des Dames and on the Piemont front on 9th June—that latter drive checked by Mangin's counter-attack on the 11th June did not alter the initial enemy victory—the French were willing to admit that the Germans owed their gains to the value of the method. Indeed, subsequent Allied attacks adopted many of von Hutier's points, especially those conducing to the factors of surprise and concealment—smoke clouds, etc.

After his victory in July, General Gouraud gave the correspondent a brief outline of the manoeuvre, adding at the time that with slight modifications the Germans had used the identical method successfully at Coporetto against the British in March and later against the French. He said:

"The von Hutier system broke the trench warfare deadlock in the German favour by two factors: First, the element of surprise—that is, development of unexpected strength both of men and guns at a given point—and secondly, by neutralising the land or trench defences by a brief bombardment of tremendous volume, followed by a smoke screen against which the defenders that escaped destruction were virtually powerless.

"Beginning usually four hours before the zero hour, fixed around dawn, the enemy would open fire with four or five times as many guns as the defender thought he possessed in that sector. During the preceding weeks they had been 'registering' on every worthwhile objective, but taking care to space the registering shots so as to conceal their great strength. The bombardment would contain a fixed proportion of gas and high explosive calculated to render the defence positions untenable for a considerable depth. During the final hour smoke shells at the rate of about two to one would be added. Then at the zero hour the infantry, masked and lightly equipped, would charge forward at full speed through the gas and the smoke, literally swamping the defenders and often penetrating right to the artillery positions before the isolated groups in the front line defences realised that they were surrounded."

These infantry divisions had been carefully trained in readiness and brought up at the last moment by night forced marches, during which every precaution was taken to avoid detection by airplanes. They attacked in formation of threes—two in front and one behind — which was maintained throughout the whole force from squads commanded by a corporal to divisions. The correspondent was told by a survivor at Piemont that the assailants communicated with each other by whistles in the smoke, and that while he and his comrades were utterly bewildered, the Germans seemed to know exactly where they were and what was happening.

Amazing Speed a Feature.

A feature of the attack was its amazing speed. A General, commanding a brigade at the Chemin des Dames, told the correspondent that the enemy's vanguard reached the Vesle River—nearly eight kilometers across the rough country—barely an hour after the attack had been launched.

All witnesses to these drives laid emphasis on the mist or fog, which they said was lucky for the enemy. We heard the same story at Caporetto and after the British defeat in March. It was only after the Chemin des Dames that it was generally realised that fog artificially formed was a deliberate part of the German method. Subsequently, it contributed very greatly to the Allies' victory, especially in the Anglo-American assault on the Hindenburg line at the end of September.

DAYLIGHT SAVING FINALLY KILLED

SENATE PASSES AGRICULTURAL BILL OVER THE PRESIDENT'S VETO.

BULLETIN, Washington, Aug. 20.—The Senate to-day passed the bill repealing the daylight savings law over the President's veto.

The vote was 57 to 19. The repeal bill now is law, as the House yesterday passed it over the President's vote.

AGREEMENT HAS BEEN REACHED

(Canadian Press.)

LONDON, Aug. 20.—An agreement has been reached between Sir Auckland Geddes, British Minister of Reconstruction, and locomotive engineers and firemen, settling the men's demands, it was announced to-day.

The insistence of the railroad men on 14th August that the long-pending wage dispute be settled immediately, threatened for a time to result in a strike that would have disorganised the entire railway system of the country.

Government offered the locomotive engineers and motormen of electric lines 15 shillings ($3.60) daily and firemen 11 shillings ($2.64), these wages being substitute for the present system of wages and war bonus.

PURSES OF GOLD TO ELEVEN FAIRVIEW RETURNED SOLDIERS

PRESENTATIONS MADE AT CHURCH SOCIAL HELD LAST NIGHT

On Tuesday evening, Aug. 19, a very successful social was held at Fairview church, Smith Township, followed by an excellent programme of recitations, vocal and instrumental music, after which the following boys wer called to the front: Charlie Jefferies, George Lockington, Percy Cullen, Alf. Hudson, Fred Hill, Albert Kenedy, Norman Joses, Bruce Bell, John Brown, Robt. Fowler, Cephas Heard, to whom Rev. Mr. Webster read an address, the presentation being made by Miss Anna Franks and Miss Mabel Mullen.

Dear Boys: We your friends and acquaintances have met together this evening to welcome you back to our midst and to show our appreciation of your great service to our country. We are proud that our boys did not shirk the call to duty but were willing to leave their home in defence of the empire and to lay down their lives if need be for the cause of freedom.

We regret deeply the loss of two of our boys, Noble Milburn and Harry Heard, who were two of the many thousands to lay down their lives for their friends. We are thankful that you have been spared to enjoy the fruits of the victory which you have won with so many hardships and we feel that your ideals of citizenship will be even higher than before, because you have done your duty in serving your country.

These few words of thanks would soon be forgotten were they not accompanied by something more tangible, so we ask you to accept these purses of gold in behalf of the neighborhood as a slight token of our apreciation.

We trust that in the battle of life, you will be spared to still "carry on" as you did in the great battle "over there."

Signed on behalf of the comunity.
Harry Seabrook,
E. G. Mullen,
A. Armstrong.

Mr. Charlie Jefferies on behalf of the boys replied in a few well chosen words, thanking the people for the gift; also thanking the Ladies' Aid of Fairview church for the parcels received from them while at the front which were highly appreciated by all the boys.

THREE YEAR OLD BOY WAS STRUCK BY CAR

Monday evening about 7.30 o'clock an automobile driven by Mrs. H. J. Fredericks, Brock street, struck and knocked down Willie Flint, aged three, of 138 Aylmer street, near the corner of Aylmer and George streets. Mrs. Fredericks was driving slowly at the time as there were a number of children playing in the street. The little Flint boy ran in front of the car and was struck before Mrs. Fredericks could stop.

The boy was removed to his home and Dr. McNulty called. The boy's forehead and lips were cut but there were no serious injuries.

A BIG DOLLAR DAY IN UNITED STATES

VAST SUPPLIES OF SURPLUS ARMY FOOD MAKE A NATIONAL BARGAIN.

By Ralph F. Couch.
(United Press.)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—Thirty-three thousand postmasters to-day are tabulating and forwarding to the War Department orders for more than $50,000,000 worth of food, Postmaster-General Blakeslee estimated. This is the result of the sale Monday and Tuesday of army surplus food by parcel post.

Millions more in orders will have piled up by to-night, Blakeslee said, when the postmasters will close their order books.

Delivery of the food already has begun in many sections of the country.

The sale of millions of dollars worth of surplus army food began at more than 500,000 post offices throughout the United States on Monday. This big marketing job was conducted through the parcel post. It is expected that blankets, clothing and other foods will be sold in the same way.

REPEAL OF DAYLIGHT SAVING IN UNITED STATES WILL AFFECT THIS COUNTRY.

(Canadian Press.)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—Repeal of the Daylight Saving Act was accomplished to-day, the Senate voting to sustain the House in passing the repeal measure over President Wilson's veto.

The Senate vote was 51 to 19.

As the Canadian railways adopted the new time solely on account of the United States action along that line, it follows that daylight saving will not be effective in Canada next summer.

LINDSAY MAN CHARGED WITH THEFT OF $700

One day last week, it is alleged, one of the proprietors of the Boston Cafe, Lindsay, named Gadis left town accompanied by $600 or $700 of the firm's money. Although this occurred over a week ago Chief of Police Short was only notified Saturday. The other proprietor explains this by the statement that he could not at first make himself believe that Gadis was guilty of such an act. He though that he had gone on a business trip and would return in a day or so. It is hinted that Gadis made Toronto his destination.

LEGISLATION WILL BE LIGHT

(Canadian Press.)

OTTAWA, Aug. 20. — While the Orders-in-Council to be continued in force after the formal proclamation of Peace is made, promise to be fairly long, the actual legislation before the House, which will be opened on 1st September by the Prince, may not be very heavy.

The majority of the bills will simply make provision for the continuance in force of orders for a special period.

The supplementary estimates will be light. The matter of relief for certain Western districts badly hit by successive crop failures is now engaging the attention of the Hon. Arthur Meighen and the Hon. J. A. Calder, who are in the West, and may call for legislative and financial assistance from Parliament.

CHARGE HUNS WITH MURDER

FRENCH MILITARY COURT INVESTIGATING GERMAN ATROCITIES.

(Canadian Press.)

LILLE, France, Aug. 20.—Evidence adduced before the French Military Court inquiring into the crimes committed by Germans during the occupation, indicates that the charge of murder may be brought against Von Heinrich, former Military Governor of Lille.

It was testified that after the sentence of death had been passed on two men, Von Heinrich authorised an appeal to the German Emperor. While the appeal was being made, Von Heinrich ordered the men to be executed, and they were shot 24 hours later.

The Military Court also has heard evidence against Von Zoeine, former Quartermaster-General at Charleville, who was responsible for the deportation of French girls in 1916.

Dr. Van Heinverhny, a resident of Fives, near Lille, told the Court that Capt. Simmen le Belaire was responsible for the murder of the doctor's nineteen-year-old son. The boy was bayoneted by a German soldier on the order of the captain.

Lieut. Boycel von Bympitz, of the 8th Chasseurs, of Treves, is charged with attempted murder. It is declared that the officer, while drunk, twice stabbed the priest in whose house he was living.

CRACK HILLCRESTS TO PLAY HERE SATURDAY

The local fans will be glad to learn that Manager Jake Solomon, of the Peterborough Central League team, has been successful in arranging a game with the crack Hillcrest team of Toronto, Ontario amateur champions, for Saturday afternoon at Riverside Park at three o'clock sharp.

The game should be one of the best of the season. The Hillcrests, although beaten out for their League honours this year by the fast Moose aggregation, who played here several weeks ago, are one of the best amateur teams in the Province.

In Babe Dye they have not only a crack southpaw pitcher, but one of the best hitters in the amateur game. Duke Hennessey, the Hillcrest's backstop as a sterling catcher and there are few amateur infielders who have anything on Sammy Turofsky, the Hillcrest third baseman.

The Petes will have their regular Central League team in action, with Kirn and Swanston as their battery.

The game with Hillcrests is the first of a series with crack outside teams that is being arranged.

If the fans show by their patronage that they want to see the Petes in action against good teams, the Moose will be brought here for a game, one week from Saturday, and other strong amateur outfits will perform at the Riverside Park.

PETE CAMPBELL IS THE MANAGER

FORMER LOCAL BOY AT THE HEAD OF MARLBORO HOCKEY CLUB.

TORONTO, Aug. 19.— At a meeting held at the King Edward Hotel last night the Marlboro Hockey Club was formally organized with Sir John Aird president, D. M. Munro vice-president, Harry Watson secretary, and Pete Campbell manager.

The players in attendance were Dag. Addison, Dunc. Munro, "Pork" Romeril, Roper Gouinlock, "Peck" Wright, Hugh Aird, Harry Watson and Bobby Trapps. These boys have signified their intention of playing together this season, and there are prospects that Mac. Sheldon will also be with them, providing he gets his discharge from the army.

Dick Carroll will be secured to coach the team, and efforts will be made to arrange games in New York and Cleveland.

Bob Armstrong, the former Varsity goalkeeper, is now back in the city from overseas, while "Shrimp" Cochrane, the former T.C.S. and R.M.C. forward, is also here. Cochrane also played quarter-back in rugby for T. C.S. and R.M.C.

Application will be made to enter the team in the senior O.H.A. series.

GAME FORFEITED TO LINDSAY TEAM

LATTER, HOWEVER, USED MEN IN THE SERIES WHO WERE NOT ELIGIBLE AND THEY MAY BE THROWN OUT.

The O.B.A.A. play-off scheduled for last night at Riverside Park between Matthews-Blackwell and the Lindsay Oddfellows resulted in a fiasco, owing to the rain. Manager McCabe of the Matthews team, after looking at the grounds at 5.15 o'clock, decided they were unfit to play on and informed some of his players to that effect, with the result that the Packers had not a full team on hand. Lindsay arrived in town at full strength, and after waiting until after 7 o'clock in the hope that Matthews-Blackwell could get a team together, the game was declared forfeited to Lindsay by the usual score of 9 to 0.

At that Lindsay may not be in the running long. They used a couple of players in the game here Saturday whose names do not appear in the official list furnished by the O.B.A.A. as being elegible and the probabilities are they will be out in the cold and the Matthews-Blackwell team will be ordered to play Belleville.

LOCAL MARKET

There was no change in to-day's market but lower prices are predicted soon. The late fruits are commencing to arrive in larger quantities and should likely drop in price in the near future. If the pastures continue good and the cheese market dull it is predicted that many of the farmers will send their milk to the creameries instead of the cheese factories and hence by increasing the output make for lower butter prices. Meats and hides and wool are also expected to drop in price as the market is being influenced by an influx of stock.

Reports from the fruit growing districts indicate a shortage in the crop of peaches and the likelihood of high prices in this line.

SAILOR SWIMS TEN MILES, WINNING AMERICAN TITLE.

Kerry of Canada Second—Winner's Time Better Than Two Hours.

RIVERTON, N.J., Aug. 19.—Eugene T. Bolden, a sailor of the Great Lakes Naval Training Station, furnished one of the biggest surprises of the season, when he won the ten-mile national swimming championship in the Delaware River today, setting a new record for the event. His time was one hour 59 minutes 18 seconds. He defeated 28 men, among them some of the best swimmers in America.

Johnny Kerry of Canada, and Harold Kreuger, of the Oaklands A. C., backstroke champion, had a great battle for second place, the Canadian winning by a margin of only one second. They finished about half a mile behind Bolden. Bolden swam a four-beat straight crawl, with no pounding of the legs, and a splendid hip movement. His stroke was so rapid that many thought he would not be able to maintain the pace throughout the race. He never wavered, however, and at the finish appeared comparatively fresh.

300 MILES OF CANAL IN OPERATION; WORK ON REMAINDER IS ADVANCING

CONSTRUCTION OF SECTION AE TRENTON AND BETWEEN LAKE COUCHICHING AND GEORGIAN BAY—GREATEST ACTIVITY IN SEVERN RIVER SECTION.

LOCKS AND DAMS

The route of the Trent canal as now in operation and under construction lies between Trenton, on the Bay of Quinte, where direct connection is made with Lake Ontario, and Honey Harbour, on Georgian Bay, from which port the water of the upper great lakes are at once accessible. The portion of the canal now under construction lies between Lake Couchiching and Georgian Bay.

Canal in Operation.

That portion of the canal which lies between Trenton and Rice Lake is now practically completed; the extent of the canal now in operation or ready for operation may therefore be stated as about 200 miles, or between Trenton and Washago. In addition to this, other channels maintained would approximate a total of 90 miles.

On those portions of the canal which have been under regular operation various improvements and repairs have been made, as stated in the current report of the Department of Railways and Canals.

Canal Under Construction.

Ontario-Rice Lake Division.— Under this division is included the portion of the canal which lies between Trenton and the easterly end of Rice Lake, a total distance of 36 1-2 miles. As already noted, this section of the canal is now practically completed, and will be opened for traffic early next season.

Severn Division.— Under the division is included the portion of the canal between Lake Couchiching and Port Severn, on Georgian Bay, a total distance of 48 miles. In this distance there will be included 4 miles of canal, 3 1-4 miles of subaqueous channel and 36 3-4 miles of deep-river and lake navigation. The rise of about 189 feet between the level of Couchiching will be overcome by five locks. For the regulation of the river levels, fifteen dams will be required. The route of the canal will be crossed by eight steel bridges, five for highway and three for railway traffic. Five of these bridges will be fixed spans, and the remainder swing spans. For construction purposes this division has been subdivided into four sections or contracts known as sections 1, 2 ,and 3, and the Port Severn section. Section 1 is not yet under contract, and it is not likely that tenders on it will be called for until after the close of the war. The work to be undertaken will include the construction of three locks and two regulating dams, and will extend from deep water in Georgian Bay, near Island No. 181, 17 miles easterly, to a point a little above the Big Chute near the mouth of the Severn River. Section 2, now under contract, extends from the Big Chute to a point above McDonald's Rapids, a distance of 11 1-2 miles. The work included in the contract comprises principally the construction of a dam at Pretty Channel, a dam, lock, and power-house at Swift Rapids, and the reconstruction of the Canadian Northern Railway bridge at Ragged Rapids. The dam at Pretty Channel was completed towards the close of 1915. The dam at Swift Rapids was completed near the close of navigation last season. Since the completion of this dam, the elevation of the water in the river between Swift Rapids and Ragged Rapids has been raised 47 1-2 feet. The power-house at this point has been completed and all machinery installed, and it is expected that the plant will be in operation within a few days. Work on the lock has been proceeding satisfactorily. The excavation for the lock pit is about completed. The concrete work of the lock and the entrance piers is now about two-thirds completed. The upper entrance piers, breast wall and gate recess walls have been finished, and work on the side walls is well advanced. The swing span of the bridge at Washago for the crossing of the Canadian Northern Railway was completed during the year. The girder approach at the west end has not yet been erected, and the completion of the railway diversion on either side of the bridge has been delayed for want of rails. No further work was done on the substructure of the Ragged Rapids bridge. Section 3, which is about 15 1-4 miles in length, extends from the easterly end of section 2 to deep water in Lake Couchiching. The contract for the work to be undertaken includes the construction of a lock just north of Lake Couchiching, two highway swing bridges, one railway swing bridge, and several small dams near Washago, as well as a large amount of rock and earth excavation. Owing to the conditions resulting from the European war, a surrender of the contract was effected. Of the total amount of work to be performed under the contract, a little more than half has now been completed. Of the work thus far carried out, the following items are among the more important: The excavation for the Couchiching lock is practically completed, and the concrete work on the upper entrance piers, breast and recess gate walls is well advanced. The dredging of the channel in Lake Couchiching is nearly completed. The canal cut across country, from the Muskoka Road bridge to the river, is well advanced. The highway bridge at Muskoka Road is completed and now in use. The construction of the pivot pier only at the Hamlet Highway crossing of the canal has thus far been carried out. The swing bridge for the crossing of the Canadian Northern Railway is complete, except for the erection of the fixed spans at the west end.—"The Canadian Official Record."

PRETTY WEDDING AT STONEY LAKE

MISS AILEEN MACKENZIE BECOMES BRIDE OF ERIC GRIER.

For the first time since the church was built, a wedding took place at St. Peter's church at Stoney Lake this afternoon at 2 o'clock when Aileen MacKenzie, daughter of Professor Michael and Mrs. MacKenzie, of Toronto, was united in marriage to Eric Monro Grier of Toronto, late of the Royal Naval Air Force, and a nephew of Mr. E. Wylie Grier, the celebrated Toronto artist. Archdeacon MacKenzie, grandfather of the bride, performed the ceremony.

Romance surrounded the entire wedding, even from a standpoint of setting, as not only was it the first wedding in the church, and one of the very few wedding ever solemnized at Stoney Lake, but it was in the building for which the bride's father had long laboured to have built. Long before the wedding party arrived by boat at the church door, myriads of canoes, row boats and launches from all parts of the lakes had commenced to arrive, loaded with keenly interested friends. Upon the bride's arrival she entered the church under the escort of her father, looking very pretty in her beautiful gown of embroidered Japanese muslin over pink chiffon, the gift of her godmother, Mrs. Sweeney, wife of Bishop Sweeny, of Toronto, and the conventional wedding veil caught up by orange blossoms which had been worn by her two grandmothers. Her bouquet was tied with the ribbon which had tied her grandmother's golden wedding bouquet and she wore a brooch which her grandmother had worn on the same occasion. She was attended by her sister, Miss Blossom MacKenzie, while her sister Mrs. George Douglas, of Mexico, acted as matron of honour. The groom was supported by his cousin, Mr. Geoffrey Wylie Grier, of the Royal Naval Air Force.

Immediately after the ceremony the bridal party left the charmingly decorated church, which presented a most picturesque appearance, decorated as it was in hundreds of water lilies, ferns and evergreens and returned to Professor MacKenzie's summer cottage, Loch End, where an informal reception was held, which was attended by a very large number of friends of the family. Mr. and Mrs. Grier later left by Mr. Grier's motor boat for Burleigh and will spend their honeymoon in the upper lakes. They will later leave for Toronto, where they will reside.

The ceremony took place in the little church erected some years ago for the benefit of the cottagers.

SMALL BOYS ROBBING GARDENS IN THE CITY

Of late a number of small boys have been making a practice of robbing gardens and orchards in the West End and have even gone so far as to sell the fruits and vegetables thus secured on the same streets from which they were stolen. Reports of such depredations have been becoming more numerous and the police, who have been on the watch caught two of the boys red-handed. They will appear in police court Friday morning.

It is, to say the least, annoying to men who have worked hard all summer to make their gardens a success to thus lose the fruits of their labour. In many cases garden produce is wasted by the depredators in miniature battles.

The practice is prevalent in all parts of the city and in many cases the parents are as much to blame as the children for the mothers often use the vegetables and fruits that their children have stolen. It is to be hoped that an example will be made in police court Friday morning of the two already apprehended.

CITIZENS' ORGANIZATION IN WINNIPEG PREPARES TO PERPETUATE ITSELF

A DEVELOPMENT OF THE COMMITTEE OF ONE THOUSAND THAT WAS ACTIVE IN THE BIG STRIKE--WILL ENTER CITY POLITICS AND WILL OPPOSE LABOUR SLATE.

WINNIPEG LABOUR DIVIDED

(Special to The Examiner.)

WINNIPEG, Man., Aug. 20. — A permanent Citizens' committee to succeed the Committee of One Thousand, which will be the new body in the centre of a civic political fight this fall, and possibly lead to other activities, was consumated at a mass meeting of citizens last evening in the Board of Trade buliding.

A tentative draft of the constitution contains a clause providing for a Committee on Municipal Affairs, which, according to members, undoubtedly will begin work at once to make the new Citizens' committee a factor in the coming elections and to fight unsafe labor men for the council.

Whether the committee will place candidates of its own in the field for the mayoralty and aldermanic seats was not decided. That it will at least endorse certain candidates, however, is certain among men who were active on the Committee of One Thousand. Some suggestion among members of the committee that certain labour candidates be given endorsement of the new body as best means of replacing office holders whose activities have not, in the eyes of the committee indicated a proper respect for constituted government. It is not known yet whom the Labour party will put in the field. A meeting of the executive is to be held Thursday evening in the Labour Temple to arrange for a general convention to choose a candidate for mayor and devise a plan for nominating candidates for aldermen.

Opponents of the plan to endorse Labour candidates in the ranks of the Citizens' committee argued that the present split in labor will divide the labour vote as well as labour organization, with the result that the committee ticket can be elected by a centralization of effort.

BIG STRIKE ON NIAGARA LINE

ST. CATHARINES, Aug. 21.—As threatened, all the employes of the Niagara, St. Catharines and Toronto railway in every department, went on strike at four o'clock this morning, in protest against the refusal of E. W. Oliver, General Supt. of the Company, to produce to the Union committee his evidence for the dismissal of several conductors, including a Union official. Much inconvenience and disruption of business has resulted from the strike.

A DEFENCE OF THE BIG PACKERS

UNITED STATES SENATOR SAYS THERE IS NO REASON WHY THEY SHOULD BE SINGLED OUT.

(Special to The Examiner.)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.— A defence of the big packers was made to-day by Senator Fernald, Maine, in a speech on the Senate floor. He urged that attempts to regulate the big industries of the country be abandoned and free play given to individual enterprise. Fernald, himself a large packer of vegetables, declared the big packers are efficient and economical and declared there is no reason why they should be singled out for attack. If they are licensed, all business should be treated similarly. Fernald

MORMONS MAY LOCATE IN 1000 ISLAND PARK.

KINGSTON, Ont., Aug. 20.—Residents of the Thousand Island Park, New York, are much worked up over a report that the park may be purchased by the Mormon Church of the East for the establishment of a colony.

250,000 STEEL MEN THREATEN STRIKE

UNION MEMBERS DEMAND CONFERENCE WITH THE U. S. STEEL CORP.

(Canadian Press.)

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio, Aug. 21.—"The date for a nation-wide strike, affecting 250,000 organised iron and steel workers, will be announced in ten days, unless the heads of the United States Steel Corporation agree to arrange for a conference with Union representatives."

This statement was made by Union officials to-day after a re-canvass of the votes cast by Union members on the question of whether they would strike if necessary to back up their demands.

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio, Aug. 20.—Ninety-eight per cent. of the steel workers voting on the question of a national strike voted in favour of a walk-out, it was announced here this afternoon by W. Z. Foster, secretary-treasurer of the American Federation of Labour's Committee on organisation in the steel industry, which canvassed the vote to-day.

Mr. Foster said that the committee is now taking up the matter of setting a date for the strike. The committee did not give out the number of votes.

NOTHING ON US

It was a mile from Mount Clemes. The pilot of the plane from Selfridge Field was giving a visiting officer his first air voyage. He cut off the motor. "See those people?" shouted the pilot. "Fifty per cent. of them think we are going to fall." "They've got nothing on us," was the reply that streamed half a mile back of the plane. "Fifty per cent. of us do."—Detroit News.

THE OMSK GOVERNMENT IS GROWING WEAKER

TOKIO, Aug. 21.— The All-Russian government at Omsk has transferred its gold reserve and archives eastward to Irkutsk according to apparently reliable reports received here. Other information from Siberia indicates that the Omsk government's position is growing weaker instead of stronger because of the advance of the Bolsheviki and desertion of Siberian troops.

WIRES RUBBING ON ROOF CAUSED FIRE

Yesterday evening at 6.40 o'clock the fire department was called to the William Hamilton Co.'s plant, where a shed had caught fire due to power wires rubbing against the roof. The damage was slight and the fire soon under control.

RADICALS FROM AMERICA AND EUROPE RETURN TO PLAGUE THEIR INVENTOR

RUSSIANS, HUNGARIANS AND COMMUNISTS DEPORTED FROM THE UNITED STATES ARE WORKING ON GERMANY---GOVERNMENT WILL SHOW NO MERCY TO AGITATORS.

SAID TO BE GRAFTERS

(By Carl D. Groat.)

BERLIN, Aug. 21.— Russian gold, intended for the propagation of Bolshevism in Germany, is being smuggled across the eastern borders by agents of the Reds, it was learned here today from reliable sources. Until recently the German government authorities had been able to capture some of the smugglers, but apparently they have found new methods of evading the border guards for in the past month the government has been unable to lay its hands on conspirators.

In stating to-day that energetic measures were being taken to apprehend smugglers, government officials declared that Germany had no sympathy with Bolshevik efforts and that no mercy would be shown the agitators if they were captured. They asserted, too, that Russians deported from the United States were finding their way to Germany, where they continued to work the interests of communism and other radical movements. It was also believed that the Hungarian extremists fleeing from Budapest after Bela Kun's downfall, were seeking a foothold in Germany.

Evidence indicates that the promoters of Communist theory are largely grafters who line their own pockets and leave much of the actual propaganda work to ardent followers who receive no pay.

DESERTED FROM 93RD RE-ENLISTED IN NAVY

HAROLD MACDONALD ALLOWED TO GO ON SUSPENDED SENTENCE.

In this morning's police court Harold MacDonald was charged with deserting from the 93rd Battalion. MacDonald pleaded guilty. He stated that, soon after he had enlisted his wife had to undergo an operation. She had been in ill health and did not wish him to go overseas just then. Consequently he deserted. As soon as she had recovered, however, he enlisted in Toronto with the navy under the name of Harold J. McMillan.

He spent nineteen months in the mine sweeping squadron and was invalided home. Considering the facts of the case the Magistrate was inclined to be lenient and allowed MacDonald to go on suspended sentence on condition that he pay costs of $16.35.

MacDonald was arrested in Toronto where he was working as a teamster for a cartege company.

CLOCK PRESENTED TO MISS EDNA BINGHAM

A very pleasant time was spent at the home of Miss Edna Bingham, when a number of girls from the Bonner-Worth met and presented her with a beautiful clock.

The following address was read by Miss Winnie Knight, while Miss Annie Scates gave her the clock:

Dear Edna:

It was with sincere regret that we learned of your intended departure from our midst. You have long been a faithful worker among us and our heartfelt wishes to follow you to your new home.

We ask you to accept this gift as a slight remembrance of your old workmates. We all join together in wishing you every success and happines for the future.

Signed on behalf of the Spinners.

JAS. EMMETT.

In reply Miss Bingham said that it would not only remind her of the time of day but also of the many happy and pleasant hours she had spent with them all.

MEXICO ASKS FOR THE WITHDRAWAL OF TROOPS

MEXICAN AMBASSADOR AT OTTAWA IS INSTRUCTED TO MAKE REPRESENATION TO THIS EFFECT TO THE UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT.

(United Press.)

MEXICO CITY, August 21. The Mexican Government has complete confidence in the good intentions and the spirit of justice of President Wilson and the American people, Secretary of State Berlanga told the United Press to-day when asked for an expression of opinion on the crossing of the International boundary by the American troops near Candelaria, Texas.

President Carranza, asked for his opinion of the incident, said Ambassador Bonillas, in Washington, had been instructed to make representations to the American Government, asking the immediate withdrawal of the American cavalrymen and airplane.

The President did not give any opinion as to how he viewed the case, merely reciting the facts as related in the telegrams to him.

STRIKE ON NIAGARA AND TORONTO RAILWAY FOR THE REINSTATEMENT OF AGENT

FOUR HUNDRED EMPLOYEES OF BIG ELECTRIC LINE IN NIAGARA PENINSULA DEMAND DETAILS OF CHARGES AGAINST WM. BELL--STRIKE IS UNANIMOUS.

MANY HAVE TO WALK

(Special to The Examiner.)

ST. CATHARINES, Aug. 21.—True to their promise, the men employed on the Niagara, St. Catharines and Toronto Railway Company, operating electric lines all through the Niagara district, went out this morning and the whole system is tied up. It is not likely the company will try to run any cars, leaving it rather a question for the public to judge.

As is usual the public is hit and hundreds of workers had hard jobs getting to work this morning. Many go from here to Niagara Falls and Welland and other places. The Grand Trunk carried some, but the service is merely nominal. The men on strike ask for the reinstatement of their business agent, Conductor Wm. Bell, or else details of charges against him. Jitneys were brought into service today, their biggest work being carrying the people three or four miles to Port Dalhousie to catch the boat for Toronto.

Strike Is Unanimous.

From reports received early this morning the strike is unanimous. Niagara Falls city, served by the N. S. and T.R., is also tied up. About 400 men are affected by the strike.

SEVERAL TIMES $50,000,000 LEFT BY LATE ANDREW CARNEGIE.

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—Although Andrew Carnegie, steel magnate and philanthropist, declared during his lifetime that he expected to give away his huge fortune and "die a pauper," his estate to be disposed of by a will which is to be filed for probate next week was "several times $50,000,000," it was learned from an authoritative source here tonight.

Publication of a story to the effect that Mr. Carnegie had given away all of his estate with the exception of about $50,000,000 brought the statement that the estate was much larger.

ONE BANDIT KILLED AND TWO INJURED

AMERICAN AVIATORS JOIN IN CHASE OF MEXICANS.

(Canadian Press.)

MARFA, Texas, Aug. 21. One bandit was believed to have been killed and two others made prisoners since the American troops crossed the Rio Grande into Mexico Tuesday morning. Neither man was Renteria, bandit leader. One Mexican was killed Tuesday when American aviators returned their fire when they saw three bandits near the border, one of whom was seen to fall with his horse. The American troops slept last night on the trails of the bandits after losing them Tuesday in torrential rains, picking up the trails again yesterday. They are co-operating with General Pruneda, with approximately 250 Carranza troops.

"EMPIRE" THEATRE WILL OPEN TO-MORROW UNDER A NEW MANAGEMENT

Mr. C. T. Porter, who recently bought the Empire Motion Picture Show from Dr. F. L. Robinson, has taken possession of the theatre and will put on the first show under his management to-morrow afternoon. Mr. Porter returned some time ago from overseas, where he served with the Princess Pats through all the principal engagements in which the regiment figured.

Since taking over the Empire, the new proprietor has made alterations of practically the whole building. While heretofore it has been known as the best ventilated picture show in the city, he has had the fans and all electrical equipment overhauled and modernized. The pictures will be chosen from practically the same circuit as Dr. Robinson patronized, with some few alterations for better service.

The whole theatre has been redecorated to the interior and outside.

Miss Muriel Porter, an accomplished musician, will take over the musical direction of the show. The Empire opens to-morrow at 2.30 with a thrilling Wm. S. Hart picture, "Wolves of the Wire."

The theatre is a Union shop, and a Union operator of the machine.

GERMANY FACING A NEW INTERNAL UPHEAVAL

GENERAL STRIKE IS POSSIBLE AND FRESH SPARTACAN UPRISINGS ARE FEARED BY THE GERMAN GOVERNMENT---MAY MEAN REVOLUTION.

SITUATION IS SERIOUS

(United Press.)

LONDON, Aug. 21.— Germany is facing woes that may plunge the Fatherland into another internal upheaval, it was indicated to-day in despatches from Weimar. A general strike, which will affect the whole of Germany, is possible, reports said. Moreover, fresh Spartacan uprisings are feared by the government, and according to an official announcement the Government has positive proof that the Spartacans are preparing another revolution. Government information indicates their revolutionary plans embrace a comprehensive programme of strikes, the destruction of harvests and farm houses and the interruption of traffic. To gain support for their movement, the officials declare the agitators are relying on Germany's economic difficulties, such as the lack of coal and the people's objection to payment of heavy taxes. The situation is further aggravated by the prospect of a strike of a million office workers who are demanding higher wages.

The German government is taking the strictest precautionary measures, but admits the situation is serious. Prof. Francke, a prominent political economic of Berlin, is quoted as saying that the next three months will decide the fate of Germany.

Formal receptions by the city and province will take place to-morrow.

MINERS AGAINST ONE BIG UNION

MINISTER OF LABOUR SAYS COAL MINES WILL BE WORKING FULL FORCE BY END OF THE WEEK.

WINNIPEG, Man., Aug. 21.— By the end of the week Alberta and British Columbia coal mines will be working full force, according to a statement made by Senator G. D. Robertson, Minister of Labour, who passed through Winnipeg on his way to Ottawa, after paying a visit to the western coal fields. Miners are steadily returning to work and have affiliated themselves with the United Mine Workers of Canada, while One Big Union has been repudiated. As far as the mining districts are concerned, it is understood that "One Big Union" is a dead issue, members of that body being unable to secure employment.

THE YORKSHIRE STRIKE IS SETTLED AT LAST.

LONDON, Aug. 21—The strike of the Yorkshire coal miners, which has been in progress for many weeks, has been settled.

All the Yorkshire pits will resume work as soon as practicable.

NOT A DODGE SAYS BURNABY

PRESIDENT OF UNITED FARMERS MAKE A DECLARATION AT MAMMOTH PICNIC.

(Special to The Examiner.)

OTTERVILLE, Ont., Aug. 21.—At a mammoth United Farmers' picnic, attended by five thousand, held yesterday, R. W. E. Burnaby, President of the Farmers' Co-operative Society, declared the United Farmers of Ontario was not a political dodge in any shape or form. It had been charged that the organization was a Liberal dodge to get a crack at the Conservatives, yet when the seven head officials were considered it was shown that five of them had never cast a Liberal vote in their lives. The sixth one had voted Liberal and Conservative, while the seventh was a life-long Liberal. He showed the need of representation in Parliament by the farmer, sayin gthat only in this way could he secure his rights.

VOCATIONAL OFFICE MAY BE SECURED

In order to facilitate proceedings for the local returned men in taking Vocational Training courses Mr. Whatley, Secretary of the Great War Veterans is working assiduously to have headquarters for the officers of the Training established in the city. The establishment of headquarters which Oshawa has already obtained will avoid a great deal of delay in sending men to take the courses in Toronto and Kingston.

Mr. Whatley said this morning that he is confident his efforts will prove successful in the near future.

STRIPPING ARMOURIES OF WAR EQUIPMENT

FURNISHINGS USED BY 93RD BATTALION ARE BEING THROWN OUT.

All evidences that the 93rd Battalion was ever quartered in the Armouries in the city will probably be removed by the end of the week and already the majority of the extra bunks which were built for the accommodation of the soldiers who were quartered in the building have been taken down to be sold to the Exhibition Board. At present the dining room tables and benches are piled with the stoves ready for removal. L. Hunter has bought the plumbing used in the Armouries during the occupation and has taken down the six furnaces and two stoves used for the drill hall.

COBALT MINERS WILL STAY OAT

COBALT, Aug. 21.—Following the failure of all negotiations with managers for settlement of the mine strike, the officials of the Union now declare that the men will increase their demands and will stand out, every man, until they are granted by employers.

LOCAL MARKET

The prophesied drop in prices has not come yet and the market remains steady. The local merchants however are still expecting lower prices soon. To-day's prices follow:

Local fruit dealers say that the fruit crop this year will be short. The heavy rain of a few days ago will help along the later fruits somewhat but it has had a bad effect on earlier fruits. Many of the early fruits being received are in bad condition. As for prices they are high and will likely remain so.

"DRY" ERA BOOMS TOBACCO.

President Menocal's Brother Looks for a Prosperous Cuban Season.

Prohibition is going to give an impetus to tobacco growing in Cuba, according to Dr. Luis N. Menocal, one of Cuba's most famous surgeons, and brother of President Mario G. Menocal of Cuba, who was at the Hotel Majestic en route to his summer home at Lake Placid.

"When people are deprived of liquor they naturally turn to some other stimulant, and tobacco is the most likely one," saidDr. Menocal. "For that reason the tobacco growers look for a record-breaking season, and are preparing for unprecedented demands in the tobacco market. The next crop has been calculated at about $60,000,000."

Anything that needs to dry quickly should be washed on a hot day.

BACK TO OLD TIME

The rural residents of Canada and those in the cities who are opposed to the Daylight Saving System, will doubtless read with considerable pleasure the announcement that the United States Senate has passed the Agricultural Bill, containing a clause repealing daylight saving, over the President's veto and the system will be discarded by the United States. It will be remembered that although the Act was passed by both Houses, President Wilson, on his return from France ,vetoed the measure because of the Daylight Saving clause. It has now been passed again by the necessary two-thirds vote and the United States will, therefore, go back to old time next year.

The action of the United States decides the matter for Canada as well. The Canadian railways will be forced to adjust their time tables to coincide with those in use below the border and with the railways running on the old time there will be no justification for cities and towns in Canada to adopt Daylight Saving as the majority of them did this year in the face of Parliament's refusal to officially adopt the system. The pressure of the agricultural interests was sufficient to defeat the measure in the United States.

THE GUARDS BAND.

Peterborough has been signally honoured in being given an opportunity to hear the famous Grenadier Guards Band which will visit the city to-morrow. The visit of the Guards Band at this time is a remarkable event not only because they are a wonderful musical organization, but because they represent the Imperial Army and the brigade of Guards, the most famous in His Majesty's forces. It is because of what Capt. Williams and his men stand for that the Great War Veterans will welcome them on their arrival in Peterborough—it is because of their record that the people of this city should give them a right royal reception. The Guards, Britain's show brigade in peace times, won undying fame in the war. The story of their gallantry on many a hard fought ground has been eloquently told and no finer tribute has been paid to them than by Sir Arthur Conan Doyle in his stirring poem, "The Guards Came Through," in which, after telling of the hard pressed Tommies holding the line at Hill 70 in the face of great odds, hanging on desperately until help arrived, the poet thus describes the coming of the Guards:

"Our throats they were parched and hot
But Lord, if you'd heard the cheers!
Irish and Welsh and Scot
Coldstream and Grenadiers.
Two brigades if you please,
Dressing as straight as a stem
We—we were down on our knees,
Praying for us and for them!
Praying with tear-wet cheek,
Praying with out-stretched hand,
Lord, I could speak for a week,
But how could you understand!
How should your cheeks be wet,
Such feelin's don't come to you.
But how can me or my mates forget
When the Guards came through!

"Five yards left extend!"
It passed from rank to rank,
Line after line with never a bend
And a touch of the London swank,
A trifle of swank and dash,
Cool as a home parade,
Twinkle and glitter and flash,
Flinching never a shade,
With the shrapnel right in their face
Doing their Hyde Park stunt,
Keeping their swing at an easy pace,
Arms at the trail, eyes front!
Man, it was great to see!
Man, it was fine to do!
It's a cot and a hospital ward for me
But I'll tell 'em in Blighty wherever I be
How the Guards came through."

The great band, which comes to us to-morrow, represents the men whom Sir Arthur pictures, and doubtless some of the soldiers he so splendidly praises are members of the Guards Band. The Guards, Grenadiers, Coldstreams, Irish, Scots and Welsh have covered themselves with glory, Peterborough has a chance to show its appreciation by an enthusiastic welcome for Capt. Williams and his men. And if they play the "British Grenadiers," let the applause show that appreciation.

PROTECTING THE SOLDIER.

The Board of Pension Commissioners are well advised in providing safeguards against those who might [illegible] to collect exorbitant fees to returned soldiers for services rendered in connection with pension applications. While the majority of lawyers and other citizens who have assisted Veterans in securing an adjustment of their claims have done so voluntarily, yet there are individuals who would be willing to rob the man who has fought overseas if it were possible to do so. A new clause in the Pensions Act renders it impossible to charge exorbitant rates, making it necessary that accounts for services rendered to any application for a pension must be submitted to the Board of Pension Commissioners for approval before it is collectable and a severe penalty is provided for any infraction of this regulation. The clauses in question are quoted for the benefit of returned soldiers who may not have seen them:

20. "Accounts for fees or charges "for services rendered with respect of "any application for a pension shall "be submitted to the Commission for "approval and shall not be collect- "able unless and until the Commis- "sion shall have approved of them."

44. "Any person who collects or at- "tempts to collect any fees or charg- "es for services rendered with respect "of any application for a pension, the "amount of which fees or charges "has not been approved by the Com- "mission, shall be guilty of an offence "and shall be liable on summary con- "viction to imprisonment for a period "not exceeding six months, or to a "fine not exceeding five hundred dol- "lars, or to both imprisonment and "fine."

LABOUR'S OBLIGATIONS.

Under the heading "Labour's obligation in the Present Crisis," the Canadian Labour Press for August reviews the present industrial situation and makes a strong plea for the purchase of Made in Canada products. It urges the necessity for increased production and for efficient workmanship and contends that labour must repudiate the leadership of extreme elements.

"The reception of the report of the Industrial Relations Commission," the Labour Press says, "seems to prove that the sentiment of the country is with Labour in its demands for an eight-hour day, collective bargaining and the right to organize in trade unions. These conditions are admitted in the majority report of the Mathers Commissions, but if there are to be legitimate concessions to Labour, both industry and the general public have a right to demand sound economic teaching from Labour leaders. The crying need of Canada to-day is increased production. Only by the creation of new wealth can the Dominion recover from the strain of five years of war, and corect the present economic situation. The democracy which preaches the right of the individual should also insist upon individual responsibility to the community. It is right that Labour should have a reasonable working day at more than a living wage, that it should have assurances against unemployment; time for recreation, and decent housing conditions. But in return Labour is under obligation to the state to render efficient service, to give its best workmanship, to produce to the maximum, and to employ constitutional methods in the conduct of its particular activities.

"Labour must be divorced from I. W. W. and Bolshevist influences. The leadership of thoughtful workers must be restored. The Trades and Labour Congress is to be held in September, will be a critical event. In Toronto, Winnipeg, Vancouver and Calgary, Red influences attempt to dominate the local councils. If such influences control the Trades and Labour Congress, the Government's efforts to create a better understanding and more thorough cooperation between employers and employees through the medium of the Industrial Conference, which is promised within the next few weeks, can hardly succeed. Its success depends upon the reasonable attitude of Canadian workers and if their leaders refuse to participate in such a conference as local councils refused to appear before the Royal Commission on Industrial Relations, harmony cannot be restored in the industrial field and Labour will merit the condemnation of the general public."

AN ALARM CLOCK NEEDED.

The government at Ottawa seems to be sleeping on the job. Even so friendly a critic as The Mail and Empire feels called upon to wake them up. The Mail says the government did splendidly during the war, but intimates that it is not addressing itself with the same zeal and energy to after-the-war problems. It delicately refrains from mentioning the high cost of living, but urges the necessity for reconstruction work, and observes:

"It is necessary that the heads of the state should throw themselves into this task of reconstruction with the same fiery zeal and the same unsleeping energy as they did to the war business.

Fiery zeal and unsleeping energy are not characteristics of the government at the present time. The one absorbing question on this continent is the high cost of living. In its last issue The Literary Digest says:

No one in Washington seems at all passionately concerned about the peace treaty now, or about the league of nations. A single gigantic issue overshadows everything else, and the press reverberates with denunciations, constructive suggestions, and reports of anti-profiteering campaigns.

President Wilson and his officials have displayed unsleeping energy — one might also say fiery zeal—in assailing the profiteers, ferreting out the hoarders and attempting to reduce the cost of living. They are being driven at top speed by an aroused public sentiment. The medical health officer of New York city announces that five hundred thousand people are insufficiently nourished in that city because the high cost of living prevents them getting the necessary amount of nourishing food. Meats, eggs, butter and other fats, have disappeared from the tables of the poor.

Our prime minister is, perhaps, necessarily absent from the capital, but most of his colleagues are frankly on a vacation. The government is doing nothing to reduce the cost of living, beyond the establishment of the board of commerce. It is come day go day at Ottawa, and the government is apparently taking no interest in the complaints of the people against extortionate profiteering.

What the board of commerce will accomplish we do not know. We do know, however, that the government is not at the moment prepared to prosecute offenders who may be uncovered by the board.

The Mail and Empire should speak more plainly. It should say what it means, namely that the government has gone to sleep on the job and is doing nothing to reduce the cost of living or punish the profiteers. An alarm clock is needed at Ottawa, and if The Mail is going to act as an alarm clock, it should ring out its warning in a plainer tone and in a shriller key. Should The Mail not "bawl out" the Government in this way, there are some people who might suspect the paper of trying to divert the public mind from profiteering and extortionate charges for food into the channel described by it as "reconstruction," a thing that the ordinary man may not quite understand, although they have had many deliverances, many meetings, and at least one great organization created for its accomplishment. But they know all about the high cost of living and profiteering. Does The Mail advise the government to "go to it"—The Toronto World.

MORNING, AFTERNOON AND NICHT EVENTS IN LABOUR DAY PROGRAMME

BIG PARADE WILL BE THE FEATURE --SPORTS AND BALL GAMES TOO --DANCE AT THE ARMOURIES IN THE EVENING.

The programme for the Labour Day celebration in the definite form it now presents should be the most impressive and enjoyable that has ever been witnessed in Peterborough. There will be something doing from ten o'clock in the morning to the "wee sma' 'oors" of the following day.

The committee, of which Mr. A. J. Bolwell is chairman, has spared neither time nor pains in preparing for this demonstration. There will be a ball game in the morning at Riverside Park; in the afternoon, a big parade from Central Park to Riverside Park, where there is a baseball match and list of sports, to the accompaniment of the 57th Band—all should be decidedly acceptable. And finally, a dance in the Armouries in the evening promises to be one grand ccess. An orchestra of six or seven pieces has been engaged, the floor will be massaged and manicured to fit the occasion, and there have already been assurances that attendance will exceed the original expectations by a large number.

Assistance Needed.

In recounting to the Trades and Labour Council last night the work of the committee, Mr. Bolwell emphasised the need of assistants to sell and take tickets, conduct the races, and generally to anticipate even the shadow of a hitch in all the proceedings.

Men who have had experience in handling athletic events are invited to volunteer for Labour Day. The president and secretary of every Union are requested to meet the committee at Friday night's meeting in the Labour Hall.

Teams for the tug of war are asked to communicate with the committee before Saturday noon, 30th August.

The parade is scheduled to start from Central Park at 1.30 o'clock, but the members of all the Unions are urged to assemble at one o'clock.

"If the Labour men of this city are taking this demonstration as seriously as the committee regards it, there will be nothing lacking in our success," Mr. Bolwell remarked. "And we should all take it seriously. Every Union man should be present. He will be taken care of in the parade."

Ald. Gainey reported that the bridge would be open for traffic as usual.

All the present signs are auspicious for a thoroughly enjoyable day.

The tickets for the dance are one dollar a couple.

OBJECTED TO G.W.V.A. OPPOSING POSTMAN

SPARE MAN WORKING AFTER HOURS AS EXTRA ON STREET RAILWAY --NEEDS THE MONEY.

"I strongly object to the G.W.V.A. trying to run this town," said a delegate from the Postmen's Union at the Trades and Labour Council last night. "One of our men has been working during his spare time on the street railway. He's only a temporary man and is paid only $2.50 a day. He has a family to keep and you know that $2.50 does'nt go far in these days. He is a returned soldier, and a Union man. He does not work steadily on the street railways. He's only an extra man, working a few nights during the week perhaps and on the rest he's idle. So he's not taking the place of any regular employee. Yet the G.W.V.A. are objecting to him earning an odd dollar or two by working in his spare time a few nights a week or whenever there is work for him I think that in view of the circumstances this man is fully entitled to working two or three hours of an evening without the G.W.V.A. trying to oust him out of the extra job. They're taken this thing up and have been in to see the Post Master Now we've helped the G.W.V.A. and I don't want to say that it is out of the way, but I think this is overstepping the mark.

This delegate's statement was received in a silence, and after a full minute or more in which no member spoke one of them ventured the comment that there should be some means of assuring to the supply postman a salary sufficient to obviate the necessity of doing extra work.

The complaint alluded in his first words to the discussion that had buzzed about the Police Department and Sergeant Blade's activities in his hours off duty.

EMMY WEHLEN IS CLEVER HORSEWOMAN

Emmy Wehlen, the fascinating young Metro star of "Fools and Their Money," which will be shown at the Grand on to-day and Saturday, excells in all out-door sports but horse-back riding is her favorite.

Knowing this, Director Herbert Blache procured a blooded chestnut gelding, aptly named "Perpetual Motion," for the riding scenes in the play and there are many opportunities for the young actress to show her excellent horsemanship.

Miss Wehlen rides astride and wears a stunning outfit fashioned on the order of an English army officer's uniform.

Other riders appear in the scenes which, among other things, show a big fox hunt that takes place in the play.

PROHIBITION WORKERS AT WARSAW ARE WARMING UP FOR THE CAMPAIGN

TOWNSHIP COMMITTEE AND THE WOMEN'S INSTITUTE ARE BOTH PREPARING FOR THE REFERENDUM—SENTIMENT SEEMS STRONG FOR PROHIBITION.

WARSAW, Aug. 20.—Mrs. Drain, Peterborough, is visiting at the home of her son, Mr. David Drain.

Miss Edith Tucker is assisting in Mr. Calder's store while the other clerks are having their holidays.

Master Frankie Payne, Lakefield, is visiting his old friends in Warsaw.

Mr. Clarence Drain, Peterborough, is spending a few days with his brother, Mr. David Drain.

Mr. Wm. Watts' two daughters are visiting their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Watts.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hawthorne have returned from their trip to the West, which they enjoyed very much. They went as far as Banff.

The Grim Reaper again appeared, and after an illness of only two days took Mr. Silas Harding's eldest daughter. The body was interred in Warsaw Cemetery on Thursday afternoon. A large number followed the remains to the grave. The services were conducted by Rev. J. D. P. Knox.

The next meeting of the Presbyterian Ladies' Aid will be at the home of Miss Sarah Miller, on Thursday, 28th August. As the July meeting was omitted, it is hoped there will be a full representation o fthe ladies of the congregation present.

Meetings for September.

The Girls' Club will hold its first meeting after the summer vacation on Friday, 5th September. The place of meeting will be announced later.

The next meeting of the Woman's Institute will be held on Thursday afternoon, 11th September, at 2.30. Subject, "Medical Inspection of Schools."

Prohibition Campaign.

On Friday evening last the Township Committee met in the Baptist Church. A good representation of members was present, with the president in the chair. The literature which had been sent for had just come, and was distributed to the committees of the different polling divisions. The enumerator for Warsaw Division, who happened to be on the committee also, reported that the majority volunteered the information that they would vote Prohibition, and that so far as she knew, every name was on the list, so that took some work off the committee. Rev. Percy H. Robert read some of the regulations. There was considerable discussion about the work. The next meeting will be held in the Presbyterian Church.

Women Are Busy.

The regular meeting of the Warsaw Woman's Institute was held in Mr. Calder's Hall last Thursday afternoon, the president in the chair, every seat being filled. The necessary business was transacted. The Referendum vote was explained and cards distributed. It was again explained who had to vote, and that this same list would be used for the Provincial elections, which will shortly take place. Also it was announced that all married women could have their names placed on the voters' list for municipal elections by notifying Mr. Richard Deen, that they wished to have their names included in the list as joint owners of property with their husbands before the middle of September.

Rev. J. D. P. Knox then addressed the ladies on "Our Responsibility in Prohibition." He said at first he wondered what he would say to the women. Then he decided they had the same interest in the same subject as the men, and he would say the same things to them. One thing, now that women have the vote—it is a duty and a responsibility which must not be shirked. Whether we wish it or not, we must and will do something in this great question. We can do something whether we try or not. He used as an illustration the ancient sphinx as she sat by the roadside and propounded her riddle—all had to pass her way and all had to try to solve her riddle, and all who failed were destroyed. The bodies of those who were slain were lying all around. At last came one who solved the riddle, and the sphinx gave herself up. The drink traffic is the monster which ruins all that traffic with it, and it must be completely destroyed.

Mr. Knox put the moral right of Prohibition very strongly, and the Institute could only wish that all wavering ones had heard him.

Mrs. J. A. Crowe, by request, gave in her earnest way, a recitation, "Who's to Blame?"

That it takes twenty years for a mother to make a man of her son, and twenty minutes for another woman to make a fool of him.

a brutal, bullying insolence, and in the very time of danger are the most serene.

EMMY WEHLEN BUYS NEW GOWNS FOR METRO PLAY

Emmy Wehlen, known throughout the country as the best dressed woman on the screen, has added a score of new dresses to the wardrobe which she wears in "Fools and Their Money," her latest Metro comedy-drama to be shown at the Grand theatre to-day and Saturday.

Miss Wehlen's much envied reputation has been built up by the fact that not only does she buy her frocks from the most original and exclusive modistes but that she is a connoisseur in colors and fabrics and always chooses her own materials and colors. The actual styles she leaves to the cleverly trained hands of the tailors and modistes whom she patronizes.

Her taste is exquisite and she is as particular in selecting the smallest of accessories as she is in the gown or suit itself and this, she avers, is the true secret of smart dressing.

TWELVE GENERALS TOOK PART IN PARADE AT MONTREAL

MONTREAL, Aug. 21.— No less than twelve generals, probably the greatest array of generals ever together in Canada, took part in the parade and demonstration here to-day in honour of General Sir Arthur Currie, who commanded Canada's army in France. Currie was given a great ovation at all points on the route. The streets were crowded and the cheering was enthusiastic. The whole city was gay with bunting and there was a general half holiday. This afternoon Sir Arthur was presented with an address by the city. Lady Currie and their young son were spectators of the proceedings. The weather was ideal.

LET IT COME QUICK, THEN

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.— That the acceptance of the covenants of the League of Nations as written, would certainly in the near future reduce the cost of living, both in the United States and abroad, through the restoration of commerce and production to normal, was the opinion of President Wilson, as expressed in a letter to a member of the House of Representatives to-day.

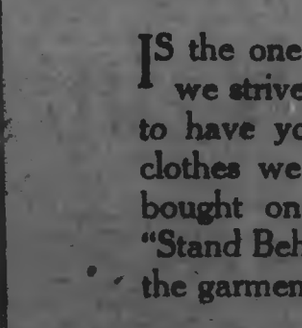
Stands The Time Test



A Piano has to have enough stability to hold its sounding board and bridge, exactly as rigid as when first built, if it is to keep its tone as years of use go by. The strain and down pressure finds the weakness if there is any. The has successfully withstood the time test and remained as full and sweet toned as when new, even improved with age as the sound board becomes more seasoned.

This is a feature about the "Greene Piano" that is a very valuable one, and in addition there is the attractive moderate price at which we sell it and the easy terms of payment.

NEGOTIATIONS ARE BROKEN OFF

BERLIN, Aug. 21.— Polish delegates in Berlin for discussion of the treaty between Germany and Poland, broke off negotiations yesterday because of the recent developments in Upper Silesia. The German government has decided to form a special committee for consideration of the question. The Poles denied that regular Polish troops had participated in the Silesian fighting. Work has been resumed in six of the coal mines in the Kattowitz district, indicating a collapse of the strike, the Berlin government announced to-day. Government troops are said to have mastered the situation.

BEAR AIRMEN TAKEN BY SAVAGE AFRICANS

PARIS, August 21. — Two columns of French troops were blazing their way into the wilds of Africa to-day, fearing that the mising airplane "Goliath" had been forced to descend amid savage tribes.

At the same time numbers of boats were patrolling the ocean in search of the plane and the aviators.

Despatches from Dakar to-day say no news had been received from the Goliath since Saturday. If the crew of the Goliath has fallen into the hands of barbarous African tribes it has not been without a struggle as the airmen employed the latest methods of warfare. The crew carried both high powered rifles and machine guns fearing that they might possibly land in the midst of belligerent natives.

The Goliath left France the first of last week. Its first step in Africa was Casablanca, Morocco.

LABOUR COUNCIL SUPPORTS G.W.V.A. IN COMPLAINT. INVOLVING SERGT. BLADE

SOME MEMBERS CONTEND THAT RESPONSIBILITY RESTS WITH CHIEF THOMPSON AND POLICE COMMISSION IN REGARD TO THE SERGEANT'S SPARE TIME WORK.

WHIPPING CASE REPORT

Approval of the Great War Veterans' action in referring to the Attorney-General their complains against Police Sergeant Blade's overtime employment was recorded by the Trades and Labor Council last night. To the endorsing resolution there was an amendment that proposed the appointment of a special committee to enquire into the facts of the complaint, but members of the Council declared that Sergeant Blade admitted having engaged in work apart from his police duties in his spare time. It was also stated that the members of the police force, when sworn in, promise to give all their time to their duties as policemen. In view of this condition the question was asked as to what Chief Thompson and the Police Commissioners intended to do about the whole affair. Along this line it was contended that the officials were responsible for the conditions in their department and that the principle at stake finally rested with them. Some members didn't mince their words in their criticism of the senior Sergeant, but one speaker asked the question as to what difference there was between a policeman and a bricklayer or any other man working in spare time. The mater of personal liberty seemed to be involved in the complaint. Most men, it was said, were willing to do something "on the side" if they got the opportunity. This speaker contended that it was the officials of the police department who should determine and regulate the duties of the policemen.

Another member stated that Chief Thompson should see to it that the members of his force carried out the promises made in their declaration of office. Furthermore, since the liberty of the policeman was suppressed in his right to join a Union then his freedom as a workman of the city in competition with other workers or with men out of employment should also be suppressed. Since the police were required to give their whole time to the city, then the Police Commision should see to it that there was not deviation from this rule.

The Whipping of Boys.

The special committee that investigated the whipping of two boys who had appeared before Magistrate Dumble on a charge of theft was accepted by the Council, and the Secretary was instructed to write to the Attorney-General, requesting that action be taken to put a stop to the whipping of children in this city. The report stated that the mother of one boy had given her consent to the punishment of her son by a police constable in preference to having him sent to a reformatory. She was not present when the boy was whipped, but was represented by another person.

RATIFICATION OF THE PEACE TREATY BY PARLIAMENT

ONE OF THE QUESTIONS FOR SPECIAL SESSION IN SEPTEMBER—EXTENSION OF WAR MEASURES.

OTTAWA, Aug. 20.—When Parliament assembles for its extra session a week from next Monday, the speech from the Throne is likely to dicate only three measures to be dealt with. First and foremost will be the ratification of the Peace Treaty, then a bill with a schedule of war measures to be extended, and finally an estimate to defray the expenses of the session and pay honorable members of both Houses for their trouble in coming to Ottawa on a special mission. If here for thirty days, Senators and members will get a full indemnity of $2,500, so all the betting is favorable to a session of at least a month, though the Government, as the programme indicates, is disposed to hold down, as much as possible, the volume of sessional work.

Academic Discussion

The Peace Treaty and the extension of the war measures both present a almost illimitable field for discussio. The former will be more or less academic, for there is no question of the treaty being ratified without any variation. More contentious will be the war measures. It is not proposed to extend them all, but rather only such as have authorized work or initiated undertakings not yet finished. As an example, the order-in-Council for the sequestration and administration of alien enemy property will be continued. Boards such as the Trade Commissions and the Wheat Purchasing Board, appointed by order-in-Council, will be maintained, and each department will have a number of war measures to continue. It is proposed to put them all in a schedule to one bill, giving the Government authority to cancel any particular measure when the tenure of its usefulness is ended.

Prohibition.

Prohibition is almost certain to come up again, either as part of the general bill or separately. No permanent legislation on the subject will be proposed, but in all probability the bill rejected last session will be presented anew in the original form. This provided for an extension of the existing prohibitory order till a year after the date when peace is officially proclaimed by the King—a process which will likely take place when the overseas dominions shall have followed the Imperial Parliament's action in ratifying the treaty.

Will Senate Change?

It will be recalled that while the bill passed the House overwhelmingly it was defeated in the Senate by an amendment unacceptable to the Commons. The Senate held that, to all interests and purposes, year after the war meant a year after the armistice. Their proposal therefore was to extend prohibition till November 11th, rather than to a year after the coming promulgation of peace. While the two Houses were gripped in deadlock the bill fell to the ground. It can be only a matter of speculation as to whether the Senate's attitude will have undergone any change by the time the bill is taken up again.

With regard to racing with the privilege of betting, it is probable that a commission will be appointed to inquire into the whole subject, and that upon its report permanent legislation at the next session will be enacted.

INFLAMED GUMS— A CAUSE OF LOOSE TEETH

Pyorrhea is undoubtedly a vital danger to both gums and teeth. Tender gums indicate it, and with it come loosening teeth. Imperceptibly, at first, the gums recede from the normal gum line. They inflame. They present many tiny openings for millions of bacteria to attack the unenameled tooth base. Tooth-base decay quickly follows. Even if the cavity be filled and the tooth saved, the gums continue to recede. Remember, too, that inflamed and bleeding gums act as so many doorways for disease germs to enter the system—infecting joints or tonsils—or causing other ailments.

Against this Pyorrhea (Riggs' Disease) ordinary tooth-pastes are powerless. Yet Pyorrhea attacks four out of five people who are over forty, and many under this age. But Forhan's—if used in time and used consistently—positively prevents Pyorrhea. It is a scientific tooth cleanser as well. Brush your teeth with it. See how promptly bleeding or gum tenderness ceases and how your teeth are kept white and clean.

If gum-shrinkage has already set in, start using Forhan's and consult a dentist immediately for special treatment.

BARBARA FINDS PROOF OF CHECK GIVEN NEIL BY BLANCHE ORTON

CHAPTER XLVI

I had waited nearly an hour before Neil came in.

"Hallo, Bab! what are you doing here?" he greeted me.

"Oh I had the closed car for shopping, so didn't mind the rain, and I wanted to surprise you, but I thought you'd never come. I want to talk to you."

An expression of annoyance crossed his face.

Without saying much about spending, I let him see where in we could save without being unduly incommoded. I noticed the frown on his face but kept on.

"Where did you get that economy bug? I haven't stinted you in any way, have I? I wish you'd let me run my business as I see fit. Economize—now!" he said he last two words so low I scarcely caught them.

Just then my eye caught the blotter.

"Oh, Neil! What in the world did Mrs. Orton give you such a big check for."

"What are you talking about?" he asked, but I noticed a change in his expression.

"I opened the table drawer, thinking I would clean it out nicely for you. I found that blotter and tried an experiment I had read about—just to pass the time. I held it before the mirror and the writing on the check, signature and all, came out very plainly."

"A regular Sherlock Holmes, aren't you?" he sneered.

"I told you I did it only to pass he time. Don't be nasty about it. But, Neil, dear, tell me what it means? Such a large amount, too.

"I told you once, long ago, that Mrs. Orton owned stock in some of our companies."

"Is she still interested?"

"Yes."

"I see this check was made about the time that horrid Mr Scott was here and soon after Mr. Orton died."

"You are very observing. Again you are using Sherlock Hlomes methods, I presume."

"Aren't you going to be nice and tell me something about your connection with Mrs. Orton? If you don't Neil, just as sure as I live I will go to her. I have been put off just as long as I intend to be. I am your wife and I have a right to know."

"You meddle in my business if you dare! Mrs. Orton saved me when Scott threatened me. She loaned me the money to buy back his stock. Now are you satisfied? If you are, I will take you to the car." He was livid with fury.

"I am not satisfied, Neil, because you have not given me your confidence. But I know now that my intuitions have been rightj. There is something about your business that is not clear to me. Why should Scott threaten you? Why should you borrow money from a woman? I thought banks accommodated business men if their methods were honorable. Or that other business men would do so. You say this check was loaned money. You have also told me she was interested in some of your companies. How else are you entangled with her? Was she finding fault with the way you handled her money, the other night?—Or what was it?"

I saw I had "hit the nail on the head," as father used o say. She had been ragging him about her money. I wanted to say more, to find out more, but Neil was so terribly angry with me, standing with his hand on the door-knob and that look of uncompromising anger on his face, that I simply walked out.

"There is no need for you to go down with me," I told him.

"I will see you to the car. After this you will cease your visits to my office."

On the way home hot, scalding tears fell, not because of Mrs. Orton, but because of the way he had told me not to come to his office.

To-morrow—Barbara is Worried Over Neil

BEAUTIFUL NELL COULD NOT WRITE

N.G. Cheques of Nell Gwynne See the Light of Day.

LONDON, Aug. 16. — Child and Company are bankers at 1 Fleet street. The firm was started by one John Wheeler in the year 1560, and in Dickens' Tale of Two Cities we find it portrayed as "Tellson's." During a hearing in Parliament on the bill affecting dormant bank balances, it was said that Nell Gwynne, the apple girl actress and court favourite of the days of King Charles had overdrawn her account there when she died.

Your correspondent popped in upon F. W. Fane for details. He said, "It is true that pretty Nellie was out of funds when she passed on. She would have done much better in a gaisty chorus. Did you know she couldn't read or write?"

And so, if he did not produce a worn and tattered sheave of het's endorsed "N.G.," her mark."

BATTERS WIRE

The inside of copper wire of the sort used for batters connections frequently corrodes until it is completely eaten through, when it parts and a short-circuit results. This trouble is caused by the sulvhuric acid gas in the cells, accentuated by the damp air about the battery. If the wires are coated at and around the terminals with cup greases, the copper will be effectively protected from the caid fumes.

EDEN CHURCH HELD SUCCESSFUL PICNIC

REALIZED ABOUT $240—BURLEIGH LADIES EXCELLED THEMSELVES.

A picnic held under the auspices of Eden Methodist church on Wednesday, Aug. 6th in Bruce Reid's grove, was a gratifying success in every way. The weather was ideal for the occasion and a very large crowd gathered on the grounds in good time. Visitors were present from Peterborough, Lakefield, Dummer, Apsley and various Stoney Lake points. The Burleigh ladies sustained their reputation for quality and exceellence of cooking, for after a large crowd had partaken of dinner and supper of the choicest viands, consisting of potatoes, roast beef, salads, pies, cakes, pickles, bread, butter, etc., several lovely cakes were sold by auction. Messrs. Chas. Lauder and V. Shewen collected the money at the tables, while the energetic ladies of the church supervised the tables in general. Messrs. Howard Reid, Wm. Loney and Bruce Reid were in charge of the refreshment booth and are deserving of special mention for their energetic efforts throughout the day to make a complete success.

Mrs. Wm. Mathews was in charge of the sale of work and Mr. Wm. Crarey in charge of the grab bag, which attracted young and old and caused considerable mirth.

A quilt donated by Mrs. Geo. Mathews and a story fruit cake donated by Mrs. C. Lauder, were sold and realized a nice sum. The full sum realized was about $240. While supper was in progress a short programme was rendered, consisting of two beautiful duets by Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Beck, a song, "Jim Blake," sang by Rev. Mr. Beck by special request; a chorus, "I Am Coming, Home," by Rev. Mr. Beck and ladies of the church, and several musical selections on the Victrola by Mr. J. Stuart of Peterborough.

In the evening the crowd dispersed, feeling satisfied that a very enjoyable day had been spent by all present.

A Memorial.

Miss Beatrice Reid of Rochester, has presented an individual communion service to Eden church in memory of her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. L. Reid, who died in 1916, and who had for many years been faithful church workers.

THE TRAGIC FATE OF COLONEL CODY

THE TRAGNC FATE.

Mr. Samuel Franklin Cody—popularly known as Colonel Cody — the American-born showman, who, persevering against tremendous odds, and in the face of ridicule, became a leading British aviator and aeroplane constructor, was killed at Aldershot on August 7, 1914. With him perished Mr. W. H. B. Evans, the well-kown Oxford cricket and football "blue," who was a passenger in the ill-fated machine, arriving just in time to take the place of the aviator's son, Leon Cody, who had been married a fortnight before, and had been ready to ascend with his father. Born at Birdville, Texas, on March 2, 1861, Colonel Cody, in early life, was an actor and showman, and travelled England with a melodrama, "A Klondyke Nugget," in which members of his family gave exhibitions of their powers as rifle-shots. Early experiments with man-lifting kites brought him into prominence, and his effort to develop a power-driven kite led to his appointment in 1906 as chief instructor at the balloon factory at Farnborough. There he and Colonel Capper worked together in developing the idea of a dirigible balloon. In September, 1907, the "Nulli Secundus," the first dirigible balloon of the British Army, made its initial ascent at Farnborough, and on October 7 of that year the dirigible with Captain Capper and Colonel Cody on board, succeeded in circling St. Paul's but was subsequently wrecked at the Crystal Palace. In the following year Mr. Cody made short flights in the first army aeroplane, which met with may mishaps. All troubles were eventually surmounted, and in May, 1909, Mr. Cody succeeded in flying a mile at a height of about 30 feet, a flight that was witnessed by the King and Queen. From that time the aviator never looked back. His machines were developed, his flights grew longer and longer, and in the end he triumphed, winning, with his huge biplane, the Government prize of £4,000 open to the world for aeroplanes made in any country, and £1,000 open to British subjects for machines manufactured in this country. In recognition of these victories the Royal Aero Club awarded him the gold medal. At the Aero Show at Olympia in 1913 King George greeted the famous airman as an old friend, and asked if he remembered him as Prince of Wales, watching his experiments with kites. Then, congratulating him on his victory in the military trials, the King called him Colonel Cody. This was a good enough warrant for the successful airman, and he claimed the title then and there.

TY COBB, 32, SAYS HE'S GETTING OLD AND WANTS TO QUIT THE DIAMOND

ADMITS HE'S SLOWING UP AND YEARNS FOR HOME LIFE AND "FISHIN."

THIRTY-FIVE AGE LIMIT

Detroit, Mich.—Poor old Ty Cobb, leading hitter in the American League and the brightest star in the baseball firmament, is geting tired of the game, and he doesn't care who knows it. Also, Tyrus is getting old—only 32, he says, but he calls that advancing age for baseball.

In a talk here, to-day Cobb spoke reminiscently of the time when a barefoot boy, he used to sit with a cane-fishing pole in a sleepy Georgia town and wish he could play professional ball.

To-day that same boy, now a man, and "the greatest of them all," stands in centrefield under a summer sun and wishes he could "just go fishin'."

"You see, it's this way." Ty explained, "I'm getting to be an old man in this game of baseball, and now my thoughts turn to the summers I will have for fishing instead of hiking about the country and playing ball.

Is Fed-Up With the Game.

"Between you and me and the gate post, I am tired of baseball—fed up with the continual strain. All of my boyish desires have been satisfied, and now I am ready to settle down into some line of humdrum business, live a simple homelife and spend my summers fishing."

One looked at the amazing person who called himself an "old man." The athletic shoulders that were more familiar in uniform than in his morning suit of tweed, the hands with broken knuckles seeming to give 'em a greater power, the firm jay and sparkle in clear blue eyes why it seemed only yesterday that we saw him make one of his sensational dives for a short fly in centrefield; not so long ago that he stole second or swatted a home-run that clinched the game.

Says 1911-12 Best Years.

"Thirty-five is the age limit for baseball in the big leagues," Ty maintained. "When a man reaches that age he loses the ginger and speed. I am not in top form now. My best years were in 1911 and 1912. I have gradually let down becoming more methodical in my play each season, until to-day I find myself doping out each play before I make it, so as to conserve energy wherever possible. I have learned how to apply the psychology of baseball, to which I attribute much of my success in the last two or three years. For instance, when the Tigers are leading and the opportunity presents itself, I often take chances on making a freak play or stealing a base on a hair's margin. In this way I create a series of mental hazards for the opposing team that cause the player to fumble nine times out of ten. When I was in the flush of youth I could play all day and night without tiring, but as years creep along my stamina weakens."

This aged athlete of 32, this grand old man of baseball, is still without wrinkle or a sign of Time's couch, and he still makes pitchers tremble and infielders grow cross-eyed trying to keep tab on him.

Tyrus Is Earnest.

"I mean it," he said; 'these are plain, cold facts. My baseball days are about over. Confidentially, I think we will win," he said. You see, I am superstitious about saying it, because I never allow myself to think that far ahead. The problem is to win the next game. Personally, I think the Tigers have the best balanced team of their history. Every man is alive, awake and full of 'pep,' and they will not disappoint the Detroit fans if they can help it."

"Baseball is a hard, nerve-racking life. There is no rest when you are weary, and the travel is tiresome. I want to settle down and live in quiet with my family."

Despite the great success which Cobb has enjoyed during his baseball career, he does not want either of his sons to become professional players. "It is too hard a life," said Ty.. and he shook his blond head very determinedly.

Has Long Way To Go Back.

"And you're sure you're going back?" he was asked again.

"I'm sure of it."

And maybe he is. This aged gentleman, whose weak arms and fading sight will only permit him to hit the ball at a .373 rate, 25 points higher than his nearest competitor—maybe he is going back.

But how many miles down the road of time will he have to go back before anybody meets him.

HILLCRESTS HAVE STAR AGGREGATION IN GAME HERE ON SATURDAY

The announcement of the coming to Peterborough on Saturday of the fast Hillcrest team of Toronto to meet the Peterborough Central League team has been hailed with satisfaction by the fans. The Hillcrests put the Petes out of the O.B.A.A. series last autumn and the home crew welcome the chance to get even with the Toronto aggregation. The Hillcrests are without Cannon Ball Scott this year, but Babe Dye, a crack left-hander, is pitching sterling ball, as is Myles, while Duke Hennessey, the big catcher, is going strong behind the bat. Dye, besides being a great pitcher, is the Babe Ruth of Toronto baseball, a slugger who keeps the outfielders busy. Turofsky, the Hillcrest third baseman, is another hard-hitter. "Unc" Allward, the Hillcrest centre fielder, is one of the best fielders in Toronto. The team has two victories over the Moose to its credit, and the fans are still talking about the form shown by that aggregation in their game here with the Petes.

The Peterborough team will practice at Riverside Park to-morrow (Friday) evening and every player is asked to be out in preparation for Saturday's game.

The game on Saturday is called for 3 o'clock sharp.

KING EDWARD TEAM WIN FROM QUEEN MARY

In defeating Queen Mary playgrounds at King Edward, yesterday the latter caused a deadlock in the plygrounds league race, each of the 3 teams hving won 2 and lost 2.

To-day King Edward and Queen Mary will play the semi-finals for the championship and to-morrow the winner will meet Central for the final game. The Central team seems to be the strongest outfit at present, and is the favorite for the title.

The Queen Mary playgrounds will close formally, Friday evening when, after an interesting program of races and games, the highest point winners for the summer, will be presented with neat badges.

PARIS, Aug. 21—Premier Clemenceau returned to Paris to-day from his vacation in La Vendee. He proceeded at once to the War Office and took up work that had accumulated during his absence. The week's rest apparently had been of great benefit

GOLIATH GIVEN UP AS LOST NOW

(Canadian Press.)

PARIS, Aug. 21.—The French airplane Goliath, which has not been seen since it left Mogador, Morocco, for Bakar last Saturday morning, generally was given up as lost in aviation circles to-day. The Farman Company, builders of the airplane, which carried eight passengers, was still without news of the machine.

MEETING OF TRUSTEES 59TH BATTALION FUND

KINGSTON, Ont., Aug. 21.—Trustees of the 59th Battalion Fund had a meeting here and found they had $24,800 invested in Canadian war bonds. In an agreement drawn up in London before the unit was disbanded it was decided to use the funds for disabled 59th men or bonafide dependents of those of the Battalion killed or died in service. The soldiers are being circularized as to their standing and the next of kin of those killed are being tabulated.

CONFERENCE TO HAVE RESULTS ON THIS SIDE

MONTREAL, Aug. 21.— The result of the confrence between Walter D. Hines, Director General of the United States' Railway Administration, and the heads of the various railway Brotherhoods and federated shop trades, is being awaited here with much interest. As soon as decisions are made known in Washington, negotiations will be opened here between the Canadian Railway War Boards and the Executive committee of the Canadian division of Federated Shop Trades, affecting fifty thousand workmen on all the railways of Canada. These negotiations will be to a great extent, based on the terms offered by the U. S. Railway Administration to the workers on United States' railways. George Hodge of the Canadian Pacific Railway, and James Coleman of the Grand Trunk Railway, are in Washington attending the conference.

NO "MOVIE" HOLD UP OF TRAIN

(Canadian Press.)

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 21. — Masked bandits held up the Louisville and Nashville passenger train, No. 7, from Cincinnati to Montgomery, Ala., early to-day and carried off mail pouches. None of the passengers were molested. Covering the crew, the robbers sent the engine running wild and rifled the mail car. The locomotive was finally ran down at Wales, Tenn.

NO DECISION REACHED IN IVENS APPEAL BY THE METHODIST BOARD

HIS PARTICIPATION IN THE WINNIPEG STRIKE WAS NOT CONSIDERED BY THE APPEAL BOARD—HEARING WAS YESTERDAY.

Special to The Examiner.)

TORONTO, Aug. 21.—The Board of Appeal of the Methodist Church of Canada assembled yesterday afternoon to hear the appeals of Rev. Wm. Ivens, one of the leaders in the Winnipeg strike, and Rev. A. E. Smith, of Brandon.

Ivens appealed to the highest Court of the Church against the decision of the Manitoba Conference that he be deprived of the standing and functions conferred upon him at his ordination.

Rev. Dr. Chown announced this morning that no decision was reached yesterday, and that it will be some time before the appeals can be decided.

At yesterday's hearing, he added, only the documents referred to the Board of Appeal by Ivens and Smith upon which the appeals were based, were considered. The contents of these documents were not divulged.

Rev. Dr. T. A. Moore, as acting secretary of the Court of Appeal, said to-day that the participation of Ivens in the Winnipeg strike did not come up at all. 'atin? ter fi up at all. The appeal is being considered purely as a question of church law, he added.

Rev. Dr. Chown intimated to-day that he did not expect a decision would be reached for a considerable time yet, and the Board of Appeal would not likely meet again to deal with the cases until other church appeals made the calling of another meeting of the Court of Appeal necessary.

GREAT WELCOME FOR THE PRINCE WHEN HE REACHES OLD QUEBEC

(Special to Examiner.)

QUEBEC, August 21. — The cruiser Renown, with the Prince of Wales on board, followed by the Dragon and the Dauntless, is to-day slowly steaming up between the tree-clad banks of the broad St. Lawrence. They will reach the Ancient Capital late in the afternoon and the Prince will step ashore at six o"clock.

Quebec has been filled all summer with sight-seers and tourists. The ending of the war has brought forward again the old French city's claims to being one of the show places of the continent. It has been often filled in the past when some event of unusual importance was being staged but never has it been so full of people as just now. The different hotels are crowded to capacity and private boarding houses can hold no more.

On landing to-day the heir to the throne will be welcomed at the King's wharf by the most picturesque and notable assemblage possible in this dominion. Dignitaries of the church and state, men of British and French races, representatives of different creeds, will be present to pay their respects. Devonshire, the Englishman, Borden, the United Empire Loyalist, and Begin, Gouin and Lavigueurre, the French-Canadians, will typify by their persons to the prince the mixed character of the people of Canada, over whom he will one day rule.

His programme to-day is a light one, as his programmes go. After his welcome at the wharf he will drive up the hilly streets of old Quebec to the citadel, where he will dine.

The day has broken fine and clear, a heavy downpour yesterday has apparently stripped the sky of its last drop of moisture. Nothing should interfere in making the landing and procession one of the most brilliant episodes of the present tour.

Quebec's old streets are gay with flags. On the Place d'Armes workmen are finishing a massive arch of evergreens. They have been working for days and are yet unfinished. A solid framework had to be erected seemingly durable and solid as the girders of the Quebec bridge.

It now forms a grand noble archway bearing the flags and mottoes carying a towering welcome to the coming Prince.

PRINCE WILL USE GRAND TRUNK LINES IN ONTARIO

HIS ROYAL HIGHNESS WILL BE ACCOMPANIED BY MR. H. R. CHARLTON, REPRESENTING THE RAILWAY.

OTTAWA, Aug. 20.—The Prince of Wales, on his visits to the principal Ontario cities, will use the lines of the Grand Trunk Railway system. His Royal Highness will arrive at Hamilton from Toronto on 18th October, and after being welcomed there he will proceed to Niagara Falls, where he will stay from the night of the 18th until noon of the 20th, when he will journey to Brantford.

Guelph and Stratford will be visited on the 21st, and Woodstock, Chatham, and London on the 22nd. His Royal Highness leaves London on the afternoon of the 23rd for Windsor, and his visit to the border cities will conclude his tour of Western Ontario.

The Prince will leave Toronto, again travelling on the Grand Trunk Railway, on the night of Friday, 24th October, and will spend the weekend at Kingston, in the Thousand Islands region, leaving that point on Monday, 27th October, for Brockville and Montreal. The Royal train will be hauled by the big Pacific type of locomotives of the Grand Trunk.

Mr. H. R. Charlton, o fthe Grand Trunk has been designated to accompany His Royal Highness while on the lines of that system. Mr. Charlton has been the representative of the company on the various Canadian tours of important personages during the past twenty years. The Emperor of Japan conferred on him the Order of the Sacred Treasure following the visit of Prince Fushimi to Canada.

ALD. CROWE'S BROTHER VISITING OLD HOME

NEARYLY THIRTY YEARS SINCE CHAS CROWE LEFT PETERBORO.

Mr. Charles Crowe, an old Ashburnham boy, now secretary of the Alden Coal Company of Davenport, Iowa, is in the city visiting his brother, Alderman Jos. Crowe. He is accompanied by his wife. They have been on a month's motor trip in Eastern Canada, and are on their way home.

The Alden Coal Company operate mines in Illinois, Iowa and Wyoming.

Since leaving Peterboro about thirty years ago, Mr. Crowe sees many improvements in the city, and realizes that the building of the new Hunter street bridge will have the effect of eliminating many old landmarks in Ashburnham, where he spent his early boyhood days.

Mr. Crowe's acquaintances, who are still resident in Peterboro, are glad to know that he has seen so successful as he has been in the business world.

The thirty-seven counties of Ontario have so wall adopted the Good Road System. Peterboro is the last county to come in under this system, the County Council last month, passing a by-law approving of county roads in three townships.

CANNOT PROCLAIM A STATE OF PEACE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—Reply to a series of written questions submitted by Senator Fall, New Mexico, President Wilson to-day declared it was his judgment that he has not the power to proclaim a state of peace before the ratification of the treaty by the Senate.

The President also says that the ratification of territory rights by Germany does not convey the titles to the Allies, but that it does put the disposition of the territory in their names.

WILL REMOVE CIVILIANS.

LONDON, Aug. 21.— Several vessels have been assigned by the Ministry of Shipping to the task of removing from Northern Russian all civilians who wish to leave before the British troops are withdrawn from that region. ## PRINCE DRIVES IN WILLYS-KNIGHT CAR

The car in which the Prince of Wales was driven during his whole stay in St. John, N.B., and the first car in which he was driven in Canada, was a Willys-Knight, driven by George W. Parlee, manager of the Veteran Taxi Service Company.

On the return from the reception at Rothesay, His Royal Highness showed the keen interest that he has in automobiles, for he inquired regarding the make of the car, as well as other important matters in connection with it. Coming to a good clear stretch of road, he requested the returned-soldier chauffeur to put on a little speed, and in accordance with the request, Mr. Parlee sent the car along at the rate of about fifty miles an hour. His Royal Highness enjoyed every second of the fast drive. As the Prince stepped from the car on the wharf, preparatory to re-embarking, he shook hands with Mr. Parlee, and complimented him on his careful driving. He then presented him with a handsome pair of cuff links, with the Prince of Wales' feathers inscribed on one link, and a large "E." surmounted by a crown, on the other.

Commercial motor truck owners should remember that, by the recent amendments to the Motor ehicles Act, every truck must be equipped with a mirror so that the driver may have a view of the road behind him.

By buying this product from us you can get the Highest in Quality that can be procured at an ESPECIALLY LOW PRICE.
There are many thin oils on the market that are not suitable for internal use; other oils have irritating qualities which render them also unsuitable. The one we are selling is guaranteed thick and entirely pure.
It is recognised that a good grade of Mineral Oil is one of the best remedies for CHRONIC CONSTIPATION that is being used. It acts mechanically and does not irritate the intestinal tract, nor does the dose have to be continually increased as is the case with ordinary purgatives.
It is much better and cheaper than Castor Oil as a laxative for Children, since Castor Oil has two effects, the first of which is purgative and the second or after effect, which is Constipating.

MINERAL OIL

For Chronic Constipation

By buying this product from us you can get the Highest in Quality that can be procured at an ESPECIALLY LOW PRICE.
There are many thin oils on the market that are not suitable for internal use; other oils have irritating qualities which render them also unsuitable. The one we are selling is guaranteed thick and entirely pure.
It is recognised that a good grade of Mineral Oil is one of the best remedies for CHRONIC CONSTIPATION that is being used. It acts mechanically and does not irritate the intestinal tract, nor does the dose have to be continually increased as is the case with ordinary purgatives.
It is much better and cheaper than Castor Oil as a laxative for Children, since Castor Oil has two effects, the first of which is purgative and the second or after effect, which is Constipating.

ADMITS HE'S SLOWING UP AND YEARNS FOR HOME LIFE AND "FISHIN'."

THIRTY-FIVE AGE LIMIT

Detroit, Mich.—Poor old Ty Cobb, leading hitter in the American League and the brightest star in the baseball firmament, is geting tired of the game, and he doesn't care who knows it. Also, Tyrus is getting old—only 32, he says, but he calls that advancing age for baseball.

In a talk here to-day Cobb spoke reminiscently of the time when a barefoot boy, he used to sit with a cane-fishing pole in a sleepy Georgia town and wish he could play professional ball.

To-day that same boy, now a man, and "the greatest of them all," stands in centrefield under a summer sun and wishes he could "just go fishin'."

"You see, it's this way." Ty explained. "I'm getting to be an old man in this game of baseball, and now my thoughts turn to the summers I will have for fishing instead of hiking about the country and playing ball.

Is Fed-Up With the Game.

"Between you and me and the gate post, I am tired of baseball—fed up with the continual strain. All of my boyish desires have been satisfied, and now I am ready to settle down into some line of humdrum business, live a simple homelife and spend my summers fishing."

One looked at the amazing person who called himself an "old man." The athletic shoulders that were more familiar in uniform than in his morning suit of tweed, the hands with broken knuckles seeming to give 'em a greater power, the firm jay and sparkle in clear blue eyes why it seemad only yesterday that we saw him make one of his sensational dives for a short fly in centrefield; not so long ago that he stole second or swatted a home-run that clinched the game.

Says 1911-12 Best Years.

"Thirty-five is the age limit for baseball in the big leagues," Ty maintainde. "When a man reaches that age he loses the ginger and speed. I am not in top form now. My best years were in 1911 and 1912 I have gradually let down becoming more methodical in my play each season, until to-day I find myself doping out each play before I make it, so as to conserve energy wherever possible. I have learned how to apply the psychology of baseball, to which I attribute much of my success in the last two or three years. For instance, when the Tigers are leading and the opportunity presents itself, I often take chances on making a freak play or stealing a base on a hair's margin. In this way I create a series of mental hazards for the opposing team that cause the player to fumble nine times out of ten. When I was in the flush of youth I could play all day and night without tiring, but as years creep along my stamina weakens."

This aged athlete of 32, this grand old man of baseball, is still without wrinkle or a sign of Time's couch, and he still makes pitchers tremble and infielders grow cross-eyed trying to keep tab on him.

Tyrus Is Earnest.

"I mean it," he said; 'these are plain, cold facts. My baseball days are about over. Confidentially, I think we will win," he said. You see, I am superstitious about saying it, because I never allow myself to think that far ahead. The problem is to win the next game. Personally, I think the Tigers have the best balanced team of their history. Every man is alive, awake and full of 'pep,' and they will not disappoint the Detroit fans if they can help it."

"Baseball is a hard, nerve-racking life. There is no rest when you are weary, and the travel is tiresome. I want to settle down and live in quiet with my family."

Despite the great success which Cobb has enjoyed during his baseball career, he does not want either of his sons to become professional players. "It is too hard a life," said Ty, and he shook his blond head very determinedly.

Has Long Way To Go Back.

"And you're sure you're going back?" he was asked again.

"I'm sure of it."

And maybe he is. This aged gentleman, whose weak arms and fading sight will only permit him to hit the ball at a .373 rate, 25 points higher than his nearest competitor—maybe he is going back.

But how many miles down the road of time will he have to go back before anybody meets him.

HILLCRESTS HAVE STAR AGGREGATION IN CAME HERE ON SATURDAY

The announcement of the coming to Peterborough on Saturday of the fast Hillcrest team of Toronto to meet the Peterborough Central League team has been hailed with satisfaction by the fans. The Hillcrests put the Petes out of the O.B.A.A. series last autumn and the home crew welcome the chance to get even with the Toronto aggregation. The Hillcrests are without Cannon Ball Scott this year, but Babe Dye, a crack left-hander, is pitching sterling ball, as is Myles, while Duke Hennessey, the big catcher, is going strong behind the bat. Dye, besides being a great pitcher, is the Babe Ruth of Toronto baseball, a slugger who keeps the outfielders busy. Turofsky, the Hillcrest third baseman, is another hard-hitter. "Unc" Allward, the Hillcrest centre fielder, is one of the best fielders in Toronto. The team has two victories over the Moose to its credit, and the fans are still talking about the form shown by that aggregation in their game here with the Petes.

The Peterborough team will practice at Riverside Park to-morrow (Friday) evening and every player is asked to be out in preparation for Saturday's game.

The game on Saturday is called for 3 o'clock sharp.

KING EDWARD TEAM WIN FROM QUEEN MARY

To-day King Edward and Queen Mary will play the semi-finals for the championship and to-morrow the winner will meet Central for the final game. The Central team seems to be the strongest outfit at present, and is the favorite for the title.

The Queen Mary playgrounds will close formally, Friday evening when, after an interesting program of races and games, the highest point winners for the summer, will be presented with neat badges.

Hines, Director General of the United States' Railway Administration, and the heads of the various railway brotherhoods and federated shop trades, is being awaited here with much interest. As soon as decisions are made known in Washington, negotiations will be opened here between the Canadian Railway War Boards and the Executive committee of the Canadian division of Federated Shop Trades, affecting fifty thousand workmen on all the railways of Canada. These negotiations will be to a great extent, based on the terms offered by the U. S. Railway Administration to the workers on United States' railways. George Hodge of the Canadian Pacific Railway, and James Coleman of the Grand Trunk Railway, are in Washington attending the conference.

NO DECISION REACHED IN IVENS APPEAL BY THE METHODIST BOARD

HIS PARTICIPATION IN THE WINNIPEG STRIKE WAS NOT CONSIDERED BY THE APPEAL BOARD—HEARING WAS YESTERDAY.

Special to The Examiner.)

TORONTO, Aug. 21.—The Board of Appeal of the Methodist Church of Canada assembled yesterday afternoon to hear the appeals of Rev. Wm. Ivens, one of the leaders in the Winnipeg strike, and Rev. A. E. Smith, of Brandon.

Ivens appealed to the highest Court of the Church against the decision of the Manitoba Conference that he be deprived of the standing and functions conferred upon him at his ordination.

Rev. Dr. Chown announced this morning that no decision was reached yesterday, and that it will be some time before the appeals can be decided.

At yesterday's hearing, he added, only the documents referred to the Board of Appeal by Ivens and Smith upon which the appeals were based, were considered. The contents of these documents were not divulged.

Rev. Dr. T. A. Moore, as acting secretary of the Court of Appeal, said to-day that the participation of Ivens in the Winnipeg strike did not come up at all. 'ution? ter fi up at all. The appeal is being considered purely as a question of church law, he added.

Rev. Dr. Chown intimated to-day that he did not expect a decision would be reached for a considerable time yet, and the Board of Appeal would not likely meet again to deal with the cases until other church appeals made the calling of another meeting of the Court of Appeal necessary.

GREAT WELCOME FOR THE PRINCE WHEN HE REACHES OLD QUEBEC

(Special to Examiner.)

QUEBEC, August 21. — The cruiser Renown, with the Prince of Wales on board, followed by the Dragon and the Dauntless, is to-day slowly steaming up between the tree-clad banks of the broad St. Lawrence. They will reach the Ancient Capital late in the afternoon and the Prince will step ashore at six o'clock.

Quebec has been filled all summer with sight-seers and tourists. The ending of the war has brought forward again the old French city's claims to being one of the show places of the continent. It has been often filled in the past when some event of unusual importance was being staged but never has it been so full of people as just now. The different hotels are crowded to capacity and private boarding houses can hold no more.

On landing to-day the heir to the throne will be welcomed at the King's wharf by the most picturesque and notable assemblage possible in this dominion. Dignitaries of the church and state, men of British and French races, representatives of different creeds, will be present to pay their respects. Devonshire, the Englishman, Borden, the United Empire Loyalist, and Begin, Gouin and Lavigueurre, the French-Canadians, will typify by their persons to the prince the mixed character of the people of Canada, over whom he will one day rule.

His programme to-day is a light one, as his programmes go. After his welcome at the wharf he will drive up the hilly streets of old Quebec to the citadel, where he will dine.

The day has broken fine and clear, a heavy downpour yesterday has apparently stripped the sky of its last drop of moisture. Nothing should interfere in making the landing and procession one of the most brilliant episodes of the present tour.

Quebec's old streets are gay with flags. On the Place d'Armes workmen are finishing a massive arch of evergreens. They have been working for days and are yet unfinished. A solid framework had to be erected seemingly durable and solid as the girders of the Quebec bridge.

It now forms a grand noble archway bearing the flags and mottoes carrying a towering welcome to the coming Prince.

The Royal train will be hauled by the big Pacific type of locomotives of the Grand Trunk.

Mr. H. R. Charlton, o fthe Grand Trunk has been designated to accompany His Royal Highness while on the lines of that system. Mr. Charlton has been the representative of the company on the various Canadian tours of important personages during the past twenty years. ## ALD. CROWE'S BROTHER VISITING OLD HOME

NEARYLY THIRTY YEARS SINCE CHAS. CROWE LEFT PETERBORO.

Mr. Charles Crowe, an old Ashburnham boy, now secretary of the Alden Coal Company of Davenport, Iowa, is in the city visiting his brother, Alderman Jos. Crowe. He is accompanied by his wife. They have been on a month's motor trip in Eastern Canada, and are on their way home.

The Alden Coal Company operate mines in Illinois, Iowa and Wyoming.

Since leaving Peterboro about thirty years ago, Mr. Crowe sees many improvements in the city, and realizes that the building of the new Hunter street bridge will have the effect of eliminating many old landmarks in Ashburnham, where he spent his early boyhood days.

Mr. Crowe's acquaintances, who are still resident in Peterboro, are glad to know that he has seen so successful as he has been in the business world.

. The thirty-seven counties of Ontario have so wall adopted the Good Road System. Peterboro is the last county to come in under this system, the County Council last month, passing a by-law approving of county roads in three townships.

CANNOT PROCLAIM A STATE OF PEACE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—Reply to a series of written questions submitted by Senator Fall, New Mexico, President Wilson to-day declared it was his judgment that he has not the power to proclaim a state of peace before the ratification of the treaty by the Senate.

The President also says that the ratification of territory rights by Germany does not convey the titles to the Allies, but that it does put the disposition of the territory in their names.

PRINCE DRIVES IN WILLYS-KNIGHT CAR

The car in which the Prince of Wales was driven during his whole stay in St. John, N.B., and the first car in which he was driven in Canada, was a Willys-Knight, driven by George W. Parlee, manager of the Veteran Taxi Service Company.

On the return from the reception at Rothesay, His Royal Highness showed the keen interest that he has in automobiles, for he inquired regarding the make of the car, as well as, other important matters in connection with it. Coming to a good clear stretch of road, he requested the returned-soldier chauffeur to put on a little speed, and in accordance with the request, Mr. Parlee sent the car along at the rate of about fifty miles an hour. His Royal Highness enjoyed every second of the fast drive. As the Prince stepped from the car on the wharf, preparatory to re-embarking, he shook hands with Mr. Parlee, and complimented him on his careful driving. He then presented him with a handsome pair of cuff links, with the Prince of Wales' feathers inscribed on one link, and a large "E," surmounted by a crown, on the other.

Commercial motor truck owners should remember that, by the recent amendments to the Motor Vehicles Act, every truck must be equipped with a mirror so that the driver may have a view of the road behind him.

GERMANS STRIVING TO DOMINATE SILESIA BY KILLING CITIZENS

TRYING TO GAIN CONTROL BEFORE THE PLEBISCITE FOR SELF-DETERMINATION IS TAKEN---POLISH SECRETARY PLEADS THAT THE ALLIES EXERCISE THEIR AUTHORITY.

NO BOLSHEVISM THERE

(By Carl D. Groat.)

BERLIN, Aug. 21.—Declaring that Germany had resorted to massacre in Upper Silesia, in order to establish her power before the plebiscite was held, the Polish secretary of war, Yorfanti, pleaded to-day that the Allies send a commission to organize the country and preserve order.

"The Germans are killing peaceful citizens in Upper Silesia," Yorfanti asserted. "Travellers from that district told me that sixteen persons were executed at Gleiwiz in one day without a trial. The impression is that the Germans are trying to shoot prominent Poles so as to disorganize the country and have an excuse to massacre the population, thus improving Germany's chances in the plebiscite."

Yorfani declared that Roersing, the German commissioner in Upper Silesia, was well aware that the Minister of War Noske was responsible for introducing martial law against the Poles in order to aid the German movement for a favourable plebiscite.

"At Myslowitz," Yorfanti said, seven workers were killed while awaiting their pay. Peaceful citizens also were killed at Zalez and at Halembio. Others were ordered to raise their hands and then were shot. Near Ribnik a woman was shot in the back while searching for her husband."

No Bolshevism There.

"The miners' strike in which 200,000 men are participating, is a monster protest of all the inhabitants against the German terrorism. There is no Bolshevism there, but we must demand that the Entente send a military commission immediately to install a joint German-Polish administration. The Allies must exercise their authority to withdraw the German representatives, raise the siege and halt the massacres."

"If the Entente nations will not send troops to pacify the district let them give a mandate to the Poles."

It is believed likely that the Polish delegation will leave for Warsaw to-morrow.

ADMITS REPORTS WERE WRITTEN TO BUOY UP GERMAN ARMY.

BERLIN, Aug. 21. — Former Quartermaster-General Ludendorff, in his new book on the war, which is to be published this week, defends is battle reports and denies the charges frequently made in Germany during the war that they were colored or that unfavorable results were suppressed or that the reports were inaccurate otherwise, although he admits frankly, as he puts it, "I wrote the reports primarily for the army." He continues, "I had to take into consideration also the influence of our reports on our allies."

BELA KUN HAS BEEN HELD IN OLD MILL

(Canadian Press.)

VIENNA, Aug. 22.—The Austrian government, because of protests of the peasantry, has removed Bela Kun, Dr. Landler and Herr Posr, Hungarian Communists, from an old mill in the Thaya Valley. Others have been imprisoned in a new prison, the whereabouts of which is not disclosed.

Paul Garami, Hungarian Social Democratic leader, who has been here conferring with Allied representatives, was summoned to Budapest yesterday to discuss, probably, representations of his party in the Cabinet.

NO HAPSBURG NEED APPLY

(Canadian Press.)

PARIS, Aug. 22.—After Herbert Hoover's protest against the Archduke Joseph, in which he urged the Allies to oust Joseph as the head of the Hungarian Government and permit the establishment of a popular government, the Council of Five notified the Archduke that the Allies would not treat with a member of the Hapsburg dynasty. They declared also that they would not recognise his government, it became known to-day.

POLES PURSUE BOLSHEVIKI OVER THE OLD RUSSIAN BATTLE FIELDS

SOVIET FORCES ROUTED IN VOLHYNIA AND IN SOUTH RUSSIA ANTI-BOLSHEVIST TROOPS CONTINUE ADVANCES.

RETIRE ON WIDE FRONT

(Canadian Press.)

COPENHAGEN, Aug. 22.—Polish troops have administered a crushing defeat on the Bolsheviki, and the Soviet troops are being pursued everywhere, Polish General Staff at Warsaw announces. The fortress of Rovno, in Volhynia, north-east of Dubno, has been captured by the Poles after hard fighting. East of Minsk the Poles have reached the line of Ihumen-Dorizend.

Apparently the Poles are advancing north and south of the Pripet marshes, east of Brest-Litovsk. Ihumen is forty miles east of Minsk. Rovno is one of a triangle of fortresses in Southwestern Volhynia. The other two, Lutsk and Dubno, have been captured by the Poles within the last few weeks.

General Petlura, the Ukrainian leader, and Gen. Denekine, anti-Bolshevist commander in Southern Russia, continue their offences successfully, according to reports received in London Thursday by prominent Poles. The advance of the Poles puts the Bolsheviki front in action from Minsk to north east of Odessa. A Bolshevik wireless communication received in London Thursday night said that the Soviet troops were retiring before Denekine's forces in the regions of Zudna and Morenovoe.

FARMERS PLEASED WITH REPEAL OF DAYLIGHT SAVING

BUT RETAIL MERCHANTS OF ONTARIO UNANIMOUS IN FAVOUR OF THE EXTRA HOUR.

(Special to The Examiner.)

TORONTO, Aug. 22.— "Farmers will be delighted if it goes out of existence," said Mr. T. J. Morrison, secretary of the United Farmers of Ontario, referring to the daylight saving law. The United States' Senate has repealed the law in the United States and it is probable that so far as the Dominion is concerned the Canadian law may also pass out.

"It was unpopular with the farmers from the first," said Mr. Morrison, "and is as unpopular now. It interferes with their work. It doesn't matter how the clock is shifted, a farmer cannot get in his grain until the dew is off and under daylight saving it is dinner time before he can get much in. Then it makes work late at night. If he goes to town on business after work everything is closed down. Yes, its abolition will be received with cheers."

Merchants Want Saving.

The retail merchants of Ontario, according to Secretary W. C. Miller, takes an entirely opposite view.

"The retail merchants in the province are practically unanimous in favour of it," said Mr. Miller. "Previous to the passing of the measure we took a vote of 400 branches of the Association in Ontario and only four were opposed to it, and these were in farming districts. They have fallen into line since. The urban merchants are as strong for it as ever after trying it, and even if the Dominion law is repealed, will try to have municipalities adopt it. It gives the merchants and their employees a longer evening, and it does not affect the earning of the store."

QUEBEC'S HOMAGE TO THE PRINCE

ENTHUSIASTIC CROWDS OFFERED GREAT WELCOME.

(Canadian Press.)

AN INTERESTING POTATO TEST

MR. W. H. MERRILL GIVES PARTICULARS OF EXPERIMENT MADE BY HIMSELF.

Mr. W. H. Merrill has furnished the Examiner with the details of an interesting potato test that he has carried on this summer and his findings will be read with a good deal of interest by the gardeners of the city and district.

On the 28th of April last Mr. Merrill planted three pounds each of the following varieties of potatoes: Irish Cobblers, New Brunswick seed; Early Record, bred from the seed ball of the Irish Cobbler, and Early Buckeye, bred from the seed ball of the Early Rose. The three varieties were planted together and given exactly the same care, with the following results:

Early Buckeye—36 1-2 pounds.
Irish Cobblers—36 pounds.
Early Record—38 pounds.

The Early Buckeye perfectly matured in 88 days from the time of planting, the Irish Cobblers in 91 days and the Early Record in 94 days. Mr. Merrill says the tubers of all varieties were numerous but rather undersized owing to the dry weather. The Early Record was the most uniform and the best type, the Early Buckeyes the largest, but not so numerous, and the Irish Cobblers rather uneven in size.

WILSON MAY HAVE TO APPEAL TO THE PEOPLE

(Special to The Examiner.)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22.— President Wilson's proposed tour of the country was again coming to the front in the treaty discussions to-day as a result of developments since Tuesday when the President met the Senate Foreign Relations committee. Reports coming mostly from the capital that the President's trip had been abandoned are denied at the White House, although it is admitted that plans are still indefinite.

Developments have not been such as to encourage the belief that the President would be able to get the treaty and the League covenant ratified without an appeal direct to the people, it is pointed out by the President's supporters.

MISSION TO NEAR EAST RETURNS WITH REPORT

(Special to The Examiner.)

ATHENS, Aug. 22. — Despatches from Constantinople to-day said that the American mission to the Near East was en route to Paris, where it will submit a report to the Peace Conference on the wishes of the subject races of Turkey. [illegible] report may vest the decision with regard to an American [illegible] East.

ARCHDUKE JOSEPH HAS RESIGNED AS HURGARIAN CHIEF

WAS SUSPECTED OF REACTIONARY INTENTIONS AND HAD NOT BEEN RECOGNIZED BY THE ALLIES.

(Special to The Examiner.)

PARIS, Aug. 22.— Archduke Joseph has resigned as head of the Hungarian government and has left Budapest, a Vienna despatch to the agency radio reported to-day.

Archduke Joseph surprised the world when he regained power for a Hapsburg in Hungary at the time of the Roumanian troops occupied Budapest. His ascent to control of the government followed the brief administration of Premier Julias Peidl, who formed a Socialist cabinet after Bela Kun had been overthrown.

Joseph's government has been held unrepresentative of the country and has been charged with reactionary intentions, even the restoration of the monarchy. Foreign Minister Lovassy, however, in an interview with the United Press, published yesterday, declared Joseph would resign in a month as soon as the National Assembly was established. Joseph never received recognition from the allies, although it was reported that Entente representatives in Budapest had established an understanding with him.

IT IS IMPORTANT FOR EVERY MAN TO SAVE $3.00 OR MORE ON HIS HATS AND IT CAN BE DONE.

The greatest sale of hats this city has seen has been the clearing out of the men's hats and caps stock at W. E. Lech's store. Not a man's hat will be retained in stock.

Every man when he is down town to-morrow afternoon should drop into the store next to the Peterborough Hardware Co. and buy one or more of the first-class hats or caps that are left.

MOTOR CAR HITS A FALLEN TREE

FATAL ACCIDENT AT LAKE SIMCOE LAST EVYNING.

(Canadian Press.)

TORONTO, Aug. 22.—Ivor Startup, aged 17, was killed, and Miss Thompson probably fatally hurt, last night, near the summer residences of their families at Lake Simcoe, when their motor car, in the darkness, hit a large tree which had fallen across the road.

They were found at daylight this morning.

THEATRE ON HUNTER STREET PROGRESSING

Remodelling of "Times" Building By Schneider Estate.

With a seating capacity of over seven hundreds the new moving picture show to be opened in the building formerly occupied by the "Morning Times," and owned by the Schneider Estate, is nearing completion, and the management expects to formally open the show towards the end of the year. The remodelled building will have a store in front, through which an entrance to the picture show will be made. The show is modelled exactly on the lines of the Colonial of Toronto, opposite the City Hall, and is somewhat similar to the Grand Theatre, having a wide balcony and seats sloping toward the stage. In the upper portion of the building four up-to-date apartments are being constructed out of what once was a hotel. When the building is completed the equipment from the "Strand" will be placed there.

MR. F. MATHER HOME.

Was on Fur-Buying Trip in England for Barries, Limited.

Mr. Francis Mather returned to-day from England, where he has been on a buying trip for Barries, Ltd., since June. He said this morning that in the Old Country labour conditions are very acute and practically no labouring men can be secured. Money is being very freely spent amongst the class who got rich during the war. He said that an unusual condition exists in fur buying, inasmuch as the prices being paid are higher than in this country, although they are generally lower. The [illegible] he said, is probably due to the fact that the dealers are [illegible] the invoices [illegible] have on hand. If the course of [illegible] Mr. Mather spent most of his time [illegible] still on raising and will probably remain [illegible] indefinitely.

GANADA STILL SPENDS $1,000,000 A DAY FOR WAR; NEW LOAN IN OCT.

KILL CHILDREN IN CRADLES, BURN OLD PEOPLE TO DEATH.

LONDON, Aug. 21. — The Bolsheviki have plundered the town of Stanizas in the district of the Upper Don River, according to advices reaching here. Cruelties were inflicted on the population by the Bolsheviki, who were reported to have killed children in their cradles and to have burned old people. In the towns of Migulinskaia and Kazanskaig, in the same region, the advices add, 5,000 persons have been executed, and more than 800 have been put to death in the surrounding territory.

NEW LOAN FOR THREE HUNDRED MILLION WILL BE FLOATED IN OCTOBER---BONDS NOT EXEMPTED FROM TAXES---RATE WILL BE 5 1-2

BALANCE WITH U.S. ADVERSE

OTTAWA, Aug. 21.—The new domestic loan will probably be floated towards the end of October, and conferences are being held from time to time by the Finance Department to make arrangements. The terms and conditions are yet to be announced, but the interest rate will likely be 5 1-2 per cent. and the total $300,000,000. The loan is the main way of balancing public expenditures and deficient revenue. An idea of this situation may be gathered from the fact that, while the aggregate outlays of the current fiscal year will be $900,000,000, the estimated revenue from ordinary sources is but $390,000,000. Statistics just issued show that revenues are lagging behind. The first month of the current fiscal year the total revenue was $60,00,000, an increase of $6,000,000 compared with a year ago; but, on the other hand, expenditures on consolidated fund totalled $76,000,000; and on capital account was $117,600,000. This total of $193,000,000 is just under a hundred millions less than the revenue. For war purposes the country is still spending a million a day, while on public works and other services the outlay has increased much since peace came. For the first four months of the fiscal year it totalled $76,000,000, as against $33,000,000 in the same period last year. Interest cuts a large figure.

Trade with the United States still shows a decidedly adverse balance. In May imports totalled $58,000,000 and exports $35,000,000, and in June the respective totals were $31,000,000 and $20,000,000. It is this factor which accounts for unfavourable exchange, and which makes improbable the placing of a slice of the loan in the States, though it is fully expected that a lot of American money will be sent to Canada and invested in the bonds, payable here.

FARMERS ARE COMING TO LIFE

BEGINNING TO REALIZE THE RESPONSIBILITIES, SAYS J. J. MORRISON.

(Canadian Press.)

BOBCAYGEON, Ont., Aug. 22.—Addressing the U. F. O. meeting here yesterday, J. J. Morrison, secretary of Ontario, said: "The farmers are coming to life and beginning to realise their responsibility to the State and to their own offspring. We call on labour to get busy and help us. You cannot have an all-round satisfied country where half of the people work 15 hours a day and the other half only eight."

NO PROFITEERING SAY RETAILERS

"JUST PLAIN KICKS" ARE PROMISED FOR WINTER SHOES.

(Canadian Press.)

ATLANTIC CITY, Aug. 22.—Shoe retailers, at the convention of the National Shoe Retailers' Association, in session here to-day, denied profiteering charges.

Five thousand shoe retailers are represented. Officers of the association denied that shoes would cost $25.00 a pair this winter.

They announced that winter styles in footwear would be devoid of the fancy features, which add cost to production, and said that "just plain kicks" would be offered to the public at prices ranging from $8.00 to $12.00 per pair.

JUST GUESSING ABOUT THE LOAN

(Canadian Press.)

OTTAWA, Aug. 22.—The Finance Department officials declared that all reported arrangements regarding the Dominion Loan to be floated this fall are purely speculative.

THE SAXONIA DOCKS TO-DAY

(Canadian Press.)

HALIFAX, N.S., Aug. 22. — The Saxonia, with returning Canadian soldiers, advises that she will dock at four o'clock this afternoon.

The Belgic is due at six o'clock to-morrow morning, and the Royal George at 10.40 to-morrow night.

ASHBURNHAM MAN WAS DEAD-DRUNK

About midnight last night some East City residents were awakened and startled to hear that a man had been found dead on Roger Street, near the corner of Hunter Street. Citizens donned a few clothes and hurried to the corner.

An impromptu autopsy was performed on the body of the "deceased," and the verdict given was "drunk." He was then removed to his home.

ST. KITTS STRIKE MAY BE SETTLED TO-DAY

(Special to The Examiner.)

ST. CATHARINES, Ont., Aug. 22. —There are prospects of the Electric Railway strike being settled. Another conference of the strike officials and Manager Oliver is to take place at four o'clock this afternoon, when, it is believed, arrangements will be made to resume operations on the road.

AKRON MACHINISTS WANT $1.00 AN HOUR

(Special to the Examiner.)

AKRON, O., Aug. 22. — Akron's great rubber plants and practically all other industries, were seriously crippled by a strike of union machinists to-day. The 20,000 members voted unanimously to strike without further parley. Only the International Harvester Co. plant was unaffected. This company signed a compromise agreement with its men. The machinists demand a 44 hour week and $1 per hour, equivalent to a 20 per cent. increase in wages.

Unless the strike is settled by Monday, 80,000 workers will be forced out of employment, it was said. Several plants were reported as closed or ready to do so.

WHEN YOU WAKE UP DRINK GLASS OF HOT WATER

Wash the poisons and toxins from system before putting more food into stomach.

Says inside-bathing makes anyone look and feel clean, sweet and refreshed.

Wash yourself on the inside before breakfast like you do on the outside. This is vastly more important because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, causing illness, while the bowel pores do.

For every ounce of food and drink taken into the stomach, nearly an ounce of waste material must be carried out of the body. If this waste material is not eliminated day by day it quickly ferments and generates poisons, gases and toxins, which are absorbed or sucked into the blood stream, through the lymph ducts which should suck only nourishment to sustain the body.

A splendid health measure, is to drink before breakfast each day, a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, which is a harmless way to wash these poisons, gases and toxins from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels; thus cleansing, sweetening and freshening the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

A quarter pound of limestone phosphate costs but very little at the drug store but is sufficient to make anyone an enthusiast on inside bathing. Men and women who are accustomed to wake up with a headaching head or have furred tongue, bad cold stomach or constipation are assured of pronounced improvement in their health and appearance shortly

DENVER GETS BACON AT 25 TO 39 CENTS

DENVER, Col. Aug. 20.—On the eve of the entry of the city of Denver into the retail bacon business, dealers announced sweeping reductions in that commodity. Where stores previously have been getting fifty-five to seventy cents a pound, it was announced bacon could be purchased at thirty-five, thirty-six and thirty-nine and one-half cents a pound, depending on the grade. Customers were advised to load up.

The city secured for sale 300,000 pounds of bacon purchased from the War Department in an effort to curb high prices.

COULDN'T RIDE ON THE STREET CARS

WAS ALMOST NERVOUS WRECK—SAYS TANLAC IS WORTH ITS WEIGHT IN GOLD.

"I would not take a thousand dollars for the good Tanlac had done me," said Arthur Baars, employed by the Milwaukie Paper Box Co., and residing at 1207 Eighteenth street, Milwaukie, in telling the Tanlac representative of this improvement since taking the medicine.

"Yes, sir, this medicine has put me in shape so I can do more work than I've been able to do before in years, and you can just tell the people I think it is worth its weight in gold," continued Mr. Baars, as he went on with his statement.

"My trouble started three years ago when I had a collapse caused by over heat. I was down in bed three months from this spell, and it left me in an awful fix, in fact I became almost a nervous wreck. I couldn't work regularly—was up one day and down the next. Actually I was so nervous I couldn't ride on the street cars, and being in a crowd or amongst a little excitement would completely upset me, and I would shake like a leaf and it would take several days to get over it. I had such terrific headaches at times my head felt like iron bands were tied around it. Some nights I would have to sit up in bed and get my wife to bathe my head to get a little relief and many times I couldn't get to sleep until four or five o'clock in the morning on account of these headaches and nervous spells. This is just the shape I was in when one of the men at the shop suggested to me that I take Tanlac, and I agreed to do it, but I had little faith in it or any other medicine.

"By the time the first bottle was gone the headaches had disappeared, and my nerves began to get steady. To make a long story short, this Tanlac made me feel like a different man, and now I haven't a sign of nervousness or the other troubles that had been pulling me down for the past three years. I sleep fine, get up of mornings feeling refreshed and rested and ready for my day's work. I eat three hearty meals every day—something I couldn't do before—and what I eat agrees with me, and I am gaining in strength and weight every day. This Tanlac certainly beats anything I ever saw in my life."

Tanlac proved of great benefit to Mr. Baars, because it contains certain medicinal properties which enrich the blood and promote a healthy appetite for nourishing food. Tanlac has been very successful in overcoming nervousness and sleeplessness, not from a quieting effect on the nerves, for it has no such effect, but by strengthening the nerves and body and bringing the normal state of health through its effect on the appetite and nutrition of the body.

Tanlac is sold in Peterborough by W. B. Warne Drug Co., Limited; in Havelock by A. C. Denike; in Lakefield by Tanner Drug Co., Ltd.; in Fowlers Corners by W. A. Hunter; in Gelert by A. J. Scott; in Westwood by G. Pringle & Son.

SHOE WORKERS EARNED FROM $40 TO $120 A WEEK

BOSTON, Aug. 20.— Enquiry into the high cost of shoes by the Suffolk County grand jury to-day developed that some shoe workers have been earning $120 a week. These instances were said to be few, but it was testied that many made $40 a week, while the average was about $40. Unskilled help, formerly paid $12 to $15 a week, have profited most, last boys getting as much as $30 a week.

DR. ELLIS FINDS IN SULTAN OF TURKEY VICTIM OF CENSORSHIP SUCH AS HE WAS WHEN IN EGYPT

CONSTANTINOPLE.—The Sultan of Turkey received me this evening at Yildiz Palace for an interview of an hour. He poured forth the bitterness of his soul against the conduct of the Entente nations, especially in their connivance of the Smyrna massacre by the Greeks, and of the atrocities which he asserts the Greeks are still committing in the territory adjacent to Smyrna.

Mohammed VI. has been on the tottering throne of Turkey for thirteen months. He refused to let the people celebrate the anniversary of his accession, because of the woes of the land. In the five months that have intervened since my former interview with the Sultan he has aged perceptibly. His Majesty shook me warmly by the hand and inquired where I had been and what development of opinion I had found. The naval aide-de-camp, Mehmed Fahri Bey, interpreted, the three of us sitting close together in the most informal fashion. The Sultan mildly gesticulates with his hands or works his fingers together while he speaks, keeping his eyes on the floor while he formulates his statements. There was nothing conventionally august or imperial or stately about the actual interview; it was like an informal conference between two travellers meeting after a separation.

Massacres Arouse Sultan.

Almost immediately the Sultan plunged into the subject upon which I had found both Americans and British aroused — the recent Smyrna massacres. During our previous interview His Majesty had denounced the American atrocities, the killing of Christians by Moslems, as a crime of the centuries; this time he was greatly wrought up by the unprovoked slaughter of Turks and Greeks. He recapitulated the story and its horrors and dwelt especially upon the continuance of the outrages to the present day. He charges that the Greeks are sweeping through the villages, killing hundreds of persons daily and that they are systematically decimating the population so as to get a Greek majority in the territory which they claim. Even in regions purely and indisputably Turkish they continue their course of terorism and death. Three hundred thousand Turkish refugees, the Sultan assured me, have already been driven westward to the neighborhood of Brousa.

Again and again His Majesty expressed his bewilderment that the Entente nations had looked on and done nothing to avert or stop these crimes by one of their own number. His position was that responsible statesmen should foresee the implication of present events; for the people, driven to desperation, are likely to get beyond control of all governments, their own as well as foreign. If massacres of Turks by Greeks are to be permitted in Western Antolia, what is to stay massacres of Turks by Armenians in Eastern Anatolia? There is real likelihood of a general reign of anarchy.

"Now what will America say or do? Turkey's one hope," the Sutan continued, "is in the principles set forth by your distinguished President. Our faith is pinned upon America.

"The Entente nations are sending out lying reports about conditions in Turkey. They control all avenues of expression and communication.

Not Alowed to Wire.

"So brutal is their use of the censorship that they would not even let Vizier, who had gone to Paris on an official mission. And they have let him send only one brief, unimportant message to me in all the time he has been away."

So bitterly did the Sultan speak about this humiliation of his royal perogatives that to ease the tension I mentioned that I also had been the victim of censorship, to the extent of being detained in Cairo, incommunicado, for nearly a month; but that since reaching Constantinople I had learned that the American Senate had demanded the reason why.

"Yes, but I have no Senate to which to appeal," quickly replied the Sultan, "except the opinion of the world through the American press."

Earlier in the interview His Majesty had inquired whether I thought the American Commission upon Mandates in Turkey, now en route here from Syria, would make an investigation of the Smyrna massacre. He returned again to this point, asking for repeated assurance that it would be proper for him, as Sultan, officially to request the Americans to go to Smyrna to learn the facts for themselves. He wants the world to know the truth and from impartial, fearless and trustworthy sources. Then public opinion may deliver Turkey from further outrages of this sort.

The foregoing is the substance of a long interview. I left pondering the dramatic anomaly of the Sultan of the Ottoman Empire, the "Commander of the Faithful," Caliph of all Moslems and "the shadow of God on earth" making a pitieous appeal to the common people of democratic America to save his bloodstained empire from oppression, massacre and anarchy.

15,349 ESTIMATES ON "DOLLAR DAY"

FOUR PERSONS TIED FOR FIRST PRIZE—MANY TIES IN ENTIRE LIST.

Dollar Day Shoppers have become so expert in estimating the number of blanks deposited by the crowds who take advantage of this big semi-annual sale that many of them were tied for the prizes offered by the merchants' committee. The first four prizes as announced were $35, $20, $15 and $10 but there were four estimates within one figure of the correct total of 15,349 coupons. The judges therefore gave $10 to each of these winners and the other prizes were apportioned on a similiar basis.

For the last price of $5 there were twenty-two tied, and each person got only twenty-five cents. The large number of coupons deposited in the box at the Examiner office demonstrates that the midsummer Dollar Day was an unqualified success. Merchants have already reported that they had almost unprecedented business, and the number of shoppers proves that this was one of the best Dollar Days the city has recorded.

Iso readings by Mrs. T. E. MacPherson and Mrs. R. Cornwall. The roll call was responded to, by many choice recipes. Mrs. T. E. MacPherson, Miss Lila Parsons and Mrs. L. Address to Miss Parsons.

On Friday evening a very pleasant surprise was given Miss Lila Parsons, when some of the members of the Board of the Methodist church met at choir practice and presented her with the following address, accompanied by a handsome chequé.

Omemee, Aug. 15, 19.

Miss Lila Parsons:—

At the August meeting of the Quarterly Official Board of the Methodist Church, it was unanimously resolved that a letter of appreciation be tendered to you for your faithful and efficient services renderd during many years as a member of the choir.

The Board on behalf of the congregation asks you to accept this cheque as a slight token of our esteem and confidence.

It was duly moved, seconded and resolved that you be asked to accept the leadership of the choir, a vacancy caused by he death of the late Mr. Mulligan.

Wishing you and the members of the choir, God's richest blessing in conducting the service of song in the House of God.

Signed Son behalf of the Board:
R. F. Stillman, pastor.
W. H. Kennery, Rec. Steward.

Miss Parsons was completely taken by surprise but replied in a few well-chosen words saying she would come and sing in the same old way and try and help the choir but did not feel capable of filling such a responsible position.

Use of rope on the solid tires of a truck when a summer shower overtakes a driver without chains available is recommended as an emergency measure to prevent skidding. Rope used in this way wears out quickly but this is compensated for by the less damage inflicted on tires as compared with chains.

RATES OF EXCHANGE

The extent to which our Canadian money, whether paper or silver is being discounted in American cities, when, indeed, it is accepted at all, continues to cause indignation among those who have suffered because of the situation. However in the majority of cases, Canadians have the remedy in their own hands. There is no need of shopping across the line. Spend your money in Canada where it represents one hundred cents on the dollar. The Hamilton Herald truthfully remarks:

"We confess to a large lack of sympathy for those Canadians who go to Buffalo and other American places to do shopping and come home fleeced or with their Canadian money unspent. Let them do their shopping at home. It will be better for the country—and in most cases better for themselves as well."

USING THE FARMER

Premier Hearst and other Conservative leaders have been doing considerable talking recently about the United Farmers' movement. Only a short time ago the Premier characterized the United Farmers as a donkey engine for the Liberal party and similar utterances have been made by other of the Ontario ministers. Talk of this kind, of course, has several purposes behind it. The government hopes in the first place to swing into line the Conservative farmers. And then there is another motive that is not so readily apparent, that of causing the heads of the Farmers' movement to become so anxious to prove that there is no foundation for the charges that they will make the mistake of placing candidates in ridings where United Farmer members have already been selected by the Liberals as standard-bearers. In a number of constituencies an U. F. O. man has been chosen by the Liberals and in spite of this fact the Farmers' Organization is running its own candidates. If conditions such as these were duplicated in many of the rural ridings, the chance of the Government candidate slipping in in the three-cornered fight would be bright so that the object of the Conservative leaders in repeatedly denouncing the United Farmers of Ontario as a Liberal dodge becomes more easily understood. As to the truth of the charge itself the best answer is the fact that five out of the seven U. F. O. leaders are Conservative and that twelve of the eighteen Farmer candidates already in the field were members of the Conservative party.

NOT ANXIOUS FOR CONVENTION

Leading Conservatives throughout the Province who have been urging that a Provincial Conservative Convention should be held, and the Conservative newspapers who have ventured to express the same opinion have had their answer. Hon. T. W. McGarry, speaking in the presence of Premier Hearst at Marmora, the other day, declared that there will be no convention. This is the verdict of the Cabinet, the followers of the Government can "insurge" all they want to. Mr. McGarry meets the demand for a revision of the Conservative platform at a convention by the statement that while a government has a majority on the floor of the House, it can go on carrying on the affairs of the country. The answer of the Cabinet will hardly satisfy the Conservative insurgents whose numbers are increasing. They are demanding a chance to talk over politics—many of them are demanding a change in the leadership and the sniping is on the increase. Evidently the Cabinet is not anxious to face its own followers. The refusal to consider the calling of a Convention shows a tendency to intensify the feeling of many Government supporters that 'everything is not well in Government circles.

The following from the Ottawa Journal is timely:

"Certain Conservative newspapers can see nothing in the demand for an Ontario Conservative Convention, but an attempt to oust Sir William Hearst from the leadership and, consequently are opposed to it. To our mind that is bad reasoning and bad democracy. If, as these papers claim (and the Journal has no reason for doubting it), Sir William Hearst has the confidence of the overwhelming bulk of the party, then why should his friends fear a convention? And, quite apart from the personal aspect of the matter, is not a convention the most democratic proceeding? No leader is bigger than his party. If the Conservatives of Ontario feel that Sir William Hearst's leadership is inadequate, surely it is their undeniable right to dispense with it. If, on the other hand, they feel that he is to be trusted, what better way could there be of expressing their opinion than by an open convention?

For our part we feel that Sir William Hearst has been a good premier, and that his regime has been beneficial to the Province, but we cannot see the sense of opposition to a party convention. A convention is a good thing for any party. It promotes unity; gids would-be rebels to get "grouches" out of their systems; advances the "get-together" feeling and inspires enthusiasm. The recent gathering of Liberals in Ottawa was a conspicuous example of this.

Conservatism, both in England and Canada has advanced a long way since Mr. Gladstone not too truthfully described it as "distrust of the people, qualified by fear." Some of our Conservative contemporaries, afraid to trust the party's leadership and policies to its rank and file, appear anxious to deserve the indictment."

Voice Of The People

GRATUITIES AND PENSIONS

Editor of the Examiner,—

In regard to the Hamilton G.W.V.A. resolution about paying Pensions first and suspending gratuities I may say it is a good principle, but the Hamilton War Veterans must remember that Pensions are compulsory and Gratuities are a free gift and it is a crying shame on the Government if the Pensioners are not paid and paid well. I have just read about the hard times there is expected to be this winter and unemployment etc., Well, if the thousands of returned soldiers and there will be thousands) cannot find employment, who is going to keep them? That is where the extra gratuity will come in and the sooner it is paid the better it will be for the men who are in need of it. To my mind there will be lots of people starving for want of gratuities as well as pensions. Mind you I am not meaning to be selfish in any way, because I kow that every one who gets a pension earns it I am in receipt of a pension myself (but not large enough to retire on) but I would be quite willing to pay it over to any deserving Pensioner. I hope to see in the near future that the Govrnment is going to pay out the Gratuities and fix the pensions too, and I would like to be before the Winter.

Yours,
PENSIONER.

LIKE A FAT MAN RECLINING IN A HAMMOCK ON A SULTRY DAY

SUCH IS THE DOMINION GOVERNMENT'S EFFORT TO TACKLE THE HIGH COST OF LIVING, AND TO GO AFTER THE PROFITEERS—THE ACTIVITY OF THE UNITED STATES AUTHORITIES EMPHASIZES THE FAILURE OF THE CANADIAN GOVERNMENT.

(From the Toronto World.)

The attorney-general of the United States is a busy man these days, for he is directing the activities of district attorneys and federal officials all over the country. Some idea of what is being done may be gleaned from a Washington despatch to the Christian Science Monitor, herewith reprinted alongside. Great hoards of food have been uncovered in Boston, Detroit, St. Louis, New Orleans, and many other places. It will be observed that as these hoards are discovered the United States district attorney applies to a federal judge to "libel" the goods; that is, he proceeds much as an ordinary litigant would proceed to libel a ship on which he had a claim. The admiralty court would keep the ship in port until the claim was adjusted. So the hoarded food is in the possesion of the court until a summary enquiry is made, and then it is forced to sale and and the profiteer punished. Some five hundred men are already under arrest in the United States for profiteerig.

Near Boston the other day officials tracked some greasy profiteer to his lair and there found hoarded five million pounds of sugar, millions of pounds of butter and cheese and fourteen million dozen eggs. These stores were libeled ad will be forced to sale. The profiteer himself is being dealt with by a special grand jury immediately empaneled by a federal judge. We have little doubt that he will be summarily punished.

At Washington the house of representatives is busy putting more teeth into the laws against profiteering, and the president may be given authority by proclamation to fix the price of all commodities. Dealers selling at a price higher than that fixed by the proclamation will be liable to two years in the penetentiary. Attorney-General Palmer is on the job and his district attorneys, deputy marshals and special agents are everywhere at work.

What is going on in Canada?

The Dominion Government is not uncovering any hoards of food, forcing them to sale or bringing the profiteers to justice. The Attorney-General of Canada is doing nothing whatever to enforce the laws against profiteers. True he has no district attorneys or deputy marshals or special agents to do this work for him, but these should be provided at the earliest posible moment. We observe that the Royal Northwest Mounted Police and the Dominion Police are to be consolidated, a press report says for federal enforcement of the federal law. Generally speaking the Royal Northwest Mounted Police has done constabulary work for the western provinces which should have been done by the provincial governments and municipalities. However, this consolidation may be the first step toward putting at the disposal of the attorney-general a force to ferret out hoarding and arrest profiteers.

But we have an Attorney-General for the Province of Ontario, although we are not reminded of his existance by anything he does to reduce the cost of living or punish the extortionate dealers. He has under him many crown attorneys. In every county and province there is a grand jury, and a special grand jury at any time may be empaneled upon the request of the attorney-general. But nothing is being done by the authorities in Queen's Park to uncover hoarded food or punish the profiteers.

The province passes the buck to the Dominion, and the Dominion, not to be outdone in generosity, passes it back to the province. We have created a board of commerce, but we have not given it the powers of a court. It cannot seize hoarded foods or send profiteers to the penitentiary. Its functions seem to be one of enquiry and, as the Ottawa Citizen observes:

"Heaven knows, we have had enough futile and money-wasting enquiries, commissions and what not to date."

Still we have great faith in the ability and integrity of Judge Robson, the chairman, and W. F. O'Connor, K. C., the other member of the commission. They will do their best, but they can do little unless the full power of the federal government is thrown into the struggle. The government must have federal courts, federal district attorneys and federal officials under the supervision and direction of the attorney-general, to do work like that which is now being carried on by the government of the United States.

For years W. F. Maclean, in the House and in the columns of the World fought almost a single-handed fight for federal enforcement of the federal law. Now others are beginning to see that the national government itself must deal with a national evil like the high cost of living. The Ottawa Citizen contrasts the striking activity of the United States government with the somnolence of our government at Ottawa. The Globe splutters about constitutional limitation, but is forced to admit that federal enforcement of federal law is the only remedy for profiteering. The Star has been converted by the Globe and now shows all the zeal of the new convert. Only yesterday it announced that it had "for years" advocated federal enforcement of federal law. The "years" was doubtless a misprint for "days." Careless proofreader!

Our rulers at Ottawa had better wake up. W. F. O'Conner, K.C., has gone to Washington to get some pointers from the United States Federal Trade Commission, and we only regret that Sir Robert Borden's temporary indisposition prevents his going to the same place to get some pointers from President Wilson. Our old friend, Hon. C. J. Doherty, minister of justice, and attorney-general of Canada, is in robust health after his month of holidaying overseas. Let him go to Washington and get some pointers from A. Mitchell Palmer.

When Mr. O'Connor returns we hope he will bring with him a lot of ginger. Ginger is what is needed by our Ottawa ministers, many of whom are away fishing, golfing and summer holidaying. Yet this is no time for holidays or merry-making. The bulk of the people to-day are insufficiently nourished, because they cannot buy the proper food. Nearly all of us are suffering privations because of the extortionate prices charged for so many necessaries. If our rulers at Ottawa do not know this they will learn of it very soon from an indignant people. They will be held responsible for the inertia which prevails in Canada, contrasted with the activity in the United States. The Washington authorities are moving vigorously; the authorities at Ottawa on the subject of the high cost of living are inert as "A painted ship upon a painted ocean."

A fat man reclining in a hammock on a sultry afternoon fairly well represents the spirit and energy with which the Dominion government is tackling the high cost of living problem and going after the profiteers.

TIP ON WASHING THE CAR

The car should never be washed in direct sunlight. If the operation is not caried out in the garage the vehicle should be in the shade while being washed. The direct rays of the sun, striking on water causes heating, which tends to dull the finish. In the same way the hood should never be washed when it is hot, as directly after a run.

Sydney, Aug. 19.—Germans who are being deported from Australia sing "Die Watch am Rhine," and shout insults when the steamers leave. In the House of Representatives a demand has been made that they should be publicly tried before deportation.

The Government replied that the Germans in certain communities despite the crushing defeat of their fatherland were as truculent as ever and the Government was determined that the safety of Australia should not be further imperiled by the presence of there aliens.

Don't Spoil Your Hair By Washing It

When you wash your hair, be careful what you use. Don't use prepared shampoos or anything else, that contains too much alkali, for this is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

The best thing to use is just plain mulsified cocoanut oil, for this is pure and entirely greaseless. It's very cheap, and beats anything else all to pieces. You can get this at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for months.

Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in, about a teaspoonful is all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly, and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy and easy to handle. Besides, it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff.

ST. THOMAS, Aug. 20. — The test case brought by the Lord's Day Alliance against the Carnation Milk Co., of Aylmer, for removing and caring for milk on Sunday, has been decided in favour of the company.

County Magistrate Hunt expressed the opinion the work had to be done either by the company or the farmers or a serious and criminal loss of food would result. The company, not using compulsion on the farmers, were within their legal rights.

The Lord's Day Alliance may appeal the case.

BARBARA IS WORRIED OVER NEIL.

CHAPTER XLVII

At last I imagined I knew the cause for the intimacy between Neil and Blanche Orton. But how did it start in the first place? How did he come to talk of business matters to another woman, and absolutely refuse to discuss them with me?

It is a terrible feeling to ask oneself questions of this sort; to ask them over and over and yet find no answer. But one possible explanation came to me—that we were living far beyond our means. If not, why had it been necessary for anyone to help Neil, even if Scott had threatened him? If we could afford to do the things we did, live in the manner in which we did, surely Neil must be rich? Rich enough to take up even the large block of stock owned by Scott.

I wondered why Scott had threatened Neil; what made it possible for him to do so. Had I known that the stock Neil had sold him was what he, Scott, called "phoney stock", and that he had insisted upon having his money at once, I might have understood many other things at this time. But that Neil would sell stock that was worthless, knowing that it was, would have not only seemed impossible, but ridiculous to me.

You see, I knew absolutely nothing of business of any kind. Neil earned the money, gave it to me, and I spent it as I pleased. But I have since learned that one may be quite a good business man or woman and still not understand the devious ways of many promoters; especially if they are promoting schemes based so far away that purchasers of stock must take their word for their value, reinforced by an elaborately printed prospectus, instead of investigating the property for themselves.

I decided that Scott had "gold feet," as Neil had said, and wanted his money back; that he had threatened to sue Neil if he didn't return it. That he had to have some other reason to bring suit aside from the fact that he had changed his mind, never occurred to me.

I had an almost insane desire to run away; away from my thoughts and everything. It may seem strange to some woman, that I was not satisfied to let Neil run things, and not worry because I did not know the details. But there had been so many little things in my life with him to make me uneasy. Yet often I took myself to task for my anxiety. Neil was so vigorous, so alive, and strong-willed. It seemed impossible that life could play any tricks with him. Had he been a weakling, it would have been impossible for me to have good for so long the half-doubts which had been mine almost since we had been married. But he was so strong, so masterful, that one could not vision him in trouble or not dominating any situation.

Neil was the most convincing talker I ever heard. It wasn't that he said so much, it was the way he said it.

I went into my baby—little Robert—but for the first time he failed to hold my thoughts from my worry. I played with him, but in a half-hearted way that he seemed to realize; for his tiny fingers pulled at me, and he whined a little—something very unusual with him. He had always been a wonderfully good baby, healthy and happy.

I laid him down, and went into the library. I wandered about the room for a few moments, then, noticing that the cellarette was slightly open, started to close it. Then I looked inside, I was shocked to see a bottle of whiskey, that Neil had opened the night before, nearly half gone! I must speak to Tonko. He should not touch the cellarette. Neil must keep it locked hereafter.

I turned the key in the lock, and put it in my pocket. When Neil came in I would tell him to find a hiding place for it—that it was a temptation to leave it in the lock.

To-morrow—Frederick Argues with Neil as to His Business Methods.

Men Awaiting Deportation are Given time to Settle Affairs.

WINNIPEG, Aug. 21. — Samuel Blumenberg, now awaiting deportation under the new imigration act, is at liberty on $1000 bail. He is now settling his business interests in Canada preparator to being deported to Russia.

After allowing the aliens a reasonable amount of time to clear up their business interests in Canada they will be escorted to the seaboard, and placed on a steamer sailing for their own country. The government will allow them to take all their personal belongings with them and will pay their way to the seaboard.

Commisioner Gelley, chairman of the Immigration Board, declared that the steamship company which had brought the aliens to Canada will have to take them back free of charge unless the alient choose to pay their fare.

WORKERS FEEL THEY ARE CONSUMERS, TOO

H. C. OF L. SHIFTS ATTENTION—CO-OPERATIVE DISTRIBUTION ONE OF THE SUGGESTIONS.

THE CONSUMERS SHOULD CONTROL

TORONTO, Aug. 20.— There is a shifting of attention from producers, especially urban industrial producers, to consumers. It is one of the significant features emerging from the present all-absorbing problem — the cost of living, which is giving Governments from Ottawa to Moscow more worry than anything else today.

The changing emphasis is illustrated clearly in the recent statement of Mr. Lee, of the Brotherhood of American Engineers, who said that either wages must continue to go up, or the cost of living must be reduced, and he preferred the latter.

Workingmen for sometime have realized that they were victims of a vicious circle of rising wages and rising prices, which left them as they were. But it is only recently that any large body of labour opinion has definitely fixed the reduction of living expenses as the cardinal necessity.

Labour Collaborates.

Such an attitude leads away from the "class war" idea, which had invaded large sections of the labour world, and tends in the direction of collaboration with other classes. As one American observer says: "If the big unions lead in the campaign to cut living expenses they will be acting on behalf of all labor and of the middle classes generally. They will exercise a national leadership."

This observer thinks that if the union leaders will pursue the subject, they will discover that there can be no permanent relief short of a co-operative system of distribution for the necessities of life. And when they have realized that point they will be on common ground with progressive farmers, who also feel that the present system is wasteful and unfair to them.

A Vague Line.

The line between consumers and producers is vague, and has never been clearly defined even by such experts on the problem as G. H. D. Cole. So many men, including farmers and workmen alike, are both producers of certain commodities and consumers of others, that an exact adjustment of interest is difficult. At the present moment, the adjustment is moving towards the side of the consumers importance. The issue has been stated in the following terms: "Since all production is for the purpose of consumption, it is logical that the ultimate control should be vested in the consumers."

Consumer's Council.

The English labour leader, the Rt. Hon. R. J. Clynes, when Food Controller, recognized the importance in the consumers' point of view, and successfully established a Consumers' Council in connection with the work of his ministry. There are also numerous Consumers' Leagues in the United States, and the co-operative movement as it exists in Canada and to a much greater extent in Great Britain, is an association of consumers "who control production for use instead of for profit."

Consumers, of all classes, to-day, are devoting attention to combines and profiteers. In Canada, there is new legislation against combines, passed as part of the Branch of Commerce laws. In the United States, there is a full-blooded chase of anyone suspected of monopolising or hoarding food or other necessities of life, and in England a Parliamentary committee on Trusts and Combinations has been unearthing unsatisfactory conditions. In its report it says it cannot now be assumed that any commodity will be sold for no more than its fair cost of production. The price will be as much as the highly organized combinations can get out of the consumer.

A "Costing" System.

There is one remedy that the British Government applied in the woollen trade, and which it is being urged to extend to other industries. This plan involved government purchase and control of the material; exact "costing" of each stage of manufacture and distribution, and rigid fixing of maximum prices at each stage, according to the ascertained minimum practicable expense of production. This is known as the "Measurement and Publicity" plan. Although an extension of the idea has warm advocates in Great Britain, the plan is stoutly opposed by a majority of manufacturers.

THE REAL GERMAN.

A base bully when he has the upper hand, a kow-towing toady when the foot is on his neck, an insolent impertinent when treated with kindness by his masters; such is your real German. When the Allied soldiers advanced to the Rhine and occupied the great strategic positions, the Teutons were humble, good-natured and respectful, particularly to the Americans. More recently they have been showing a different spirit, taking advantage of the easy-going ways of the American soldier, they have started behaving in the most offensive manner possible with the result that there are rows of some sort every day. The German thinks he is heroic to insult the country and the President, and the Yankee replies with his fists very effectively. It begins to look, according to some reports as if rifles might have to be used. One American newspaper recalls to mind that when General Butler occupied New Orleans in the Civil War, the women of the city showed their respects to the Northern soldiers by habitually spitting in their faces. The General took drastic action and the insult ceased. The trouble in the present case is that a large part of the German population still think they were the victors in the war, and it might be well if all the Allied garrisons would take steps to effectively disillusionise them. It would improve their manners.—Acadian Recorder.

HE KNEW ABOUT IT.

Columbus Despatch: — The other evening while doing home work, the small son of a minister was arguing and trying to convince himself that "congregate" and "culect" meant the same thing, for that was what the teacher had told him.

Into the argument which the minister could not help but overhear the said father broke:

"What's that you are saying? That congregate and collect are the same word?"

"That's what teacher said."

"Quite wrong," replied the father. "You tell the teacher that she is quite wrong. There is all the difference in the world between a 'congregation' and a 'collection.'"

MANY UPSETS IN THE SAILINC RACES AT THE CHEMONG REGATTA

RAIN SPOILED THIS ANNUAL EVENT, BUT PROGRAMME WILL BE COMPLETED ON SATURDAY—MANY PRESENT FROM THE LAKE RESORTS.

The inclement weather of yesterday afternoon interfered with the running off of the events at the Chemong Park Cottagers' Association's annual regatta. For a time it seemed as though the it would be impossible to hold the regatta. The sailing races were run off, however, despite the pouring rain and the strong wind.

The attendance was small, but the spectators made up in enthusiasm what they lacked in number and stood in the rain cheerfully. A large number of the visitors were from Stoney Lake, having come down before the rain started. Those from Peterborough were few in number, due to the weather. The remaining events of the regatta will be run off to-morrow afternoon, starting at two o'clock and with favourable weather conditions the crowd should be a large one.

The four events yesterday afternoon provided considerable excitement as the wind made sailing difficult. Altogether there were five "spills," but with no serious results other than a ducking in the chilly water. In fact it appeared impossible to hold the canoe sailing event as three canoes tipped before the race was ready to start, but in spite of this it was run off.

The committee, consisting of G. S. Matthews, Harold Long, Jack Desbecker, G. H. Rose and V. McC. Eastwood, are to be congratulated upon the way they worked to make the day a success.

The results of the events were as follows:

Open sailing—Harold Knapman 1st, Wyndham Eddis 2nd.

Sailing— 14 foot dinghy for the Chemong Cup—Wyndham Eddis 1st, Hopkins 2nd.

Sailing— Kawartha Lakes Championship Cup—Flavelle 1st, W. Eddis 2nd.

Canoe sailing—R. Russell 1st, Redg. Dixon 2nd.

By evening the clouds had cleared away and the dance held at the pavilion was a success in every way. During the dance the prizes were presented to the winners of the afternoon's events.

WINNIPEG TO RIVAL RENO

MORE THAN 1,100 APPLICATIONS FOR DIVORCE FILED FOR SITTINGS OF KING'S BENCH.

WINNIPEG, Man., Aug. 22. — Manitoba is now the Reno of Canada, since the Privy Council gave the Manitoba courts power to grant divorce. Over eleven hundred divorce applications have been filed at the law courts to be heard when court of King's Bench opens for fall sittings, September 16.

Six judges will be occupied hearing the divorce cases. They will be judges Curran, Galt, Prendergast, Metcafe and Macdonald, along with Chief Justice Mathers. Cases scheduled to be heard will occupy the time of the courts until far into the winter. The law courts have been practically deluged with divorce applications since the announcement was made, that the Privy Council upheld the right of the Manitoba courts to grant divorce.

In the majority of cases the divorce applications are being made by soldiers who have returned to find that their wives have been untrue to them, according to court officials.

Cost of obtaining a divorce is from $300 up, according to lawyers.

HOT REFERENDUM FIGHT UNDER WAY AT WINDSOR

WINDSOR, Aug. 20.—This city promises to be the scene of a bitter fight when the referendum day rolls around. Both sides are working desperately, the prohibition element openly and the "wets" silently but most effectively, according to reports.

Representatives of the "antis" are using the argument that should the amendment to the O.T.A. be voted favorably, Windsor and its environs would at once become the trysting place for thousands of Detroiters who at present are freely patronizing the local "two per cent". production and finding it more to their tastes tha the half of one per cent. on tap across the river.

THIN, FRAIL FOLKS NEED PHOSPHATE

Nothing Like Plain Bitro-Phosphate To Put on Firm, Healthy Flesh And to Increase Strength Vigor and Nerve Force

Judging from the countless preparations and treatments which are continually being advertised for the purpose of making thin people fleshy, developing arms, neck and bust and replacing ugly hollows and angles by the soft curved lines of health and beauty, there are evidently thousands of men and women who keenly feel their excessive thinness.

Thinness and weakness are often due to starved nerves. Our bodies need more phosphate than is contained in modern foods. Physicians claim there is nothing that will supply this deficiency so well as the organic phosphate known among druggists as bitrophosphate, which is inexpensive and is sold by McDermid & Jury in Peterboro and most all druggists under a guarantee of satisfaction or money back. By feeding the nerves directly and by supplying the body cells with the necessary phosphoric food elements, bitro-phosphate should produce a welcome transformation in the appearance; the increase in weight frequently being astonishing.

Increase in weight also carries with it a general improvement in the health. Nervousness, sleeplessness and lack of energy, which nearly always accompany excessive thinness, should soon disappear, dull eyes ought to brighten and pale cheeks glow with the bloom of perfect health.

Caution—Although Bitro-phosphate is unsurpassed for relieving nervousness, sleeplessness and general weakness, it should not, owing to its tendency to increase weight, be used by anyone who does not desire to put on flesh.

LOOKS TO BRITAIN TO PAY THE DEFICIT

Western Miller Thinks $1.80 Is Britain's Re-sale Wheat Price.

WINNIPEG, Aug. 18.—In an interview last night on the price of $1.80 set by Great Britain for Canadian wheat, W. Sanford Evans, who represented the millers at recent conferences at Ottawa, said: "The situation is quite simple. This price of $1.80, mentioned in the cable, is unquestionably to my mind, nothing to do with the price at which the British Government will buy the wheat, but the price at which it will re-sell, in conformity with its policy to secure the ninepenny loaf.

"Great Britain absorbs the difference between the purchase price and the price necessary to allow for the turning out of the four pound loaf for ninepence. Canadian wheat, grading No. 1 Northern, cannot be made into bread for ninepence a loaf.

"Last year it cost Great Britain $295,000,000 to make up the deficit between the price it paid for wheat and the price at which it had to be sold to allow for the ninepenny loaf. It had to charge prices for wheat which were less than the purchase price.

"This $1.80 mentioned in the cable is the re-sale price. The cable, in my judgment, has nothing to do with the purchase price. The British Government will purchase at whatever price it can get the wheat, and then sell at a re-sale price of $1.80 in England.

"It has been doing it before. It has in the past spread the difference over wheat and flour. Now the cut is all placed on the wheat. The Government decided to subsidize the loaf and placed it all on the wheat which will represent the nine-penny loaf."

SHADOWY SPIRITS OF ASHBURNHAM'S BIG DAYS LINGER IN OLD TOWN HALL

BUILDING PROPOSED AS THE FIRE HALL WAS THE CENTRE OF THE VILLAGE LIFE IN THE OLD DAYS.

In view of the proposition of the City Council to build a supplementary fire station in the East Ward, it is interesting to review the history of the site which has been mentioned perhaps more favourably than the rest, the place where the old Ashburnham drill shed of volunteer days stood. Erected on a lot south of the old village hall at the corner of Hunter and Mark street, the drill shed, a wooden building, was formally opened on October 18th, 1861. The opening was a red letter day in the history of No. 4 Company of the local Battalion, Ashburnham being the home of the men of the company. For years the military spirits of the village had worked to have their ambitions and wishes to own a drill hall carried out, and the wish was gratified in the opening of the new hall.

The Hall.

The drill hall was a wooden structure 80 by 40 feet and facing on Mark street, and lighted by windows at each end, with doors in the centre of the east side, facing the street. The floor was of earth filled up to the height of the sills of the building. On the west side was the armoury, an addition 20 by 18 feet, and divided into two rooms. The lot was a gift from the village. The cost of erection and materials totalled $840, with Lionel Yorke as contractor. On the occasion of the opening of course, a dinner was served and was attended by many prominent military men and by the officers of the local 57th Regiment. The usual patriotic and eulogistic speeches were made and a general good time spent by all present.

In Earlier Days.

It may also be of interest to note that in the earlier days preceding 1866, and up to the time of the erection of the drill hall as noted above, the company had made use of quarters provided in a storehouse, belonging to Major R. D. Rogers, and, which stood on Hunter street, directly opposite the stone mill. The building had been used for storage of flour, but with increased railway facilities the frequent shipping took away products of the mill so quickly that the function of the storehouse was at an end. So the military company fell heir to the building and for many years it gave shelter and accommodation.

It was in this building that on April 11th, 1866, the Ashburnham and Lakefield companies of the 57th Batt., were called out on a false alarm that Fenians were conspiring to cross the border, were welcomed home and served with a sumptuous dinner in recognition. Representative citizens and officers from other companies and the County and Town Councils were also guests and while the event preceded the actual calling out for militia service that followed in July, 1866, the event served to stir up patriotic feeling and put the locality on guard.

The Peterborough candidates named below have passed the Middle School examination for entrance into the Normal Schools.

Successful candidates who desire to attend the coming session of the Normal Schools are advised that their applications for admission must be made immediately to the Deputy Minister of Education. Applicants should not delay mailing such applications on account of not having received their certificates, but should state clearly on the forms when and where they passed the Middle School examinations for entrance into the Normal Schools.

The Normal Schools will open on Tuesday, September 16, at 9 a.m., at which time all candidates must present themselves. Applicants are required to be eighteen years of age before October 1. Further particulars regarding the conditions for admission may be obtained from the syllabus and the application forms, copies of which may be had on application to the Deputy Minister of Education. No candidates will be admitted who cannot comply fully with the conditions prescribed therein.

Where such a candidate has still failed, the statement of marks will be stamped as reread, and no further appeal will be allowed. In all other cases of failure appeals will not be refused if made before September 1, and accompanied by the fee of $2.

Certificates and statements of the marks obtained by unsuccessful candidates are in course of preparation and will be mailed in due course to the Principals, to whom all candidates are referred for further information.

The total number of successful candidates at the Middle School examination this year is 2,184, compared with 1,265 in 1918, an increase of 919, or 71.4 per cent.

SITUATION UNCHANGED

BOTH SIDES IN NIAGARA STRIKE SEEM DETERMINED TO HOLD OUT.

ST. CATHARINES, Ont., Aug. 22.—This morning the electric railway strike situation is unchanged. The men's demand of evidence against William Bell, their business agent, in reply to the company's charge that he defrauded the company, is gaining sympathy for them.

The Board of Trade Council has a meeting with representatives of the strikers, Organiser Kolh and Mr. Oliver, and the situation was talked over, but nothing developed. Both sides seem determined to hold out.

The Grand Trunk to-day carried passengers to Port Dalhousie for the railway's boat to Toronto.

Conductor Wm. Bell, about whom all the trouble is, says he is ready to undergo any kind of investigation of proceedings the company may bring forward.

Strike breakers are to be brought in to-morrow, the men being given until then to go back to work, it was reported this morning.

PETERBORO BOY SCOUTS GO TO TORONTO

WILL BE REVIEWED BY THE PRINCE OF WALES—AUTOMOBILE OWNERS ARE ASKED TO DO A FAVOUR

Together with Boy Scout organizations throughout Ontario, the local Boy Scouts have been asked to appear in Toronto on Monday, 25th August, to be reviewed by the Prince of Wales.

They will leave here in the morning, and will be in charge all day and under the command of experienced and careful scoutmasters, who will look after the boys until they get home. The will arrive home on the C. P. R. on Monday night at a quarter to twelve, and those interested in the boys are using this means of asking auto owners to meet the train to take them to their homes.

There will be about 150 boys, ranging in age from 12 years up, and as the day will be a trying one, it will be esteemed a great favour if as many auto owners as possible will telephone their names to the Examiner office not later than noon on Monday that they will meet the train.

WATCHES FOR 20 SOLDIERS

SOUTH MONAGHAN HELD A GREAT RECEPTION FOR HER RETURNED MEN

The municipality and the people of South Monaghan paid a splendid tribute to their returned men at a picnic yesterday afternoon at Wallace's Point. To twenty soldiers who had seen active service, handsome gold watches were presented, and six other soldiers were given signet rings. In addition to these tokens of honour and esteem, the people are placing four memorial windows in the churches of Baillieboro, Bensfort and Centreville.

Reeve John Greer presided at yesterday's membrable function. He was assisted by Warden Henderson, Col. Boggs of Cobourg, Col. Johnston of Otonabee, Rev. McConnachie of Centreville, Rev. M. J. Leith of Fraserville.

The presentations were made by Rev. (Capt.) Spencer of Millbrook, after Rev. Greer's address. The ladies provided an excellent supper for the veterans, at whose table Warden Greer presided. The crowd partook of their luncheon in picnic style.

The toast of the King was proposed by Capt. Spencer, and of the Ladies by Rev. Mr. McConnachie. Although rain interfered somewhat with the afternoon's events, the whole occasion was a thorough success. The G. W. V. A. Band from Peterborough gave a very enjoyable concert, and races and sports were an interesting attraction. The veterans pulled the civilians off their feet in the tug-of-war. A dance at night brought the day to a close.

LOCAL HORSES WIN AWARDS AT COBOURG

As a result of the heavy rainfall, only three events were staged at the Cobourg Horse Show yesterday. These were:

1—Officers' open performance over jumps.

2—District mare or gelding.

3—Single roadster, 15.3 and under, in harness.

Rainstorm, owned by G. N. Graham, took third place in the second event, and Royal Guest, owned by G. G. Graham, of Peterborough, took fourth place. In the third event Edith Cavell, owned by Stanley Blewett, of Peterborough, took fourth place.

STOMACH TROUBLES ARE DUE TO ACIDITY

Tells Safe, Certain, Speedy, Relief For Acid Indigestion.

So-called stomach troubles, such as indigestion, gas, sourness, stomach-aches, and inability to retain food are in probably nine cases out of ten, simply evidence that excessive secretion of acid is taking place in the stomach causing the formation of gas and acid indigestion.

Gas distends the stomach and causes that full oppressive burning feeling sometimes known as heartburn, while the acid irritates and inflames the delicate lining of the stomach. The trouble lies entirely in the excessive development or secretion of acid.

To stop or prevent this souring of the food contents of the stomach and to neutralize the acid and, make it bland and harmless, a teaspoonful of bisurated magnesia, a good and effective corrector of acid stomach, should be taken in a quarter of a glass of hot or cold water after eating or whenever gas, sourness or acidity is felt. This sweetens the stomach and neutralizes the acidity in a few moments and is a perfectly harmless and inexpensive remedy to use.

An antacid, such as bisurated magnesia which can be obtained from any druggist in either powder or tablet form enables the stomach to do its work properly without the aid of artificial digestants. Magnesia comes in several forms so be certain to ask for and take only bisurated Magnesia which is especially prepared for the above purpose.

CANADIAN WHEAT $2.15 IN DOMINION, $1.80 IN LONDON

BRITISH EXPERTS SET PRICES FOR IMPORTED WHEAT FAR BELOW MARKET PRICE IN AMERICA.

TORONTO, Aug. 21—A cable from London, England, announcing that the Wheat Commission has fixed the prices for imported wheat, including Canadian wheat, has caused a great deal of serious thought in grain and banking circles, and many are puzzled over the interpretation of the cable.

From Toronto, trans-Atlantic inquiries have already been made to find out what it all really portends. Whatever the interpretation it means that either the British, Canadian, or the United States Governments will have to find millions of money to balance prices.

The cable says: "The Wheat Commission to-day fixed the following prices for imported wheat:—For 480 pounds (8 bushels) Canadian $12.60 to $14.40. United States $12.96 to $14.40. Untreated $14.64; Argentine, $14.16. This fixes a minimum of $1.75 and a maximum of $1.80 per bushel for Canadian wheat, and $1.62 and $1.80 per bushel for United States wheat."

What Other Prices Are.

Government Commissions in Canada and the United States have fixed the price of wheat also. A comparison of prices fixed for this year's crop, according to announcements, is as follows:

The price of wheat per bushel guaranteed to the farmer in Canada is $2.15 west of Fort William.

The price fixed in Great Britain by experts for imported Canadian wheat is $1.57.5 to $1.80.

The price fixed in the United States is $2.26 and $2.30, and the rate set by British experts for wheat imported from the United States is $1.62 to $1.80.

Who is going to find the difference in these prices, if the cable means import prices for wheat from the present crops? One of Toronto's leading bankers, who read the cable to-day, confessed he was puzzled by it, and thought it needed further explanation, said: "It may mean that the prices refer to wheat already in stock in the Old Country. The probable explanation is that Great Britain has decided to keep down the price of bread, as she has been doing in the past. The prices referred to might mean that the British Government has fixed them for imported wheat (that is, wheat whach has been imported, is in stock, and is to be sold to the millers in Britain at that price) so that the price of the loaf in Britain, which has been set for some time, will still remain at that price. If that is so, then Great Britain will have to find a great amount of money to make up the difference between the prices fixed and the market price, if newly imported wheat is to be sold to British millers at the rates mentioned."

The Ghastly Alternative.

"If it means that these are import prices for this year's wheat—and Canada sends almost all her crop to Great Britain — what then?" asked The Star. "That would be a very different matter, both for Canada and the United States. The Canadian price has been set at $2.15 west of Fort William, and freight and insurance charges will have to be added to that before it reaches Britain. The same thing will occur in the United States, where the price set ranges from $2.26 to $2.30 per bushel. Great Britain will naturally have to pay the market price to get the wheat. If it should turn out that Great Britain has large stocks of wheat, or could get large stocks of wheat from somewhere, it would make all the difference in the world. Then the import prices referred to would be very important. This would be contrary to all knowledge on this side of the Atlantic. Australian grain is going to India, and India is not exporting. The armistice came at a good time for this year's crops, and it is understood that the crops will be a little better in Central Europe than was imagined. But all on this side of the water have been working under the impression that Great Britain would need wheat. I cannot conceive it otherwise. The cable needs explaining. Perhaps the figures are not right."

Should the prices referred to in the cable refer to importation of wheat this fall, Canada and the United States guaanteed prices will be away beyond Britain's buying price. In such a case both Governments would have to find millions to make a balance.

THE CARE AND UPKEEP OF YOUR CAR.

There are several things carbon will do to an engine. First, it may cause a knock, if it be very heavy. Second, it causes your engine to overheat, which means loss of power. Third, it causes premature explosion. That is, your engine explodes at the wrong time — one cylinder works against the other, causing loss of power. Fourth, your valves normally rise only one-fourth inch above the surface, so, if there is one-eighth inch of carbon your exhaust escape is practically cut off. Sometimes all of the symptoms mentioned show up; at other times probably just loss of power and overheating. There are several ways of cleaning out the carbon. One way is scraping, another by burning, and there are so-called "carbon removers." The latter are not to be recommended at all, as they act like coal oil—softening the carbon to the consistency of honey, which gets down around the rings and solidifies, causing the rings to "freeze" solid, scoring the cylinders. Scraping is good if done throughly, but takes too much time. Now, as to carbon burning, it makes no difference how bad the engine is carboned up, as soon as the oxygen hits it, it immediately turns to carbon dioxide gas, and passes away, leaving the interior as clean as when new.

We burn carbon by the Oxygen process, also weld cast-iron, steel, brass, and aluminum parts, welding fenders, frames, cylinder blocks, etc. —Millard's Bicycle Shop, 225 Hunter Street. 'Phone 234J. 4tf

NEW YORK CITY GONE STARK MAD

WORKERS OF 500 DIFFERENT TRADES DEMANDING 50 P. C. INCREASE OR MORE.

FINE SITUATION

NEW YORK, Aug. 21.—New York has gone strike mad. Workers in five hundred different trades and industries are walking the streets, refusing to work unless they are granted wages which a year or two ago would have been deemed the height of absurdity. Unskilled labourers want twice the salaries of college professors. The men who open and shut the doors of an elevated or subway train demand more money per week than is earned by ninety-five per cent. of the travelling public that enables him, by its patronage, to keep his job.

If the demands of the striking subway employees are complied with, many of them will get as much as $7.50 a day of eight hours, with overtime for every second worked beyond that period. A motorman will frequently be able to take home from $50 to $70 at the end of a week.

Milk Drivers Want $50 a Week.

The man who delivers milk is going to refuse to work unless his weekly pay envelope contains $50. Paperhangers and painters will not go back to work unless one dollar an hour is their reward. The window cleaners have walked out until they are granted $36 a week as a minimum. The cigar store clerks are organising to enforce a demand for a fifty per cent. increase in wages and a forty eight hour week. The Patrolmen's Benevolent Association has asked the Police Commissioner to include in his next budget provision for an increase of pay for policemen from $1,650 to $1,800 a year.

Cigarmakers, umbrellamakers, truck drivers, bread deliverers, rag-pickers, barbers, charwomen, office cleaners, and a hunded and one other brands of labour are striking for what they term a living wage, and the price of the respective commodities they assist in manufacturing continues to mount.

Every demand granted piles an additional load on the unfortunate salaried man whose wages have not gone up with the cost of living. The bank and office clerk, the man behind the counter, with his $30 and less a week, with something of an appearance to maintain and a family to keep, is compelled to pay for the increased comfort of Labour, with the capital L.

Figures compiled by the Federal Department of Labour show an increase of 151 per cent. in the cost of living in New York City since 1914. With few exceptions the so-called middle class worker had stood still. He contributed proportionately more to war funds and charitable drives than did the labour man, because his wages did not include bonuses or over time allowances. The salaried man is the average New Yorker, whose nickels run the subway, whose quarters buy the milk. It is he who has had to walk the miles to work when the subways were tied up. And he is the man whom the strikers declare they don't care a jot about.

Labour, the more arrogant in New York as days pass by, refuses arbitration. The salaried man suffers. New York is sick of strikes, sick of being inconvenienced, sick of being ignored in the everlasting clash between companies and employees. The public, like Cousin Egbert, can be "pushed so far." The traction brotherhoods and their autocratic leaders have lost its sympathy. Its good humour under hardship is rapidly turning to bitterness. A strike of the public against strikes is the logical development. What form it will take cannot be conjectured — perhaps by the taking of the transit lines out of the hands of private concerns.

QUEBEC, Que., Aug. 22. — The American barge "Captain Dunn," from the Great Lakes, sank this mornin goff the breakwater. She had come up from points below the river with pulpwood half an hour before and colliding with the Pointe A Carcy wharf, immediately sprung a leak. Fine for Skin Exposed to Sun or Flying Dirt

These days the face needs special care and attention. Flying dust and dirt, the heating sun, are severe on any skin. Their despoiling effects are best overcome by the application of pure mercolized wax. This keeps skin and pores in a cleanly condition, the complexion, beautiful white and spotless. Reddened, tanned, freckled and roughened cuticle are actually absorbed by it. One ounce of mercolized wax, obtainable in any drugstore, is sufficient to completely renovate a soiled complexion It is used like cold cream, allowed to remain on over night, and washed off in the morning.

It is simply splendid for use after a motor trip, an afternoon at the tennis courts or on the golf links.

PETES CONFIDENT OF BEATING THE HILLCRESTS IN TO-MORROWS GAME

The Peterborough Central League team will practise at Riverside Park to-night in final preparation for their big game at Riverside to-morrow afternoon with the speedy Hillcrests of Toronto, the amateur champions of Ontario.

Manager "Nip" Dwan of the Hillcrests, sends word that he is bringing all his stars to Peterborough, and counts on bagging the game. Dwan points to the two victories of his club over the crack Moose as a proof of the quality of ball the Hillcrests are playing. With Dye, Hennessey, Turofsky, Allward, Hughes and the other sterling players that are on the line-up of the "Pit" League representatives, the Petes have their work cut out for them to stop the Hillcrests to-morrow, but Manager Solomon and his crew are supremely confident of their ability to do so, even in the face of left-handed pitching, which the home crew do not particularly relish.

The batteries will be, Dye or Myles and Hennessey for Hillcrests, and Kirn and Swanston for Peterborough.

The game will start at 3 o'clock sharp, and judging by the way the fans are talking, a big crowd will see the battle. Good patronage to-morrow means a series of games with some of the best amateur teams in Ontario, so that if the fans want to see some good ball they should be out to-morrow.

PETES WON AT DELORA 6 TO 2

BEAT TRENT VALLEY LEAGUERS IN AN INTERESTING GAME LAST EVENING.

The Peterboro Central League team journeyed to Delora yesterday and won an interesting game from the Delora team of the Trent Valley League by 6 runs to 2. The Petes thoroughly enjoyed the visit and speak in the highest terms of the treatment accorded by Manager Clements and the players and fans of Delora. In spite of the rain there was a good crowd out and they voted the game the best of the season. The Petes ware shy the services of a number of their regulars and lined-up the following team.

Kirn p, Soden c, Swanston 1b, McCarney 2b, Cherrett, ss. Murray 3b., Clancy l.f., Heenan c.f., Solomon r.f.

FRANK SHAUGHNESSY TO QUIT BASEBALL

If the Hamilton Tigers win the Michigan-Ontario Baseball League pennant this season, Manager Frank Shaughnessy will add another triumph to his already long list. Shaughnessy is a leader of champions. In 1913 he gave Fort Wayne a pennant-winner in the Central League. In the next three years he took three pennants in the Canadian League with Ottawa, while in the fall he coached McGill University to a couple of football championships. It's a habit with Shag.

This will probably be Shaughnessy's last season as a manager and ball player. He did not want to return to the game, but Hamilton made him such a tempting offer that he could not afford to turn it down. The Hamilton directors have been well repaid. They figure that the Tigers have played to over 60,000 people at Hamilton already this season. The owners have been fortunate in having to make few changes in the team. Shaughnessy started the season with most of his present players. His pitching staff has not been the strongest in the League by any means, but Shaughnessy knows how to win with poor pitching.

Shag will retire at the end of this season and likely settle down in Ottawa or Montreal. He may possibly coach one of the big football teams this fall, but he is emphatic in his decision to quit baseball as a participant. Shag is most in favour of reorganising the old Canadian League, and next season he may blossom out as a club owner with Ottawa or Montreal, if the Quebec city can be secured.

FARMERS ON A TOUR.

Effort to Interest Elgin County in Hydro-Electric Power.

LONDON, Ont., Au. 21. — A fleet of 125 motor cars carrying five hundred Elgin County farmers, will invade Middlesex Friday for an inspection of model farms, especially the farm conducted in conjunction with the Byron Sanitarium for the Tubercular. The visit is part of the Hydro-Electric campaign to interest farmers in electric power.

TOOK 47,000 WAR PICTURES.

Baker Seeks Legislation to Sell Army Photographs in Book Form.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20. — One hundred and sixty miles of motion picture negatives and more than 47,000 still photographs of army activities were produced during the war. Secretary Baker informed Congress to-day, in requesting passage of legislation authorising the War Department to sell duplicates of the negatives.

Mr. Baker recommended legislation to authorise the Department to print in book form, for sale to the public, photographs of the war. He estimated the pictures would make twelve volumes of 400 pages each, and that the cost price would be $1.50 a volume, exclusive of the selling cost.

SAGE TEA TURNS GRAY HAIR DARK

It's Grandmother's Recipe to Bring Back Colour and Lustre to Hair.

That beautiful, even shade of dark glossy hair can only be had by brewing a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face When it fades turns gray or streaked, just an application or two of Sage and Sulphur enhances it's appearance a hundred-fold.

Don't bother to prepare the mixture you can get this famous old recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients for 50 cents a large bottle, all ready for use. It is called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound. This can always be depended upon to bring back the natural color and lustre of your hair.

Everybody uses "Wyeth's" Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the grey hair has disappeared, and after another application it becomes beautifully dark and appears glossy and lustrous. This ready-to-use preparation is a delightful toilet requisite for those who desire dark hair and a youthful appearance. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

CIGARETTES.

The School Journal tells how a physician proved to a cigarette fiend that he was poisoning himself.

You don't blame yourself for your run-down condition? the physician asked. Not in the least, returned the man, I blame hard work. The physician shook his head; he smiled in a vexed way.

Then he took a leech out of a glass jar. Let me show you something, he said. Bare your arm. The cigarette fiend bared his arm and the other laid the lean black leech upon it. The leech fell to work busily; its body began to swell. Then all of a sudden a kind of shudder convulsed it and it fell to the floor dead. That is what your blood did to that leech, said the physician. You poisoned it.

I guess it wasn't a healthy leech in the first place, said the cigarette smoker sullenly.

Wasn't healthy, eh. Well, we'll try again, and the physician clapped two leeches on the young man's arm.

If they both die, said the patient, I'll swear off; or at least I'll cut down my daily allowance from thirty cigarettes to ten. Even as he spoke the smaller leech shivered and dropped on his knees dead. And a moment later the larger one fell beside it.

This is ghastly, said the young man. I am worse than the pestilence to the leeches.

It is the empyreumatic oil in your blood, said the medical man. All cigarette fiends have it.

If this is true, surely the public ought to know it.

Yours sincerely,
J. H. TAYLOR.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Sir,—Will you allow me a little space to reply to J. C. Smith's letter in your Wednesday evening's issue. It is a fair specimen of the methods of the prohibitionists, who try to impose on the public by quoting scripture, and yet will not be honest. Mr. Smith says he made enquiries and found that the real work of the Liberty League is to help traffic. This is not a true statement and I challenge his allegation that he made any enquiries If he did it is so much the worse, because nobody can have told him so untrue a statement, and be regarded as truthful ever again. THE CITIZENS' LIBERTY LEAGUE IS NOT A SCHEME TO HELP THE LIQUOR TRAFFIC and I think it is up to Mr. Smith to retract this grossly false statement. The League will not accept support in any shape or form from any person in any way connected with the liquor traffic. It is opposed to the old bar system with its evils of treating and drunkenness. It is opposed to the present illicit system with its evils of subterfuge hypocrisy and unfairness. It is opposed too to the noisy bigoted hypocritical "uplifter" who with true puritanical snuffle quotes scripture, turns up the whites of his eyes, and is ready to burn at the stake the man who dares to think differently to him. It is not only the freedom to choose what we shall eat or drink that the League stands for, but it will equally resist any attempt to prohibit the use of tobacco, dancing card-playing and other innocent amusements of the people that these killjoys contemplate foreing upon an unwilling majority of the people.

All the latter part of his letter is a red herring across the track, and is no argument against the fight for personal liberty the League is waging. The difference between liberty to do acts that interfere with the liberty of others and the liberty to do in your own sphere what you desire to do that does not affect the liberty of others is so clear and definite that everybody not wilfully blind must see the distinction. If I build a slaughter-house on Charlotte Street, I interfere with the liberty of others; so does a man who wants to go in the "dress" of a South Sea Islander. The man who drinks a glass of pure beer with his dinner interferes with nobody; neither does he trouble his neighbour if he smokes a cigar after dinner. His other similies are exactly the same. The distinction needs no further demonstration.

It is the greatest good of the greatest number that we are fighting for, and all the Acts of Parliament Mr. Smith can hope to get passed will never get a man to heaven. He evidently knows more than God.

One word more, Mr. Smith refers to the recent war in which our boys went to Europe to fight for liberty, but he forgets that while they were gone his friends put one over on those same boys and took away what liberty they had here and now want to keep things the same way. Mr. Smith and his friends wanted to prevent the boys getting their rum ration, one of the greatest boons they had, which saved more lives than the surgeon's knife, they tried to take away from the boys the comfort of an innocent cigarette, and they are only waiting to clinch prohibition in drinking, to put up prohibition on smoking, dancing, etc., until they have taken away all that in our leisure hours makes life worth living. The hateful German word "VERBOTEN" (forbidden) is the Puritan's reward to the Soldiers.

Yours etc.,
JAS. GUISE-BAGLEY.

COOK CAN CUT HIGH COST

VEGETABLES, DRIED FISH AND MEAT ARE

AGREEABLY REPLACES EXPENSIVE FOODS.

The public agencies that are co-operating to cut the high cost of living see, as one of the most potent factors for success a reduction in the demand for the high-priced, so-called staples and necessaries. At this season fresh vegetables are looked upon as a most satisfactory substitute for meat, fish and cereals. They are suggested not only because they are relatively cheap, but because their free use in the dietary is recognized as a great aid to health. The Department of Agriculture, having been asked for suggestions on this line, offers the following:

"The whole family will ask for a second helping if the vegetables are cooked so as to be refreshing and palatable.

"Vegetables just out of the garden taste best when simply cooked—steamed, boiled or baked—and served with a little salt, butter, milk or cream. Often a heavily seasoned sauce covers up the more desirable vegetable flavor.

"Overcooking of vegetables impairs their flavor. Very delicate flavors are destroyed, while vegetables with very strong flavors, such as cabbage or onions, become disagreeably strong if cooked too long. Overcooking also destroys the attractive color of some vegetables.

"Cook summer vegetables as soon after they are gathered as possible, in order to preserve their flavor. If they must be kept over, keep them in the icebox, or some other cool place.

"Let wilted vegetables soak in cold water to freshen them. If vegetables must stand after paring, cover with cold water, to prevent wilting and discoloration.

"Before cooking put head vegetables and greens in cold water, for one hour with a tablespoon of vinegar, to remove insects, then wash very carefully.

"Drain all boiled vegetables as soon as tender—they become soggy if allowed to stand undrained after cooking. The water drained off may be saved for soup stock.

"Most vegetables are better when cooked in a small amount of water, because a part of the mineral salt disolves out into the water and is lost if the water is thrown away. Cook whole when possible.

"Tender spinach or lettuce leaves require no added water for cooking. If thoroughly washed, enough water will cling to the leaves to prevent burning.

"Delivately flavored vegetables should be steamed or cooked slowly in a small amount of boiling water until tender and the water boils away.

"Strongly flavored vegetables may be cooked uncovered in a large amount of rapidly boiling water, and the water changed several times during the cooking.

"Starchy vegetables should be put on and cooked in a sufficiently large amount of boiling water to cover them. Boil gently and keep kettle covered.

The time required for cooking vegetables depends on the kind, size, and age of the vegetable judgment must be used in deciding when they the quite done, but not overdone.

Healthy Mothers Healthy Babies

Every true mother realizes the fact that her baby's health depends upon her own, that the very vitality of her child is influenced by her own physical condition. How important it is, therefore, to guard against any derangement of the female organs, which induce general weakness, nervousness, constant fatigue and utter inability to properly care for her child. Please remember, that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has brought health and strength to thousands of such mothers.

Mitchell, Ind.—"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound helped me so much during the time I was looking forward to the coming of my little one that I am recommending it to other expectant mothers. Before taking it, some days I suffered with neuralgia so badly that I thought I could not live, but after taking three bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I was entirely relieved of neuralgia, I had gained in strength and was able to go around and do all my housework. My baby when 7 months old weighed 16 pounds and I feel better than I have for a long time. I never had any medicine do me so much good."—Mrs. Pearl Montelle, Mitchell, Ind.

Good health during and after maternity is a most important factor to both mother and child, and many letters have been received by the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass., telling of health restored during this trying period by the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

The report then goes on to review the storage situation as follows:

Eggs—

Canadian markets generally had been quiet to steady during the past week, with a firmer tendency and a better demand for the higher grades. The cooler weather has brought with it a commensurate improvement in quality and the consumptive demand is increasing. Some improvement in the movement of lower grades is also reported sufficient to warrant definite price quotations in one or two points. Receipts at Ontario country points are increasing and further increase is looked for now that the grain is ripe and feed on the farms is not plentiful. Even despite the favourable prices farmers in some parts are not yet disposed to purchase the feed for poultry, when the supply in the granary runs short. Considerable educational work remains yet to be done before the farmers place poultry in the same category as dairy cattle and hogs, in so far as the matter of feed purchasing is concerned.

Egg Circles have sold during the past week up to 58c. The prevailing price at country points is ruling 50c. with as high as 52c. reported to some shippers. Limited quantities are still going forward for export, some three or four cars being inspected during the week.

The Western situation is steady with a firmer undertone. Receipts have fallen off, particularly in Southern Saskatchewan and Southern Alberta points, Calgary firms are drawing quite freely on late storage to supply the demand, while the same movement has commenced to a lesser degree in Edmonton. The Interprovincial movement has fallen off sharply during the past week, one car being shipped west and some three or four east.

THE ROMANCE OF OLD NEW YORK

The first impression of New York is that it is "so romantic." Thus, at least, spoke a gentlewoman who lately returned to it after an absence of several years. As the years had been spent in France, well within the range of Big Bertha and Gotha bombs, and amid the turmoiy of the armies of half the world, the word arrested attention.

In politics and finance we are already aware of certain cubits added of late to our international stature. But if New York makes an appeal to the imagination, after the manner of Paris and London, that is news, at least to indigenous news—and not a little disquieting.

Some day, though, we may rejoice in it. Time was when we were sadly self-conscious about the architecture of our city. We said that our impious buildings actually scraped the sky. Then Joseph Pennell came back and drew them as they are. Few visions of this globe are now more splendid to us than lower Manhattan as seen from the Narrows, bathed in sunset. The skyline of the city at twilight as seen from across the North River, or the reflected flushes of dawn as seen from Brooklyn Bridge, stir the senses very deeply, and the imaginations, of those who see with their eyes. And the stars are never more brilliant, more remote and awe-inspiring, than when one looks up from between two buildings such as the prosaically blind tall skyscrapers.

And now it appears that all this is the spirit of high adventure. Really, we should have known it. That is the feeling that has shone in the eyes of all the returning soldiers who have seen New York for the first time on landing from a transport. In retrospect, at least, that seems to have been the feeling in those young eyes. And we, the local denizens, whom they saw, were all captains of industry, who stood in need of a brisk young man from the west to put our gigantic business right. Yes, to the traveller from the land of Saturday night, as to the traveller from the war zone, our city and ourselves are romantic. The sooner we are reconciled to the fact the better citizens we shall be, and indeed the most justifiably proud—New York Times.

NEW PENSION ACT EFFECTIVE SEPT. 1

TWENTY PER CENT. BONUS FOR ONE YEAR IN LOWER RANKS.

The announcement from Ottawa that bill 158 or the "Pensions Act" as it will be known, has finally become law, should be received with satisfaction everywhere.

The Special Committee appointed early in the last Parliamentary Session to prepare a bill dealing with war pensions, obtained from every quarter, expert evidence dealing with the various aspects of present day pension requirements. The evidence submitted after careful sifting, was embodied in various recommendations to Parliament, many of which are now reflected in the new Act.

It should be noted that the Act does not become effective until the "first day of the second month following its sanction," and will therefore come into operation on September 1st, 1919.

The Clause which probably will be most widely welcomed is that which provides for the granting of a bonus for one year to the lower ranks. A twenty per cent. increase intended to offset the present high cost of living, is allowed for ex-privates, and aproximately a thirteen per cent. increase for those who held the rank of sergeant, or a corresponding rank in the Naval Forces. Thus to the total disability pension of $600.00 per annum for an ex-private there will be added a bonus of $120.00, payable for one year only, making a total of $720.00. The totally disabled ex-sergeant's pension of $637.50 is similarly increased to $720.00 by the addition of the thirteen per cent. bonus, previously referred to.

A substantial increase in the pension for the first orphan child of a deceased soldier is also provided for. Under the new schedule, such a child will be entitled to an award of $360.000 per annum instead of $288.00 as at present. Where there is more than one orphan child in a family, pension for the second child will be at the rate of $240.00 per annum, and at the rate of $192.00 per annum for the third and each subsequent child. Pensions for orphans are usually paid to a guardian for administration, the Board of Pension Commisioners being responsible that fit and proper persons are appointed to act in this capacity.

The varnish of an automobile will not stand having dust or mud rubbed off nor will it endure the grits of dirt and mud driven into it by the water from a blast or high-pressure hose, to which it is often subjected. Use water between 40 and 50 degrees, with a soft, bleached sponge. It is best to use no kind of soap unless it be pure castile.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON FOR WEEK

Aug. 24, 1919:

SOCIAL RESPONSIBILITY. — Luke 10: 25-37; Gal. 6: 2, 9, 10; James 2: 14-16.

GOLDEN TEXT: As we have opportunity, let us work that which is good toward all men. Gal. 6: 10.

1. Luke 10: 25.—What must a man do today to inherit eternal life?

2. Verses 26, 27.— Wherein is this lawyer's answer theoretically correct but practically wrong?

3. To what extent is the law still binding on us?

4. Verse 28.—When Jesus told the lawyer that if he loved God with all his heart and his neighbor as himself that he should live, did he mean that he could do so, or what did he mean?

5. Why did Jesus say nothing about faith as a condition for inheriting eternal life?

6. If a man today knowing nothing of the doctrine of faith, but hearing and heeding these words of Jesus starts out to obey, how long will he be before he finds rest to his soul?

7. Explain how it is posible for a mortal man to love God with all his heart and his neighbour as himself?

8. Verse 29.—What class of present day men does this lawyer represent?

9. What does it imply to be a neighbour?

10. Verse 30.—Suppose it had been one of the thieves that was found wounded and half dead, what action would the good Samaritan have taken?

11. Why should we, or not, regard a bad man in distress as our neighbour, and help him as readily as we would a good man in the same condition?

12. Verses 31, 32. Which should have prior claim upon the sympathy and help and why, the physical, or the spiritual needs of a man?

13. What resemblance is there between this priest and Levite, and men in similar professions today in the helpfulness they render to the submerged masses?

14. Verses 33, 34.—Would you say or not, and why, that the church should be as active in helping men physically as in helping them spiritually?

15. Verse 35.—What is the supreme test of neighborliness?

16. Verses 36, 37.—Which is more important to cultivate, and why, the spiritual or the practical part of Christianity?

17. Gal. 6: 2, 9, 10.—If a man's supreme purpose in life is not to help others wherein does he fail to be a follower of Jesus?

1. What is the benefit of devoting our full energies to the welfare of others?

9. James 2: 14,-16.—Is it posible for a man to save his own soul if he is not generous to the needy and is not spending his energies to help others?

10. How can the local church best organize her forces to do more effectual service in visiting the sick, caring for the poor, and bringing about a better social order generally?

Lesson for Sunday, August 31, 1919. Temperance. Daniel 1: 8-20; Romans 14:21; 1 Corinthians 9:24-27.

SAID POLICE ALLOWED GAMBLING IN PUBLIC

"I saw more gambling at the Exhibition grounds when that show was here than I have ever seen anywhere," said a delegate at the Labour Council meeting last night. "It was conducted openly and under the eyes of the police. In fact, I saw several policemen there."

"But the grounds were outside their jurisdiction," explained another member. "That territory belongs to the County Police."

"Well, what were the city police doing there if they had no authority?" was the next question. "If a local man opened up one of those games he would soon be landed in jail."

WAR WEDDINGS FAILURES

The court year which closed at Chicago recently will go down on court records as the greatest divorce year. Divorce decrees number 6,220, which is almost 15 per cent. of the marriage licenses issued. "The war, which promoted hasty marriages, has greatly increased the number of domestic tragedies," asserted Judge Hopkins. "War weddings in seven cases out of ten proved failures. The young brides were afraid of those strange men they married two years ago. A great cause of unhappiness in married life is liquor. The next few months will see a great decrease in divorces."

WAR SHOWS VALUE OF TYPHOID VACCINE

LESS THAN 500 CASES REPORTED AMONG 2,000,000 MEN IN PERSHING'S WHOLE ARMY.

WAR SHOWS [illegible] Day, e.

New York—One marked result of the superior hygienic measures taken to protect the health of the American Army was the small number of typhoid cases developing among the 2,000,000 men sent to Europe. If vaccination had not been carried out, and if the same rate of infection had prevailed as in the Spanish-American War, there would in the Expeditionary Force have been 384,113 cases and 29,266 deaths from typhoid fever. So far as the records show up to date, it is indicated that there have not been more than 500 cases. In the Spanish war, in a total strength of 107,973 men there were 20,738 cases of which 1,580 were fatal.

If the mortality rate for typhoid, were taken from the whole registrations area of the United States and applied to the army which went abroad, 3,200 cases and 320 deaths could have been reasonably expected in the year. Thi estimate is based upon the male population of the registration area between 20 and 45 years, under conditions such as ordinarily prevail.

WOMEN'S AUXILIARY FOR LIBERTY LEAGUE

WILL ADVERTISE ITS OBJECTS—QUARTERS TO BE SECURED.

Arrangements for an advertising campaign to explain to the electors the objects of the Liberty League was decided upon at a meeting last night at which a number of new members were received.

It was agreed that the first step should be to inform the public as to the League's purpose not only in regard to prohibition but also in other matters involving the interests of the people.

A membership commitee was appointed and to assist them and to arouse the electors to the importance of the Liberty League's work advertisements will be inserted in the local press.

A Woman's Auxiliary will be formed at once. It was stated that the women's vote would be a big factor in the referendum and also that the women should be fully advised of the principles that are affected.

The question of securing quarters was deferred for further consideration.

FREDERICTON, N.B., Aug. 23.—The first new industry that has been established since the war in the Maritime Provinces by British capital, is being located at Mullinsbrook, York County, four miles from McGiney Junction, on the National Transcontinental route, which is now part of the Canadian National Railways. It is a hardwood last block factory, and the man behind the enterprise is H. Mobbs, of Kettering, England, said to be one of the largest, if not actually the largest manufacturer of last blocks in the world. Between one and two hundred persons will be employed and three million feet or more of hardwood will be manufactured by the end of the year, the newcomers having entered into an arrangement with the Nashwaak Pulp and Paper Co. to use that quantity.

This was followed by a short musical programme and speeches of congratulation wishing Mr. and Mrs. Smith many more years of happy married life.

The four sons and five daughters of the family were all home for the occasion and their parents were the recipients of many beautiful gifts.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith were among the first settlers in the district having cleared their farm out of the forest, 48 years ago.

ROLE IN "DAY DREAMS" MADGE KENNEDY'S BEST

Madge Kennedy revels in comedy situations as only she can in her newest Goldwyn Picture, "Day Dreams," by Cosmo Hamilton, which comes to the Grand Theatre, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. It depicts the life of a country girl, Primrose, whose imagination and wild dreams have surrounded her with fairyland folk—princes, white knights and all.

She is later disillusioned by a scheming suitor, who has grown weary of having his proposals of marriage rejected with the reply that she is awaiting the white knight to claim her as his princess and sail with her to his castle across the sea. A white knight does come to her, though she subsequently learns he is an ordinary mortal doing the bidding of her disappointed suitor and that the castle the spurious knight takes her to is the converted home of the same scheming individual.

Primrose turns the tables on him at a banquet, for which he has hired a vampire to expose the knight. The dream girl's announcement that she will marry the very man he has hired to deceive her, brings one comedy situation after another. Beautiful settings abound in "Day Dreams" ranging from an expsive duck farm to spectacular scenes aboard the galleon, which takes Primrose to her fairyland.

TWO KILLED OTHERS HURT

AUTOMOBILE CRASHED THROUGH WALL AND DROPPED OVER CLIFF AT NIAGARA.

SEVERAL OTHERS MAY DIE

(Special to The Examiner.)

NIAGARA FALS, Ont., Aug. 23.—A fatal automobile accident occurred in Niagara Falls, N.Y., at 8 o'clock last night, when a motor car driven by Mrs. Kriel, wife of Dr. Kriel, dentist, Niagara Falls, N.Y., went over the bank and nearly into the river, just above the Michigan Central Bridge. Mrs. Kriel is dead, as is her nine-year-old daughter, her mother-in-law is in a dying condition in St. Mary's hospital, and her son, a boy of eight, is in a very serious condition.

May Have Lost Control.

There is said to have been five occupants of the car, and it appears from eye-witnesses' stories that the woman lost control coming down Cleveland avenue, a fairly steep street, could not make the turn, and crashed through a wooden wall and over the bank.

Assistance was at once called and on climbing down the steep bank, three bodies were found lying on the rocks. Mr. Kriel, Sr., and a boy were found to be still alive, but shockingly injured and were at once attended to, one girl was dead when found still farther down. The car was found wedged between some trees. Mrs. Kriel was found there dead, with shocking injuries. She was still grasping the steering wheel. It is believed that there was another occupant of the car, a woman, but so far she has not been found. The spot where the car went over is nearly perpendicular and there was no possible chance of escape.

Some years ago a similar accident happened when three lost their lives.

PEACE CONFERENCE WARNS ROUMANIANS IN HUNGARY

Threaten That Reparation Already Made to Roumania Will Be Cut Off if Present Seizures Continue.

PARIS, August 23.—The Reparation Committee of the Peace Conference has defeated the Note which the Supreme Council will probably send to Roumania immediately, warning the Bucharest Government that reparations under the German and Austrian Treaties will be entirely cut off if the Roumanians continue to make requisitions, and that all requisitions already made by the Roumanians in Hungary will be deducted from that nation's share in the indemnity to be paid by Austria.

The Roumanian soldiers still continue seizing foodstuffs, farming machinery, and other materials in Hungary, and are sending them to Roumania; but the fact that an important railroad bridge near the Hungarian frontier has been wrecked makes it impossible for goods to enter Roumania.

A large number of cars are stalled at that point, and officers are invoicing the supplies which they contain.

THE GRENADIER GUARDS' CONCERT

Nine years rolled back in memory last night when the band of His Majesty's Grenadier Guards opened their concert at the Grand Opera House. Since their last visit to Canada in 1910 for a two weeks' engagement at the Toronto Exhibition, events that have shaken the world's civilization to its foundations have intervened, tremendous events that were little dreamed of when Captain Williams last charmed Ontario's multitudes, but which have been discerned in the tiny foreshadowing cloud that hung far down in the sunny skies of peace. But in 1910 the audiences that hung upon the harmonies of the Guards gave little if any thought to their military connection. Their gold-laced, scarlet tunics and the tall busbies were symbols of peace, the trappings of a concert band that seemed but remotely associated with the operations and the agencies of war. When, however, they played Tchaikovsky's '1812' they created an impressive illusion of armed strife that was soon to become a shocking fact, gripping off the dress of parade and silencing the melodies of enchantment. It was a new and perhaps the greatest opportunity for the Guards to prove their valor and strength in a fearful crisis that would have defied the genius of the Russian master adequately to interpret in the dissonances and harmonies of music.

So the Guards have come back again and the years between already seem only a nightmare, a horrid unreality, until one glimpses the ribbons and medals on the scarlet backgrounds that have replaced the khaki, and is reminded of [illegible] band in 1910. Recollections that subconsciously stirred beneath the pleasures of last night's concert invested the Guards with a new dignity, the subtle appeal of recent honours, and an appreciation that was more deeply personal than in those days nine years ago. Although the personal element was more pronounced the performance of the band compelled and received the enthusiastic acknowledgment of the audience. It was stamped in all its features of ensemble and solo work and in its phases of musicianship with the old Guards' quality.

Captain Williams had forty under his direction last night. The balance of brass and wood winds was splendid, and each department was numerous and rich. The force of cornets was evident in all the forte passages and a strong section of French horns lent a mellow effect that blended an exquisite tone. The wood winds were always expressive and with the oboe, flutes and bassoons provided material which Captain Williams used with a confidence that was unconscious. The quality of the band's tone was an outstanding feature, and the opulence of its harmonies, frequently noticeable throughout the performance, was especially marked in the finale of "The Last Chord." This number began with a cornet solo by Sergeant Mayes that deserved particular mention, but in the latter part it swelled to a great outpouring of music as if from a mighty organ, each section assisting to the fullest extent in the ensemble, but without the predominance of any group of instruments.

The overture to William Tell was perhaps the finest number of the programme, its scenes being unfolded with restraint and a colouring that heightened the contrast of the familiar but ever welcome periods of calm and storm. As in the other leading numbers the band displayed its musicianship in the rendition of this overture. Attack and precision were perfect at all times and in no place more prominent than in the first part of the Peer Gynt suite. The crescendoes were more outstanding probably because they were in more frequent demand. Grieg's "Storm" was exceedingly realistic and to some opinions more impressive than the similar scene in William Tell. The Peer Gynt and Liszt Rhapsody imparted to the programme an exotic note that was most acceptable. Both numbers in the setting and atmosphere that Captain Williams similarly portrayed left nothing to be desired. The suggestion was complete.

Instead of the selection from Carmen, "Il Trovatore" was substituted. The latter was better suited to most of the audience and lent itself to a great deal more contributed a little dramatic [illegible] which to imaginations that had [illegible] the opera itself, but there [illegible] to "Carmen" restible. This, however, is simply a matter of taste. The Reminiscences of Weber proved an excellent arrangement and a thoroughly enjoyable number.

Conductor Williams offered three patrols, two of them as encores, and his own compositions. The Naval and Scottish patrols were both fine examples of this type, but in the Canadian Patrol Captain Williams has interwoven songs of this soil that naturally carry the strongest appeal. This number has not been played since the last Toronto engagement in 1910, but it has lost none of its fine swing and the highly effective and entertaining arrangement of our patriotic songs.

Another extra was Mendelssohn's Spring Song, with its pure sweet melody as a contrast to the musical antics that revealed the comedy possibilities with band instruments in the laughable variations to that somewhat ancient classic of the pre jazz era, "Has Anybody Here Seen Kelly?"

The Guards' entertainment was a thoroughly delightful one, and the management of the Grand deserve a passing word of commendation for providing this musical treat.

REFERENDUM DATE TO BE ANNOUNCED BY PREMIER TO-DAY

AT IMPORTANT POLITICAL GATHERING IN BRANTFORD—EXPECTED TO BE OCT. 20TH.

WILL COMPLETE LISTS

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 23. — Sir William Hearst goes to Brantford today to address what promises to be one of the biggest political gatherings of recent years. It will also rank high in political importance, for the Prime Minister will have two important announcements to make.

The Mail and Empire understands that Sir William will make an announcement in regard to the forthcoming referendum. Delays in having the voters' lists completed have made it impossible for the government definitely to fix the date for voting upon the four questions provided by the legislation of last session, but the Prime Minister, believing that the people are entitled to something reasonably definite will, it is expected, announce that the referendum will be held not later than Oct. 20 and certainly not before Oct. 1. As matters appear now, it is probable that polling day will fall about the middle of the month, although the 20th, which falls on a Monday, may just give sufficient time to get the lists in shape. The government it is stated, is determined that every voter be given full opportunity to have his name on lists and will not set the date for polling ahead at the expense of careful completion of the lists.

VICTORIA FARMERS POLITICALLY BUSY

ELECTION WILL BE A CONTEST BETWEEN FARMERS AND CONSERVATIVES—LIBERALS OUT.

BOBCAYGEON, Ont., Aug. 22—There are strong indications that the U. F. O. and Labour forces will unite in support of the candidature of F. G. Sandy, the nominee of the farmers for the seat for South Victoria, at the approaching Provincial election. Mr. Sandy addressed a crowded gathering of farmers, labourers, mechanics and women in the town hall last night and received a tremendous ovation. Large numbers were unable to gain admittance.

Since the country organization was formed nearly a year ago the movement has rapidly spread. There are now seventeen clubs in the county with an aggregate membership of 1,300. The influence of the organization in the south riding particularly has been most marked and its effect is strongly felt by both political parties. Many farmer Liberals and Conservatives have deserted their old faith and allied themselves with the U. F. O.

Apart from purely political questions, the sentiment here is strongly for prohibition, and as that is a plank in the U. F. O. platform, it possibly has had some influence in strenghtening the ranks of the farmers. While there is no Labour union here, it is a forgone conclusion that the majority of the labourers and mechanics will support the U. F. O. ticket. It is equally true, that some farmers, as well as mechanics, will remain hidebound to their old party, but the general opinion of U. F. O. stalwars is that the united forces in favour of Sandy will be strong enough to enable him to wrest the seat from J. C. Carew, the present Conservative member, at any rate he will give him a good run, according to William Hickson, secretary of the Verulam Agricultural Society, who is not attached to the U. F. O.

Sandy Formerly Conservative.

Mr. Sandy, who was chosen at the convention last April, is a bona fide farmer and native of Omemee and forty four years of age. He was formerly a Conservative and he was most prominent among the organizers of the farmers' movement in the county and holds the office of president. John Brock is vice-president and M. I. Hogan, of Lindsay, secretary. Officers of the political organization for South Victoria are: Judson Mark of Oakwood, president; John McNiven of Reaboro, vice-president; R. H. Reid of Reaboro, secretary.

R. E. Thurston, president of Bobcaygeon branch, was previously a Conservative and Thomas Martin, the secretary, is a farmer Liberal. No Liberal candidate has yet appeared in sight for South Victoria and the prospects are for a straight fight between U. F. O. and Conservative forces.

In North Victoria the U. F. O. is incomplete and so far the farmers have not nominated a candidate. Neither will they put one in the field for the Federal Parliament to contest Victoria and Haliburton against Sir Sam Hughes.

U. F. O. CALLS LABOUR TO COME AND ASSIST.

BOBCAYGEON, Ont., Aug. 22 — Addressing the U. F. O. meeting here yesterday, J. J. Morrison, secretary of the organization said: "Farmers are coming to life and beginning to realize their responsibility to the State and to their own offspring. We call on Labour to get busy and help us. You cannot have an all-round satisfied country where half of the people work 12 hours a day, and the other half only eight."

COUNCIL GRANTS $200 TO BOY SCOUTS TO HELP PAY FARES TO "EX"

150 OF THEM GOING TO TORONTO FOR THE BIG REVIEW BY THE PRINCE OF WALES ON MONDAY—WILL REPRESENT PETERBORO IN THE MILITARY DEMONSTRATION.

VIEWS OF THE COUNCIL

It was decided at last night's meeting of the committee of the while of the City Council to grant the Boy Scouts $200 for railroad fare to the Toronto Exhibition on Monday, for the big review by H. R. H. the Prince of Wales.

The deputation from the Scouts, stated that they had received a telegram from the Provincial Secretary of the Boy Scouts, stating that the scouts of the province were to be reviewed by the Prince of Wales, and requesting the Peterboro Scouts to attend. Mr. J. Allen told the Council that about 150 boys constituted the local Boy Scouts. About 100 of these would be able to go on a half fare rate, $1.80, being under 12 years of age, and the other fifty would have to pay the full rate $3.60. The Exhibition Board would entertain the boys at lunch and they would take their own breakfast and supper, hence there would be no expenses other than transportation.

Continuing, he said that when Baden-Powell reviewd the Scouts at the exhibition, each city except Peterborough paid for the transportation of the Scouts representing it. Many of the boys would not be able to pay. It was an organization that was inspiring loyalty in the coming generation, which was asking for the grant. It was a chance to do the boys good and to advertise Peterborough. It was a request and, to a certain extent, a command from the Prince of Wales. The organization in Peterborough was new and there was a consequent lack of funds.

Ald. Turner in Favour.

Alderman Turner was willing to grant the deputation's request. The Prince would not be able to visit Peterborough and the boys would not be given a chance to see him.

"If we should grant the Scouts the full amount required we would be getting off light for if the Prince should visit Peterborough, the cost of a reception would be at least $1,000. We should be represented at the exhibition, for we are a city of no mean importance in Ontario."

Alderman McIntyre was in accord with Ald. Turner's remarks.

Ald. Edgar, however, thought that it would be better to meet the deputation half way. He believed that the city should be represented, but he considered $360 too large an amount. He was in favour of granting $1.80 to each boy who went.

The Backbone of Canada.

Ald. Garside considered the Scouts the backbone of Canada. If another war should take place the Scouts would take part in it and if they had seen the Prince, they would know whom and what they were fighting for. Ald. Garside was in favour of granting the $360.

Ald. Gainey felt that the Council should split the difference.

Ald. Phelan thought $150 to be sufficient. Mr. Hamilton, the president of the local Boy Scout Council, interposed with "of the old Peterborough Boy Scouts there was not one who did not go to war."

Ald. Morrison expressed himself as favouring a grant of the full amount asked for. If a lesser sum were granted it would limit the number of those who would be able to go.

Source of the Money.

The Mayor then asked where the money would be obtained. "Why should we take money from the ratepayers whose children cannot go," he asked.

Ald. Turner replied by saying that the body was going to pay honours to the city. The Mayor, however, thought that the people's money should not be thrown away.

It was then moved by Ald. Turner that a grant of $360 be made and seconded by Ald. Garside. An amendment was moved by Ald. Edgar and seconded by the Mayor, that $1.80 be paid to each boy to the number of 150 on the presentation of a standard railway certificate. The amendment was defeated but the original motion carried.

Ald. Turner then moved that the treasurer pay $200 to E. J. Whitesides secretary of the Boy Scouts Council, on certificate of the Mayor, seconded by Ald. Garside, and carried.

Drain for Quaker Oats.

Mr. Cormack, of the Quaker Oats Co. appeared before the committee and asked that a drain be constructed on Brock and Dickson streets, to take care of the water from the hill. The company would be responsible for it on their own property. It was moved by Ald. Turner and seconded by Ald. Edgar, that the matter be left with the chairman of the Board of Works and the City Engineer, with power to act.

MISSION TO REPORT ON POLISH PROBLEM

MODERATE MILITARY MEASURES PROMISES BY GERMANS

(Canadian Press.)

BERLIN, Aug. 23.— The German Polish situation took on an unexpected aspect yesterday when it was announced that an Inter-Allied Mission would leave this city for Upper Silesia in the course of the next twenty-four hours. It was announced at the same time that the Polish Commission which has been conferring with the Government officials will return to Warsaw and make a report. It is not expected that negotiations with the Poles will be resumed until after the Inter-Allied Commission has made its report and its findings are accepted as final until questions involved in the situation of Upper Silesia as well as other disputes are settled by a plebiscite. In the meantime the German government has agreed being enforced in the region and to discontinue executions.

NEW EXPRESS TARIFF AND CLASSIFICATIONS

Communication has been received by Mr. W. S. Campbell, chairman of the Transportation Committee of the Board of Trade, from the secretary of the Express Traffic Association, advising that the new express tariffs and classifications recently authorised by the Board of Railway Commissioners, to come into effect on 1st September, have now been published, and will soon be ready for distribution.

Mr. Campbell brought out the following points:

The merchandise rates at present in effect between Toronto and Montreal is $1.00 for every 100 pounds, while the new first-class rate will be $2.00 per 100 pounds; between Peterborough and Montreal, present rate $1.00, new rate roughly $1.80. All the increases, fortunately, are not as high as these examples, but on the average, in eastern territory, the increase is approximately 46 per cent. over the current rates: middle west, 24 per cent.; and west of the Rockies, 12 per cent.

Shippers who intend to check their express charges on and after 1st September should make an application to Mr. C. N. Ham, secretary of the Express Traffic Association, Montreal, making application for a copy of Circular ETA No. 85, Express Classifications No. 4, and necessary tariffs, publishing rates in and out of Peterborough, to the territories in which the business is conducted. There is a small charge made for the cost of providing and distributing these tariffs.

Girdles for the new long Georgette blouses sometimes end in three-toned tassels.

AUCTION SALE.

DRYS' MISSION IN BRITAIN.

Johnson Says Americans Won't Interfere in Elections There.

LONDON — William E. Johnson, organizer of the American Anti-Saloon League, who returned to England today from Sweden, where he attended the Northern Temperance Conference, declared that it was not the purpose of the League to carry on propaganda in England with the idea of bringing about prohibition.

"We have not the slighest intention of interfering in British affairs," said Mr. Johnson. "We will not take any part whatever in the British elections. What I am doing and what I expect to do in the future, is merely to explain the activities in America against drink and tell people why prohibition was brought about and what its result will be. The British people are under no obligations to adopt the same policy, unless they choose to do so.

"All it is in the direction of promoting friendly relations between the countries and along the line of the work of the English-speaking Union, of which I am a member. I came here at the urgent invitation of British "dry" organizations to tell the story of prohibition in America and counteract the grotesque yarns circulated on this side about the effects of the 'dry' policy in America."

Mr. Johnson added that the Anti-Saloon League was going to supply literature to speakers, who would simply deal with "the story of America."

Mr. Johnson denied that the Anti-Saloon League purposed an anti-tobacco campaign.

PRINCE REACHED ALL HEARTS WHEN HE SPOKE IN FRENCH

RECEIVED ADDRESSES FROM THE PROVINCE AND CITY OF QUEBEC AND VISITED LAVAL UNIVERSITY—BRILLIANT SCENE IN LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY CHAMBERS.

QUEBEC, Aug. 22— Aristocratic, official, political Quebec this morning assembled in all its pomp and splendor to honor Edward, Prince of Wales, at the Provincial Legislative Assembly buildings. All restraint and formal decorum was forgotten, and the brilliant Senate chamber with its crimson walls and crimson carpets, with its lavish decorations, echoed and re-echoed with the loud, prolonged and hearty hand-clapping with which the very flower of Quebec cheered the Prince.

Brilliant is far too mild a term to describe the scene in the Senate chamber. Society leaders and political chiefs of the province, together with their fashionably dressed ladies were on hand in full fore. Mayor Lavigueur, in his sombre black robe of office, was among the earliest of arrivals. Then came the cardinal with his attendants, their purple robes adding to the brilliance of the scene. Suddenly the whole audience springs to its feet to honour Lady Fitzpatrick, wife of the Lieutenant-Governor.

The Prince Arrives.

Two staff officers slowly enter the Legislative chamber and announce His Royal Highness. Silence reigns supreme, and Edward, Prince of Wales, escorted by Sir Charles Fitzpatrick, Lieut-Governor of the Province of Quebec and folowed by Premier Sir Lomer Gouin, walks slowly, majestically, imposingly to the throne. Folowing some a long array of military officials.

His Royal Highness takes his place on the dais. Behind him is the throne. Above his head hangs a large picture depicting the arrival of Jacques Cartier at Quebec in 1634.

Address From Province.

Royally and without traces of nervousness which were visible on previous formal functions, the scion of the Royal House of Windsor faces an audience representing the very cream of Quebec. Sir Lomer Gouin advances and on behalf of the province reads first in French and then in English and address assuring His Royal Highness of the unswerving loyalty of the people of Quebec to the British Crown.

"What will the Prince do?"

"Will he reply in English or French?"

These are the questions that are whispered around the chamber. Edward, Prince of Wales reaches out to his side for his official speech.

Speaks in French.

"C'est en Francais," is the murmur around the stately hall and the youthful Prince has captured one more audience. Slowly, hesitatingly, he launches out into his first public address in the language of the habitant. As he progresses he gains confidence. Every person in the Legislative Assembly beams with delight. French-Canadians declare that his accent is good and then, the address completed, there is an outburst of cheering, the like of which has not been heard anywhere on the Royal tour. Edward, Prince of Wales, has captured the heart of Quebec.

Mayor Lavigueur then appears on the scene, makes his bow and ... half of the city of Quebec welcomes the Royal visitor, ... replies in French. This time he is more confident. Cheers and cheers again express the enthusiasm of the French-Canadians.

Cheer Upon Cheer.

Meantime, outside the Legislative Buildings the throng increases. Tens of thousands people stand in a burning sun awaiting the sailor-soldier Prince. The highest heavens ring with the echoes of their cheering as his Royal Highness steps into his carriage. Along the route are teeming crowds, who shout their welcomes to the youthful Prince. His Royal Highness is visibly touched by the reception accorded to him. Graciously he acknowledges the plaudits of the citizens. Hats are thrown in the air, ten thousand handkerchiefs are waved, children yell themselves hoarse, and men and women unite in the grand welcome. Edward, Prince of Wales, drives on triumphantly.

Visit to Laval.

Laval University was visited by the Prince. Here the reception was of a private nature. When his royal father visited the University the students sang "God Save the King" in his honour. This time the students are on their vacation, but a few of them who were in the city gathered at the portals of the University and heartily cheered the Prince. Cheer dignitaries and university professors, including Cardinal Begin in his cardinal red robes of office, and the canons in their purples robes, were on hand to meet the Prince. His Royal Highness was welcomed in the drawing room by Monsignor Francois Pelletier, the rector of the University.

The Prince chatted for a considerable time in French with Cardinal Begin, and said that he was very well pleased with the reception which had been accorded to him in the city of Quebec.

Interest in Charters.

His Royal Highness evinced great interest in the charters of the university, the one granted by his royal great grandmother, Queen Victoria, in 1852, and the other by Pope Pius the Ninth in 1866. He also closely examined the seals of the university, and was shown the red barrette of Cardinal Taschereau, the first Canadian cardianl, and the mitre of Laval, the first Bishop of Quebec dating back to the year 1708. On the table near where the Prince stood was a photograph of His Majesty, King George the Fifth, presented to the university on the occasion of his visit in 1908. As at Halifax, his Royal Highness devoted considerable attention to the life size portrait of the late Queen Victoria, which hung on the wall of the drawing room. The visit to Laval was of a private nature and only a few distinguished persons were permitted to meet the Prince.

Champlain's Memory.

Before a tremendous crowd that swarmed the Place d'Armes and Dufferin Terrace his Royal Highness the Prince of Wales laid a beautiful wreath of pink roses and lilies at the foot of the monument erected in memory of Champlain, who, after landing near the same point as the Prince of Wales landed yesterday, founded the city of Quebec in 1608.

THE MAN WHO WINS

IS ALWAYS FULL OF LIFE AND ENERCY—FAILURES ARE WEAK AND BLOODLESS.

Some men seem to have all the luck—If there are any good things going these men seem to get them. They make other people do their will—they are leaders. If they are business men they are successful; if they are workmen they get the foreman's job. They have the power of influencing people.

The same thing is true of women. Some have the charm that makes men seek them out; others are always neglected. But this is not luck—it is due to a personal gift—vitality. Men and women of this sort are never weak, puny invalids. They may not be big but they are full of life and energy. The whole thing is a matter of good blood, good nerves and good health. Everyone should wish to be like this and the qualities that make for vitality and energy are purely a matter of health. By building up the blood and nerves sleeplessness, want of energy, weakness of the back, stooping shoulders, headaches and the ineffectual sort of presence which really comes from weakness can all be got rid of. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have made many weak, tired men, vigorous and healthy, and many pale, dejected girls and women plump, rosy and attractive, by improving their blood and toning up their nerves. If you are weak, ailing, low-spirited or unhealthy, begin to cure yourself to-day by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

You can get these pills through any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cts. a box or six boxes for $2.50, from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., of Brockville, Ont.

THREE DIE IN ELECTRIC CHAIR.

One Murdered Dragged to Chamber After Attempting Suicide.

TRENTON, N.J., Aug. 22.—Dragged to the electrict chair in the death house in the State Prison here tonight by four keepers after he had tried to batter out his brains against the iron bars of his cell, Frank Le Varie, 35 years of age, paid the penalty with two other men for the murder of seventy-two-year-old Roman Smith, a farmer of South River.

Le Varie was the first of the trio to go to his death. He refused to walk to his death, and four of the strongest guards and keepers had to carry and drag him to the chair. As they passed the cell of another condemned man the latter called out to the guard, "You ought to be ashamed of yourselves."

The other two men who were electrocuted to-night for the same crime were Michael De Palma and Gareno Palemeri. Four contacts of 1,900 volts were given the three murderers.

The murder of the old man occurred on 11th October, 1917. It was planned by a "gangster," who formerly worked for him, and who believed the old man had considerable money about the farm but the murderers obtained only $80 after ransacking the house.

BETTING ON PARIS HORSE RACES IS BIGGER THAN EVER

PARIS, Aug. 21.—The Deauville season is traditionally at its height at the beginning of its Grand Prix week, and taking the Pari-Mutuél form is a very good basis on which to judge the success or the failure of the season. The amount taken last week end was more than $800,000. Such a total was never reached before, even in pre-war days, with the exception of the Paris Grand Prix.

It is very significant as showing that the public is flush and spending freely.

FISHING GROUNDS AT THE CITY'S FRONT DOOR ARE NOT APPRECIATED

WHY GO FAR ASTREAM FOR BIG ONES WHEN THEY CAN BE CAUGHT ABOVE THE AUBURN AND IN THE CANAL—LUNGE, BASS, PIKE, PICKEREL AND HERRING.

RECENT CATCHES

Many of the disciples of Isaak Walton who make fishing trips to Chemong, Stoney, and Rice Lakes, and other more distant points, are often outclassed by those who persistently fish the waters in and near to the city. On Thursday evening, Messrs. William and Ray Weatherstone, in trolling just above the Auburn Dam, captured a lunge which weighed fifteen pounds. It measured 38 inches in length and 15 inches in girth. This makes the seventh lunge that Mr. W. Weatherstone has secured in this locality this season.

Other fishermen have taken some fine fish in this section of the river. Several lunge have also been caught near Inverlea Park during the last couple of weeks.

Some Bass Wormy Caught Below the City.

There have also been some good catches of bass made in the river adjacent to Inverlea Park, and all along further up. The bass caught above the city do not seem to be infested with those little white grubs to any such extent as those taken in the lower part of the river below the Locks. This is claimed by some authorities to be due to the sewage deposited for years in the water. Some fine specimens of that splendid game fish, the small-mouthed black bass, recently caught in the lower part of the river, were totally unfit for use owing to this pest. A large yellow bass taken in the same locality was entirely free of the grub.

Mr. V. McCarthy, with a rod, caught a fine pike off the point in the Canal near the Golf Links on Wednesday morning. The fish weighed thirteen and a half pounds.

Pickerel and Herring.

Some fifteen years or so ago, through the efforts of the late Mr John Ballantyne, an ardent fisherman a large number of pickerel fry was deposited in the river at Young Point, Lakefield, and just below the Locks Dam. For some years nothing was apparently seen of these fish, but for the last six or seven seasons some of the local sports have captured several of them. A number of pickerel have been taken this season in the vicinity of the old Rogers Dam.

Another fish which is now found in the river is the herring. These have evidently come down the Canal since the opening of the upper section. They were noticed several seasons ago at Buckhorn, next reported at Young's Point, and can now be taken late in the fall above Nassau.

RAINS AIDED GRAZING

Good Report From South and Central Alberta.

TORONTO.—Mr. E. T. O'Connor, of Peterborough, who has extensive agricultural interests in the Red Deer, Alberta section, stated that grazing conditions in Alberta were greatly improved by recent rains, and that the situation in the southern part of the province is not nearly so serious as it was. He declares that good average crops will be harvested in Central Alberta, which did not experience the serious drought that did so much harm in the south. Mr. O'Connor is in Toronto to attend the exhibition after a two months visit in the west.

Inspecting milk from the bottom of the bottle, and observing every precaution to prevent dust and dirt from getting into the milk, won't do. That's not enough.

THE NEW LOAN.

Although the officials of the Finance Department have characterised the newspaper reports in regard to the coming Canadian loan as purely speculative, there is no reason to doubt that in the main these reports are correct. At least, it is considered certain that there will be no exemption from income tax in the case of the new bonds. The strong criticism of the exemption feature if the Victory Loan has led the Government to eliminate it from the new loan.

The necessity for borrowing fresh money from the people of Canada is not hard to see. The estimated expenditures for the fiscal year are $830,000,000, against which the estimated revenue is nly $250,000,000, and the difference can only be met in one way by borrowing, and that at home.

Canada is still spending a million dollars a day on expenses in connection with the war, and besides has to carry on the ordinary business of the country. The people of Canada will have to provide the funds; they will probably have an opportunity of doing so in October.

LUCK AT JUDGMENT.

The Montreal Trades and Labour Council have unanimously decided to ask the Prince of Wales to give them an audience in order that they may lay before him the desire of the organised labour of Montreal that he should urge upon King George the pardoning of all defaulters under the Military Service Act. Surely, however, there are enough matters of serious import to labour to be taken up to occupy the attention of the Trades and Labour Council without taking upon themselves the defence of those who failed when called upon to serve. The Prince is liable to take away with him some unwarranted impressions of Canadian labour if the only matter that its representatives want to bring before him is the possibility of liberating the men who took the chances of a jail term in preference to responding to the call of the Empire over which our royal visitor will some day be King. The decision of the Montreal Council shows very little judgment, to say the least.

A CANADIAN FLAG.

The question of having a distinctly Canadian flag—"a national flag of Canada"—has lately been revived for discussion, says the Journal of Commerce. The very common and improper use on land of the Canadian marine flag has often been commented on, but the misuse of that flag continues. It is hard to make the public understand that the red ensign, with the Canadian arms in the fly, is a correct flag only when it is shown on a Canadian ship. The desire for a flag that can be correctly called the national flag of Canada is quite natural. There are some ultra loyal folk who protest against the use of any flag other than the Union Jack. "Isn't the old Union Jack good enough?" they ask. Surely, it is good enough for us as the flag of the Empire and as such we must keep it. But there is no reason why Canada should not, like other Dominions, have a flag of its own. We venture to suggest that the national flag of Canada should be a flag which will express Canada's position as a nation within the Empire. For this purpose we would make the Union Jack the ground work of Canada's flag, retaining as much of the Jack as a border as will keep its identity. For a centre we suggest a white disc, within which there would be placed a maple leaf, surrounded by nine blue stars, one for each Province of the Dominion. If such a use of the Union Jack would be allowable, the flag we suggest would be an excellent one. It would be handsome, easily recognized, and expressive of the position which Canada holds and desires to hold.

BONUSES AND EXEMPTIONS.

The Hamilton Herald calls attention to the resolution adopted by the Union of the Canadian Municipalities at the annual meeting in this city the other day against the subsidizing of local industries by means of bonuses, grants and free sites or exemption from taxation. Discussing the matter the Herald says that few urban municipalities can plead innocent in this matter and adds that Hamilton is one of many which is sacrificing too much for the sake of industrial industries, since high tax rates form one unpleasant effect of the bonusing abuse. The Herald then goes on to say:

There is law on the Ontario statute-book designed to check the industrial bonus evil, but it is commonly evaded, and when municipalities violate it they do not find it hard to get the legislature to legalize their violations of it. A stop should be put to this practice. If the law were impartially enforced and no exceptions made, there would be less temptation on the part of municipal councils to offer bribes to industrial promoters awaiting substantial inducements to open plants in towns willing to pay for them. Unhappily, it too often happens that the manufacturers who have to be subsidized to locate in a place must eventually be further subsidized to prevent them from removing later to some town which holds out better inducements.

It is easy enough to declare that bonuses and exemptions must cease, but until there is absolute Provincial prohibition in the matter it will be difficult to remedy the evil because, much though any one city may desire to avoid the bonusing system, it will be afraid to do it lest by doing so it lose the industry which would go to another city that might bid high enough in either bonuses or exemptions. It is not an easy matter for any community to pose as an anti-bonus champion while its neighbors are willin gto use every financial and other persuasive power they may have to induce this, that or the other industry to locate in their particular city. For this reason if we are no longer to have bonuses and exemptions the only way to assure it is to have the Provincial Legislature pass a law specifically and unequivocally prohibiting what The Herald aptly declares to be "wasteful competition among municipalities." Until that is done no city would be wise to be a law unto itself and be content with the skim milk while the other cities took the cream in the way of desirable industries.—Kingston Standard.

GENERAL CURRIE'S PROMISE.

If General Sir Arthur Currie follows the course he outlined in his address to the Montreal Veterans' on Thursday, the Commander-in-Chief of the Canadian Forces will earn the everlasting gratitude of the returned soldiers.

"The rest of my life, so far as I am able," said General Currie, "will be devoted first to helping the widows and orphans of those who are not coming back (cheers and hear, hear), and next, to helping you boys, who exposed your bodies as a living bulwark against the dangers that threatened the world. You are the men who made for Canada her place as a nation, and you are the men to whom Canada owes the greatest debt. I do not know what your problems are, whether you have been able to get work, whether your employers are prepared to take you back, and if you are getting more money than before, but when I become familiar with all these things, I shall not hesitate to support every plan. I have always called a spade a spade. When a man was good, I promoted him if I could, and if he was not good I fired him."

It will be noticed that the Canadian leader places first in the list of duties, assistance for the widows and orphans of those who have fallen, and second the necessity of looking after the needs of the men who came back. This is in accordance with the views of many of the leaders of the Great War Veterans' Association.

In his new position as Inspector-General of the Canadian Forces, General Currie will be able to assist the returned men in more ways than one.

THE HUNDRED DAYS

Within a few days of their arrival on the Western battlefront—early in the spring of 1915—our Canadian soldiers began their record of splendid achievements when the first blast of poison gas from the enemy sent the French colonial troops in mad flight to the rear. The Canadians closed the gap in the Allied lines and stopped the German advance. Many of them fell on that memorable day—victims of the deadly gas as well as of shell and rifle fire: But the line held. "The Canadians saved the day," was General French's brief but adequate report of their service. This exploit set a high standard for the Canadian troops but they acted up to it throughout the war. As a fighting force, the Canadian corps earned a reputation second to none.

Perhaps its heaviest work, and that which counted for most, was done in the final hundred days. Some account of that work was given by the Canadian corps commander, General Sir Arthur Currie, in his remarks at the welcome banquet given in his honor last evening in Ottawa. We are pleased to note that the general's speech was free from anything resembling bombast and brag. He did not claim that the Canadians won the war. But he did claim for his corps that "no other force in the world had played a greater part in finally ending the struggle"—and surely that claim was justified by his recital of the achievements of his corps in the last hundred days of the war. In the great Amiens drive it was used as the spearhead of the Allied force. In the first day of the drive, General Currie said: "we penetrated eight miles, the greatest penetration made by any army in the war, and our victory had a wonderful effect."

These statements of fact by the Canadian corp commandere are more impressive than studied eloquence. The Canadians were the first to break the Hindenburg line. During eight days of battle they broke through five systems of German trenches. "In the last hundred days the Canadians faced 47 different Boche divisions or more than a quarter of the enemy forces on the western front. . . . There was nothing the men would not do to win. Gunners and stretcher-bearers worked through gas attacks without masks in order to give their comrades better support and assistance." "In the end the Canadian corps had come to be regarded as the hardest hitting corps on the whole western front." Our citizen army fought against the greatest artillery machine the world ever produced yet never lost a gun in four years in the last two years never failed to take some objective, and there were some of our divisions which never allowed a hostile foe to enter their trenches. We never lost an inch of ground that we had once consolidated."

These statements were not made by General Currie in the spirit of vainglory; they were made to back his plea for generous and considerate treatment of the men who made this radiant record. The general is still as mindful of the welfare of the soldiers as he was while he was commanding them.—Hamilton Herald.

Voice Of The People

Dear Sir: Please allow me space in your paper to state a few facts about the way the Carpenters' Union is running the Hunter street bridge job.

I follow the carpenter trade for a living, whenever the union feels disposed to let me work at all, which is not often. A year ago last autumn I was called home from Fort William to look after my wife and as her case is pretty well known I need not go into details but the fact remains I was obliged to leave my work at the Fort William shipyards and come home and lose the whole winter on account of my wife's ailment.

Then when spring came I started to work as a carpenter at the Colonial Hide Company building; got about 3½ days work as a result of the Carpenters' Union sending their business agent, in the person of Tom Lane, to demand that we (three non-union men) either join the union or get off the job. I told Tom Lane that I would join if I was forced to do so; and as a bluff he said "If you come to my office at 7.30 this evening I will let you in to the union at the old rate," which was $5. It being then a few days in May the rate was raised to $10; so I just about bit, but later on in the day I heard he had promised the other two men the same favor. He had been making me believe that I was to be allowed in as a special exception, because he told me not to say thing about it because if the union found it out they would make him pay the difference. So I refused to take the bait.

Well we lost our jobs, the whole three of us, but three union men who were there, were kept; but to be sure why we were being discharged I asked the manager if it was because we could not do our work? He said, "No, sir the work is not here to do." But it was there before the union put the queer on it. So I left the city knowing that there was no use in expecting any work here.

Last fall at the end of November I was summoned home again to take care of my wife, and since then—better than eight and a half months—I have got less than four weeks' work; so as I did not think it safe to go far away again for a time I applied for work at the Hunter St. bridge, but before I did so I enquired if it was a union job, and Mr. Townsend said, No. So I started to work at Wednesday noon of this week, and was discharged at 5 o'clock. Reason, work not going fast enough. I wonder who with sense enough to see, will believe that a man who ever did any carpenter work would be discharged after four hours work—because the work was not going fast enough. No, they were too quick with their work that time—they gave themselves away.

Things have come to a pretty pass when a man is going to be dictated to as to whether he will be allowed to earn his living or not, and on a city job which should be open to every citizen of the town.

No, trade unionism will have to show me some better reason for joining them than this town has shown before I gave them any of my money to spend. They may take my job—but they don't get the double laugh on me by getting my money as well.

Thanking you Mr. Editor, I remain, yours, etc.,

FREDERICK ARGUES WITH NEIL AS TO HIS BUSINESS METHODS

CHAPTER XLVIII

I did as I had planned. Neil only laughed at me for pains.

Tonko hasn't touched it," he declared.

"But you—you only opened that bottle last night. You haven't —you —couldn't drink all that in one evening?"

"Well I did! So stop your fussing You are getting to be a regular nagger. First it is meddling in my business, then it's what I drink. Can't you mind your own affairs, and let me mind mine?"

I saw that Neil was disturbed. He had not been drinking but he looked rather wild-eyed, and not at all like himself. I laid it to the amount he had drunk the night before, and tried to soothe him by saying I was afraid it would make him ill. But he paid no attention to my half-hearted apology for my fault-finding, and asked me to hurry dinner.

"A couple of men are coming up here after dinner to talk business," he told me when I asked him if he was going out.

He ate scarcely anything, but drank several cups of strong coffee. He had also mixed himself a cocktail before dinner.

I was with little Robert when the men came, but as I left the nursery I heard loud voices. They sounded angry," "vehemently so," I thought to myself as I halted a moment. I had not intended to listen, but just as I was about to go on to my own room, I heard one sentence very plainly:

"You'll be in jail yet, if you don't look out, Forbes!"

Neil in jail! What could they mean? I crept slowly and quietly nearer, until I was almost opposite the library door. Once I heard someone open the cellarette, and caught the clink of glasses. I could hear an occasional angry word, or a loudly-spoken one, but I could make nothing of such fragmentary bits. I must hear more!

That I was belittling myself by listening—that I might be caught and humiliated, never entered my mind. I simply had to hear what these men were saying. Tonko went in with chopped ice, and I heard Neil tell him they should not need him again. Then, just as the door closed, he said:

"Do you mean to tell me, Frederick, that you refuse to help me?"

So Mr. Frederick was one of the men; and he had refused to help Neil In what Was it someone else who, like Scott, wanted to get rid of what Neil had sold him Was someone again threatening Neil? I must know, I would know. I put out the lights, and crept to the library door Now that Tonko was dismissed for the night, there was little danger of the servants seeing me. But if Neil or one of those men should open the door, discovery was certain. Yet I determined to risk it.

I crouched low, a little to one side of the door,—the opposite side to which it opened. Yet I soon was able to distinguish the speaker, and to follow the conversation to a certain extent. They all spoke loudly, as if excited, sometimes angrily.

"I tell you, Forbes, they could jail you for things you have done. For God's sake, man, stop it! If you don't care for yourself or the people whom you are beggaring by selling them your worthless stocks, think of your wife and child,—of the disgrace it will be to them if this comes out —as it surely will if you go on much longer. 540 per cent. men never get away with their crooked deals,—and, to be frank, they are no worse than the deals you and Black here are putting over—selling mining stock where there are no mines, oil shares where no oil has been found, and taking money from widows and orphans as well as fool farmers and others."

"The world is full of suckers. If I don't get their money, someone else will," I knew by his answer that Neil was trying to justify himself.

"Then someone else will get caught, then, just as you will be if you don't quit!". It was Mr. Frederick's voice Then the other man,—the one they called Black—said something, but, try as I would, I could no tcatch it.

PROHIBITION AT WARSAW

Warsaw, Aug. 20.—Mrs. Drain, Peterboro, is visiting at the home of her son, Mr. David Drain.

Miss Edith Tucker is assisting in Mr. Calder's store while other clerks are having their holidays.

Master Frankie Payne, Lakefield, is visiting his old friends in Warsaw.

Mr. Clarence Drain, Peterboro, is spending a few days with his brother Mr. David Drain.

Mr. Wm. Watts' two daughters are visiting their grand parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Watts.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hawthorne have returned from their trip to the West which they enjoyed very much. They were as far as Banff.

The grim reaper again appeared and after an illness of only two days, took Mr. Silas Harding's eldest daughter. The body was interred in Warsaw Cemetery on Thursday afternoon. A large number followed the remains to the grave. The services were conducted by Rev. J. D. P. Knox.

The next meeting of the Presbyterian Ladies' Aid will be at the home of Miss Sarah Miller, Thursday, Aug. 28. As the July meeting was omitted, it is hoped there will be a full representation of the ladies of the congregation present.

Meetings for September.

The Girls' Club will hold its first meeting after summer vacation on Friday, Sept 5. Place of meeting to be announced later.

The next meeting of the Woman's Institute will be held on Thursday afternoon, Sept. 11, at 2.30. Subject "Medical Inspection of Schools."

Prohibition Campaign.

On Friday evening last the Township Committee met in the Baptist Church. A good representation of members was present. The president in the chair. The literature, which had been sent for had just come, and was distributed to the committee of the different polling divisions. The enumerator for Warsaw division, who happened to be on the committee also, reported that the majority volunteered the information that they would vote prohibition, and that, so far as she knew, every name was on the list, so that 100% would be on that committee. Rev. Percy H. Rogers read some of the regulations. There was considerable discussion about the work. The next meeting will be in the Presbyterian Church.

Women Are Busy.

The regular meeting of the Warsaw Woman's Institute was held in Mr. Calder's hall last Thursday afternoon, president in the chair, and every seat filled. The necessary business was transacted. The referendum vote was explained and cards distributed. It was again explained who had the vote, and that this same list would be used for the Provincial Elections, which will shortly take place. Also it was announced that all married women could have their names placed on the voters list for municipal elections by notifying Mr. Richard Deen that they wished to be put on as joint members of property with their husbands before the middle of September.

Rev. J. D. P. Knox then addressed the ladies on "Our Responsibility in Prohibition." He said at first he wondered what he would say to the woman. Then he decided they had the same thing to them. One thing ject as their men, and he would say the same things to them. One thing now they women had the vote, it is the duty and a responsibility which must not be shirked. Whether we wish it or not we must, and will, do something in this great question. We do something whether we try or not. He used as an illustration the ancient Sphinx, as she sat by the roadside and propounded her riddle; all had to pass her way, and all had to try to solve her riddle, and all who failed were destroyed, and the bodies of those who were slain were lying around. At last came one who solved the riddle, and the Sphinx gave herself up. The drink traffic is the monster which ruins all that traffic with it, and it must be completely destroyed.

Mr. Knox put the moral right of Prohibition strongly, and the Institute could only wish that all wavering ones had heard him.

Mrs J. A. Crowe, by request, gave, in her earnest way, a recitation "Who's to Blame?"

MARRIED A YEAR.

Irene Castle Kept It Strict Secret.

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—Irene Castle, dancer and moving picture star, who was publicly married here on May 8 to Capt. Robert E. Treman of Ithaca, N.Y., had been privately married for nearly a year, according to the New York Herald this morning. The Herald states that the first ceremony was performed in Pickens, S.C., on May 21, 1918, by the Rev. Frank A. Juhan, of Greenville, S.C. This date is but a few days more than three months from the time her famous husband, Capt. Vernon Castle, was killed in an aeroplane accident at Fort Worth, Texas. The famous Castle, says the Herald, explained to the minister that she was desirous of keeping the marriage a secret for business reasons.

UNITED MINE WORKERS WILL ALSO ASK A SIXTY PER CENT INCREASE.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Aug. 20.—Addressing the tri-district convention of the United Mine Workers here today, Wm. Green, secretary-treasurer of the organization, declared that the chief demand of the miners next April will be for a closed shop, a six-hour day and an increase in wages of about sixty per cent.

There will be minor demands, but the hopes of the miners is based on a closed shop. "We want every man to join the union," said Mr. Green, "as the closed shop is the only way we will get what we want."

He declared that mine workers believe they can produce as much coal in a shorter work day as they are producing in an eight-hour day.

"TEMPERANCE ACT IS MOST TYRANICAL MEASURE EVER PUT ON STATUTE BOOKS—BATTLE FOR CIVIL LIBERTY TO BE FOUGHT OVER AGAIN—SELF-CHOSEN LEADERS SETTING UP THEIR OWN PLANS OF SALVATION—FREEDOM MUST BE WATCHWORD."

To the Editor of The Examiner:—

It is customary at the present time for people to say that the Referendum will decide the question of Prohibition. The constituency is probably not aware that the most important consideration of Prohibition is that which we are giving it next month at Ottawa in the special session. Twice we passed an Act and sent it on to the Senate prolonging wartime Prohibition for another year, but each time the Senate turned it down and we were to be called upon again to pass an Act prolonging Prohibition. I voted for it in the past because it was wartime, but as I will not vote for it again I deem it my duty to address this letter to my constituents. People are entitled in public affairs to know all that is being done by their representative. No private member of Parliament has done so much to clear up the Temperance situation as I have done during the last few years. This statement I make boldly and I give as my authority the Minister of Justice, the Honorable C. J. Doherty, author of the Doherty Act. It will be remembered that the Ontario Government and that it could not bring in Prohibition because Ontario would be bombarded with liquor from outside and the working of Prohibition in Ontario would be made impossible. I took it upon myself to communicate with the Ontario Government on several occasions and found out as a private member what a member of the Cabinet would not care to ask, namely:—What the opinions of the Ontario Government were as to the provisions of an Act by the Dominion Parliament which would make the Ontario Act workable. After much labor the Doherty Act was evolved and passed. It gives a Province full power to pass and enforce its temperance Acts. It provides that all offenses originating outside the Province against the Ontario Prohibition Law will be prosecuted by the Dominion Government itself wherever the offense is committed. The Doherty Act will render Ontario as tight as the most ardent prohibitionist could desire. This has been the service that I have rendered to the cause of Temperance. But a new phase of it has opened up. Is total Prohibition right in times of peace?

A Measure of Tyranny.

A partial Prohibition that is regulation is permissible by the principle of liberty, but total Prohibition is a measure of tyranny, which, for my part I will fight to the utmost of my power. The O. T. A. is without any exception the most tyrannical measure ever put on the statute books and nobody but weaklings and slaves would submit to it in time of peace. For example, by section 61, it is not necessary that any information should be sworn to as according to the wording of the statute, it may be laid without an oath or affirmation to the truth thereof. By another section it is not necessary to prove that an offense has been committed. The magistrate may make a conviction if he suspects that an offense has been committed.

Witnesses in ordinary criminal trials are protected by the well known principles of evidence and liberty, but under the O. T. A. they are subject to indefinite imprisonment in utter disregard of those principles. It is hard to believe that a free people will continue to submit to such an Act as this and it is not to be wondered that I should have found many of the best Protestants of Quebec, especially those residing in the rural districts, of the opinion that a reign of terror exists in Ontario and that to be free it is necessary to live in Quebec. This, I am afraid, is very close to the truth.

The coming Referendum is not a clash between the liquor interests and the people. If that was all it would be the end of the liquor interests.

Strict Regulation.

It is admitted that a strict regulation of the sale of strong liquor would meet the views of the moderates and solve nine-tenths of the objections to the use of liquor made by the prohibitionists. Mild liquors have never been blamed for any serious evil, but have been of great benefit as we all know. The determination therefore to inflict Total Prohibition upon people shows an unreasonableness and a spirit of tyranny that makes it plain that the old battle for civil and individual liberty has got to be fought all over again.

If individual liberty within reasonable limits maybe stamped out legitimately in the case of liquor much more so is it proper to stamp it out in the case of freedom of religious belief or unbelief. Liquor, tobacco, dancing, gossip, cards, extravagance in dress, freedom of sex, criticism of God's word and denominational rivalry are as nothing in comparison with the evil of unbelief. It is the one unpardonable sin. If the total prohibitionists of liquor are doing right in suppressing a reasonable degree of individual liberty in the case of liquor those who proposed to burn out error at the stake and did so were doing even better than the total prohibitionists.

Personal Responsibility.

The truth is that the reasonable freedom carries with it a personal responsibility to God and a possibility of evil that cannot be abolished except by abolishing that liberty itself. Why did not God prohibit the means of evil in Eden?

Do YOU propose to try to abolish it. It is said that the woman-voter cannot or will not listen to argument and any statement of the case not founded on longing and mere emotion. This is doubtful as the instinctive good sense of women will tell them that it was regard for the principle of civil liberty which put them where they are. It was the "principle" of liberty which forced men even against their self-respect to give women the vote. If women cease to be protected by the principle of individual liberty what will protect them? The last elector to defend the "principle" of freedom will be a woman. She has most to suffer by the loss of it.

The following extract taken from a recent number of the "Literary Digest" may well be taken to heart by people generally:—"The Negro Problem, so startlingly emphasized by the recent race-riots in Washington and Chicago, is increasingly engaging the attention of the religious press. Noting that these riots occurred after Prohibition was in force and therefore presumably could not be charged against alcoholic intoxication, the Philadelphia Presbyterian sees in them a challenge to the "Christion Church." Such rioting, it affirms, "is a loud call to the church "to do her duty and fulfil her commission"—It is a reminder that "our "whole civilization has suffered and "is suffering from a disregard of "God's Truth and Law."

The self-chosen ones went astray of old and set up false gods. They had grown tired of the old faith and of the ways of God. Let them beware that they do not incur the wrath of God by again setting up their own plans of salvation, and applying them with the unrelenting vigour of the severest penalties and the prison-cell for what after all is only objectionable when carried to excess but which some would condemn even as it issues from the very hand of God Himself.

It is to be expected that those who imported from Germany the spirit of criticism of the Word of God would also import and apply the doctrine fo Force. Our men fought to destroy that doctrine abroad and it will be destroyed at home. Let Fajth and Freedom be our watchword as of old.

J. H. BURNHAM.

TOOK ARMY'S $35,000, DESERTING TO GERMANY

LIEUT.- GOTTENKEINE'S ARREST AND SURRENDER REFUSED BY GERMAN CIVIL AUTHORITIES.

COBLENZ, Aug. 22.—The 1st. Division would like vey much to take home with it Second Lieutenant J. C. Gottenkeine; former assistant supply officer of the 5th. Field Artillery. Not that it thinks so much of Gotenkeine. It thinks for the $35,000 the Lieutenant took with him when he went away into the wilds of unoccupied Germany.

Had it not been that Herr Ebert's Government was extremely afraid of committing an impropriety the 1st might have Gottenkeine's company across the Atlantic, but, as things are it probably will not.

On June 1 Gottenkeine walked into the office of the 1st. Division disbursing office and said he had come for the May pay of the 5th. Field Artillery. He got it; the 5th. did not and has never since seen its volunteer pay officer or its 486,000 marks. His whereabouts remained unknown to the army until two weeks ago the intelligence section learned that he was in Dusseldorf, posing as a German civilian and frequenting racetracks and gambling casinos. An American agent went to Dusseldorf, arriving there after Gottenkeine's bankroll was gone and the day after his girl had left him.

Gottenkeine was found, and the American agent asked the German civil authorities to arrest him. The latter said they had nothing against Gottenkeine and would not arrest him. The American agent returned to Coblenz and three days ago, the red tape having been unwound, he started back with a paper calling for the arrest of Gottenkeine. But Gottenkeine had quited Dusseldorf and the best the American agent got was a demand from the landlady of a Dusseldorf boarding house that the United States pay her fifty marks Gottenkeine had borrowed the day he went away.

PLAYGROUNDS CLOSED YESTERDAY WITH SPECIAL SPORTS AND GAMES

LIST OF EVENTS AND WINNERS—BOYS AND GIRLS SHOW GOOD RESULTS OF THE SUMMER'S WORK IN THEIR FINAL EXERCISES.

The season at the supervised playgrounds closed yesterday, with a special programme. The attendance at all three grounds, Central, King Edward and Queen Mary, was large. Weather conditions were favourable and everything was run off without a hitch. Both the supervisors and the children are to be highly congratulated on their work, which is of a high order.

During the latter part of the afternoon Mr. G. N. Gordon, representing the Board of Education, visited the several grounds, making speeches of congratulation. He expressed himself as being highly pleased with the work of the playgrounds and remarked that next year he would be a more enthusiastic supporter of them, since he had seen the results of their work here and in the United States.

The day's results at the playgrounds follow:—

King Edward School.

The attendance at the King Edward grounds was about 250, including many parents and friends. The programme opened with a game of volley ball between the boys and girls. The boys won by a score of 21-0. This was followed by a number of games such as "Spud" and "Jenkins-up."

The closing at the Queen Mary grounds was attended by about 600, including many parents and friends. Mr. J. W. Worth of the Board of Education and the Playgrounds Association, visited the grounds in the afternoon and addressed the youngsters.

The average attendance for the season was as follows:

AT CENTRAL SCHOOL.

At two o'clock the races started, and until 5 o'clock there was a splendid scene of activity.

Mr. J. J. Turner, who made the closing remarks and presented the badges to the prize-winners, commended the children on their work, and gave them a very inspirational address, which will encourage them to other years of interest in the playground. Knowing so many of the children personally added much to the value of the badge for their season's work.

Badge Winners.

Cecil LeBarr, Grant Miller, Harry Whitlow, Harry Halliday, Jack Thornton.

A special feature was the draw for prize boxes of chocolates. The attendance was so large that the presentation of chocolates had to be limited to 15 lucky ones. Everyone was given a number and all numbers were put in a hat and shaken up. Mr Turner drew 15 of them, and the owners were given boxes of chocolates.

Besides the races and games, there was an exhibition of the season's work by the girls. This was under the direction of Miss L. Cook, of London, Ontario, who came to the city to supervise the girls at the Central School Grounds, and to whom great praise is due. The exhibition included knitting, basketwork, sewing and a fine collection of hand work.

HIGH RENTS BEFORE THE COMMERCE BOARD

(Special to The Examiner.)

WINNIPEG, Aug. 23.—The protest of the Great War Veterans' Association against the general raising of rents was officially brought to Judge H. A. Robson's notice yesterday. "The proper procedure for the Veteran officials is to lay their demands before the Secretary of the Board of Commerce at Ottawa; but I will take it with me to Ottawa, and it will receive immediate consideration," said the Judge.

"The legal question arises," added Judge Robson, "as to whether the Act is broad enough to cover rentals. I do not wish to express an opinion, but this will have to be decided upon. There is a war measure dealing with excessive rentals, but authority for enforcing it is not made clear. We will have to come to a decision on these points."

GUARDS' BAND WERE ENTERTAINED

WERE THE GUESTS OF THE GREAT WAR VETERANS AFTER LAST NIGHT'S CONCERT.

No one enjoyed the visit of the Grenadier Guards Band last night any more than the members of the band of the G.W.V.A. and incidentally no one helped more to make the visit enjoyable to the Guards than the Great War Veterans, whose efforts succeeded so admirably that the members of the visiting band frequently expressed their regret that their stay here could not have been longer.

When the Guards Band arrived on the 5.35 G.T.R. they were welcomed by President Staunton, Secretary Whatley and other G.W.V.A. representatives and by the Band of the Great War Veterans, who marched the visitors to the Empress Hotel and played a number of selections outside before the Guards had dinner. The G.W.V.A. musicians were warmly thanked by Capt. Williams on behalf of the Guards. At the same time he complimented the G.W.V.A. upon its fine band.

After last night's concert the Guards Band were the guests of the Veterans at the G.W.V.A. Hall and several hours quickly passed in social enjoyment. The visiting bandsmen were most enthusiastic about this feature of their stay in Peterboro and on the other hand the Veterans were delighted with their visitors who were voted a capital bunch of good fellows.

FAMOUS FRENCH FLIER IN NEW YORK

Praises Ocean Flights, But Says They Will Be Greater.

NEW YORK, Aug. 22. — Santos Dumont, pioneer French aviator, who was the first to circle the Eiffel Tower, was planning to-day to establish headquarters at the Mineola flying field, where he will study the latest developments in American aviation. Dumont arrived here yesterday from South America.

He said he was eager to make a trip in some of the new American machines, but only as a passenger, as flying is a young man's game." Dumont said the trans-Atlantic flights were wonderful achievements, but believed the greatest aeronautical progress would be made in shorter and more practicable flights.

BLENHEIM FANS PROTEST AGAINST PAYING PLAYERS

BLENHEIM, Aug. 20.—The financial success of the baseball tournament was so good yesterday that the local club will have something over $100 after paying all expenses and prizes of $100.

There is a very strong feeling here among the citizens that in the interests of baseball it would be far better if all teams would play their own men only and cut out this importing of outsiders and ringers to play with and against the home teams.

As one remarked it seems to be getting worse instead of better, and the sooner they play teams instead of dollars against each other the better for all concerned. The dollar playing was very much in evidence at yesterday's tournament.

Do We Really Enjoy Vacation?

A lot of us come back from vacation saying, "Well, I'm glad to get home again."

WHY? And why does one man take "little ole last year's car" and go running around the home state and find vacation; and another travels ten thousand miles around the world and misses it?

It's because vacation is what you make it yourself by freeing yourself from routine cares without losing routine comfort.

Take a motor tour—the most delightful of vacations. It cannot be a perfect outing if you are haunted by the fear that your tires may break down.

Better get rid of tire care at the outset by equipping your car with America's Touring Tires—Goodrich Tires.

Their sturdy strength is just what is needed on the open highway and trails back into the hills.

Their extra wide SAFETY TREAD, with the Goodrich interlocking safety bars spread to the sidewall, lays more tough rubber on the road.

CANADIAN CHEESE SELLS AT LOWER PRICE IN ENGLAND THAN AT HOME

BRITISH GOVERNMENT FIXES MAXIMUM RETAIL PRICE AND FACES A LOSS—COSTS 11 CENTS TO EXPORT IT FROM CANADA.

Canadian cheese that sells here at prices ranging from 35 to 40 cents a pound retails in England for 36 cents, the prices fixed by the Government. With few exceptions, Canadian retailers are receiving four cents a pound more for "home-made" cheese than is being charged the British consumers.

In a statement on the cheese situation, Commissioner J. A. Ruddick quotes Mr. F. Warren, the British Ministry of Food representative, as follows:

"The maximum retail price of cheese in Great Britain, including the home production, has been fixed by the Ministry of Food at one shilling and sixpence (36 cents) per pound, and there are sufficient reasons why the maximum cannot be raised.

"The cost of handling the cheese from the time it is delivered by the Canadian producer at Montreal until it reaches the consumer in Great Britain at the present time amounts to 10.05 cents per pound, made up of the following items:

| | Cents per lb. |
|---|---|
| British retailers' profit (which includes loss in weight in cutting up ..... | 5.0 |
| Commission paid to British wholesalers and British importers (average) ..... | 1.5 |
| Inland transport in Great Britain | 0.5 |
| Storage and handling in Great Britain ..... | 0.5 |
| Interest in carrying stock ..... | 0.5 |
| Loss in weight ..... | 0.35 |
| Ocean freight and landing charges | 1.75 |
| Discount ..... | 0.25 |
| Commission paid Montreal exporters ..... | 0.37 |
| Montreal handling charges ..... | 0.25 |
| Total ..... | 10.05 |

"In addition to these charges the British Committee will have to bear the loss on account of the low rate of exchange, which at the present time is equivalent to about 2 cents per pound.

"The British Committee will lose on the Canadian cheese purchased at 29 cents, and this loss will have to be met from the profits on purchases in other countries, or become a charge on the British Treasury."

The foregoing figures are confirmed by Dr. James W Robertson, who has just returned from England.

There is no "fixing" of price, and the Dairy Commission will not be revived. Producers are free to dispose of their cheese through any other channels and at a higher price if that should be possible.

KAISER RUNS UP BILL FOR HOLLAND

(Canadian Press.)

AMERONGEN, Aug. 23.— Under the headline, "Expensive Foreigner in Amerongen," the Amsterdam "Handelsbad," a copy of which has been received here, says nineteen policemen have been guarding the former German Emperor since November, at total salaries of 75 guilders a day.

"So the Kaiser has already cost our country a total of twenty thousand guilders," says the newspaper, "truly an expensive foreigner." It is understood here that there has been no change in the status of the former German Emperor with the Netherland's government and that he is still confined to certain limits. Report has it that he expects to bring to Holland his own furniture from German castles to furnish his newly purchased home, the House of Doorn, if the German government gives its consent.

KINGSTON METAL TRADES AGREE TO TERMS SIMILAR TO TORONTO'S

LOCOMOTIVE WORKS EMPLOYEES SAY THEY WILL RETURN ON 45 HOUR WEEK BUT MUST HAVE HIGHER WAGES—MR. HARRY HARPER NEGOTIATING.

TORONTO, Aug. 23—Mr. Harry W. Harper, general organizer of the International Machinists' Union, who is attempting to secure a satisfactory settlement of the dispute between the Metal Trades Council of Kingston and the Locomotive works in that city, stated yesterday that the wages and conditions which are now being negotiated between the Metal Trades Crafts and the Toronto Employers' Association would be acceptable to the workers at Kingston. According to the best beliefs of the workers, the majority of the directors of the Locomotive Works are Toronto men, and it is believed that the attitude of the employers here has a considerable bearing on the eastern situation.

In a statement the Metal Trades Crafts in Kingston stated that they were willing to resume work on the 45-hour week basis, but that they could not agree to work for the same money in dollars and cents as they had been receiving during the past year. The statement continues:

Gist of Statement.

"However, we are willing to accept the same wages and conditions as are now being negotiated in Toronto by the various metal trades crafts with the Toronto Employers' Association to be retroactive to the time men resume work, or we will accept the same rate as established by the Canadian Railway Board now in session with the Railway Shop Crafts Federation, or in order to avoid further delay in having the men resume work, we are willing to start in now on the 45-hour week and submit the question of wages and other conditions to aboard of conciliation and to accept the award of said board to be retroactive to the date men resume work.

Since March 1st, 1918, the shop crafts in all the railways in Canada and the United States have received a minimum rate of 68c per hour, and are now negotiating with the Canadian Railway Board for 80c for mechanics and 60c per hour for helpers and whatever rate is struck will be retroactive to May 1st, 1919, on the Grand Trunk at Montreal, at Stratford and at Angus C. P. R. shops located in Montreal. These rates are guaranteed, but many men receive more through the contract system in vogue at their points. They also receive for themselves and their families transportation to any point once a year, should they wish to go on a holiday. Then we have the shipyards throughout the province and on the St. Lawrence River now paying 75c per hour to mechanics and 45c to 50c per hour for helpers, with the majority of them working 44 hours a week. The Dominion Bridge Co. is paying 75c per hour to its men. The Canada Car and Foundry Co., Montreal and Fort William, are paying 75c per hour. The Hydro and Welland Canal are doing likewise.

The Rate in Toronto.

The average rate in Toronto before the Metal Trades strike was 70c per hour, and it is expected that the minimum will be 75c for all trades in the metal industry when negotiations are concluded there. The average in Peterboro is 72½c per hour and some shops there have adopted wages in Brantford average 73c per hour. Even the rates paid in Brockville and Belleville are higher than here.

"If the offer of the company were accepted it would mean to most trades that the company would have an advantage over other localities of an average of 14c per hour. It must be remembered also that these men who are today fighting to obtain a living wage with which to feed, clothe and educate their families, besides providing for sickness, and old age, are the same men who during the war, remained steadily at their work and made no trouble for the firm during that time, in order that the world may be safe for democracy, some of them even leaving their beds at one and two o'clock in the morning, after working until 5 p.m. the day before, and returning to work in order that the work might be speeded up. These are the men who are blamed for prolonging the strike; these same men are and always have been, willing to have their case arbitrated, and if the company is also willing, this strike can be very soon ended."

HER LITTLE GIRL HAD DYSENTERY

Bowels Moved as Many as 25 Times a Day.

Dysentery manifests itself with varying degrees of intensity, but in well marked cases the attack is commonly preceded by some amount of diarrhoea, which gradually increases in severity, and is accompanied with griping pains in the abdomen. The discharges from the bowels succeed each other with great frequency, and the matter passed from the bowels, which at first resembles those of ordinary diarrhoea soon change their character, becoming scanty, mucuous or slimy, and subsequently mixed with, or consisting wholly of blood. Never neglect what at first appears to be a slight attack of diarrhoea or dysentery may set in.

Cure the first symptoms by the use of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry.

Mrs. Jno. V. Tanton, R.R. No. 8, Watford, Ont., writes:—"My daughter was taken down, two years ago, with dysentery, and I could find no help for her until I got a bottle of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. She was only two years old, and ate something different to what she was used to. She had as many as twenty-five movements a day, and mostly blood. We had the doctor several times, but no relief came until we used 'Dr. Fowler's.' I would not be without it in the house for a good bit."

Be sure and get "Dr. Fowler's" when you ask for it. Price, 35c. a bottle, put up only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

BUSHMAN AND BAYNE IN METRO'S GOD'S OUTLAW

Co-stars Seen in Unusual Play at the Grand Theatre.

Francis X. Bushman and Beverly Bayne, the clever co-stars, will be seen in the dramatic Metro play "God's Outlaw" at the Grand theatre on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

The play tells the story of a young man who believes that the hand of God is against him. All his desires meet with disappointment—not only does he lose the girl he loves but his mother, to whom he is devoted, succumbs to an illness and passes away. He renounces his religion and proceeds to live his life far from the scenes of his misfortunes. Here he meets a young girl who, by her beautiful character and youthful charm beguiles him from the path of disbelief into the broad road of happiness.

The play possesses power and strength and is added to by a winning romance, which shows the clever stars in the most satisfying roles of their career.

They are ably supported by Helen Dunbar, Samuel Kramer, Charles A. Fang, Belle Bruce, Valentine Mott and Emily Chichester.

STUDYING CANADA'S LABOUR LEGISLATION

(Special to Examiner.)

NEW YORK, Aug. 23. — Lewis Nixon, Public Service Commissioner, and Senator James A. Foley, who drafted the public service law applying to New York City, have been in conference as to recommendations for legislation to prevent strikes on public utilities. Commissioner Nixon announced that he intended to recommend such legislation to the 1920 legislature, adding that he did not contemplate enforced arbitration.

No tentative recommendations have yet been agreed to but Senator Foley said to-day that he was studying the Canadian Industrial Disputes Investigation Act of 1907, which in amended form has been invoked with considerable success to prevent strikes in Canadian mines and on public utilities.

WRITS FOR ELECTIONS ARE EXPECTED SOON

(Special to Examiner.)

OTTAWA, Aug. 23. — It is expected that writs will be issued next week for at least a part of eight bye-elections in prospect. Sir Henry Drayton is known to have the offer of several Ontario seats but none has yet been accepted.

It is anticipated that last session's legislation with regard to prohibition will be presented again but the matter has not been discussed by the Cabinet as yet.

There will be no surprise if further adjustments in the Cabinet will be allowed to stand until after the impending session.

BELLEVILLE EASILY BEAT LINDSAY TEAM

The Belleville G.T.R. team, champions of the Central Ontario League, had an easy time beating the Lindsay City League winners in the O.B.A.A. series at Lindsay last night. Belleville won as they pleased by a score of 10 to 1, Goyer toying with the Lindsay hitters. The winners' southpaw only allowed one hit, Art Carew spoiling a no-hit game by connecting safely in the eighth. Goyer struck out fourteen men, and had the Lindsay gang striking their heads off. Belleville found Lefty McElroy for twelve hits and had little trouble in scoring. Alex Kay, of Peterborough, was umpire-in-chief, while Dick Butler, of Lindsay, worked on the bases. The teames were:

Belleville—Weir s.s., Meagher 3b., Morden m., Mills c., Symons l.f., Gerow 1b., Kelleher r.f., Whalen 2b., Goyer p.

Lindsay—Stark 3b., Hill 2b., Richman m., Coombs 1b., Logan c., A. Carew l.f., Williamson r.f., Langdon s.s., McElroy p.

BASEBALL RECORDS OF THIS SEASON

MANY PERFORMANCES HAVE SURPASSED BEST FIGURES OF RECENT YEARS —BATTING FEATS HEAD THE LIST.

This is the season of the unusual in baseball. With the major league clubs only a trifle beyond the half-way mark, numerous records of other years have been tied or left in the distance, and all indications point to the campaign of 1919 being long remembered as the season when the unusual almost reached the stage of commonplace. The game has come back with a boom that has been beyond all expectations from an attendance standpoint, and even more so in events on the field of play.

Since the home run stands out as the big happening on the ball field, the record-breaking performance of Babe Ruth, the Boston slugger, perhaps are entitled to the place of prominence in the long stretch of record faking. Ruth is now shooting for the major league home-run mark of all time, after eclipsing the best performance in his own league over a stretch of seventeen years, or since 1902. He is bound to set up a new mark for the American League, and has a fine chance of eclipsing the old-time figures which were established in the National.

Back in 1883 Ed. Williamson of the old Chicago team punched out 27 drives for the circuit. The more modern record is that of Buck Freeman of the Washington club, who hit 25 homers in 1899, when the Capitol city was represented in the old twelve-club National League. In 1915 Cactus Cravath of the Phillies made 24 home runs, the top mark in the National League since Freeman's day. At the clip which Ruth is now going he faces the oportunity of passing all these marks. The American League record for homers is 16, set by Sox Seybold of the Athletics in 1902. Ruth punched out his 15th home run of the current campaign against Bob Shawkey at Boston on Thursday, so this one particular record may ge said to ge in his grasp.

A new mark for penant winners by any one manager seems to be the prospect of John McGraw, manager of the Giants. When the little Napoleon led his 1917 team to a pennant he tied the mark which Connie Mack set up back in 1914 with the last championship aggregation led by the crafty Cornelius. Six pennants have been won by each and now McGraw is on his way to a seventh, despite the Cincinnati flurry.

Yankees Home Run Feats.

One has to go back into the baseball records to find the equal to the batting performance of the Yankees at the Polo Grounds on June 23, when the Huggins' maulers assaulted the slants of Tom Rogers and Claude Thompson, Philadelphia pitchers for five home runs. The feat had been performed before, but not in recent years. The baseball records fail to show an instance of any such home run activity over a stretch of twenty-five years. The Boston Nationals, in a game against the Cincinnati Reds, on May 30, 1894, made five home runs. It was on that day that Bobby Lowe made four circuit clouts off Pitcher Chamberlain of the Reds.

Another unusual home run exploit was furnished by the Yankees on the morning of July 4 in a game against Washington at the Polo Grounds. In one inning, the seventh, the Yankees collected three home runs of pitcher Eric Erickson of the Senators. In the next round Baker poled a homer off Whitehouse, making a total of four for this game. Getting three home runs in an inning is quite unusual. It had not happened in the American League since 1902, and once in the National League since 1901. Zimmerman, Erwin and Wheat of Brooklyn did the trick in 1911, the last time it happened until the outburst of the Yankees.

The batting of Roger Peckinpaugh over a stretch of twenty-nine consecutive games from June 11 to July 10, qualifies for the unusual, though it is not a record. Such a prolonged hitting streak has not been the portion of many players in the history of the game. Peck got at least one safe smash in each of those games and his total for the twenty-nine games was forty-eight hits in 110 times at bat, for an average of 436. Elmer Myers of the [illegible] Peck's streak. Willie Keeler's stretch of forty-two consecutive games in 1898 is the major league record. Cobb reached thirty-five games in 1917, and Zach Wheat ran a string to twenty-nine games in 1916. Such extended hitting streaks are rare, however, few players ever getting to twenty games without failing to hit safely.

Gharrity's Great Batting.

Ed Gharrity, Washington catcher, stepped out on June 23 in a game against the Boston Red Sox and compiled the largest total of base hits to be collected by any major league player in many years. Complete records are not available as to individual batting feats, but Garraghty, with a total of thirteen bases against Pennock, Mays and Caldwell went beyond all figures of the last few years. Gharrity got two home runs, two doubles, and a single in this game. An idea of the feat may be gained from the fact that Larry Lajoie never went beyond a total of eleven bases during his long career in the majors, and Ty Cobb also has eleven as top figure for total bases in a game. The total base records for a single game during the last four seasons have been as follows: 1915—Heinie Groh, 15; 1915—Rogers Hornsby, 13; 1917—Walter Maranville, 11; 1918—George Roth, 10. Ping Bodie also had a batting day this season, having a total of fourteen bases, but he compiled it in a double-header, getting two home runs, two doubles and two singles, playing against the Mackmen at Shibe Park on June 2. Ping equaled the best total made by either Cobb or Lajoie when he poled two home runs, a double, and a single in a second game.

Ed. Konetchy's ten consecutive hits in as many times at bat was another unusual feature of the current season. Complete statistics for consecutive hitting are not available, but none of the record keepers has come forward with a better performance during recent seasons.

Stepping out of the majors for a brief spell, one finds that George Kelly, former Giant and now with the Rochester Internationals, poled four home runs and a double in a single game. That performance never was surpassed in the majors or in the high-class minor leagues.

The greatest bit of individual fielding this season was turned in on June 23 by "Happy" Felsch of the Chicago White Sox. He accepted twelve chances in a nine-inning game. This was done once before in the majors, but never surpassed. Harry Bay, playing with the Cleveland Blues in 1904, accepted twelve chances in the outfield in a game against the Boston Red Sox. Chick Shorten, now with the Detroit Tigers, had twelve putouts and one assist while playing the outfield for the Providence Internationals in a game against Newark in 1915, but twelve is top figure in the majors.

Even the major league base-runner record was equaled, though the thefts were in the nature of complimentaries. In a game between the Giants and Phillies at Quakertown on June 8 the last half of the ninth opened with the score 10 to 3 in New York's favor. Four Phils got to first base, and each stole second and third, equaling the record of steals for a single inning, set up by the Washington club, in a game at Cleveland on June 15, 1915.

Rob Shawkey's string of ten straight victories is the best set up in the American League in four years.

WHY THE "LOVE" IN TENNIS COUNTING?

PLAYERS REVIVING OLD CAMPAING AGAINST USE OF AN ABSURD BIT OF TERMINOLOGY.

Tennis players are beginning to revive the old campaign against the use of the word "love" to indicate "nothing" in the scoring system. They argue that this absurd bit of terminology has been the chief reason for the charge of effeminacy, which for years has been held against tennis, and they are probably right. No excuse has ever been given for the utterly meaningless tennis terms except that they are as old as the game itself, which is considerable age, as athletic ages go.

Why should there be a tradition against the use of such simple and unmistakable expressions as "nothing," "naught" or "zero"? Why should games be scored fifteen points at a time up to thirty, then ten at a time upto fifty, assuming that the half-century is actually the limit implied by the count? Why should forty apiece be called "deuce"? (A fair question was asked at the New York State tournament, naturally by a fair questioner to this effect: "When they call 'deuce' does that mean they ought to have won the point?")

There are answers to all of these querries, and, along with the present agitation is favor of "he-man tennis," a commendable spirit of curiosity and scholarly research is growing. The inherent manliness of what has now become the world's most popular game requires no special pleading. Those who find it a wishy-washy, namby-pamby affair are simply not playing tennis, and probably have never seen it played correctly. L. C. Wister, the old Princeton football star, who made the All-American team and later developed into a first-class tennis player, has gone on record as saying that a hard five-set match of singles takes far more out of him than the toughest football game he ever played in, and athletics in other "rough" lines have borne testimony to the same effect.

The Origin of "Love."

But what of the history of the tennis terms themselves? The toughest of the lot is the much derided "love" itself. It has always been used for the chubby inocent cipher, and no one has ever been able to explain its origin. One possible and perhaps the best solution is offered by a footnote in Singer's rare book on "Playing Cards," which states that there is an old Scotch word, "luff" meaning nothing." Another word of similar sound and the same intention is said to be of Far Eastern origin and, as an old form of tennis unquestionably flourished in the Orient, this word may also have been the parent of "love."

OLD COUNTRY CRICKET

Matches of Three Days Again—County Results

LONDON, Aug. 20.—As was expected, the cricket council has decided that county championship matches shall be three-day fixtures next year, as before the war.

Surrey beat Kent by ten wickets in the Hobbs benefit match. Surrey had to make ninety-five runs in 12 minutes. Hobbs and Crawford got the runs with ten minutes to spare.

Yorkshire beat Warwickshire by an inning and 21 runs. Rhodes, in Warwickshire's second innings, had eight wickets for 44 runs, and in the match ten wickets for 75 runs. Robinson took seven wickets for 67 runs.

Sussex defeated Lancashire by six wickets. Vine, for the winners, scored 110 and was not out.

The Gloucestershire and Worchestershire match was drawn.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Sir: Replying to the letter of your esteemed correspondent in your issue of to-day, I note that he says that my letter is a fair specimen of a prohibitionist's letter. I feel that he does me too much honour, for I did not presume to speak for any party — but merely stated my own personal views. But for the purpose of this correspondence I will take the gentleman at his word, and will allow my letter, to every word of which I still adhere, to stand as a fair specimen of a prohibitionist's letter, while I ask your readers to accept his letter as a fair specimen of an anti-prohibitionist's letter.

THURSDAY'S BAND CONCERT.

Editor, Examiner:

It was my privilege to be in the city Thursday, and looking over the local paper I saw a band concert was to be given in the park. As I am interested in band I made my way there and I must say I was fully repaid for my visit. The concert rendered by the Salvation Army Band was a credit to any musical organization, and Peterborough should be justly proud of having such an aggregation. The solo parts taken by the different instruments did the soloists credit.

The singing by the whole band was a great treat, the men proving that they can sing as well as play. The crowd demanded an encore, which was readily given.

Concerts in the Park, such as the one given last night, certainly make life in our cities a pleasure, and Peterborough is to be congratulated on having suitable parks for the concerts.—Yours,

A Lover of Band Music.

SOLDIERS' INTERESTS.

Editor, The Examiner:

Sir,—May I suggest that your editorial in the issue of Thursday evening, on "Protecting the Soldier," does less than justice to the situation in Peterboro, so far as your comment bears on the matter of charging for assistance to men or women who having disability in one case or the death of the head of the family, while on service, in the other. I am sure that members of the legal fraternity have been most helpful, and have given service very freely.

But is quite possible that your publication of the strictures sent out by the Pensions Board limiting charges for service might be taken to mean that in this city no agency is existent whereby such service may be given to dependents or to men requiring such, unless such service was paid for.

I wish to assure you, and the public in general that all such assistance and service has been anticipated and provided for years ago. The office of the Patriotic Fund handled all the intimate business for the Pension Board during the years 1915 and up to the end of 1917, after which the regular branch offices of the pension service were established at Kingston and elsewhere, with competent staffs, etc. And ever since this office is in constant communication, investigation and report to the branch offices and to Ottawa. Daily cases are brought to attention and every assistance efficiently given.

If we assume that changes are made, (because the terms of charge are set out in the regulation) there is absolutely no reason for any one in or about Peterborough submitting to such. There is no need to consult with legal men in any detail. The care and cheerful attention that has been given in the past, and which has grown experienced through handling a multitude of cases, is still to be had for the asking. No case should remain unsettled. The fullest attention can be had and at absolutely no expense to the applicants. All that is required is a statement of the circumstances and the facts on which the claims be founded, the rest will follow.

Also there are other agencies to be availed of if the person wish to consult with those, as with the War Veteran's secretary, who will at once give competent attention.

I may add, for it may interest those who are or who will be concerned, that matters that come within the view and action o fthe Soldier's Civil Re-establishment, Vocational Training, Post Discharge, Medical Attention, and of the Soldier's Aid Commission, are all taken care of by this office. And being so done every day. No claim, wish, protest or business of the soldier's dependent need go uncared for if brought to attention and for action.

Respectfully,
F. H. DOBBIN,
Secretary Pat. Fund.

BANDIT CHASE CONTINUES.

Two Rescued Aviators Are Guiding U. S. Troops.

El Paso, Tex., Aug. 20.—Four companies of the eigth U. S. Cavalry, reinforced by four more aeroplanes from Fort Bliss, resumed their hunt at dawn to-day for the Mexican band which kidnapped Lieuts. Peterson and Davis. The troopers with the two rescued aviators as guides took up the almost hopeless chase as a cloudburst had obliterated the trail.

The only contact reported with Mexicans was by the pilot of one plane, which returned with bullet-riddled wings. Three Mexicans fired on the machine and the observer replied with a machine gun, killing one.

WINDSOR BUREAU HAS 99 PER CENT RECORD

WINDSOR, Aug. 20. — The local Government employment bureau to-day reported that 99 per cent. of the veterans applying for work during last month had been placed. The week of August 11, shows 78 veterans and 30 civilians placed in positions. At present 85 jobs are open. Men doing heavy work are almost impossible to find, according to Lieut. A. J. Strickland, officer in charge.

GLASS OF SALTS CLEANS KIDNEYS

If your Back is aching or Bladder bothers, drink lots of water and eat less meat

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore, don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salts which removes the body's urinous waste and stimulates them to their normal activity. The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid and waste so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of water—you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys will act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this, also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache.

SCANTY BATHING SUITS CONDEMNED

(Special to The Examiner.)

LONDON, Aug. 23. — Fashion's edict had prescribed a liberal display of back for fashionable British women this winter, but the women are not waiting for cold weather.

Clergymen are condemning some of the present modes as intolerable. One-piece bathing suits at the beaches are scantier and more snugly fitting than ever before.

Rev. F. B. Meyer, a Nonconformist Church leader and writer, said yesterday: "Many think that men can be won by the flesh, but men are too sensible. They are not going to marry girls who go about half naked. The one acme of many girls seems to be to attract men. That may account for the present styles. A man may flirt with a girl who goes to extremes in these fashions, but he will not marry her. Women seem to have lost that restraint and modesty and befitting style of dress which characterised them during the war."

THE CARE AND UPKEEP OF YOUR CAR.

There are several things carbon will do to an engine. First, it may cause a knock, if it be very heavy. Second it causes your engine to overheat ,which causes loss of power. Third, it causes premature explosion. That is, your engine explodes at the wrong time — one cylinder works against the other, causing loss of power. Fourth, your valves normally rise only one fourth inch above the surface, so if there is one-eighth inch of carbon your exhaust escape is practically shut off. Sometimes all of the symptoms mentioned show up; at other times probably just loss of power and overheating. There are several ways of cleaning out the carbon. One way is scraping, another by burning, and these are so-called "carbon removers." The latter are not to be recommended at all as they act like coal oil—softening the carbon to the consistency of honey, which then gets down around the rings to "freeze" solid, scoring the cylinders. Scraping is good if done thoroughly but takes too much time. Now as to carbon burning, it makes no difference how bad the engine is carboned up, as soon as the oxygen hits it, it immediately turns to carbon dioxide gas, and passes away, leaving the interior as clean as when new.

We burn carbon by the Oxygen process also weld cast-iron, steel, brass and aluminum parts, welding fenders, frames, cylinder blocks, etc. —Millard's Bicycle Shop, 225 Hunter street. 'Phone 234J. dtf

GUARD BABY'S HEALTH IN THE SUMMER

The summer months are the most dangerous to children. The complaints of that season, which are cholera infantum, colic, diarrhoea and dysentry, come on so quickly that often a little one is beyond aid before the mother realizes he is ill. The mother must be on her guard to prevent these troubles; or if they do come on suddenly to cure them. No other medicine is of such aid to mothers during hot weather as is Baby's Own Tablets. They regulate the stomach and bowels and are absolutely safe. Sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

THE WEATHER

While everyone was anxiously looking for and longing for rain, a couple of weeks ago, we are now having a shower every day. About 2½ inches have fallen during the last 10 days, and apparently more is yet coming. This morning about half-past six there was a beautiful rainbow in the western sky. It was a particularly large, well defined and brilliant rainbow and presented a beautiful sight. The old proverb says "A rainbow in the morning is the sailor's warning."—W. P.

WINNIPEG WANTS RAILWAY OFFICES

WILL OPPOSE TORONTO'S GRABBING OF NATIONAL RAILWAYS HEADQUARTERS.

(Special to The Examiner.)

WINNIPEG, Man., Aug. 25.—When the Grand Trunk Railway is taken over and the Canadian Government is the owner and operator of the two transcontinental systems, Winnipeg will have its share of the offices and shops, or the people of this community will know the reason why.

The campaign to secure for Winnipeg an equitable division of the general offices of not only the Grand Trunk system, but also of the Canadian National, is to be waged by the Board of Trade and other public organisations.

Through Western members of Parliament, by direct appeals to the Government, and by a publicity campaign, Winnipeg hopes to overcome Toronto influence that has resulted this year in the removal from Winnipeg to Toronto of more than four hundred employees of the Canadian Natinal Railways.

The loss in population through this one removal is put at about two thousand, and the loss to Winnipeg merchants is estimated in thousands of dollars.

The Government is to be urged to divide its two systems into Eastern and Western zones. In this way, it is believed, Winnipeg will get its fair share of the general offices.

MECHANICS WANT WAR GRATUITIES

Special to the Examiner:

TORONTO, Aug. 25 — Money grants as war gratuities and resettlement allowances on a scale equal to that granted by the Federal Government to C. E. F. men who only reached England, are sought by the mechanics who left Canada during 1918 to engage in war and munition work in Britain.

An organization of these workers has been formed in Toronto, with branches in other cities throughout the Dominion, and headquarters in Vancouver, B. C., where an active campaign to secure the demands embodied in their adopted platform is being prosecuted.

AID RACE TO TORONTO PREVENTED BY RAIN

Special to the Examiner:

ROOSEVELT FLYING FIELD, Mineola, L. I. — The 1,040-mile New York - Toronto aerial handicap was officially called off at ten o'clock today on account of the heavy rain. The announcement of the postponement was made by Col. Archie Miller, commandant of the flying field. The race will be flown to-morrow, if the weather is fair, or on the first fair day thereafter, it was stated.

GERMANS EXECUTE ARMED SILESIANS

(Special to The Examiner.)

LONDON, Aug. 25.—Disturbances in Silesia are spreading, and have become more violent, according to despatches from that district received in London.

The German Commissioner Hoersing has issued a proclamation forbidding strikes, and ordering the instant execution of persons found with arms in their possession. Under the order thirty persons have been shot at Bytom, and nine at Budrowitz.

The populations of two mining villages near Kattow have been punished for revolutionary activities by deportation to Germany.

GREAT CROWDS FROM ALL PARTS OF ONTARIO GREETED PRINCE IN TORONTO

STREETS WERE THRONGED AND PROFUSELY DECORATED FOR THE VISIT OF THE HEIR TO THE THRONE---ADDRESSES BREATHED DEEP LOYALTY AND HIGH ESTEEM OF PERSONALITY.

OPENED THE EXHIBITION

(Special to The Examiner.)

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 25.— The Prince of Wales on his special train arrived at the private siding near Government House at ten minutes past ten this morning. He was decked in the uniform of a Captain of the Grenadier Guards and looked spick and span in khaki. At all other places he was dressed as a Captain in the Royal Navy. The people of this inland capital city of the Province of Ontario accepted this change from the naval uniform, which the Prince wore in Eastern Canadian cities, as a graceful tribute to the services of Ontario in defending the Empire on land, and the reception accorded him was therefore all the more spontaneous and enthusiastic.

The temporary station in Rosedale, near Government House, the Prince was on the platform accepting introductions to the fifth set of Lieutenant-Governors, Provincial Premiers and staffs, which he has encountered since he arrived in the Dominion less than two weeks ago. TThe monotony of it might tell of some men, but His Royal Highness met them all with the same graciousness and smiling good humor which has characterized him since his arrival on the shores of North America.

Met By Children.

A great crowd, mainly children, had gathered in the vicinity of the station and as the train was pulling in, long before the Prince was visible, they broke into ringing cheers. Many of the people waved handkerchiefs and flags, presenting in the brilliant sunshine with the trees in the background, a bright and animated picture. The first first man off the train was Lieut.-Col. H. C. Henderson, military secretary to the Governor-General. He strode down the platform towards the last coach, from which the Prince presently alighted.

Mayor Church Almost Overlooked

The first person to greet the Prince was Sir John Hendrie. Lieut.-Governor, who stood bare headed on the platform. The Lieut.-Governor immediately presented Sir William Hearst. Mayor Church, who was standing beside Premier Hearst and a little to the back, was almost overlooked for a moment, and Premier Hearst saved the situation by presenting His Worship to the Prince.

Just as the Prince steepped into his automobile, the booming of the guns fired the Royal salute, which could be heard thundering dully above the cheers. As the Prince's car drove off the groups of people who had been moved on each side of his car, immediately broke and streamed over the street still cheering after the motor as it drove off toward the Government House.

At Parliament Building.

The Prince saluted repeatedly, evidently pleased with the warmth of his reception. He smiled on all sides, and apparently jumped right into the heart of Toronto from the moment of his arrival. The Prince stayed but a few moments at Government House, where Miss Edith Hendrie was presented, and then left for the Parliament Buildings.

The route of the Prince's progress from Government House to the Parliament Buildings, where the addresses of welocem were presented by the Province of Ontario and the City of TToronto, gave opportunity for the indication of the real welcome by the people of the city and province, and also the route fro mthe Parliament Buildings to the Exhibition grounds, where he opened the Canadian National Exhibition.

All buildings were flag-bedecked and festooned, of course, and the streets were great avenues of colour, but the actual welcome, and the one that doubtless appeared most to the heart of the Prin cewas that continuous roar of loyalty and hearty cheering that preceded and followed him from one end of the route to the other. It was cheering right from the hearts of all classes of citizens of the Queen city to a Royal Prince who has succeeded in capturing the hearts of all his subjects, wherever he has so far appeared.

Address From Ontario.

The loyalty of the proyince of Ontario, was pleged in an address presented to His Royal Highness by Sir Wm. Hearst, Prime Minister. The address said that the occasion was one of profound interest and enthusiastic to the people of the province, which in its short history had the opportunity of welcoming and offering respectful congratulations for the third time to the heir apparent to the throne. Ontario was founded by those who sacrificed every material interest to preserve their rights as British subjects.

"The people of Ontario," said the address, "recognize in the presence of your Royal Highness among them at once the symbol and the seal of unity and the permanence of our great

BRIEF LIBERTY FOR 20 GERMAN SAILORS AT CAMP SHERMAN

ESCAPED DURING SEVERE STORM THROUGH THIRTY FOOT TUNNEL ---18 RECAPTURED.

(Special to The Examiner.)

CHILLICOTHE, Ohio, Aug. 25.—Eighteen of the estimated twenty interned German sailors who escaped from the barracks at Camp Sherman, near here, during a severe electrical storm last night, were recaptured, the camp authorities said to-day.

The sailors crawled through a tunnel running from the barracks cellar to a company street, thirty feet away. It was believed the men completed the tunnel some time ago, and only waited an auspicious time to use it.

Discovery of the wholesale escape followed almost immediately, and soldiers and police from the surrounding towns engaged in the hunt, which yielded the eighteen in groups of three to five.

All were found in nearby towns.

THE SIGNIFICANCE OF WOUND STRIPES AND THEIR LESSON

CAPTAIN W. C. RIDDIFORD, C.F. PREACHED TO LARGE CONGREGATIONS AT PARK ST. CHURCH.

Congregations for which adequate seating capacity could not be found attended both services in Park Street Baptist Church yesterday when Captain (Rev.) W.C. Riddiford who recently returned from several years service overseas was the special preacher.

In the evening in an eloquent sermon in "Wound stripes their mission, meaning and message". Captain Riddiford made an eloquent appeal for loyalty, not like, but many times greater for Christ than that which inspired Canada's sons to give up all and answer the call to duty. He chose as his text: Isaiah 53-55: "He was wounded—with his stripes we are healed."

Captain Riddiford spoke briefly up on the splendid response the Orange order had made to the call to arms sending over 80,000 men to defeat the ambition of Germany. He said that he is prouder today than ever before to belong to such an organization. Continuing he pointed out the real meaning of the golden bar, worn by returned men which amounts to the fact that the Empire's sons found not only the country but also King George worth fighting for. If, he said, it was worth while to swear allegiance to the King is it not more than worth while to swear allegiance to the King of Kings.

The message of the golden bar on the arm of a returned man is that he had suffered in the cause which he found worth fighting for. If we could deemer of the world we would find him wearing five wound stripes received for our redemption and "with his wound stripes we are healed", and through them he appeals to the Father.

The wound stripes on the arm of a soldier remind of the suffering and sacrifices they were willing to make and of the agony they went through which we shall never be able to comprehend. "Has the church," Captain Riddiford asked, "ever started to comprehend the suffering at Calvary? In the face of all we constantly object to make the smallest sacrifice to carry on the work of God." He likened the sacrifices of the men at the front to those made at Calvary and made a stirring appeal to the congregation to show their appreciation of both by not letting the Son of God or the boys and girls, who gave up their lives in France die in vain. If a man is going to be a Christian he must do more than adhere to a church or creed, he must let Christ take command of his soul. The man, who has grasped the reality of Christianity believes that Christ is capable of fulfilling is promises and puts his trust in him.

The speaker reminded his congregation of the obligation we owe to the men wearing the golden bars and asked a special consideration of the widows and orphans of the men who sleep in France.

MEMORIAL TO MARK ST. CHURCH HEROES WHO CAN'T RETURN

WAS UNVEILED SUNDAY MORNING BY COLONEL JOHNSTON---PAID TRIBUTE TO THE SOLDIERS.

The memorial service held in Mark street Methodist church Sunday morning, was largely attended and was most impressive.

Immediately after the opening exercises Col. Johnston unveiled the memorial picture containing the photographs of the following heroes, who "paid the toll" for the Empire: John Miller, Fred Wicker, Lorne McIntyre, Chas. Naish, Geo. Smith, Herbert Harren, R. Chester Craft, J. Howard Rowe, Edwin Wicker, Fred Holden, Albert Crow, Ray Nelson, Sidney A. Martin and J. Earnest Manley.

Col. Johnston made a most appropriate address, in which he eulogized, in a very generous manner, the spirit, the courage, the optimism, the affability, and the undying loyalty of our soldiers.

Rev. Mr. Ross, pastor of the church, followed with an address on the subject, "In Flanders Fields," or "The Blood of Our Soldiers is the Seed of Freedom." This address dealt with the sacrifice and its fruit.

Mr. H. Nellist then sang, with splendid effect, "In Flanders Fields." The music by the choir was also good.

In the evening the congregation was above the average, and the pastor took for his subject, "God in Love With the World."

Miss Ruth Ross, who has been pursuing a course of vocal training in Winnipeg for the past two years, and who returns to that city to-day, sang "The Holy City," and was highly complimented.

PETERBORO NEEDS SIGNS FOR STREETS

VISITOR CONGRATULATES CITY ON IMPROVED ROADS.

Peterborough, 10th Aug., 1919.

To the Mayor of Peterborough.

Sir,—On the eve of my departure to Pennsylvania by motor, allow me to congratulate you on the improved condition of your city streets during the past five years. The roads leading to and from Peterborough are also changed a little (for the better). A big change is probable soon in these roads when the "Good Roads" movement gets properly going.

However, my object in writing is to draw your attention to the complete lack of street names at the street intersections. You and your Council may not notice it particularly, and think it a matter of no great importance, but to newcomers to the city and strangers visiting it, it is vital.

I made some inquiries, and was told the attention of the Council frequently—but nothing was done. A druggist, of whom I inquired where [illegible] an appropriation had been set aside for street names at the beginning of the year—but nothing was done.

Mr. Mayor, this is a matter of real importance. It would cost but little—its benefits would be many. It's hardly the right thing to ask a stranger to get out of his car, go to the sidewalk to see what street he is on. If Motor League signs are needed in the country, street signs are more required in your city.—Yours truly.

Chas. W. Winslow.

FARMERS' CANDITATE SUGGESTED LONGER HOURS FOR CITY WORKERS TO DRIVE THEM TO THE FARMS

FOURTEEN-HOUR DAY WOULD REDUCE NUMBER OF WORKMEN NEEDED IN URBAN INDUSTRIES AND SURPLUS WOULD BE AVAILABLE FOR FOOD PRODUCTION.

OPPOSES LABOUR PRINCIPLE

Special to the Examiner:

FERGUS, Ont., Aug. 26. Albert Hellyer, the United Farmers' candidate in East Wellington, at the nominating convention here Saturday, conceived a new idea of bringing men back to the farm. He offered a suggestion for the solution of the problem of the high cost of living, that, instead of shortening the hours and raising the scale of wages in industries, that the hours be lengthened to correspond with those of the farm, which in some cases range from fourteen to sixteen a day. Mr. Hellyer's contention is that this would greatly reduce the number of workmen needed in the larger urban industries than the consequent surplus could be released to the rural districts, increase the production of food commodities, the initial requisite to reduce the cost of living. The Labour platform directly opposes such views, being based on the shorter work day and increased wages.

VESUVIUS IS AGAIN ACTIVE

WAACS UNWELCOME HERE AT PRESENT

WINNIPEG VETERANS BELIEVE THEY WOULD COMPLICATE LABOUR SITUATION.

(Special to The Examiner.)

WINNIPEG, Man., Aug. 25.—The Great War Veterans in Manitoba do not want any "Waacs" to come to Canada. This week it was stated that ten thousand were anxious to come. Wholesale immigration of British women will be detrimental to the returned soldier movement here, as well as to the general labour situation, Fred Law, the organising secretary, declared on Saturday.

"The women will find work easily enough," he continued. "Employers are only too anxious to get cheap labour. It means that the returned soldiers will be crowded out of their regular work. If the employers can get 'Waacs' cheaper than they can get men, they will take the 'Waacs.' The labour situation is serious here without having thousands of 'Waacs' to complicate it. We certainly don't want 'Waacs' or any other women just now," he said. "The Association is opposed to their coming, because they probably won't do housework—and that's the only field open to them."

MINISTER'S SATIRE ON LABOUR UNREST

SUGGEST EIGHT HOUR DAY AND SALARY BOOST FOR CLERGY.

Special to the Examiner:

NEW YORK, N.Y., Aug 25.—There is nation-wide unrest among the preachers of America, said Rev. John Roach Stratton, pastor of the Calvary Baptist Church, to-day, commenting on a sermon he delivered last night on the personal responsibility of the devil for profiteering and unrest.

"Should the preachers strike," was the announced topic of the sermon. "Everybody in the world almost has now gone on strike except the preachers and undertakers, and I suppose we will be the next to fall in line," Rev. Stratton said.

He suggested that, after red hot addresses and other strike activities, a resolution might be adopted by the striking preachers, concluding with the sentence, "But here and now we declare to our churches and the general public that unless we are given immediately an eight-hour day and a fifty per cent. boost in salary we will go on

SUPERVISED PLAYGROUNDS.

"Don't you miss the swings" one little girl was heard to say to another on Saturday, and there was a wistfulness in her voice that left no doubt as to the sincerity of her feelings. The chilren were referring to the closing of the supervised playgrounds, which have been a continuous source of enjoyment to the little folks and a comfort to harrassed mothers during the summer. The season has been a remarkable success. The attendance has been larger than ever before, and the supervisors have done their work in a manner that showed that it was a labor of love to look after the children. The Playgrounds have come to stay. After the success of this summer, the people of Peterboro would not hear of them being discontinued, and it is to be fancied that appeals for funds on behalf of the Playgrounds Association next spring will receive a hearty and immediate response. The Playgrounds have proved an asset that Peterboro cannot afford to do without.

POLICE UNIONS.

It is not necessary to be an enemy of organised labour to take the position that the organisation of police unions on trade union lines, in affiliation with other union organisations, is both inexpedient and a menace to public peace and safety, says the Hamilton Herald. Level-headed Labour men admit it in private conversation. The efficiency of a police force depends largely upon the fact that the force represents the law. The law is impartial; it makes no distinction between persons or classes. But if the visible representative and agent of the law, charged with its enforcement, is allied with one class of the community—a section of which class may at any time be in an attitude of hostility to a section of another class—it is idle to claim impartiality for the law's representative and agent. A police force in such a false position, though paid by the whole community, is liable at any time to become an active auxiliary of one section of the community and an enemy of another section. Such a situation is absurd and intolerable.

The police-union movement is one of the devices used by extreme radicals in their efforts to concentrate all power in the proletariat class. It gained some headway in England, culminating in police strikes, which have proved to be abortive. The strike in London collapsed almost immediately. The strike of the Liverpool policemen was more serious and lasted longer. But that also is over now. Common sense has prevailed, and the Liverpool police strikers admit their error. Yesterday they met and passed a resolution declaring that they now realize [illegible] taken and misled, and "respectfully begging the Corporation generously to consider the question of reinstatement." in another resolution they undertake to abandon the national union of police officers.

That is a manly confession, and the Liverpool police strikers are evidently sincere in making it. They deserve the generous consideration for which they ask. A man who has made a mistake and who honestly and publicly confesses it is less likely to go wrong again than is another, who has never erred in the same way.

DAYLIGHT SAVING.

Although the repeal of daylight saving has been officially decided upon in the United States, the thousands of people who are in favour of the system are preparing to fight for its adoption at least in the towns and cities next summer. The New York Times, which has always been a warm advocate of daylight saving, makes the following comment upon the situation:

Daylight saving is defeated, but not conquered. The national association, which is very ably presided over by Marcus M. Marks, meets to-day, and will begin a country-wide campaign among cities and towns to induce them to jog the clock next summer as usual. Many cities will be easily persuaded. Several years before we entered the war, Youngstown, Ohio, prided itself on beating the country by one hour daily. Our own Board of Aldermen has already passed a resolution in favour of an open summer, openly arrived at, from 1st May to 3rd October, 1920. Mr. Marks states that 90 per cent. of the people of the country are in favour of more play and smaller gas bills — a statement which does not seem unreasonable.

If the farmers wish to continue on the old-time schedule, they will be well within their constitutional rights. Local option is perhaps the really practical and fair solution of the question. The most serious difficulty will be in the matter of train schedules—or perhaps only in the matter of timetables. It would be no impossible hardship to print for each train an O. S. column and a N. S. column, as the sixteenth century distinguished old-style dates from the new, when the calendar was changed. A timetable thus printed would undoubtedly give pain to the farmer, who is likely to be far-sighted and forgetful of his specs. It may even give him more pain than the dew on the grass when he goes forth to milk the cows. Much thought and exhaustive researches have not as yet revealed any ground for his dogged opposition beyond a certain conservatism — to which he used to be subject, but which in his modern advance as a business man he is generally thought to have outgrown. Some day perhaps we shall know which revolts him more deeply—a double-barreled time-table or a two-faced clock.

It is not well to be confident of this. The real cause of our defeat is not the persistence of the farmer, but our own negligence. President Wilson was prompt and resolute in the exercise of his veto, and there has never been a time when the cities did not command a sufficient force in Congress to check the repeal. But when the crucial test came or representatives were not there. Of late there have been many cases in which a minority has imposed its will, most unjustly, upon a majority; but in none of them has it been more evident that the chief fault lay in the supineness of the majority. If we really wish to save money and gain time for exercise and self-development, we shall have to put up a good fight.

Voice Of The People

Editor of the Examiner:

Sir: I think the statement of the Rev. Mr. Battersby at St. John's church yesterday morning, that "If men were so made that they could not commit sin, they would be mere machines," should be taken to heart by the would-be Prohibitionists.

AN OPEN LETTER TO THE REVIEW.

Dear Sir,—Accepting the Review's invitation which has given me considerable attention of late, permit me to make the following suggestions:

If the Review will print on its front page and in clear, distinct type, a complete record of informations, convictions and Police Officer's reports of the City Police Court from the 10th day of May to the 21st day of May, 1919, inclusive, I will give $100 a year for five years to the Great War Veterans' Association's Fund, to assist in wiping out its deficit.

If this information is printed, the public will then know why the Review is attacking the Police Magistrate, the Police Commissioners, the Police Force and certain Police Constables.

In regard to the Review advocating the principle of "one man, one job," would it kindly explain why its Managing Director held down the job of Postmaster and also, at the same time, as Manager of the St. George Mansions Limited in Toronto, and why he still holds the two jobs as Managing Director of both Companies, from which he draws lucrative salaries for each job. Holding this position of an Apartment House Company in Toronto and holding the position of Manager of the Review, and then attempting to get a third job or [illegible] ary that that job pays, is a consistent attitude for the Managing Director to take, when his paper advocates "one man, one job."

If this same Managing Director would resign the managership of this large Apartment House Company, which pays salary sufficient to keep a man and his family, a returned man could probably give the job more attention and less absent treatment than it is getting at present.

If my offer is accepted I will send a cheque to the Great War Veterans' Association within one hour after the information is printed in the Review.

Yours truly,
G. N. GORDON.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Daer Sir.—I consider the thanks of the prohibition party are due to the press for the space given Mr. H. Burnham for his letters in opposition to them, for there is certainly nothing we could say in favor of prohibition that would do more to convince people of its reasonableness and rightness than the paucity of arguments advanced against it.

Mr. Burham has declared war to the utmost of his power against prohibition. The convincing power of Mr. Burnham's letters are of such a nature that I am glad he is not fighting on our side for such help is a source of weakness. For a lawyer Mr. Burnham's letters reveal a most lamentable ignorance of the workings of law "God prohibits nothing" he says, and again: "Why did not God prohibit the means of evil in the garden of Eden." All law of a negatory or prohibitory nature seeks to prevent by the fear of penalty and the passing of such a law presupposes the evil to exist that is to be prohibited else how can a thing be prohibited that has no existence When God created the world and the garden of Eden He pronounced it good and as far as I can learn there was no whiskey in it, therefore God did not prohibit whiskey, but the fruit of the tree in the midst of the garden was forbidden or prohibited and he penalty for the infraction of God's law, He decired to be death. Then again nine of the ten commandments are of a prohibitory nature, "Thou shalt not" is surely the strongest prohibitory phrase God could use. If this not prohibition, what is it The O.T.A. has proven itself to be one of the best measures ever brought into force in the province and so far from being a curtailment of liberty as its enemies declare the fact is 1,200 fewer people were arrested in a year in Peterboro than were under license, in Ottawa, they were able to reduce the police force, so great was its effect a curious result from a tyranical act. As for the personal liberty cry this is a red herring that is being dragged across the path to confuse the issue personal individual liberty is impossible in a community as each man's liberty is necessarily limited by the rights of others and the denser the population the more restricted is that liberty. This is an age of democracy and its ideal is the greatest good for the greatest number. The liberty that the liquor men want is the liberty to make easy money out of the misery and poverty of countless women and children, the liberty to get hold of the working man's payroll and send him home drunk; the liberty to bring back into our midst the blacklister and the ne'er do well, to refill our jails and asylums and to increase our risks of accidents, in fact to reintroduce and perpetuate the evils we have so happily got rid of. Let us have a clean, sober, industrious country, with its people living in comfort ad peace, and in my opinion for this end whiskey is not necessary.

Yours truly,
GEO. LEADER.

BRITISH LOSING SHYNESS.

Syncopated Music and "Jazz" Dances Americanizing Them, Says Observer.

LONDON.—What Americans call "English side," and the French describe as "le phlegme britannique," and the British themselves, with characteristic modesty, seek to convince the rest of the nations is merely restraint born of shyness, is, according to at least one student of national psychology, going by the board.

"Have you noticed that English voices are changing?" asks this writer, M. A. Kinross. "I don't mean only in pitch, though that is a shade higher, but in inflection. They are far more inflected than they used to be.

"I have been staying in a small seaside hotel filled with young officers and their wives, where, instead of the old dining room decorum reminding one of the day after the funeral, we seemed to have taken the lid off of conversation so completely that the babble and the babble were positively Continental.

"Is it the natural reaction from the war, tensions suddenly relaxed, repressions suddenly removed? Is it the greater social freedom, absence of convention, and self-confidence of our young women?

Someone said to me the other day that we are getting Americanized, and I answered that if the American get more Anglicized, and the English get more Americanized, not only will the two people draw together, but we shall turn out the happy mean of humanity.

"Personally, I believe our Americanization, if such it be, is taking place indirectly and mechanically, and that it is the gramophone, the cinema, the syncopated music, and the jazz dances that are accomplishing it.

"I find the increase in social ease, animation, sprightliness, all to the good. We may grow more articulate; we may remove the severe restriction on our adjectives."

SO THOUGHTLESS OF HIM.

After a miserably wet day, the unhappy holiday-maker retired to his boarding-house bed, thinking it promised little for a happy holiday by the sea.

Worse was to come. About 2 a.m. the rain found a way in, and began to drip with unpleasant persistence on his bed. He tugged madly at the bell and presently heavy footfalls sounded in the passage outside.

"What do you want?" demanded an irate female voice.

"You must give me another room!" said the visitor firmly, as he went on dressing. "The rain's leaking in here like fury!"

"Oh! Is that all?" snapped the voice. "If you look under the bed, you'll find an umbrella. Just use it, and don't disturb everybody at this time of night!"

REASONS FOR SECRECY OF MRS. VERNON CASTLE'S SECOND MARRIAGE

NEW YORK, Aug. 25. — When Mrs. Irene Castle was married to Captain Robert E. Treman at Pickens, S.C., on May 21st, 1918, three months after her husband, Vernon Castle, was killed at the aviation camp at Fort Worth, Tex., she gave her name as Irene Blythe, that being the family name of the late Vernon Castle.

Every precaution was taken to keep the wedding a secret. Mrs. Castle refused to be married in Greenville, which is the county seat of Greenville county, because it was too populous a community. So she and Captain Treman took Dr. Juhan by automobile from Greenville to Pickens, which is the county seat of Pickens county, but a small town off the main railroad line. There a marriage license was obtained from Judge Newberry, of the County Probate Court, and the ceremony was performed by Dr. Juhan while he and the principals were seated in the automobile.

When Mrs. Castle and Captain Treman took out a license in the Marriage Bureau in this city on May 8 of this year the former again gave her name as Irene Blythe and her age as twenty five years. In answer to the usual questions she said it was her second marriage, that her former husband was dead and that she had never had been divorced. She then took oath to the truth of these statements and the license was issued. Later in the same day, accompanied by about twenty-five friends, her own relatives and the parents and relatives of Captain Treman, the couple went to the church of the Transfiguration and were married by the Rev. George C. Houghton, who also officiated at the funeral of Vernon Castle, and who christened Mrs. Castle when she was a child. Immediately afterward Captain and Mrs. Treman went to Loon Lake on a "honeymoon," and since then have lived for the greater part of the time in Ithaca.

Reasons For Secrecy.

According to her statement made at Greenville at the time of her first marriage to Captain Treman, Mrs. Castle was actuated by two motives in having the wedding kept secret. She told Dr. Juhan that she was a business woman, that in spite of romantic stories about herself and her late husband [illegible] for three years been nothing more than business partners and were utterly indifferent to each other. She had just prepared the book of letters of Captain Castle, however, and it was ready for the market, and she feared if it became known that she had remarried so soon after Captain Castle's death the sale of the book would be seriously affected.

Her Programme Successful.

Her other reason for secrecy, as given to Dr. Juhan, was that she expected that Captain Treman would soon be ordered to Europe with his regiment and that she did not want to remain in this country while he was away. Under a ruling of the War Department, she said, wives of officers were not allowed to go to Europe. If the marriage was kept a secret, she added, she felt sure that she could get overseas as an entertainer. Accordingly, the marriage was kept a secret and, as is now well known, Mrs. Treman, or Castle, carried out her programme successfully.

During all of her war work in Europe and in this country Mrs. Castle never failed to impress on the public the fact that she was consecrating her life to the memory of her late husband. In January last, when rumor had it that she was engaged to marry Tom Powers, an English actor, a statement denying the engagement was issued in her behalf. This statement was in part as follows:

"Mrs. Castle decided, when Captain Castle died, to give her services for a year to cheer and aid the living victims of the war in which her husband lost his life. She is still in that service of dedication to his memory, and rumors of a sentimental nature are distressing to her and her family."

At that time Mrs. Castle had been married to Captain Treman for eight months. Because of Mrs. Castle's alleged statement to Dr. Juhan that she and her late husband had been nothing but business partners for three years and were indifferent to each other, a paragraph from the will of Vernon Castle, filed March 9, 1918, is interesting.

Clause From Will.

Captain Castle bequeathed all his property to "my beloved wife, Irene Castle," adding:

"I make this disposition of all my estate not only as a token of deep love and sincere affection for my said dearly beloved wife, but also in grateful recognition of the happiness which I have enjoyed in her society during all our wedded life, and the great assistance she has during all of that time rendered to me in my professional work and career. In so disposing of my property I am not unmindful of my beloved parents and other kinfolks and my many friends, and it is my desire that out of my personal effects some token of my love and affection be given by my wife to each of them so far as possible, the selection to be made by her."

What possible motive Mrs. Castle had in going through an elaborate second marriage to Captain Treman in this city instead of merely announcing the year old marriage that took place at Pickens is not explained. But certain it is that the vivacious young dancer put over a prodigious joke on her friends and relatives and the friends and relatives of her husband. Whether they will regard it as a joke when they learn the facts remains to be seen.

On May 1, two days before the superfluous wedding in this city, a report was published that Mrs. Castle and Captain Treman were engaged. Mrs. Castle promptly issued a vigorous denial. Two days later she appeared at the Marriage Bureau, however, with Captain Treman and the license was issued. For a more or less hurried affair the wedding was a rather elaborate one.

WOULD LEAVE U.S.A. AT WAR WITH GERMANY

(Special to The Examiner.)

LONDON, Aug. 25—The Shantung amendment to the Peace Treaty, proposed by the Foreign Relations Committee of the United States Senate; is "more an evidence of good will than good sense," the Daily News declared to-day.

"If the amendment is adopted," the paper said, "it will mean a new treaty between Germany and America. Germany already has ratified the Treaty, awarding Shantung to Japan. Her only course, therefore, would be to refuse the American proposal, meaning that the two nations would remain in a state of war.

A SPLENDID OFFER

Manila Times:—William Jennings Bryan was scheduled to lecture at a small Western town, but on account of a cloudburst there was a washout on the railroad, so he sent this telegram to the committee.—

"Cannot reach Kenville on time. Wash out on the line."

"Never mind your wash. Buy another—anyway.— Democratic Club Committee."

"DAY DREAMS" IS FULL-OF-ACTION, MODERN PICTURE

COSMO HAMILTON STORY GIVES MADGE KENNEDY WIDE SCOPE FOR SPLENDID TALENTS.

Madge Kennedy's succession of triumphs is in no danger of interruption. Her newest Goldwyn Picture, "Day Dreams," which comes to the Grand Theatre, to-day, Tuesday and Wednesday, bids fair to surpass the others in originlity of plot and deftness of detail. And the opportunities afforded Madge Kennedy for the display of her unique gifts have never been presented in fuller measure.

"Day Dreams" is from the pen of Cosmo Hamilton, author of many successful spoken plays, one of which attained nation-wide prominence when it was transferred to the screen. "The Blindness of Virtue," brilliant as it was, is in no sense like Madge Kennedy's "Day Dreams."

The latter was written expressly for the piquant Goldwyn star, and with her in mind Cosmo Hamilton has created a play replete with action, interest and the spirit of romance. The role of Primrose, the girl whose romance became a reality, could only have been fashioned for Madge Kennedy.

Although "Day Dreams" is modern in every sense, the environment being that of a Long Island duck farm, some of the action transpires in a highly romantic atmosphere. Wonderful gardens, a castle and a terrace are required in the course of the play. There are marine scenes also, of an elaborate nature, employing galleons under full sail.

The role of Primrose ranges all the way from childish unsophistication to tragic despair when the girl imagines that she has pricked the bubble of her romance. Her emotions change from those of a child to a woman's.

There are many novelties in the play—novelties which taxed the resources of Hugo Ballin, Goldwyn's art director, and cinematographer. One is a setting created to show the girl's imaginary jewels. An enormous treasure chest, fully twelve feet long, is placed by the side of a pillar ten feet wide. The jewels are [illegible] gantic surroundings diminutive Madge Kennedy is a very tiny figure indeed.

DISMISSED COMPLAINT OF WATERED BUTTER

(Special to The Examiner.)

WINNIPEG, Man., Aug. 25.—The charge of selling butter with overmoisture, laid against the Matthews-Blackwell Co., Ltd., Toronto, heard before Magistrate McKerchar in the Provincial Police Court, was dismissed on Saturday.

No proof was presented that the butter in question had been sold by Matthews-Blackwell.

Before the evidence was completed for the prosecution, counsel for the Crown asked to withdraw the charge. The defendant company requested that the charge be proceeded with or dismissed, with the result that the Magistrate dismissed the complaint without calling upon the defence to submit any evidence.

THE TAUNTON ROAD.

Once, when I was travelling,
Far from familiar ways,
And my deep weariness
Made the long road yet longer,
I stopped at a lowly cottage
For guidance. No door opened,
But a woman's timid voice
Came out of the darkness
To set me right. Loneller was I
At her suspicion. For companionship
I asked the name of the village,
And when she answered, my heart
Leaped from its numbness,
For she had uttered the name
Of my far away northern home.
And I bade her good-night,
Very, very kindly,
And went on my unknown road
With none to see my tears.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

A REPLY TO BERNARD WELSH.

Sir: No doubt Mr. Bernard Welsh's letter in the Examiner on Saturday last, will be read with sympathy by a great many citizens—and no doubt it is sent in for that purpose.

I have sympathy for him as regards his wife and many others, if what he states is true.

Still it is only one side of the question that he has written, and that is his side.

I do not like the way he winds up his letter by any means. He states "Trade unionism will have to show him some better reason for joining them than this town has shown, before I give them any of my money to spend. They may take my ojb, but they don't get the double laugh on me [illegible]"

Now, let me look at this matter sideways, I may say, firstly, that I am not a carpenter; neither do I know Mr. Bernard Welsh personally.

But what I wish to bring before the public view is that times have changed and the workingmen are now bargaining or fighting for a better living wage, collectively, or by unionism.

Experience has taught the laboring class that individually men cannot get a living wage by that means and therefore have to bargain as a party or union to gain that object,

The unions have to be kept up by payments monthly from each individual.

The Labour Hall has to be paid for by them and several other items of expense. Does he pay any of it? Certainly not. The union men have to meet weekly or fortnightly to transact business, when otherwise they could be with their wives and children, and often during the winter months when 20 or 30 below zero they are giving three or four hours nightly of their time without payment, besides their delegates to the Trades and Labour Council, in addition to the ordinary meetings—doing the same thing without payment of any sort. They have to go to the expense or trouble of fighting or bargaining for a certain wage, while the non-union man can sit by his fireside comfortably with his wife and children, while the union man fights the battle of life for him, and also pays his money for his advantage likewise, and which he knows is quite true.

He has the laugh on the union men—not they upon him—for without a cent or any trouble on his part he gains the same advantage.

Does he expect under these circumstances to be treated as a brother by those who have fought and paid their money for his advantage?

There are many others leaving it to union men to fight their battles and do not think or take into consideration what the unions have done for their benefit as regards wage, and it is time that all men joined a union for their own welfare and not leave the expense and time given freely by all union men in all sorts of weather to better their conditions. It is for their own honor and advantage eventually; and I hope Mr. Bernard Welsh will take these things into consideration, also the two other carpenters, for they must admit it is not fair to the union members to pay, fight and give their time for their advantage, without them also helping to do something towards it themselves.

Yours,
A UNION MAN.

Editor, Examiner:

Dear Sir,—Ontario free or Ontario sober is now a proposal to be answered in the near future. To make the province sober by making excess absolutely impossible, by withdrawing from the individual citizens his right of self-government, in the matter of what he should drink. Is it wise legislation that sobriety should be gained at the price of freedom. Temperance to be compulsory total abstinence, making it illegal to manufacture, import or sell alcoholic beverages seems to be an invasion of individual liberty. For the use of alcoholic beverages is as old as human civilization and prevails generally in all civilized communities to-day. The voice of medical science is so far from giving a clear verdict against the temperate use of such beverages. Mainly doctors both recommend to their patients and confirm their advice by their own example. It seems to need no argument to disallow the assumption on which the policy of prohibition is based. do not think that excessive drinking and moderate drinking are kindred phenomena differing only in degree. The moderate drinker is not the undeveloped form of the drunkard, he belongs to another category altogether. The drunkard may be kept sober by force, but he is destitute of self control and is likely to fall into fresh excess on the first opportunity. The moderate drinker is a self-respecting man and he will carry that moderation wherever he goes. Are we sure that if prohibition is enforced that we will be any more temperate than before, or shall we be far fuller of unrecognized drunkards, men without self-control, whose sobriety is compelled from without, not from within. The growth of the drug habit proves the moral wothlessness of enforced sobriety. The one solution to Canada sober is to start the religion of self respect, the church to cease its teachings of subjugation and quietism, but rather aim at building up a strong, self-respecting type of Canadians for Canada. Then we shall not have recourse to the method of prohibition. Sobriety is only a genuine moral condition when it has been freely chosen. As an emergency measure, it has many recommendations, for all its results are obtained at once, but as a settled policy it is open to the greatest objection.

MANY TOWNS WITH NICKNAMES

EDINBURG HAS TWO—BOSTON IS THE "HUB"

Over in the States every other town has a nick-name of some sort or another. For instance, Boston is the "Hub," Philadelphia the "Quaker City," San Francisco is the "City of the Golden Gate," while Chicago, of pig-killing fame, goes by the somewhat unsavoury title of "Porkopolis."

Here we are not so fond of nicknaming our towns, yet there are quite a number which are known by names not to be found in the geography book.

London herself is often termed "the village" or the "little village," and no one on his way to the capital would dream of phrasing his intention in other words that that he was going "up to town."

Birmingham people are not at all fond of the word "Brummagen." The town's original name was Brumwichham, of which Birmingham is merely a corruption, and in coure of time the word has come to mean worthless or inferit aticles masquerading as genuine ones.

Sheffield folk refers, of course, to her pre-eminence in that useful manufacture.

Edinburgh Has Two.

Of Scottish towns there are only two which have well-known nicknames Edinburgh does not feel hurt when one of her sons calls her "Auld Reekie." Strictly speaking, however, this title applies only to the old town of which, in earlier days, the narrow streets were filthy beyond description. The Southerner visiting Scotland's fair capital will do better to speak of her as "The Modern Athens."

It was Willis who first compared Edinburgh with Athens. He says that the resemblance to Athens has approached from the Piraeus, is very striking.

Aberdeen's name of the Granite City is well deserved. She certainly has more buildings of solid granite than any other city of her size in the world.

To return to England, Worcester from her constant devotion to the cause of the Stuarts, is still known as the "Loyal City," and is proud of the title.

Plymouth has recently amalgamated with her two smaller neighbours, Stonehouse and Devonport. These three, which are, geographically, one or the same, are always known as the Three Towns.

Bristol is sometimes called the City of Masts and Spires. You have only to see the town to realize how appropriate is the title.

THREE QUARTERS OF A CENTURY UNDERGROUND.

An old collier at Tumble, Carmarthenshire, has worked underground for the last seventy-seven years, and is still going strong at eighty-four. We will be bound this worthy old fellow does not belong to the "ca-canny" or "10 per cent" tribe who now bear rule over men.

GUELPH MURDERER DIES.

Giovanzzo Breaks Down and is Carried to Scaffold.

GUELPH, Aug. 22— James Giovanzzo, an Italian, paid the death penalty for murder at the County jail at 7.38 today. Although his neck was not broken, he died without any apparent suffering, and 14 minutes after Hangman Ellis pulled the lever life was pronounced extinct.

Giovanzzo maintained a calm demeanor up to the last day. At five this morning he arose from a light sleep and then broke down. He did not eat any breakfast, and had to be assisted on to the scaffold and held up while the rope was adjusted about his neck.

The crime for which Giovanzzo today paid the penalty was the murder of Michael Dutki, last September. It is thirty years since the last hanging here, when Harvey was executed.

WHERE ROADS ARE GOOD

Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Arnott and daughter have just returned from a motor trip through New York State, after visiting friends in Buffalo, Batavia and Warsaw, N. Y. Mr. Arnott was much impressed with the good roads and felt that if those who were opposed to the good roads movement would take a similar trip they would change their minds.

FIRST CRUISER JUNK IN WAR

FORE-PEAK OF SHIP SHATTERED BY EXPLOSION.

In the course of reconnaitering Luise," had been sunk on the morning of August 6, 1914, H.M.S. "Amphion" struck a mine and foundered. The for-peak of the ship was shattered by the explosion. Paymaster George and over one hundred men being instantaneously killed. In the forepart of the ship were twenty-four German prisoners who had been taken on board when the "Koenigin Luise" was sunk. Twenty of these were killed by the explosion, the remaining four bein rescued and taken to hospital, but died the same evening. The captain, sixteen officers, and one hundred and thirty-five men were taken off by the "Amphion's" own boats before she sank; four of these were badly injured and died in hospital. These, with the four German prisoners, were buried together. The "Amphion" was an unarmoured cruiser, and was built at Pembroke, launched in December, 1911, and commissioned in 1913. She had a displacement of 3,440 tons, an indicated horse-power of 18,000, and a speed of 25 knots. Her armament consisted of ten 4in. guns and two 21in. torpedo tubes above the waterline. The ship's complement was 292. The cost of the ship, including guns, was £277,781. She was the parent-ship of the third destroyer flotilla, was of the light cruiser class, and the same type of ship as the "Fearless," "Active," "Blonde," and "Blanche." One of the ship's carpenters, David Christie by name, had been terribly injured previously in the Highland Bridge disaster, had been in hospital for months, and had only rejoined his ship shortly before the disaster; he was one of those killed by the explosion.

GREAT CROWDS FROM ALL PARTS

Empire, which we believe is destined by the providence of God, to preserve for future ages the blessings of liberty, justice and sane democracy, and of obedience to constituted authority."

Personal Esteem.

Continuing, the address assured His Royal Highness that in the greetings of all the governments and people of Canada, there was a strong element of personal respect and esteem for the young prince, who played a man's part in the great war.

"It rejoices us to know," said the address, "that in the close and intimate association with the military forces of Canada, nearly one-half of which came from this province," your Royal Highness was content to be a man among men and to inspire these feelings of affection and admiration which augur so well for the attitude of the Canadian [illegible] future sovereign."

Toronto's Welcome.

The address on behalf of the citizens of Toronto was signed by Mayor Church, City Clerk Littlejohn and City Treasurer Bradshaw. It breathed a spirit of loyalty and congratulation to the British Crown, and voiced the expectation that the Prince would see the prospects throughout the Dominion that in generations to come, happy and prosperous homes would be found within its borders for millions of subjects ever true in their allegiance to the British Crown.

Address From the Exhibition.

In the afternoon at the grounds of the Canadian National Exhibition, which the Prince duly opened, another address was presented on behalf of the Exhibition Association, by President Thomas Russell and General Manager John G. Kent. This address in addition to conveying feelings of loyalty and esteem for the Prince, emphasized the patriotic nature of the Canadian National Exhibition, and the fact that so many men had been trained within its buildings, during four years of war, for service for the Empire overseas.

SMITH'S FALLS BROKE THE PRINCE'S SLUMBERS

Canadian Press:

TORONTO, Aug. 25.—An incident illustrating the democracy and princely nature of His Royal Highness occurred at 2 o'clock this morning at Smith's Falls, where the Royal train stopped to change engines. A great crowd clamored around the train, despite the hour, and the fact that the Prince had retired. His staff, knowing that the Prince had a busy day prepared for him in Toronto, did not wish to have His Royal Highness break his rest. The Prince insisted, however, and, to the great delight of the Smith's Falls people, appeared on the train platform and made a short address, in response to a speech of welcome.

This is Great for Tired, Wilted, Wrinkled Faces

An effective warm weather treatment—heat tending to cause wrinkles and flabbiness — is a skin-tightener made by dissolving one ounce of powdered saxolite in a half pint of witch hazel. Bathe the face in the solution and remarkable improvement will be observed immediately. The lines and sags disappear in a hurry. You feel and look much refreshed and the face has a more youthful appearance.

As there is a beneficial tonic action the results are more than temporary, this being noticed particularly in the effect upon the relaxed facial muscles. The saxolite and witch hazel, which can be purchased at any drug store, are quite harmless, of course.

THE BOLSHEVISM OF ARISTOPHANES

We are used to be jarred these days. We have all had dreams of various kinds of milleniums, and we keep waking up and finding it is the same old world, with the same old gang of human beings trying to live in it. But yesterday I came upon the following which seems one of the best presentations of Bolshevism — the "great new idea in the world." I quote:

P.—I tell you that we are all to share alike and have everything in common, instead of one being rich, and another poor, and one having hundreds of acres and another not enough to make him a grave, and one a houseful of servants and another not even a paltry footboy. I am going to introduce communism and universal equality.

B.—How communism?

P.—That's just what I was going to tell you. First of all, everybody's money and land and everything else he may possess will be made common property. Then we shall maintain you all out of the common stock, with due regard to economy and thrift.

B.—But how about those who have no land, but only money that they can hide?

P.—It will all go to the public purse. To keep anything back will be perjury.

B.—Perjury- Well if you come to that, it was by perjury it was all acquired.

P.—And then money won't be the least use to any one.

B.—Why not?

P.—Because nobody will be poor. Everybody will have everything he wants—bread, salt fish, barley cake, clothes, wine, garlands, chick-peas. So what will be the good of keeping anything back? Answer that if you can?

B.—Isn't it the people who have all these things that are the greatest thieves?

P.—No doubt under the old laws. But now, when everything will be in common what will be the good of keeping anything back?

B.—But what about the clothes? How are they to be provided?

P.—What you have now will do to begin with and afterward we shall make them for you ourselves.

B.—Just one thing more! Suppose a man were to lose his suit in the courts, where are the damages to come from? It would not be fair to take the public funds.

P.—But there won't be any lawsuits at all!

B.—That will mean ruin to a good many people!

Bystander—Just my idea-

P.—Why should there be any?

B.—Why- For reasons enough — heaven knows! For instance a man might repudiate is debts.

P.—In that case, where did the man who lent the money get it from? Clearly, since everything is in common, he must have stolen it!

B.—So he must- An excellent idea- But now tell me this. When fellows come to blows over their cups where are the damages to come from?

P.—From the rations- A man won't be in such a hurry to make a row when his belly has to pay for it.

B.—One thing more! Will there be no more thieves?

P.—How can anyone steal what is his own?

B.—And won't one be robbed of one's cloak at night?

P.—Not if you sleep at home.

B.—Nor if one sleeps out, as one used to do?

P.—No, for there will be enough and to spare for all. And even if a thief does try to strip a man he will give up his cloak of his own accord. What would be the good of fighting? He has only to go and get another, and better, from the public stores.

B.—And will there be no more gambling?

P.—What will there be to play for?

B.—And how about house accommodations?

P.—There will be the same for all. I tell you I am going to turn the whole city into one huge house, and break down all the partitions so that everyone may have free access to everyone else.

Who wrote it? Lenine, Trotsky or some of their satellites in this country, John Reed or Max Eastman? No, none of these, nor yet any of the modern satisists of their pet theories.

I have quoted exactly with only one omission.

The author of this skit on the brand new thing in the world the thing that's the logical carrying out of Karl Marx's ideas, etc.,—the author is Aristophanes, (444 (?) 380 (?) B.C.) and the play is the comedy "Ecclesiazusae," or, as one should say, "Congresswomen."

Is there anything new?

MAD MONARCHS.

Anyone who remembers the unfortunate history of the House of Wittelsbach will not be surprised at the news that Ludwig III, ex-King of Bavaria, is showing symptoms of insanity.

King Ludwig II., who came to the throne in 1864 at the age of eighteen was a dreamer with a passion for music and for building palaces. He was the patron of Wagner, and one of his forms of eccentricity was to order performances of Wagner's operas at which His Majesty was the entire audience. His idiosyncrasies became so marked, that in June 1886, Prince Luitpold was appointed Regent. A week later the King committed suicide in Starnberg Lake, and his body physician, Dr. Gludden, was drowned, in a vain attempt to save the life of his royal charge.

SAN FRANCISCO SHOCKED BY SOCIETY SENSATION

CARMEL MYERS CREATES STIR IN LATEST BLUEBIRD PHOTOPLAY.

San Francisco society received a shock that set all tongues wagging recently when Mrs. P. J. Jones, one of the lesser social lights, opened her palatial home to a little waif whom she believed to be a duchess.

Legal investigations financed by rivals of Mrs. Jones in the social whirl revealed the fact that the attractive little girl was of noble birth nd that she was the daughter of Captain Parmelee, well known character in the fishing village on the southern coast.

This society notice, which was held from the papers at the pressure of moneyed influence, tells the story in brief of litle Sydney Parmelee who cut a wide swath in San Francisco society and surprised the town by marrying one of the richest young men even after she was proven to have been the humble fisherman.

Carmel Myers, the bewitching Bluebird star, plays the role of Sydney Parmelee in "A Society Sensation," her latest and most lovable photodrama.

See it to-night at the Grand Theatre.

See a story in beautiful photography that the society editors longed to print but were afraid.

ELEPHANT HUNT HOLIDAY IN SIAM

PEOPLE FLOCK TO JUNGLE WHEN KING'S HERD NEEDS REPLENSHING.

When a King of Siam finds that the stock of tame elephants in the Government stables is getting low he sends out an edict that a royal elephant hunt will take place. This order is received joyfully throughout Siam, for an elephant hunt is to this Eastern country what a bullfight is to Spain or what the Olympic games were to ancient Greece. A royal elephant hunt is staged only about once a year, and is enough of a spectacle to induce people from all over Siam to come to Ayutha, where the animals are to be brought when captured.

The Siamese jungle shelters great herds of wild elephants both with and without tusks and occasionally a freak grayish specimen known as a white elephant. A white elephant when captured is kept in an atmosphere of great pomp in the royal stables and does not work. Other kinds become the burden bearers of Siam, from the king's own particular elephant to the animals that lift logs at the lumber camp.

Days, somtimes weeks, are required to locate and surround the herds to be captured. Then they are skillfully driven in the direction of Ayutha. So slowly do the great beasts travel that four or five miles is sometimes the daily rate of advance. When Ayutha is reached the herd is driven into a kraal, which is a large walled-in court, and here it is kept until the desirable beasts are selected. The rest are then allowed to wander back to their jungle home.

The taming of the animals retained takes several days and is the climax of the spectacle. Crowds gather about the kraal to hear the untamed elephants trumpet their anger at being caught and to watch their clumsy struggle against mastery by the native trainers.

BEWARE OF TENDER, INFLAMED GUMS

Pyorrhea, with a premature loss of teeth, is almost inevitable if you do not properly care for your gums. Here is the explanation:

As you age, the body tissues naturally relax. You see this tissue loosening in the neck. It goes on in your gums, too. As you grow older, your gums shrink below the normal gum line. Through lack of care they become spongy and inflamed. Then you have Pyorrhea (Riggs' Disease). Four out of five people over forty have Pyorrhea. And many under forty, also.

Don't let a tender gum spot develop. These tender spots breed disease germs which enter the system through tiny openings—infecting the joints or tonsils—or causing other ailments. Immediately get Forhan's, which positively prevents Pyorrhea if used in time and used consistently. Forhan's tones the gums and hardens them. They in turn keep the teeth healthy. Brush your teeth with Forhan's. It cleans them scientifically—keeps them white and clean.

If gum-shrinkage has already set in, start using Forhan's and consult a dentist immediately for special treatment. 35c and 60c tubes. All Druggists.

MANGLED ENGLISH.

Objections which have been raised in London to overmuch use of slang in the captions in moving picture productions imported from this country are not unwarranted as we recall the wild and incoherent abuse of the English language by scenario writers and producers on this side of the Atlantic.

Of what use are the schools and the study of the common language if "howja" for instance is to be substituted for "how would you," "doncha" is written for don't you" and "gunna" stares one in the face where "going to" ought to be? There are some good and expressive slang terms which are peculiarly American and which can be used effectively at times but the movie men go too far, far too far, and as a great many people take their lessons in the picture play house these days, they are bound to bring about sloppy, careless use of language that must be treated with dignity sometimes if it is to be maintained. Esperantists and their like to the contrarp notwithstanding.

Slang and mangled English may properly be left to the sporting writer and to those rarer occasions when the lightness of the subject or the situation warrants their use.—Buffalo Commercial.

The Promoter's Wife

BY JANE PHELPS

BARBARA IS ENLIGHTENED AS TO HER HUSBAND'S SCHEMES

CHAPTER XLIX.

After that they talked more quietly. I had to listen very closely to catch anything of what they were saying. But they seemed to be arguing. Neil spoke more loudly than the other men, and I would occasionally catch a sentence:

"Others do the same thing," was one. "Why shouldn't I make a little money selling shares in oil lands as well as other men?" was another. Then: "You know as well as I do that oil has been found on that tract. Where it has been found once, and so near, it is a good gambling chance it may be found on my land."

"Do you own that land?" it was Frederick who asked the question.

"I have an option on it." Just then there was a scraping of chairs and I hurriedly abandoned my position and scurried up-stairs.

What did it all mean? Surely, as he had said, Neil had as much right to make money as other men. If oil had been found, wasn't he also justified in thinking that it would again be found on land evidently so near other wells? Then he had told Frederick that he had an option on the land. Why in the world wasn't he all right in his business ideas? They seemed sound to me, yet Mr. Frederick seemed to think otherwise—had even talked of "jail." I shuddered as I recalled his words:

"I tell you, Forbes, they could put you in jail for what you have done" then, "For God's sake, man, stop it!"

Would a man of his, Frederick's type, say such a thing without having a good reason — or what he thought one? I felt sure he was speaking honestly, yet like many other wives I gave Neil credit for being a better business man, knowing a bit more about making money than other men. "Mr. Frederick didn't understand," I thought as I undressed. Neil would be up soon, and he hated to see me sitting up so late, especially since baby came.

It was nearly an hour later when Neil came up-stairs. I was awake and so sat up in bed to talk with him while he undressed.

"What in the world were you men quarreling about?" I asked.

"We weren't quarreling."

"You talked awfully loud."

"Perhaps."

"Who is Mr. Black?"

"One of the company — How did you know he was here?"

"I heard the name when I passed the door."

Neil looked sharply at me, but said nothing. At first I was inclined to tell him what I had heard, what Mr. Frederick had said. Then I looked at him, and I just couldn't! I could not insult him by repeating what I had overheard. He looked so far removed from a man who would do anything the least bit crooked, that I felt myself blush and was glad of the half-light so that he would not see it.

"What else did you hear?" the question was so unexpected, I started. Should I tell him? He himself had given me the opportunity. Then once more as I looked at him I found it impossible to accuse him of anything wrong, and hastily prevaricated:

"I came up-stairs, you know; so, while I heard talking, it was impossible to tell what you were saying?"

"That means that you tried?"

"I did not stop on the stairs, if that is what you mean. I came directly up." Again I had evaded the truth.

"Well we had it hot and heavy. Frederick is an old crank. He is about a thousand years behind the times in his business methods. This is a hustling age. I can tell you, and you have got to get ahead of the other fellow or he will get ahead of you as sure as shooting."

My uneasiness returned. Get ahead of the other fellow." It was such speeches as this that worried me.

"But—to 'get ahead of the other fellow,' as you say, you don't have to do anything wrong." I made the statement, instead of asking a question.

"No, of course not! what put that notion in your head?" his tone was impatient for the first time.

"You did, by what you said."

"Don't be silly. Just because I tell you a man has to be wide-awake nowadays to get on, you jump to the conclusion that he must do something wrong if he is to succeed. Do be broad-minded enough to think new methods as good as old, and to let your husband run the financial end of the family without your interference."

OSTEND GAY THO' LOOTED

HOTELS RE-OPENED BUT INFLUX WAITS ON ACCOUNT OF PASSPORTS

OSTEND. — The war may be over but Ostend doesn't believe it. Bravely bedecked in much of its prewar glory this Atlantic City of Europe still waits for its crowds.

Most of the filth of the Germans invasion cleaned away, its beaches swept like a well-kept floor, its bathhouses freshly painted and with many flags flying, Ostend is all ready to be gay again, but only a few scores people dodge the waves as they roll in and break the bright sunshine. The trouble is that the British and French, who always formed the great mass of Ostend's customers, cannot get passes yet.

Ostend is worth visiting now. It was always interesting, but the war has added interest to this famous watering place. Off on the north end of the ocean promenade lies in good view the wreck of the Invincible, the British battleship so bravely sunk to bottle up the harbor when the Germans were using it in U-boat warfare. Divers are busy on the old hull but it will probably stick in its present resting place for some time.

Up the boulevard four big German naval guns stand where they once could sweep the beach from end to end. They have been ruined, so that they could be of no use to the Belgians or other allies, but they are great war souvenirs, in their emplacements, looking out to sea in impotent ugliness. Along the sea wall is strung mile after mile of wire, representing German preparation to fight against landing parties had they come from the allied fleets.

One of the most interesting war relics in this place is the wreck of the Palace Hotel. This was the finest hotel in Ostend. Representing an investment of millions, it was considered the last word in seaside elegance. Built for princes and millionaires, it was used by the Germans as a stable.

I do not know whether the story of the Palace Hotel has been told before, but if so it is worth telling again. On the first day the German invaders reached Ostend the higher officers, naturally went to the Palace Hotel. They picked out their rooms and prepared to settle down in elegance.

When night came they turned the switches, but there was no light. They got ready to wash up, but there was no hot water. They called the caretaker who told them that the proprietor of the hotel had closed it on the third day of the war. In great anger they kicked the caretaker down the marble stairs.

The next morning all the officers left going to other hotels where they could get hot water. About noon 1,600 German soldiers and 2,000 German horses arrived and occupied the hotel. In the magnificent dining-room, more than 500 feet long, a great glass encased balcony they stabled horses. In the gambling room, in the theatre they stabled more horses.

The men were scattered through the hotel. They tell me that 50,000 bottles of wine in the cellar were consumed in two days amid scenes of debauchery.

There is not in the Palace Hotel to-day one thing that the Germans could move. There is not a bed, chair, a carpet, a dish, a piece of silverware, a cooking utensil, a stove, an electric light or bath fixture, a picture or furnishing of any kind.

Stained glass has been broken and marble pillars have been shattered by blows which apparently were dealth with sledge hammers. Thousands of window panes have been smashed. Even tile floors were taken up and carried away. The dining rooms and other stables of the German horses were deface beyond repair.

When I looked over that wrecked hotel, I could not help comparing its state to that of the big Coblenzer Hof in Coblenz, occupied by American officers. Not only has not one thing ever been taken from the German hotel by the Americans, but in addition to paying a thousand marks a day for the use of the rooms, the German proprietor is allowed a profit on each meal, and profit on sales of wines.

Other hotels in Ostend were not treated so badly—they had not turned off the hot water. The proprietor of the Hotel de-l'Ocean, where I am stopping, apologizes for the furnishings of my room. He says that the Germans stole half of his movable property, but he has been able to do wonders in reparation.

This hotel and others are making brave effort and are keeping at it. The food supply is good and the cuisine excellent. The business men here hope that next month will bring a large influx of visitors, if British and French passport regulations are somewhat lifted by that time.

TRUE TO TYPE.

An English officer, returned from Ruhleben, has a tale to tell which illustrates the marked difference in temperament between the Englishman and the German, remarks "Londoner" in the Evening Standard. As petty thefts and minor offences were too frequent among prisoners whom their colleagues ranked as "undesirables," the leaders of the camp asked for authority to deal with the offenders. "Pray leave them to us," said the German officer in charge, to whom the request was adressed. "We shall know what to do with them if you will give us particulars as to names and offences." It was thereupon courteously pointed out to him that tale bearing was always unpopular among Englishmen, and that in these cases it would be most repugnant to them, as they would be betraying their compatroits to punishment by the enemy. The German heard them with pity and astonishment, and then said, in the tone of a pedagogue addressing an ignorant class:—"Do you know that it is by telling tales of each other that we Germans have become the great people we are!"

How Nuxated Iron Helped Me To Whip Jess Willard

Put Me In Such Superb Condition As To Enable

Me To Whip Jess Willard

And Win The World's Championship

JACK DEMPSEY
"TIGER OF THE RING"

Tells a Secret of His Training—Recommends Nuxated Iron To Every Man and Woman Who Wants To Build Greater

Strength, Energy and Power

"Nuxated Iron put added power behind my punch and helped me to accomplish what I did at Toledo."
JACK DEMPSEY

Today recognized as the physical superior to any living man—the Superman of the Age—Jack Dempsey, Heavyweight Champion of the world, explains below the part Nuxated Iron played in helping to prepare him for the supreme test of his career. In his decisive, smashing victory over the mighty Willard who had never before been knocked from his feet, Dempsey displayed a dynamic overwhelming strength and power never before known in the history of the ring. That he took Nuxated Iron as a part of his training is convincing evidence of the importance Dempsey attached to keeping his blood rich in strength-giving iron, and the high regard in which he holds Nuxated Iron as a master strength and blood builder.

In a statement made at his training quarters in Toledo, the scene of the big battle, Jack Dempsey said: "After commencing the use of Nuxated Iron during my training for the big fight with Jess Willard, I soon noticed that I could stand harder strains with less fatigue than before, and I realized that I had found a tonic and blood builder which played an important part in getting me into fine condition. Formerly, I had relied solely upon strength-building foods and outdoor exercise to keep my blood rich in red corpuscles, but with the World's Championship at stake, I felt that I should leave nothing undone that might help me to win. I was advised of the great value of Nuxated Iron for building up the blood, strengthening the nerves and aiding in keeping the body fit, and I am firmly convinced that its use has helped to wonderfully increase my stamina and endurance. Nuxated Iron put added power behind my punch and helped me to accomplish what I did at Toledo. From the results in my own case where the possession of super endurance is necessary, I feel that I am in a position to strongly recommend Nuxated Iron to every man and woman who wants to build greater strength, energy and power."

In connection with the foregoing statement made by Jack Dempsey, Dr. James Francis Sullivan, formerly physician of Bellevue Hospital (Outdoor Dept.), New York, and the Westchester County Hospital, said: "The methods of training adopted by Willard and Dempsey may have had a great deal to do with the outcome of this fight. According to reports Dempsey placed himself unreservedly in the hands of expert trainers and competent physicians and heeded their advice. In my opinion whoever made the suggestion that Nuxated Iron should play a part in getting Dempsey into condition is to be commended for his foresight. No man without plenty of rich, red blood filled with health-giving and strength building iron could withstand the terrific onslaughts of a giant like Willard. It should occur to every thinking person that if a man as physically fit as Dempsey should consider it advisable to take Nuxated Iron, how much more important it is for the average man or woman to see that there is no lack of iron in the blood. There is today a surprising number of persons who suffer from iron deficiency. Many a capable man or woman falls just short of winning because they don't back up their mentality with the physical strength and energy which comes from having plenty of iron in the blood. Lack of iron in the blood not only makes a man a physical and mental weakling, nervous, irritable, easily fatigued, but it utterly robs him of that virile force, that stamina and strength of will which are so necessary to success and power in every walk of life. It may also transform a beautiful, sweet-tempered woman into one who is cross, nervous and irritable. To help make strong, keen, red-blooded Americans there is nothing in my experience which I have found so valuable as organic iron—Nuxated Iron."

Dr. John J. Van Norne, (formerly Medical Inspector and Clinical Physician on the Board of Health of the City of New York), says: "Strength and vitality of body and mind are derived from the blood and the blood in turn derives it from the food we eat and the oxygen contained in the air we breathe. But unless the blood is rich in iron to increase its oxygen power, it cannot develop living tissue muscle and brain or keep active the vital forces. Strong, healthy men and women with plenty of iron in their blood are the ones who go through life with a smile, self-reliant and fearless and their dynamic power and energy make them virtually masters of their own destinies. It is surprising how many people who do not get along in life are in reality suffering from iron deficiency and do not know it. To supply this lack of iron and help build stronger, healthier men and women, better able physically to meet the problems of everyday life, I believe that physicians should, at every opportunity, prescribe organic iron—Nuxated Iron—for in my experience it is one of the best tonic and red blood builders known to medical science."

William Harrison ("Jack") Dempsey—

Although like an untamed tiger in the ring, the intensely human side of the new World's Champion is clearly shown by a remark he is quoted as making just before the big fight, in which he said: "I have telegraphed my Mother that I will win the championship and I am not going to disappoint her. I'm going to win that title if for no other reason than because I've promised her I would."

Dempsey describes here the part Nuxated Iron played in helping him to keep his promise to win the title.

Manufacturers' Note: Nuxated Iron which has been used by Jack Dempsey and which is prescribed and recommended above by physicians is not a secret remedy but can be obtained from druggists in compact form. Ask for the Nuxated Iron tablets. It is easily assimilated and does not injure the teeth, make them black, nor upset the stomach. The manufacturers guarantee successful and entirely satisfactory results to every purchaser or they will refund your money. It is dispensed by all good druggists.

PETES AWAY OFF COLOUR IN GAMES WITH THE HILLCRESTS

AFTER TAKING EARLY LEAD OVER TORONTO CREW THE LOCAL GANG BLEW UP IN THE SIXTH AND THREW THE GAME AWAY---BYE'S HITTING ONE OF THE FEATURES OF A LONG-DRAWN OUT, LOOSELY PLAYED ENGAGEMENT.

Playing miles below their usual form, the Peterboro Central League team were beaten 15 to 8 in their exhibition game with the Hillcrests of the Toronto Western City League on Saturday.

The Petes collected a lead of four runs in the first innings and were ahead 5 to 4 at the end of the fourth but in the next session Manager Solomon's team blew up completely. A couple of errors started the trouble and with a base on balls and five hits sandwiched in with slow fielding on a couple of bunts and a pair of wild throws thrown in for good measure, the Hillcrests bagged 9 runs, the last seven of them with two men out. The bad innings put the old ball game completely on the blink.

Outside of Babe Dyer's ability to hammer the ball and Hennessey's fine catching and great peging to bases, the Hillcrests showed very little out of the ordinary and the Petes' usual standard of ball would have given them an easy victory over the Toronto gang.

The much-touted Dye did not reveal much class as a pitcher, being found for thirteen hits of which cherrett collected four in five times up, and handing out five complimentaries as well but he lived up to his reputation as a slugger by making three hits, one of which was a triple, with two on the sacks, and another a double with the base full. The two extra base knocks were solid drives. Dye, however, got in bad with the crowd and showed the reason for his nickname by his childish conduct in the fourth innings when he nearly quit the game because of a decision at second base. Dye threw his glove on the ground and started to walk off the diamond and it took the persuasion of the whole Hilcrest team to get him back in the box again.

Kirn was on the rubber for the Petes and got by in good style in the early stages until the fourth when after hitting one man and putting another on the runways by a wild throw he made the mistake of grooving one to Dye who promptly tripled, sending in two runs and scoring himself on a fumble by Ray Rose. Kirn's wildness gave the enemy another in the fourth. With one got he hit Dwan, Garnett forced his manager at second on a tap to Cherrett, but Hennessey scratched a hit through the box, and Kirn passed Britton and Dye, forcing in a run. With the bases full Ray Rose made a fine play on Allward's grounder.

The next innings was a nightmare. A fumble by Cherrett and wild throw by Soden on Murphy's bunt, put two on. Warrinder singled to left to score one. Dwan's bunt was fielded to third too late to get Murphy, and everybody was safe. On Garnett's bunt Dwan scored and the batter reached first. Hennessey popped to Kirn and Britton fanned and the trouble seemed to be over, but along came Dye. He cracked one down the first base line for two bases, scoring Warrinder, Dwan and Garnett, a high throw to the plate by Swanston letting the last one over. A pass to Allward, a double steal, singles by Genian, Murphy and Warrinder and a bad throw by Soden, let four more runs across before Kirn finally retired the side by grabbing Garnett's grounder.

The enemy got two more in the seventh. Hennessey was hit to start with, stole second and went to third on a passed ball, scoring on Dye's roller to Ray Rose, the throw to the plate being late. Allward singled to right and Dye went on the way home when Swanston threw high to third. Genian singled to right and Lornie Rose took Kirn's place on the rubber. He immediately proceeded to strike out Murphy and Warrinder, and put a prompt end to the run-getting, the Hillcrests being blanked in the last two innings. Rose had fine speed and good control and held the visitors in fine style.

The Petes got off to a great start. Cherrett opened with a single over second and stole the middle sack, being safe when Genian dropped Hennessey's perfect throw. Ray Rose was hit, Swanston pushed a single through short, scoring Cherrett; Jackson flied to centre; Dye dropped L. Rose's bunt fly, and the bases were full. Clancy singled to left scoring R. Rose and Swanston, but was out trying to reach second. Kirn and Murray walked and McCarney bunted safely scoring L. Rose.

The Homesters got another in the fourth on Murray's double, McCarney's sacrifice and Cherrett's safe bunt.

In the seventh, Swanston reached second on Dwan's bad throw but was out when Jackson hit to Garnett. L. Rose popped to Dye but Clancy was safe on Murphy's muff and Kirn's single to left scored Jackson.

In the eighth with one out, Cherrett beat out a bunt and went to second on Dye's bad throw. Ray Rose was hit and Swanston singled, filling the bases. Jackson's grounder to Garnett forced Cherrett at the plate, but Murphy lost Hennessey's throw for a double, and Ray Rose scored, and Swanston came home when Hennessey threw low to second to stop Jackson stealing.

Smith and McDonald. The detail scores were as follows:

LAY WINNIPEG CASE BEFORE MR. DOHERTY

(Special to Examiner.)

Winnipeg, Man., Aug. 25th. — Hon. C. J. Doherty, Minister of Justice will be asked on his arrival in Winnipeg on Wednesday, to attend the annual convention of the Canadian Bar Association, to take up the cases of Michael Charitonoff and Oscar Schoppelrei recently ordered deported by a Special Board of Inquiry under the amended Imigration Act, Marcus Hyman, the lawyer for the men, said on Saturday.

As a result of a telegram received by Mr. Hyman from Hon. Mr. Calder Minister of Immigration, there appears that there is little likelihood that Calder will take up the cases before his return to Ottawa. He does not expect to stop over in Winnipeg on his return trip, according to Mr. Hyman, however. It is not considered likely that as Minister of Immigration he will dispose of the cases without consultation with the Minister of Justice. "It is really up to the Minister of Justice," Hyman said.

NOVITIATE ENQUIRY ADJOURNED TO SEPT. 8 SITTINGS IN OTTAWA

SIR SAM HUGHES WAS FIRST ARRIVAL AT THIS MORNING'S SESSION.

(Special to The Examiner.)

OTTAWA Aug. 25. — The much-talked of Royal Commission to inquire into the why and wherefores of the raid by the military on the Novitiate at Guelph began its opening session in the Supreme Court Building Ottawa, precisely at 11.15 this morning before Mr. Justice Middleton of the Supreme Court of Ontario and Mr. Justice Chisholm of the Supreme Court of Ontario and Mr. Justice Chisholm of the Supreme Court of Nova Scotia.

Sir Sam Hughes was first on the scene, making inquiries as to the whereabouts of the court room. Rev. K. H. Palmer, formerly of the Guelph Ministerial Association, was next to appear. He was followed by Mr. T. R. Ferguson, K.C., of Toronto, his counsel, Mr. E. L. Newcombe, K.C., Deputy Minister of Justice and O. L. Biggar, K.C., Judge Advocate General, were next on the scene. The judges followed a few minutes later, and without formality the session commenced with the reading of the Commission which set out the various charges made by different parties, including Sir Sam Hughes. Among other things it was charged that the novitiate failed to have its inmates register under the M.S.A. and that Capt. McAuley, who made the raid on the premises, had been improperly relieved of his position by the Department of Justice.

Sir Sam Represents Himself.

Mr. E. L. Newcombe intimated he appeared for all parties who might be termed the accused.

Mr. Justice Middleton — "What about the Novitiate. Have they had notice?"

Mr. Newcombe — "Yes, I understand that if at a later stage they think they are concerned, they will be represented."

Mr. Justice Middleton— "Is there anyone else who wishes to be represented?"

Sir Sam Hughes—"I propose to represent myself."

Justice Middleton—"Are you prepared to go into the charges, Mr. Ferguson?" "No, my Lord. I have no witnesses here."

He then stated there was a question of witnesses' subpoenas and expense money to be settled. He suggested that the sittings of the Commission be held in London, as the witnesses were there. One of his witnesses was a Mr. Burrows, who was in Vancouver. He was an officer who wrote from Ottawa to the Military Department at London, enclosing a written memorandum to the effect that the Guelph Novitiate was to be cleaned up. That the memorandum bore the initials "S.C.M." which were the initials of the Minister of Militia.

Will Sit in Ottawa.

The question of venue was then taken up again. For Mr. Palmer Mr. Ferguson suggested London as the meeting place, as most of the witnesses were there.

Mr. Newcombe, however, wanted Ottawa as the place of hearing.

"If the government wishes to bring the witnesses from London, then we will sit here," said His Lordship.

"I rely on you Mr. Ferguson to keep your list of witnesses within bounds." Replying to Sir Sam Hughes, Mr. Justice Middleton said the government would pay the proper expenses of the witnesses.

After some further discussion it was agreed that the next sittings should take place in Ottawa on Sept. 8 and the Commission adjourned.

BEGAN LONG AIRPLANE RACE FROM TORONTO

The machines are being started singly or in pairs, and at 1.15 six of the eighteen starters had got away.

GO TO ENGLAND FOR GOODS.

American Buyers Change Their Mind About High Prices.

LONDON, — Sir W. Robertson Nicoll, writing in the British Weekly, says it is a significant fact that one of the largest of the Chicago departmental stores sent a number of their buyers to this country about January last. They returned to America without placing any orders and informed the English manufacturers that their quotations were "impossible."

Now they are over here once again he says, and buying in very large quantities, indeed at higher prices than those quoted last January.

EXTREMISTS IN INDIA

Government Warned of Possible Dangers from Them.

LONDON, Aug. 25—A grave warning about the possibilities in India arising from the activities of Extremists was uttered to-day by Sir Harrington Verney Lovett, who has held many important positions in the Indian Government, in the course of testimony before the committee of the Government which is considering the India Bill.

GREAT WAR RECORD OF A CHICAGO MAN.

British Reservist Was Wounded Several Times.

NEW YORK. — One of the British reservists who returned a few days ago from England, after long service, was Jack Harris, of Chicago. Harris went into the war early, going to Southampton at his own expense, in September, 1914, and enlisting with the British. He fought with the Middlesex Regiment at Ypres, Neuvechapelle, Loos, Festubert and then at the Somme, where he was severely wounded by shrapnel.

After ten weeks in a hospital he rejoined his regiment and remained in reserve until January, 1917, when he was gassed at Peronne. In July of the same year he was struck by shrapnel and remained on a hospital cot for three months. Then he fought again at the Ancre, in September, and at Cambrai in March, 1918, during the German advance. In May of last year he rescued an officer who had been severely wounded and who was lying in No Man's Land, and received the Distinguished Conduct Medal for his bravery.

Fighting throughout the year guard actions and the retreats toward the sea, Harris finally, on August 24, 1918 at St. Quentin, received the wound that put him out of the war, when a high explosive shell took off his right leg.

NOT ALARMED.

The English sovereign, nominally worth $4.86, was quoted in New York at $4.26½ the other day. It is a new low level in foreign exchange. However, the "tight little isle," as the New York "Herald" so well says, does not consider this high premium on exchange an unmixed evil, for it tends to check imports and force her own machinery, add to the world's stock of products and employ her labor, thus steadying economic conditions. In that way England figures she can gradually produce goods, add to her wealth and the wealth of the world and help restore the purchasing power not only of the English sovereign but the American dollar. Both countries need more products to reduce the high cost of living.

SILESIA UNDER THE HUNS.

(Special to the Examiner.)

PARIS, August 25. — Germany has declined to inhibe the allied troops to police Silesia because they have that right under the treaty, which stipulates that they are to safeguard the plebiscite there.

The situation is unsatisfactory and the Germans are reported to be bringing about recrudescence of the recent reign of terror in that province.

CHOIR ENJOYED PICNIC.

St. James' Church Songsters Motored to Wallace's Point.

On Saturday afternoon 38 members of St. James' Methodist choir motored to Wallace's Point in cars supplied by members of the church, and an afternoon of genuine enjoyment was spent by all. Picnic lunch was served and a fine programme of sports provided.

In a baseball game Captain Frank Pratt's amateur team defeated Captain Frank Kitney's "pros." by 14 runs, and in the tug-of-war which followed, Captain Pratt's team again proved their superiority over Captain Kitney's, by winning two out of three. The party returned to the city at about 9.30.

THE NEW YORK STOCK MARKET

(Special to The Examiner.)

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—The stock market opening was irregular. Steels were off fractionally, while oils were up a bit. U. S. Steel opened at 100 3-4 off 5-8. Crucible at 139 off 7-8. t 57 1-2 up 1-4. PanAmerican at 110 14 up 1-4. Marine 56 5-8 off 1-8. Marine Pref. at 117 1-2 up 7-8.

A reaction from the opening level was general among leading issues during the first half-hour. Steel went to 100 1-8, Pan-American to 108 3-4, and Alcohol, which showed especial weakness, was off 3 1-4 at 120 1-4.

NEW YORK, Oug. 25.—Sterling demand was barely steady at the opening of the money market to-day, being quoted at $4.19 1-4 off 1-2 cent.

Francs cheques were one centime lower at 8.11 francs per one dollar.

After the absorption of selling during the first hour, shorts found it difficult to retire contracts made earlier without bidding up prices. Oils were in demand and improved quickly after the pressure on the general list was lifted.

Steels acted well, U. S. Steel rallying to 100 3-4, and Crucible from 137⅞ to 138½.

In the Rail group Reading sold at 70 5-8, up 7-8, and Newhaven at 34, up 1¼. This entire group showed a better tone.

WILL URGE JAPAN TO PUBLISH AGREEMENT TO RETURN SHANTUNG

WOULD STRENGTHEN PRESIDENT WILSON'S POSITION IN SECURING THE RATIFICATION OF THE PEACE TREATY BY THE SENATE.

OTHER POWERS INTERESTED

(By Fred. S. Ferguson).

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—A renewed attempt to force Japan to publish the agreement, whereby she guarantees the ultimate return of Shantung to China, is believed likely to-day as a result of the Senate situation growing out of the amendment of the Foreign Relations Committee. This agreement, while verbal in so far as the records of the Peace Conference are concerned, is in existence in writing. The Japanese, however, have heretofore consistently refused to permit its publication. An attempt to obtain the release of the actual wording of this agreement was made some two months ago in Paris. Other powers approached the Japanese on the subject but with no success. The President consequently has been forced to refuse to give it to the Senate.

Would Strengthen Wilson's Position.

While administration Senators are confident of beating the Shantung agreement on the floor, they recognize that the fight must be made on the principle that in order to assure the early restoration of peace, the treaty should be ratified without amendment or reservation. It is known that many diplomats connected with the Peace Conference feel that the President's position would be strengthened should the actual text of the Japanese agreement be published. For that reason the previous attempt to smoke out the Japanese had some support from other powers, which are anxious to see the early American ratification of the Treaty. A renewed attempt might be expected to get the same support.

PETERBORO BOY AT THE EXHIBITION

LIEUT. VIC. DALLIN IS A MEMBER OF COL BARKER'S "STUNT" CIRCUS FLYERS.

A well-known Peterborough boy, Lieut. Victor Dallin, who went overseas with the band of the 83rd Battalion, and subsequently transferred to the Royal Flying Corps, is one of the Canadian aviators in command of Col. Barker, V.C., who are giving thrilling exhibitions of flying at the Toronto Exhibition. Captains James and Pearson are the other "stunt flyers," in addition to Col. Barker himself. It is a splendid honour to be chosen for this work, and speaks well for Lieut. Dallin's skill as a flyer.

FIVE OF MEXICAN BANDITS KILLED

United States Cavalry Victors in a Clash on Mexican Soil.

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, Aug. 25.—Captain Leonard Matlack, leading the pursuit of the fleeing Mexican bandits, hoped to encounter Renjario, the leader, some time to-day, according to reports to southern army headquarters here.

The Eighth Cavalry renewed the chase at dawn to-day. Five bandits have been accounted for. Four were killed yesterday when troops came upon a group of Rentarians in an adobe fortress. As the cavalry approached rifles blazed from the portholes. The soldiers rushed at once, taking position without injury to a man. Three or four bandits were known to have fled on the approach of the Americans. No trace of them was found after the cash.
after the clash.

Three of the Mexican dead were identified as Jesus and Francisco Janir and Jose Fuentes. The fourth was unknown. All were known as Rentarians.

MANN'S SAWMILL BADLY BURNED AT NOON TO-DAY

FIRE BELIEVED TO HAVE ORIGINATED IN ELECTRIC EQUIPMENT.

A fire which broke out at 13.49 o'clock this afternoon considerably damaged the saw mill at the E. H. Mann Co's lumber yard.

The fire is believed to have been caused by the electric motor or wires leading to it, but nothing definite is known.

The fire started in the part of the building occupied by the motor, but was kept by the firemen from spreading beyond the mill itself.

The motor was badly damaged, the belts burned, and the building suffered considerably. The fire continued to burn until about 1.30 o'clock.

The amount of the damage cannot yet be estimated.

VETERAN OF THE WAR IS CRUSHED TO DEATH IN STREET RAILWAY BARN

"TEDDIE" GUERIN, FORMERLY OF THE 2ND CANADIAN PIONEER BATTALION, ALMOST INSTANTLY KILLED THIS MORNING WHEN HE WAS CAUGHT BETWEEN TWO CARS IN MAKING REPAIRS.

INQUEST IS HELD

Adelard ("Teddie") Guerin, 81 London Street, employed by the Radial Railway Company as night repair man, was almost instantly killed this morning at three o'clock, when, in doing some repair work on car No. 15 at the King Street barn, the car started and jammed into car No. 34, which was standing over the pit facing No. 15.

Adelard Guerin and William Geraghty were alone at the barn, Geraghty working outside and Guerin on the controller of number 15, which had been out of order. Guerin got into the car, pulled the trolley off, shutting off the power, and moved the controller round two fingers in order to find where the trouble lay. Evidently forgetting that he had done so, he got out into the pit in order to put on the pit lights. He called to Geraghty and asked him if there would be enough light from where it was hung, and upon Geraghty assuring him that there would be, Guerin stepped between the cars, replacing the trolley, instantly starting the power, and was caught between the cars.

Heard Guerin Cry Out.

Hearing the power start and the noise of the explosion, intermingled with a cry for help, Geraghty rushed into the barn, and instantly realising what had happened, pulled the now mangled body out from between the cars.

Guerin spoke only once, murmuring a prayer, and lay back insensible. Geraghty ran to get a doctor, but was unable to do so. He called the Police Station, number 108, trusting at the same time that it was the Police Station he wanted. Central connected him with a real estate man. A second trial for the Police Station resulted in his again being connected with the wrong number. Desperate, he ran to the Station, and notified Sergeant Desmarais, who immediately notified Dr. Malcolm McCulloch, and sent P. C. Wigg and P. C. Boyd to the barns with Geraghty.

Pronounced Dead.

Dr. McCulloch pronounced Guerin dead and sent for Rev. C. J. Phelan, who immediately came to the barns, and carried the news of his death to Guerin's home.

The body was removed to Lane & Eano's undertaking establishment. It was badly mangled in the collision.

An inquest was held this morning at Lane & Eano's undertaking parlours. The following jury was empanelled: W. H. Meredith (foreman), Lewis LeBarr, Norman Stockdale, Bert McClellan, William Lech, Joseph Picard, John H. Primeau, Andrew Laidlaw, James Lewis, Robert J. Matchett.

The inquest was then adjourned until Tuesday evening, when a hearing will be held in the Police Court at 8 o'clock.

A post-mortem examination of the body was made at eleven o'clock this morning by Dr. Wood and Dr. McCulloch.

Born in Peterboro

The late Mr. Guerin was 44 years of age and was born in Peterboro where he had resided practically all his life. Four years ago he went overseas with the 2nd Canadian Pioneer Battalion and spent one year in England. He leaves of the immediate family his wife and 8 children, Vincent, Norman, Earle, Irene One son Ray was drowned in the Otonabee river three years ago. Two brothers Napoleon and Joseph also survive.

ALLEN THEATRE SOON TO OPEN

WILL BE ONE OF THE FINEST PLAY HOUSES IN THE PROVINCE.

Mr. Rosenthal has arrived to take charge and rush through the construction work on the new Allen Theatre. This place is being entirely remodelled, and when completed will be one of the finest photo-play houses in any city of its size in Ontario. The new theatre will be ready to open the first of September.

One of the features will be the new ticket machine, which will automatically count, cut and release the tickets. This will prevent the possible loss at a box office necessitated in the slow and antique method of tearing off tickets from a roll.

The Allens are sparing no expense to make this theatre worthy of patronage to the best people.

LIVERPOOL PORT STILL CONGESTED

DOCK SHEDS AND WAREHOUSES ARE CHOKED---FREIGHT PRICES GO UP.

LIVERPOOL, Aug. 26. — The state of congestion at the port of Liverpool is still bad, even if it is not getting worse. It is probable that never in Liverpool's history have the dock-sheds and the warehouses been choked as they are to-day. Cargo vessels have to wait days and sometimes for weeks for their berths, and even then days or weeks must elapse before they can be unloaded and turned around.

In consequence of the congested sheds the work of getting goods away is considerably delayed and the holding up of ships adds to the shipping expenses and therefore reacts on the freight prices. Aparently the major portion of the fault lies with the railways which are unable to cope with the vast increasing demands made upon them. Locally the shortage of wagons has had its effect in this respect but the condition has been rendered worse owing to the increased pressure put on the railway traffic. The government has arranged for a service of motor lorries in order that the ports may be cleared quicker than is now possible. A traffic committe of the dock-boards is also investigating the whole question and it is hoped that they may be able to evolve a satisfactory scheme.

IMPORTS ARE FEWER INTO BRITAIN NOW

Americans Advised Not to Flood Market With Their Goods

LONDON, Aug. 25.— A careful survey of the trade situation does not confirm the view prevalent that the trend of events is all in favor of America's export trade, according to the writer of a special article to which the Daily Mail gives much prominence this morning, and concerning which it says editorially that the great rush of imports into Great Britain seems to be ceasing and that exportation on a considerable scale is about to begin.

The writer of the special articles says the British Government chose September 1 for the withdrawal of import restrictions to accord with the arrival in this country of an unprecedented stream of shipping, which has been loading foodstuffs in Australia for Great Britain.

Many Ships Arrive

Many vessels already have arrived and the ocean route is thronged with others so that henceforth Great Britain will not be dependent on transatlatic sources for food. The gathering of the home harvest, he adds, aids the situation. As regards British export prospects, the writer asserts it is well known in commercial circles that considerable stock of textiles, cutlery and other goods are available for export.

"America has been pouring goods into Europe," says the writer, "but the rate of exchange now is against American importers who, with heavy committments are not pleased at the outlook for their trade and are not overjoyed by the removal of the British restrictions. Many alert American businessmen here have advised American manufacturers to cease flooding the British market."

"CABOTIA" AGROUND AT KINGSTON DOCK

(Special to The Examiner.)

KINGSTON, Ont., Aug. 26. — While on her way from Atabula to Montreal loaded with coal the steamer Cabotia ran aground near the main docks and suffered serious damage. The members of the crew are safe. The Donnelly Wrecking Co. has sent the steamer Cornwall and a barge to assist to pull the vessel off.

$30,000 SEIZED IN RAID OF MICHIGAN GAMBLING RESORT

LARGE SUMS REPORTED TO HAVE BEEN LOST NIGHTLY AT MACKINAC ISLAND---PATRONISED BY THE RICH.

NO ARRESTS MADE

MACKINAC ISLAND, Mich., Aug. 26.—Guests at the Grand Hotel here Michigan's most fashionable Monte Carlo and summer resort, were thrown into a state bordering on panic when a squad of State Constabulary, acting under instructions from the Attorney-General's office, raided the hotel last Friday night and seized roulette wheels and other gambling paraphernalia valued at $30,000.

There was no warning of the impending raid, and when the officers appeared, richly-clad women and men in evening dress, who had been tempting fortune, fled in all directions. The games, it is alleged, have been operated by the same men who conduct the French Lick Indian resort, and hundreds of players have visited the rooms at the Grand Hotel nightly, according to information gathered by the Attorney-General's department and Michigan State Police.

Enormous sums are said to have changed hands on the single turn of a wheel or a card, and as many as five hundred players have been seated about tables at the same time. No arrests have yet been made, but these are promised in a day or two.

OLD TRIANGLE IN MONTREAL MURDER

JOHN QUINN'S VICTIM SAID TO HAVE ANNOYED HIS WIFE.

MONTREAL, Aug. 26.—Yesterday in broad daylight at the corner of St. Alexander and Jurors street, John Quinn shot and killed Roch Sammon, [illegible] made a full confession. Quinn's wife had complained to him that Sammon had been annoying her by his attentions. Late yesterday afternoon, as the Quinns came out of their boarding house, Sammon drove up in a motor and is said to have called out, "You don't hide her. I know where she is."

"Don't you get out of your car," replied Quinn, and seeing Sammon about to disregard his order, covered him with a revolver and fired, the bullet going through the wind shield, and entering Sammon's chest above the heart. He was dead when an ambulance arrived from the hospital.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

GOOD BILL AT THE GRAND.

Last evening's programme at the Grand was enjoyed by a large audience. Carmel Myers in "A Society Sensation," a society play with a new twist to the plot, portrayed the part of the little fisher girl who suddenly found herself in society in a bewitching manner. The picture is a screen version of the novel, "The Borrowed Duchess," by Perley Poore Sheehan, and tells the story of the daughter of a California fish captain who claimed to be a nobleman. His story, published in the newspapers, attracts much attention; and the would-be social lion, Mrs. Jones, introduces his daughter, Sydney, into San Fancisco social circles, where she creates a sensation, and ends up by marrying a very rich young man after she has been proved to be only a humble fisher girl.

Madge Kennedy as Primrose in "Day Dreams," takes the part of a little New England girl who lives in a fanciful world of her own imagining, and is waiting for her "White Knight" to appear and take her to his castle. Her dreams come true, but he proves to be acting for the "concrete king," who desires to marry her, but first wishes to shatter her illusions. Her "Knight," however, had received her in order to keep his brother from being sent to jail by the "concrete king." All ends as it should, and Primrose and her Knight "live happily ever after."

Last but not least is "Fatty" Arbuckle in "Fatty's Canine Friend," another adventure of Fatty's.

TORONTO FAIR HAD BIG DAY

TORONTO, Aug. 26.—All attendance records for a formal opening day at the Canadian National Exhibition went by the boards yesterday, when more than 104,000 people passed through the turnstiles. For the corresponding day last year the attendance was 33,409. The number present on Saturday, which is a day gained, was 88,000, so that the Great Fair is well on its way towards its objective of 1,250,000.

CRISIS FOR SAM GOMPERS

HOME FROM EUROPE TO-DAY, HE MUST DEAL WITH MOST COMPLEX SITUATION OF HIS CAREER.

LABOUR PARTY FOR U.S.?

(By Fred S. Ferguson.)

NEW YORK, Aug. 26. — Samuel Gompers returns home to-day from Europe to face the most serious and complex situation that has arisen during his entire regime as President of the American Federation of Labour.

Gompers was aboard the transport George Washington, the President's ship, which has already played its part in American history, but in landing Gompers on American soil the famous ship played its part in a drama, the consequence of which are considered second only to the peace conference. The George Washington was due to dock this afternoon. Gompers is 69 years old. For 37 years he has directed the labour movement of America as President of the American Federation of Labour, and due to the power that has come to Labour, the entire country was looking to Gompers to-day for an announcement of policy.

With strikes in progress or pending throughout the country, and workers demanding increased wages and coupling [illegible] with protests against the cost of living, observers believe the meeting of the Labour Executive Council in Washington on Thursday will be the most important in its history.

At Parting of the Ways?

Because of the demands of the railroad men for the nationalization of the railroads, with participation in control, and of the agitation throughout the country, the A.F. of L. must soon decide whether it will end or see the principle of the democratization of industries, that is workers participating in control, go half way and endorse the democratization of such industries as are possible of nationalization, such as railroads, mines and monopolies, or continue along the present trade union lines, basing all action on the question of wages and hours.

The railroad brotherhoods have led the way in an effort to break away from the "wages and hours" fight by the adoption of the Plumb plan.

Those supporting the movement toward the democratization of industry declared they "do not want mere increased wages, but release from the servitude of the wage system."

They point out, as President Wilson pointed out in his statement, that as prices go up with every wage increase, a vicious circle is being maintained under the old system. The workers, therefore, want a voice in control.

Labour Party Sentiment.

For the first time in the history of Gomper's leadership, reports are beginning to circulate from the centres of the mass of labour in those regions "being out of control." In Chicago the Labour party movement is said to overshadow the strength of the A. F. of L. The same conditions are beginning to be felt in New York. Gompers has always opposed a Labobr party, but the leaders of the party movement are now confident they will force a new decision. No one in touch with the situation is willing to hazard a guess as to what the decision may be.

CHARGE OF STEALING A HORSEHIDE WITHDRAWN

In this morning's police court, Dr. Wright withdrew the charge of theft which he had laid against Herbert Doig. Doig was charged with stealing a horsehide valued at $18.00. He paid costs of $0.10.

W. Weber was charged with a breach of the traffic regulations, having driven without a rear light. He was fined $5.00 and costs.

OCTOBER 27 DATE OF BYE-ELECTIONS IN EIGHT RIDINGS

NOMINATIONS FOR FEDERAL VACANCIES WILL BE HELD ONE WEEK EARLIER.

NO ACCLAMATIONS ARE EXPECTED

(Special to The Examiner.)

OTTAWA, Aug. 26.—The first contested Federal by-elections held since before the war will take place on 27th October next. The Government has fixed this as the date for polling in the eight vacancies now existing in the Federal representation.

Nomination day will be one week sooner.

It is possible that several other seats will be added to the existing number because of further contemplated changes in the Cabinet, and because Sir Henry Drayton, Minister of Finance, and the Hon. W. L. Mackenzie, Liberal Leader, may seek election in seats other than those at present vacant. Under the circumstances neither the Minister of Finance, the Leader of the Opposition, nor Dr. S. F. Tolmie, Minister of Agriculture will be in the Commons this coming session.

The present vacancies are as follows: Prince, P.E.I., through the death of Captain Reid; East Quebec, through the death of Sir Wilfrid Laurier; Kingston, through the resignation of W. F. Nickle; Glengarry and Stormont, through the death of John McMartin; North Ontario, through the death of Col. Sam Sharp; Assiniboia, through the elevation to the Senate of Hon. J. G. Turriff; Carleton, N.B., through the appointment to the Railway Commission of Hon. F. B. Carvell; and Victoria, B.C., through the appointment of Hon. Dr. Tolmie to the position of Minister of Agriculture.

Farmers' candidates have already been nominated in North Ontario and Glengarry, and there is no doubt that another will be nominated in Assiniboia. As a matter of fact, with the one possible exception of Victoria, no acclamations are anticipated. Even in Quebec East it is expected that the Liberal candidate will be opposed by Labour, while a Government candidate anywhere in Ontario is almost sure of opposition from several quarters.

15,000 BUILDERS IN MONTREAL MAY STRIKE ON MONDAY

DEMAND EIGHT HOUR DAY WITH PAY FOR NINE HOURS---UP TO CONTRACTORS.

MONTREAL, Que., Aug. 26.—It is now regarded as almost certain by the Labour leaders of Montreal that 15,000 workmen of the building industry, represenatives of fourteen crafts, will go on strike on Monday next. The demand is for an eight hour day and the same rate of wages for eight hours as is now paid for nine.

The Executive committee of the Business Agents' Board, who held a special meeting yesterday afternoon to map out the line of action they will adopt if the strike takes place, say that there seems no way possible to avert the strike. They state that they tried to arrange conferences with the master contractors to discuss the situation and if possible to come to some agreement that would meet the situation, but only a few of the representatives of the masters attended and such were non-committal in their views. They allege further that the men have been restless for some time and that they had difficulty in holding them at work while they were trying to reach a settlement with the masters. The vote taken by the workers has, it is claimed, been almost unanimous for the Executive committee to take action and such was definitely decided yesterday. The decision will be submitted on Thursday to the Building Trades Council for ratification and unless the master contractors intimate before Monday that they are willing to grant the demands made or to negotiate regarding them, 15,000 men will not return to their jobs on Tuesday morning.

GERMANS MASSACRE AND DEPORT POLES LIKE THEY TORTURED THE BELGIANS

FLOUT THE ALLIES BY CRUELTIES TO WHICH THEY SUBJECT POLES IN AN EFFORT TO GAIN CONTROL IN UPPER SILESIA---BRITISH PRESS INDIGNANT.

SAYS ALLIES WERE TRICKED

(Special to The Examiner.)

LONDON, Aug. 26. — Charging that the Germans are guilty of the same practises in Upper Silesia as in Belgium in 1914, the Times and Morning Post correspondents in Poland cable a combined appeal to Great Britain to come to the aid of the Poles.

The despatches which appear in to-day's papers, accuse the Germans of massacres and wholesale deportations of able-bodied men for repatriation work in the devastated areas of France and Belgium.

There also have been systematic efforts, the correspondents charge, to discredit the Poles and drive them out of Silesia, thus ensuring a plebiscite favourable to Germany.

Defiant to Victors.

The Morning Post comments on what it describes as "organized crime committed under the nose of the victorious Allies, who are to be held responsible for the massacres, particularly President Wilson and Lloyd George. The latter, according to the Post, imposed the plebiscite policy of Upper Silesia.

"They ought to have known," the paper declares, "that such a policy would provide the Germans with the temptation and incentive to crime. It is a hellish conspiracy. We regret to say we believe several of the Allied statesmen have fallen too easy prey to German cunning. The prebiscite is now a mockery of justice. The situation demands prompt action and condign punishment.

"The Poles should be empowered to take possession of Upper Silesia and the Germans informed that they have forfeited all claims to the territory. What does Wilson think? He who boasted in Boston that the Poles were his special care. What does he think of the manner in which the Germans have shown contempt for his democratic institutions?

The Unspeakable Hun.

The correspondents give the details of five shootings at Myslowitz, forty executions at Grosadombrowka, and forty at Friedenshutte. It is currently reported, but not verified, that 150 persons were shot in the prison at Kattowitz.

The Times, in an editorial, asserts the Germans have acted exactly as anybody familiar with their history and character would have foreseen.

"The Silesian plan was in accordance with the best traditions of the Wilhelmstrasse," the Times said today. "Ebert, Bauer and Erzberger have no more scruples than the Machiavellian statesmen of old."

A News Agency despatch from Copenhagen reports that the Poles suffered heavy losses Sunday night in the fighting at Gleiwitz, in the Silesian district.

SNOWED TO-DAY NEAR BUFFALO

(Canadian Press.)

HORNELL, N. Y., Aug 26.—Earliest snow fall ever recorded at this point, which is fifteen miles south-east of Buffalo, occurred this morning, when in the bright sunshine, light snow fell for five minutes, melting as it fell.

SHANTUNG CASE IS A REAL TEST

FATE OF WHOLE PACT MAY DEPEND UPON THE INCIDENT---WILSON TAKES CHARGE OF THE FIGHT.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.— President Wilson has taken personal charge of the fight against the Shantung amendment to the Peace Treaty. Senators believed to-day, following his unexpected call on Senator Swanson in Swanson's office late yesterday.

Swanson to-day declined to discuss for publication the result of the conference, but it was learned that in the 45 minute conference, Shantung was the burden of the conversation. The President was said to view with concern the possibility that the action of the Foreign Relations committee in amending the Shantung provision so as to return the territory to China instead of giving it to Japan will be approved by the full Senate.

Senators of both parties to-day agreed that the hostility to the Shantung provision has increased since the committee's hearings began.

The general opinion, however, is that the President regards Shantung as the test upon which the fate of the whole pact may hang. If the Shantung amendment goes through Senators predicted other provisions will be changed and that in the President's opinion, as expressed to Senators, would spell disaster, by postponing for months the day of normal things.

ADVISES U.S. GOVERNMENT TO TAKE REFRIGERATING CARS FROM BIG PACKERS

THE FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION RECOMMENDS THAT THESE CARS BE LICENSED TO THE RAILROADS ---TO PREVENT "BIG FIVE" MONOPOLY.

(Canadian Press.)

WASHINGTON, D.C., Aug. 26.— Declaring that the step is necessary to control the business of the five largest packing companies, the Federal Trade Commission, in a special report to President Wilson, recommends the operation of refrigerator cars and cars used for transportation of meat animals be declared a government monopoly. It recommends further that the property concerned, including icing stations and other facilities as well as the cars be acquired by the government and the railroads thereafter be licensed to own and operate them. The big packers, the report says, now own more per cent. of all the refrigerator equipment in the country suitable for transport of fresh meat. The recommendations go on to direct the present classification of service and rates as well as to prevent the danger of monopolistic advantages.

Hopes Women Will Adopt This Habit As Well As Men

Glass of hot water each morning helps us look and feel clean, sweet, fresh.

Happy, bright, alert—vigorous and vivacious—a good clear skin; a natural rosy complexion and freedom from illness are assured only by clean, healthy blood. If only every woman and likewise every man could realize the wonders of the morning inside bath, what a gratifying change would take place.

Instead of the thousands of sickly anaemic-looking men, women and girls with pasty or muddy complexions; instead of the multitudes of "nerve wrecks," "rundowns," "brain fags" and pessimists we should see a virile, optimistic throng of rosy-cheeked people everywhere.

An inside bath is had by drinking, each morning before breakfast, a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver, kidneys and ten yards of bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour fermentations and poisons, thus cleansing, sweetening and freshening the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

Those subject to sick headache, biliousness, nasty breath, rheumatism, cold; and particularly those who have a pallid, sallow complexion and who are constipated very often are urged to obtain a quarter pound of limestone phosphate at the drug store which will cost but a trifle but is sufficent to demonstrate the quick and remarkable change in both health and appearance awaiting those who practice internal sanitation. We must remember that inside cleanliness is more important than outside, because the skin does not disturb impurities to contaminate the blood, while the pores in the thirty feet of bowels do.

MUSIC AND MELODY IN THE EARLY ERA BRASS BAND

WHEN MUSIC WAS CHERISHED BY THE ALUMNI FOR ITS OWN SAKE AND MONEY NO OBJECT.

PRIVATION AND PROSPERITY IN REAL CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOUR.

No sooner does a town get to be so size and refrain from putting up the shutters at night on the windows of the principal stores than it is seized with an avidity to have a band. That is a brass band, reed bands are entirely out of the question. Peterborough, along in the fifties and sixties was not what you would call a musical municipality, but its intentions were certainly good. The nearest approach to a noise-making institution for public refreshment was the old-time singing school. And while the pupils had lots of musical and vocal endeavor when it came to the 12th of July, vocal expression cut very little ice, if the expression may be allowed. And besides it is always a source of comfort and pride to a town to have a real home-made band growing up and expressing the vicissitudes of music and harmony just around the corner. Life never gets so complicated that there isn't time for the chosen few to get together and make a fair bluff at "March of the men of Harlech" or "Caller 'Herrin," or other first-aid selection. The whole population knows where the practice room is. The sounds issuing advertise the location.

This is not a regular history of our bands, only a symposium. When a fellow writes a symposium he rather evades the facts of history but crowds in a miscellaneous assortment of incident and romance that would not fit in anywhere else. So taking it by and large—because someone has asked for it—we are to consider one, possibly two, of the several erratic bands the town acquired. Bands manned by erratic people, being erratic players, who blew and played at equally eratic music, and who to complete the simile, held a very erratic existence and eventually died of erraticism, which simply means shortness of breath, or strangulation in its most deplorable form.

How to Get Music on the Tap.

Scattered all over the town— as now in the city—were many men who have and who had been implicated in town and village bands. Either at home or abroad. Nearly always, when a boy gets to be of so size he wants to get into a band just as he wants to wear standup collars. Ask his mother, she will cheerfully affirm. So presently he begs, borrows or diverts some form of wind instrument and begins a stealthy practice. After one or two years of such preparation and torture to people all about him and in the immediate vicinity, he lines up with the band. There are no short cuts, for he has to prove his faith by his works.

Bands are not made they are simply casualties. Sooner or later, in any place bigger than Apsley, a number of fellows will get together and plan for a band. All have been innoculated and there isn't any antidote and the vital fire has to emerge. Possibly one or two have instruments to begin on and they get others implicated as accomplices, and presently every affluent person in the vicinity who is supposed to have money is implored to help getting up what the Board of Trade calls a sustaining fund. To be imperative about it and to hasten reluctance, someone gets a coarse file and rubs off enough money to cover the cost of a bass drum and a banner. The two go together especially if the band is to be conspicuous in any public parade, which is what bands are for.

The Difference in Bands.

Early bands were of two kinds, public and citizens. A public band was one that had some sort of paternal organization behind it, such as the Rifle Co., the Fire Brigade, or the local militia regiment, while a citizens' band is one the ingredients of which play for fun and is kept down by private subscription. We say kept down, and jolly well right, for it never gets support enough to get up or to get anywhere. Often started by fellows who swore that they were not getting the justice that their brilliant attainments deserved in the regular band and who go on strike and carry off with them a couple of horns and the Eb alto and piccolo and trombone scores and the upper sections of the uniform they adorned. When cemented into a possible band the whole caffetaria would not pull together and to accumulate enough players to make a respectable noise, would take in fellows who didn't know the bass clef from a rail fence, together with a few who all wanted to play the bass drum because their musical talents had not been developed in any other direction. Being a democratic organization, it would orders from no one, and seldom attained, for that very reason, much in the way of excellence.

Difficulties of Band Construction.

After we pitched in and accumulated enough players to make a start on, the scraping had to be kept up. Fact is we never, in our born days, had enough horns. Some one was always falling out and getting lost. Would simply take a huff and go off to Keene or to Millbrook or some other opulent place and we would have what Prof. Ghiddon would call a hiatus in the orchestration. If we couldn't fill it we had to plug up the hole with some other horn. But the dickens of it all was that while such fellows wanted to play they wanted jobs. And many, if poor players, turned out to be equally poor workmen. And being musicians were more or less touchy, where a regular grocery clerk, for instance, was supposed to have no feelings that you could barely notice.

Presently it would be a grievious duty to go down to Hamilton's foundry, and implore Peter Hamilton to intercede with Jimmy Tucker if Sid Briggs could have his job back. Briggs was our best tenor hornist and we positively had to have him or go under to Port Hope band, which was putting it all over us in several conspicuous spots. Positively disgusting the way that Port Hope crowd stole our players. Briggs, who was a moulder, got cocky and was fired and secured a job in a Port Hope tannery at $9.25, which was a raise of 75 cents per week. Oh, yes, laugh, hang it, but money had its value in the good old musical days. Sure, the loss of Briggs cast a deep gloom over the proceedings.

Then we'd have to go over to Wand's carpenter shop to see if our twelfth-of-a-dozen trombonist could not be taken back on probation. He came from Scotland, wearing red hair and displaying a red voice, with a burr in his accent that was rich and convincing. In some way he worked this accent into his horn and when he got fairly well going on a particularly robust cadenza in his part of the Tannhauser Quick March, and laid himself out to astonish the natives, it sounded like a deck mill hand ripping the edgings off a tamarac plank, there was that much timbre and velocity to the performance. Mr. Wand hated to have work delayed while McNeill was off on what was affirmed to be some jamboree, but was amenable to persuasion and pleading. McNeill used a valve trombone for lord knows how he'd have operated the other kind when under the influence. Why, we've had players fired so frequently and so far that it would take three or four of us to pull them back into situations. We couldn't understand class prejudice. The boss could, always.

Prying Into the Archives.

Looking over a small and tattered account book is found the intimate records of the "Independent Cornet Band," which came out as a miscarriage of music in the year 1872. The selection of the name provoked an ardous and caustic discussion. Several of the members wanted to call it the Marine Cornet Band, basing their claims on the fact that as Harry Calcutt was the boss of navigation on the Otonabee and had two steamers in service, we were entitled to the distinction. It was pointed out that this proposed designation would not hold water. Half a dozen seceded from the regular band, know as the Fire Brigade band and began to inveigle others and to as they said build up a band that would knock the spots off anything in the district, even upto Lindsay and to Cobourg, both alleged musical centres. It presently developed that the spots to be knocked off would be by word of mouth and not by accomplishment. A bandmaster and leader was an absolute necessity, likewise a treasurer. The first to lead and teach, the second to take care of what money drifted in and to retain the key of the safety deposit box in which the funds were kept. One was elected treasurer. They always selected some honest appearing chap and besides he was librarian in the Sunday school, which seemed to be taken as a sort of voucher for uprightness.

After a few trial heats, a bandmaster was found, a little Englishman, named Fred. Walker. When you got hold of a man from one of the manufacturing centres in Britain, he was generally a good player and knew his business in the way of brass music. The same parallel holds good today. It seemed to be the better for the bandmaster if he had a past, and Walker, it was darkly hinted had for some years been in one of the military bands in London, playing baritone, but had escaped and came to Canada with a Bb cornet and considerable assurance. Both stood him in good stead. If his personal habits and general conduct had been so good as his playing we should have done ourselves proud, but he seemed to be absolutely irresponsible in personal matters. We paid him the magnificent salary of $250.00 per year, when we had it to pay.

Just Like Finding Money.

From the records it is seen that when the band got started it played for a whole winter, once each week, in Hall's Skating Rink, for $5.00 per week for the entire band. Cheap, you might say, but there was no musician's union around in those days. It is also noted on paper that some one recklessly paid out of hard earned earnings $1.25 for a load of wood to warm the practice room, but a foot note following the entry censures the transaction and says that it must not happen again so long as we had Dan to forage for us. Foraging meant the acquiring of firewood without the formality of asking for or paying for it. Sneaking was the term generally used. But the cause was a good one and anyway, who cared. Now the band. The practice room was in the then third story of the now city building, the council chamber, remodelled, took in the practice room and the one below.

It was stated that bands were not made. May that statement be subject to revision. Not exactly made but dovetailed. That is you catch an alleged player and fit him into place. Once we caught an opheclide. Name of Wilgriss, and he drifted into town with a brass contraption so big that when he hoisted it up to play you could not see anything of him but his hat and his feet. It was simply wonderful the attraction that horn had for a listening public. Folks would crowd about the man until he'd hardly have room to draw his breath. It may be explained—for the species is extremely rare—that the opheclide is the saxaphonius giganticus— (must sing in a trifle of classic information occasionally,) in fact the grandfather of foundation of all instruments of the saxaphone family, of which there is no more acceptable horn devised. The saxaphone has music in its vitals where lots of other brass things hold only noise. All the cornet-a-piston family have valves on the inside and you can't tell what is liable to emerge, but the opheclide was covered by about a bushel of clappers some of them as big as oyster shells, scattered all over the bell and convolutions. When the thing is in action it fascinates. You can almost see the tones coming out. About the deepest and most ponderous of all the bass-provoking horns.

Tell you what it was, didn't we out it over Prof. Chalauptka's Marine Brass Band from Cobourg. The professor was a compressed German, broad but not tall. He "led" on a flagolet, a tiny bit of a thing that gave out squeaks and pipings and added very little to the volume of street music. A thorough musician of the old school and with a liking for the Ponderous Old Masters, as he expressed it, when you came to pick a selection. The Cobourg band was for nearly ten years our hated rival. Port Hope band, under Bill Philp, had gotten beyond our depth, and we gave it up. Our band always knew when it was not likely to take even second money. We never overrated our abilities for the public, very frank in criticism, wouldn't hesitate to tell us.

The Joys of Public Production.

It beats all the amount of privation that a fellow would put up with in the name of music, so long as he was hitched up to some sort of band. We'd leave our daily avocations on a promise of getting $1.50 in an exertion after pleasure and put in twenty-eight hours that day of severest toil. Travel say thirty miles by train, stand up while doing it, march eight or ten miles over streets as muddy as Lindsay streets ever were, and that is some for the old days, one eye on the music and the other on the muddy places; like as not drive home, over hill and swamp road, and get there just in time to go to work in the morning. Why it was always like finding money, and there was a deal of fun in earning it. Occasionally we reached out after somthing good to find that it was a perfect frost.

Once we started out to go Bobcaygeon to give a concert, under the auspices of the Bobcaygeon Cricket Club. We waggoned it to Bridgenorth and took our valuable lives and more vauable horns in passage on the steamer "Ogemah," for the rocky city. The boat was an old waterlogged beast of a barge that would never steam, steer or stop when you asked it. Going up we made sure, if slow progress, enlivened by the antics of a couple of red men who got [illegible] of firewater and wanted to fight with the bass drummer and persisted in going on to Bobcaygeon to hear the concert. They were run ashore at Jacob's Island and marooned for the night. The concert was not a success. Coming home the boat got lost among the Three Sisters' Islands, took the wrong channel, got aground somewhere near Gannon's Narrows, and finally beached the crowd about two miles above the east end of the floating bridge. The men from town with the teams had got tired and driven back, and the band footed it to town along the concession lines sadder if not wiser men and boys. Yes, the perpetration of music had its trials and privations.

What There's In It For Us.

After all there are compensations. The hours in the old practice room were fragrant of comradeship and association, once you got together a crowd that would pull with some decency and try. For men the long day in the shops or in outside work called for some contrast, and being in a band offered such. It stands to reason that a man who has in him the germs of music and tries to get those out into active expression is generally a good citizen. Take the bands we have today and where will you find a finer lot of men both in home life and in public effort than those. They are ready to give of time, attention, and real effort to please both themselves and others. Its only the wives and mothers who object that the home chores are neglected while the men are off blowing their brains out, as it may be caustically expressed. We have to have outside interests, that it outside our daily grind. Some men get into town councils, others into lodges and benefit societies, many make a specialty of welfare work and a chosen few get after what is called the higher uplift, if anyone knows what that is. The band fits in about middle. It is neither sacred or profane.

And may be offered an encomium on our old comrade and peacemaker, when needed, Dan. As a player he was punk. As a general whipper-in and soul saver unimpeachable. His devotion was marvellous. Always the first in the practice room to light the lamps, start the fire if there would be wood. Go out and forage for it and come back loaded with burnable debris. And when a dispute got to the point where several would be gathering up their horns to leave for ever more, it was Dan who would plaster up the cavity and close up the cracks. So long as Dan was with us we never went entirely to pieces. There has to be a good Samaritan in all and every band and Dan was specially ordained to take and work out the part.

A LABOUR CANDIDATE.

St. Catharines will be Represented by President of Trades Council.

ST. CATHARINES, Aug. 25. — Frank Greenlaw, president of the St. Catharines District Trades and Labour Council, was chosen as provincial candidate for the riding of St. Catharines at a convention of the Independent Labor party held in Merritton Saturday. Mr. Greenlaw, who has been a member of the St. Catharines waterworks commission for nearly ten years, is a life-long resident of this city.

H. St. Clair Fisher, director of the United Farmers of Ontario, was present and declared that the U. F. O. wished to co-operate with the Independent Labor Party.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier Said

"After all, what a man does with his money is to invest, and there is no better way to invest it than in Life Insurance."

As an ESTATE BUILDER there is nothing to equal Life Insurance.

TAKE THE FOLLOWING ACTUAL RESULT

A young man, sixteen years of age, took out a 15-year Endowment (No. 210380) in the Sun Life of Canada, which matured on the first of April. This young man paid annually $66.30 for fifteen years, and he has now, through that investment, an immediate estate of $3,425.00 in case of death.

DO YOU KNOW THAT THIS AMOUNTS TO ALMOST 15% COMPOUND INTEREST ON EVERY DOLLAR HE PAID?

No wonder Sir Wilfrid said (and he might have added, No better place than the Sun Life of Canada), "There is no better way to invest it than in LIFE INSURANCE."

AND THE SUN LIFE OF CANADA GIVES THIS RESULT.

STREET NAMES

The letter of M. Chas W. Winslow, a visitor to Peterboro from Pennsylvania, calling attention to the desirability of marking the names of the streets should bring this matter before the Council. Mr. Winslow's complaint is justified. A stranger, especially a motorist, has difficulty in finding his way around Peterboro and locating a street means a half dozen inquiries. It is true that the majority of the streets have their names marked in the pavement, but these names are buried under the snow during the winter months and cannot be read by a motorist, even in summer without stopping his car and climbing out. The names of the streets should be placed at the street intersections where they can be easily seen. The cost of doing the work would be in small comparison to the convenience, the improvement would be not only to our visitors, but to the citizens of Peterboro as well. The city fathers would be well advised to consider the matter.

WHY THE MYSTERY.

Sir William Hearst has finally condescended to tell the people of Ontario that the prohibition referendum will be taken some time in October, "not earlier than the first of that month and not later than the 22nd of October," acording to his address at Brantford on Saturday. The Premier, however had nothing to say about the probable date of the Provincial election, preserving the same silence towards this question as he has on other occasions recently. It is significant, however, that while the Premier was telling the people of Brantford that the referendum would be held sometime during the first three weeks of October, an organizer for the Conservative party had more definite information to give the electors in Brantford. His statement was that the referendum would take place on October 15, and that the election would be held on the same date. The political activity on all sides seem to confirm the accuracy of the announcement that the two votes are to be taken simultaneously. Why Sir William Hearst continues to be mysterious about the coming election is hard to see—he is allowing the impression to grow stronger day by day that the election will coincide with the referendum and if this is the intention of the Government, why the delay in the announcement?

A POINT TO REMEMBER

There is a feature about the Ontario Temperance Act that a great many people seem to be ignoring. The argument is frequently heard on the lips of those opposed to the Act that a man should have the opportunity of keeping liquor in the house for his own use, for medicinal purposes, etc. The impresion seems to be that the Temperance Act prohibits him doing so. As a matter of fact, so far as the Act upon which the people of Ontario are to express their opinion in October is concerned, there is nothing to prevent a citizen of Ontario from purchasing liquor outside of the Province and keeping it in his own residence. This is not illegal acording to the Ontario Act, but is contrary to the provision of the Dominion order-in-council prohibiting inter-provincial trade in liquor. If the order-in-council becomes invalid as soon as the peace terms are ratified by the Dominion Parliament, a mere formality, there is nothing to prohibit the people of Ontario from importing liquor or from keeping it for their own use in their own home. This point should be kept in mind for it answers one of the arguments so often used against the Act. If there is any value in alcohol as an aid against the influenza, it should be noted that it was the Dominion order-in-council and not the Ontario Temperance Act which prevented those who needed liquor in the emergency last autumn and winter.

"NOT A POPULAR REQUEST"

The mechanics who went to England in 1915 to engage in war work are organizing to press their claims for war gratuities on the same scale as those granted to members of the C. E. F., who only went as far as England. The munition makers will find it hard enlisting public sympathy on behalf of their cause no matter how hard it may try.

themselves. They, of course, claim that they did as much to win the war as did the soldiers whose service was confined to England, but in this claim they ignore the fact that the vast majority of the men who donned khaki did so in the expectation of reaching the front. The spirit they showed in enlisting was commendable as that of the men who did go to France and, in the case of most of them at least the fact that they were not sent to the front was no fault of their own. It is recognition of this fact that their war gratuities have been made equal to those of the men who fought in France. The public generally will not be found very sympathetic towards the claim of the munition workers who gave up very little to go to England and many of whom returned to Canada in time to take advantage of the carnival of high wages that distinguished the munition-making era in this country.

FINANCIAL PROBLEMS

The war is over. Peace has been restored. Nearly all the soldiers are home, and it is the duty of everyone to do all possible to meet the obligations consequent on the war. There will be a largely-increased public debt, an increased cost of living and the future is uncertain respecting the trade balance. Every country will have problems peculairly its own. Great Britain, the leader in the fight, the wealthiest country in the world, Lloyd George points out, has very serious obstacles to overcome. The amount of foreign obligations, particularly to the United States, forms an important question.

Prior to the war it was generally believed that there were very large amounts of British money invested in the States. These investments increased British wealth, but lately exchange is against Great Britain. It is also against Canada and other countries. If the money borrowed from the United States could be secured in Canada or in England it would be a great advantage, and if Great Britain could float its loans in Great Britain it would ease the situation, but the balance of trade would still require to be reckoned with. It will be necessary to economize as much as possible, to settle down and produce as much as possible.

In a country like Canada its products might be multiplied many times. There is ample room for expansion. It is stated that Sir Thomas White, when retiring from the position of minister of finance, said: "I pity the man who is minister of finance five years from to-day." There may be a great deal in that remark, because that man will require to meet the obligations incurred the war. The obligations appear to have been incurred without planning how they could be met. No doubt millions were spent that could have been avoided.

Whatever the obligations are they must be met. It is not likely that Canada will get much of the war indemnity and whatever it is it will be secured through Great Britain. Canada should recover as soon as any country, because it is a young country, and a producing country. Strict economy will be necessary. Taxation in more forms than one will be high and in the total exceed several times the taxation of pre-war times.

In view of the victory won and the horrors escaped, Canada will cheerfully bear the burden.—London Advertiser.

How About Your Boy?

You take a great deal of interest in that boy of yours—don't you?

Giving him a good education, watching over his health and his welfare—but what about his eyes?

Do you know that his eyesight is perfect? Have you ever had his eyes examined?

If you haven't, you don't know for a certainty that his eyesight is perfect. Children themselves are not conscious of slight eye troubles and it is these slight troubles which when neglected develop into serious troubles.

Let us suggest that before school opens again you have his eyes examined—it is the safest way.

68,000 RE-ENLIST IN REGULAR ARMY.

WASHINGTON, D.C., Aug. 19—"The first hundred thousand" of recruits have been obtained for the permanent regular army, General March, Chief of Staff, announced to-day, and of these more than sixty-eight thousand were re-enlistments.

It is estimated that an average of five of every hundred men discharged from the temporary forces since the recruiting campaign began, have decided to rejoin the Army.

A VAST UNDERTAKING.

The proposed attack of the Pacific Ocean by American airmen is a vast undertaking. The shortest direct route would be from Seattle to Rokohama, an air-line distance of 4,700 miles, or well over 5,000 miles, allowing the minimum deviation from the great circle. By utilizing the desolate Aleutian Islands, two stages of about 2,500 miles each could be arranged. The most probable route, however, would be from San Francisco to Japan via the Sandwich Islands; or to the Phillipines, by one "hop" of 2400 miles to Honolulu, and thence by a series of shorter "hops" via the Marshall and Caroline Islands. There is no possible route without at least one stage of well over 2,000 miles, and in the case of a flight from San Francisco to Japan, by way of the Sandwich Islands, in two stages, the second would necessitate a continuous flight of not

BY JANE PHELPS

BARBARA OBJECTS TO ENTERTAINING NEIL'S BUSINESS ASSQCIATES.

CHAPTER L.

I tried to sleep, but was restless and uneasy all night. I had liked Mr. Frederick immensely after I had become better acquainted with him. He had impressed me as wonderfully dependable and straight-forward. He had long ago warned me to try to stop Neil in his attempt to make money so quickly and—so much of it, evidently he now had tried to warn Neil.

I wished I knew something about Mr. Black. Frederick had said that "540 per cent. men" never got off with their crooked deals—whatever he meant by "540 per cent. men"—and had then added: "To be frank, they are no worse than the deals you and Black are putting over."

I was sorry I had listened. To know a part of anything, is always an aggravation. One is so inclined to try and guess the rest, or in lieu of that, to put a wrong construction upon it. I could not help but feel that the latter was what I was doing; consequently I had a feeling of guilt toward Neil.

Another thing that added to that feeling was his generosity and kindness to me. I had learned to love luxury only a little less than he did, and I spent money recklessly to gratify my now extravagant tastes. No one would have dreamed I was the same girl who, a few years before, had been satisfied with a home-made trousseau, and who had objected to the hotel bill when on her honeymoon. I now spent lavishly—partly perhaps because there seemed always to be "more where that came from," as Neil sometimes had told me. I had a lovely home yet it was even so, a constant temptation to buy things to make it more attractive. Then baby—I was horribly extravagant for him. Even the best was scarcely good enough for him, and I searched the shops, and ordered made the most elaborate and expensive things imaginable.

I had learned to have the same careless feeling about money that Neil had. I sometimes wonder, as I look back upon our lives together, which is the worst attribute of the two—to be a miser or to lack perspective where money is concerned.

I have since learned that men of Neil's type, the careless, easy-come-easy-go kind, where money is concerned, are usually lovable characters in themselves; and also that they are easily a prey to the professional hangers-on who, not being successful themselves, are always ready, to receive all the benefits possible from those who are financial successes.

But I neither knew nor saw anything of this class at that time. Of the other, however,—the coarse common moneyed class—I saw many. It had been with an apology that Neil had brought Mr. Scott home. And he also had been a bit shamefaced when he brought others of his kind, and asked me to "be nice to them." But after a time he ceased to be apologetic. He simply stated the fact that a couple of men would dine with us. Sometimes adding:

"Look as well as you can. A good front means a lot to these dubs," or "Play up to these fellows. They think a lot of the kind of wife a man has. If she puts on a lot of style, yet is affable to them, it flatters them and makes them open up."

I hated this. Often I argued with Neil against his making a business place of his home, even while I wanted to know all about that business, I would not have objected, had he brought only refined, companiable men home with him, but cultured men were the exception; the other kind, the rule—men who talked loudly, who drank too much, who ate vulgarly, but who had great wealth.

"I won't sit at the table with such boors," I once said when he had brought home a man a little more objectionable than any of the others I had met. "Not even to help your business, will I stand for men like him." I had grown censorious. I was just beginning to have social aspirations. Little Robert was growing fast. We must be sure we had the right kind of friends, the right atmosphere for him when he needed it.

"There are plenty of women who would be glad to," had been his enigmatic reply.

To-morrow—Neil Makes Blanche Orton's Home a Rendezvous.

HOME CIRCLE COLUMN

Secret of a Vulgar Idea of Marriage.

The treating of young girls as objects of ornament, and bringing them up in luxurious idleness. This habit of excessive outlay upon young girls, runs through every grade of society. The daughter of the blacksmith is as likely to be dressed extravagantly in proportion to his means as that of the millionaire for whom he works. The income which the successful professional man earns by his brains is equal to the interest on a large bulk of capital; it gives him the feeling of affluence. But in rearing his daughter, he is apt to wholly forget that his brains die with him. For how many of the pretty, innocent butterflies who brighten our streets today is any provision made to insure them, 5 years hence, one tithe of the luxuries which they now enjoy? How many of them are qualified to earn their own living? The effect of this cruel neglect in parents strikes deeper than mere poverty. Luxuries are made necessities for the girl. She knows that on the death of her father she will lose them. There but one way to secure them—marriage with a rich man. There is the secret of the vulgar idea of marriage which is debasing our social life; of the market for women which fashionable society has become; of the voluntary sale of themselves of the prettiest girls of each season to rich old men of the wretched homes, and of the innumerable divorces that end in this lamentable history. What is the remedy?

* * *

How many of our readers think as often as they should of their mother, their dear, old-fashioned mother? Other faces may fade away and be forgotten, but her's will shine on forever. When in the fitful pauses of life our feet wander back to the old homestead, and crossing the well worn threshold, stand once more in the room so hallowed by her presence how the feelings of childish innocence and independence overcome us, and we kneel down in the molten sunshine streaming through the window just where years ago we knelt by our mother's knee, [illegible] "Our Father." How many times when the tempter hurried us on, has the memory of those sacred hours, that mother's words, her faith and prayers saved us from plunging into the deep abyss of sin. Years have filled great drifts between her and us, but they have not hidden from our sight the memory of her pure unselfish love. Dear old-fashioned mother.

* * *

Don't be afraid to do your duty because someone ridicules or opposes you. A man who has opinions of his own and the courage to advocate them will be sure to have opposition in this world because he runs contrary to other people's opinions; but just keep right ahead if your cause is right and your conscience clear. Don't bother yourself about what people say; life is too short for that. Some will abuse you through envy, others for the want of principle, and some because they honestly differ from you; but if you keep right on openly, manfully and intelligently and with proper dignity and character, honesty of purpose and self-respect, those who differ from you will respect your opinions.

* * *

You may set it down as a fact that there isn't a twelve-year old boy in the neighborheed who hasn't his opinion of you—and he wouldn't be slow about expressing it either, if a stranger should ask him for it. Every man is always making character whether he is doing anything else or not. Why not build character that you may ever look back upon it with pride.

* * *

A town, unlike a city, is no place to foster jealousies and nourish contention. All of the best [illegible] that whatever will conduce to the welfare of a town cannot injure her citizens. The disposition made manifest by her citizens point to her downfall or her rise. The character of the people make the town, not her structures, towering houses, domes and monuments, and when people lose interest in the promotion of their town they need not hope to thrive. Harmony among the people of a community is indicative of its progress. Farmers cannot be at variance with one atother and prosper; merchants cannot, churches cannot, nor can any similar organization or community.

* * *

Place a young girl under the care of kind-hearted women, and she, unconsciously to herself, grows into a graceful lady. Place a boy in the establishment of a thorough-going, straight forward business man, and the boy becomes a self-reliant, practical business man. Children are susceptible creatures and circumstances scenes and actions always impress.

* * *

One of the sweet occupations of old age is recalling the scenes and occurences of one's youth. So try to store up as many pleasant recollections as possible for a future supply. Among the happiest will be found those of the good we did for others, and the [illegible] we enjoyed.

* * *

When a man passes the thirtieth mile post and has loved no good woman, he has lost his best chance of life for happiness, and the sooner he calls a halt, and thinks it over the better.

Smooth out the wrinkles on your forehead when you go to dinner. This will help your wife to retain her youthful appearance.

MUSIC POINTS THE WAY.

It is hardly necessary to emphasise that a printed page full of music is not music. It only carries the signs that point the way. The piano untouched is only a piece of furniture. The violin unstrung is dead. The cornet but a bit of twisted brass. The organ an unknown volume of secrecy. All are next to nothing. All are non-essentials until touched by a hand and guided by the spirit of music. The child is guided by the mother's song. The heart is warmed by familiar melodies. The home brightens with songs of the past. The church vibrates with consecrated tones which soften into heart throbs as they penetrate the soul. Music puts vigour into marching troops. It forces tears into a strange spectator's eyes at the sight of a passing funeral. It speaks the words of love to golden youth. It even guides the mountain shepherd and his flock. It is a story of eternal life. It is joy, sorrow and death.

Make Pure Blood

Worth a Guinea a Box

Prepared only by Thomas Beecham, St. Helens, Lancashire, England. Sold everywhere in Canada and U.S. America. In boxes, 25 cents.

W.S.S.

ABOUT 170 years ago tea sold in England for $14.60 a pound. It was a luxury which only the wealthy could afford.

Thanks largely to the great increase in the area of tea plants under cultivation in India during the past fifty years, there is enough tea grown to-day to supply tea to the world at a price even the poorest can afford.

A cup of "good" tea—Red Rose Tea—costs only a fraction of a cent. There is hardly anything sold in the grocery store that gives more value or more pleasure for the money.

Consisting chiefly of ASSAM teas—the richest and strongest of Indian teas—Red Rose is exceedingly fragrant, flavory and economical. It is a tea of real quality and real value.

Sold only in sealed packages.

FARMERS WILL NOT FORM COALITION WITH ANY PARTY

NEWMARKET, Aug. 25.— If the United Farmers of Ontario can elect enough members to the Legislature they will form a government, but, in any case they will not join with any other party in forming an administration. That was the intimation made by President Halbert at the North York convention on Saturday, at which Reeve Foote, of Whitchurch, was named as U.F.O. candidate to oppose Colonel Herb. Lennox, the Conservative member. The Liberals of the riding will meet this week to decide whether to run a candidate.

The U.F.O. has held more impressive conventions than the one here on Saturday, but it was a pretty fair political gathering at that. Nearly two hundred persons assembled in the Town Hall, including thirty women, and they greeted President Halbert's announcement, above mentioned, with rapturous applause, and cheered every reference to keeping away from the "muck and filth of party politics." They made it very clear that they distrusted both of the old line parties, who regarded the present farmer members as slaves and who neglected the welfare of agriculturists, and were determined to have no truck or trade with either Grits or Conservatives.

"The Liberals have asked me to meet their executive, but we have refused," declared Mr. Halbert.

Hopkins Started It.

The announcement of policy came as a result of questions by John Hopkins, a Holt township farmer, who was full of curiosity, although not a delegate.

"If the farmers form a coalition," observed Mr. Hopkins, "God help us."

"Never, never," shouted the chairman, William Hill.

"If you don't want a coalition, will you try to elect sufficient farmers to form a government" persisted Mr. Hopkins.

"Sure," answered a few delegates, but none too confidently.

"A farmer Government?" "Yes."

Mr. Herbert: "We take the stand that neither at Ottawa or at Toronto will we stand for any U.F.O. member joining a political party. Studholme, the Labor man, did not join a party."

Tremendous cheering followed and a minute later the roof nearly came off when Mr. Halbert said: "If we send enuogh members, we're the boys who can form a government."

"Is that your object?" queried Mr. Hopkins.

"It wasn't at the start, but we hope to practically control things."

"Who will control the next legislature—one or other party?"

"Yes, unless we can control. Otherwise our members will remain a parliamentary group. They will not form a coalition." (More cheering.) They will support every good measure, no matter which party brings it forward."

HENDERSON SUPPORTED BY LOCAL LIBERALS

LONDON.—The Widness by-election is arousing exceptional interest, [illegible] and for a short time a member of the Cabinet in the early days of the war, receives the support of the local Liberals. The fight, therefore, is one between Labour and Conservatism. His opponent is F. H. Fisher, formerly Minister of Marine in the New Zealand Government.

A statement by Mr. Henderson that he went to Russia in 1918 with power from the War Cabinet to dismiss Sir George Buchanan, the British ambassador, and assume the position himself, has created something like a sensation.

The Daily Graphic declared that the Prime Minister can not afford to leave this assertion unnoticed, as the nation will want to know why Mr. Lloyd George entrusted such extraordinary powers to a man, whatever his merits as a labor leader, who knew nothing of Russia or of the diplomatic service.

MANY INQUIRING ABOUT PELMANISM

OPPORTUNITY GIVEN THOSE WHO VISIT TORONTO FAIR TO HAVE PERSONAL INTERVIEWS.

Peterboro people who have been hearing stories of the personal advancement of students of Pelmanism, and who have contemplated for themselves a course in this system of mental efficiency, will have a special opportunity of making enquiries at first-hand, if they attend the Canadian National Exhibition.

The Canadian branch is located in Toronto and visitors to the big annual world's fair are reminded through the advertising columns of The Examiner to-day that they will be welcome to the offices of the Institute in the Temple Building, Bay and Richmond streets, which is very convenient for anyone down town.

The Pelman Institute now numbers early half a million students. Thousands of these were men in the army and navy during the war, who are now finding their training in Pelmanism a great asset in re-establishing themselves in civil life. Pelmanism not only trains the memory so as to make it most valuable but improves one's powers of observation and concentration and at the same time develops initiative to the point where it becomes of real service in any walk of life.

A personal inquiry as to the workings of the Pelman Institute will, therefore, be welcomed by thousands who will go to Toronto for the coming Exhibition.

HOW TO STOP BEING NERVOUS

Nothing Like Plain Bitro-Phosphate to Strengthen Weak Nerves and Increase Strength and Vigor.

According to a noted French scientist, the most effective remedy for nervousness, insomnia and ailments due to depleted nerve force, is a form of organic phosphate known among druggists in this country as Bitro-Phosphate.

It is described as a substance which is similar in composition to the phosphorus naturally found in brain and nerve cells and being easily and quickly assimilated, the work of creating nerve force, strength and vigor begins immediately it is taken into the human system.

There are many reports of astonishing results from its use, some showing remarkable improvement even in stubborn cases of long standing nerve weakness. As there are many kinds of phosphates, care should be exercised to procure the genuine Bitro-Phosphate, as sold by McDermid and Jury in Peterborough, and all good druggists.

CO-OPERATIVES FLOURISH

Bavarians Seek Relief from High Cost of Living in Joint Buying.

The extent to which the consumers of Bavaria sought some relief from the increased cost of living during the war by joining the co-operatives of distribution, is shown in the report for the business year of 1918 of the Bavarian Central Credit Bank, summarized in Deutsche Allegemeine Zeitung of July 19. This institution, which was founded twenty-five years ago as a financial medium for the use of the co-operatives, now serves 2,654 societies, and its business turnover in 1918 reached 11,190,000,000 marks, compared with 760,000,000 marks in 1913, the last peace year.

During the war it wiped out a debt of 4,100,000 marks owed to the State of Bavaria, and paid 4 per cent annual dividends upon a capital of about 4,000,000 marks. In 1918 the amount of goods handled amounted to 4,616 carloads, more than in 1917. The Central Credit Bank takes a decided stand against the tendency toward the socialization of production and distribution, and points out that the agricultural industry is not in a position to effect any very radical changes in its methods at present. It also asserts that there is only a little land in Bavaria held by big land owners which makes the agrarian question less acute than in Prussia.

AFRICAN ELEPHANTS WORTH PRESERVING FOR THEIR IVORY

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Will the famous African elephants soon be as nearly extinct as is the buffalo of the American plains? Cable despatches state that the South African Cape Council has decided to exterminate elephants, which are regarded as a menace to the farmers whose crops they despoil and whose employees they sometimes kill. Sir Harry Johnston, famous African authority, tells of his experiences with African elephants in a communication to the National Geographic Society, which is quoted in a bulletin from the society as follows:

"If after many years of trial the African elephant is pronounced to be hopeless as a domestic animal (and it should be remembered that most male African elephants in captivity have shown themselves to be hopelessly savage,) then at least for its magnificent ivory the creature is worth preserving as an asset to the State. If the Indian elephant shows himself to be more docile than the African elephant, it must be remembered, on the other hand, that he is of very little value for the ivory.

"One day a baby elephant was presented to me by a Uganda chief. It is a sad thing to relate, but three men were killed in attempting to capture the first elephant. I had expressed a wish one day for some elephants to experiment with in domestication, and the natives, with their usual desire to please me, were so ardent in their determination to gratify my wish and so determined, that in the pursuit of the young elephant that the mother elephant knocked over and killed three of them. But finally they succeeded in their object capturing the calf, and to my great surprise it trotted into camp behind one of the men.

"This little creature was at the time only four feet high. In two days it had become perfectly tame, and would follow a human being as readily as his own mother. It was easy enough to feed him with milk, because all that was required was a bottle with a long neck. This bottle was filled with cow's milk diluted with water and poured down the elephant's throat. Soon all that one had to do was to place the neck of the bottle in the elephant's mouth and [illegible] tilted up and absorbed the contents. For several weeks the elephant throve and became a most delightful pet. It would allow anyone to ride on its back, and seemed to take pleasure and amusement in the exercise. It would find its way through diverse passages into my sitting room, not upsetting or injuring anything, but deftly smelling and examining objects of curiosity with its trunk.

"At the same time we had in captivity a young zebra, which was also to be the pioneer of a domesticated striped horse. These two orphans, the elephant and the zebra, became greatly attached to each other, though perhaps there was more enthusiastic affection on the part of the elephant, the zebra at times getting a little bored with constant embraces. Alas and alack, both elephant and zebra died eventually from the unwholesomeness, to them, of cow's milk."

SELF-DEFENSE.

(From Tit-Bits.)

In a crowded omnibus a stout woman vainly endeavored to get her fare out of the pocket of her cloak, which was tightly buttoned as a precaution against pickpockets.

After she had been working in vain for some minutes, a gentleman seated on her right said, "Please allow me to pay your fare."

The lady declined with some acerbity and recommenced her attacks on the pocket.

After these had continued for some little time her fellow-passenger said "You really must let me pay for your fare. You have already undone my braces three times, and I cannot stand it any longer."

BRITISH MOTOR BOATS' FINE WORK

Details of Sinking of Bolshevik Destroyers are Given.

Helsingfors, Aug. 23.—Details are now available of the dashing exploit of British motor boats in attacking two Bolshevist battleships and tacking the Bolshevist fleet and sinking a destroyer. The action took place immediately off Kronstadt, over a Bolshevist minefield. The motorboats attacked without the support of the fleet, but acompanied by three airplanes, one of which came down near the Styrhudds lighthouse where the crew were safely picked up.

The British losses were three motorboats sunk by gunfire and one blown up by a mine. The returning flotilla received a triumph welcome on reaching its base at Bjorco, Finnland.

Thursday night the Bolshevists retaliated by an air raid on Torifoli. Several bombs were dropped, but the damage was inconsiderable.

From the moment of the arrival of the British squadron in the Gulf of Finland, destroyers, coastal motorboats, trawlers and seaplanes carried on a ceaseless struggle, the first object being to contain the enemy within his own minefields, and the second to pursue and harras him, inflicting a maximum of moral and physical damage with a minimum of risk. The officers and their crews for weeks together have not enjoyed an unbroken night, owing to alarms, or to irksome patrol duty.

All service in the Baltic is rendered exceedingly dangerous by the multitude of mines.

$70,000'000 CITY IS OFFERED FOR SALE BY UNITED STATES

HAS 73 MANUFACTURING BUILDINGS AND HOUSING FOR 20,000 PERSONS—FIRE STATION, BANKS AND ALL.

Washington, D. C.—Nitro, West Virginia, a complete modern industrial city, built at a cost of approximately $70,000,000 will be offered for sale by the United States Government to the highest bidder.

[illegible] will be considered.

Nitro, the director of sales of the War Department announced to-day, contains 73 manufacturing buildings, housing accomodations for 20,000 persons, and the utilities and improvements of a modern city. It is the second largest smokeless powder plant in the world. Bids, which must cover not only the powder plant and corelated units, but everything else in the city, will be opened at twelve o'clock noon, September 30, 1919, at the office of the chairman of the Ordinance District Salvage Board, No. 1,710 Market street, Philadelphia.

When the contractors broke ground for this plant on February 1, 1918, the 18,000 acres now covered by the powder factory and civic community were fields that dipped from the foothills of the Appalachian Mountains to the east bank of the Kanawha River. Nine months later, the armistice was signed this industrial community was completed and the smokeless plant, which had begun operations ten days before, had turned out 6,000,000 pounds of powder.

Available for Other Uses.

Though each of the many units in the plant was designned to produce some part of smokeless powder, all may be converted to other industries. The government has had the plant surveyed by engineers and their reports show its adaptibility to chemical manufacturing and cotton wood pulp making.

Nitro stretches for more than four miles along the Kanawha River. There is a sulphuric acid plant in seven units, the capacity of which is 700 tons a day of twenty-four hours; a nitric acid plant of four units, the capacity of which is 300 tons a day; a cotton purification plant of standard pulp mill design in four units, the capacity of which is 225 tons a day; a nitrating colloiding and drying plant; sixteen shipping houses or magazines, segrated for the storage of powder; thirty storage buildings erected for raw materials; a complete shop area with fireproof machine shop fitted with modern tools, a carpenter shop, tin shop, paint shop and foundry; a box making plant capable of turning out 4,000 metal lined wooden containers a day; a 160 ton ice making plant with insulated ice storage rooms; all absorption refrigerating plant consisting of five 160 ton units with brine cooling equipment; two completely equipped general laboratories for chemical research and analysis, and six special laboratories, completely equipped for special plant determinations.

Homes for Workmen.

Set upon the foothills are more than 1,500 furnished portable houses, homes for workmen; seventy-five permanently constructed executive residences, hotels boarding houses, dormitories, club houses, general and special stores, cafeterias and moving picture theartres, a modern four-hundred bed hospital, a twenty-four room schoolhouse large barracks and [illegible] buildings capable of accomodating and feeding facilities for eight thousand workmen who may not require independet homes.

A transportation system equipped with steam and storage battery, locomotives and flat and transfer cars, and having eighteen miles of permanent broad guage and nineteen miles of narrow gauge railway, is in the industrial area. A pitch surfaced macadam road extends throughout the length of the reservation branches of which running into the manufacturing and the residential section facilitate horse and motor vehicle transportation.

LOCKOUT STARTED SILESIAN TROUBLE

FROM ONE MINE A WIDE-SPREAD STRIKE DEVELOPED, THEN REVOLT.

Berlin—Again the Red Guard is over Upper Silesia. This province, which is to be the scene of a German-Polish plebiscite, is to-day in a state of wild uproar, in which strikes, armed revolt, and a straggling sort of invasion are the constituent elements.

Imperial troops are actively engaged in stamping out the revolt, but the [illegible] serious. Probably the only salvation lies in what seems to be foreshadowed in a message received to-day from Paris that the Allies are to occupy Upper Silesia during the plebiscite and to-day's message seems to suggest, in view of the disturbances and necessity for maintaining coal supplies from the Silesian mines, the dispatch of the army of occupation may be expedited.

Al lthis trouble appears as if it had arisen as the result of a lockout at one solitary mine ten days ago. Owing to irregularity in timekeeping the directors of the mine decided on a lockout, but this only acted as the setting of a match to powder already laid. A great strike had been planned for months by some extreme radical elements and Poles, and when the lockout was proclaimed the miners went from mine to mine calling out the workers until practically the whole province was at a standstill.

Political demands figured largely in the strikers' program, but as a result of the efforts of Herr Horseng, Commissioner for the province, negotiations were entered upon, a settlement was arrived at and resumption of work was promised, but the Sparticides and Poles maintained their agitation, with the result that the strike was kept going.

Then suddenly in the district of Pless where there had been no strike an armed revolt broke out. Armed bands attacked the military and police and began plundering, while all work, of course, was stopped. To this the commissioner replied by proclaiming a state of siege. The proclamation acted as a red flag, however. More workers joined the revolt and on Saturday and Sunday night last the confusion became worse.

Poles walked out to assist their compatriots. The local Germans, local Poles, and Polish invaders became further entangled until there was said to be organized warfare in progress. Both sides were said to have been well armed.

Some vivid accounts are published of the state of affairs, including hours of fighting, but it is well to receive all these with caution. Caution should also be exercised in analyzing the causes at work. One commonly accepted view is that the whole affair was organized by the Sparticides and Poles—the Sparticedes wished to embarass the Central Government by a strike and by a coal scarcity, while the Poles rendered assistance, entering the district from "non-Prussian Poland," so as to present the Allies with a fait accompli prior to the plebiscite.

Upper Silesia is, however, a province in which—because of the mixture of races and because of the change in frontier lines foreshadowed by the Peace Treaty—propaganda is actively at work. All reports coming from it, therefore, are almost bound to be of a tendentious nature.

It is satisfactory to note that Germany does not charge the Polish Government with having anything to do with the Poles who invaded the province or who have revolted, but the whole story is one of topsyturvy conditionn of affairs in this turbulent sector of Middle Europe.

REFUSE TO EMBARK SOLDIERS ARRESTED

LONDON, Aug. 24. — Three hundred soldiers belonging to Warwick, Berkshire and Gloucester regiments were arrested to-day at Southampton for refusing to embark for France. The ringleaders were driven away in motor lorries.

The soldiers, who had been on leave, are for the most part veterans. They objected to embarking because they had heard that they would be sent to the Black Sea after their arrival in France, whereas they had received promises that no one would be sent to Russia unless he volunteered.

The men are quartered in a public Park. Perfect order prevailed. A War Office statement to-night says that the men were being sent to Turkey.

ILLIERACY IN THE UNITED STATES

The last United States census report, 1910, gives the startling information that 5,516,000 persons over ten years of age cannot read or write; This is especially appalling says the New Success Magazine when we know that of this number only 1,600,000 are foreign born, leaving 3,916,000 natives for whose illiterac ythe nation as a whole and ech individual in it is responsible.

SEVERAL MISSING AFTER CLOUDBURST

Over $100,000 Damage to Mines and Lumber Plant Burned.

UNIONTOWN, Pa., Aug. 25.—More than $100,000 damage was done in the Connelsville coke region early to-day by a cloudburst, which flooded mines and swept away buildings, street railways, and railroad tracks. Several persons are reported to be missing at Herbert, several miles north from here.

The Republic Lumber Company plant at Herbert was struck by lightning and burned. Water prevented the firemen from reaching the building. [illegible] Two families living at the plant are missing. Workmen who were sleeping in a bunkhouse could not be located.

More than sixty acres of land in the vicinity of Herbert were inundated by water. The estimated damage there is $30,000.

At Republic, the water flooded the Pennsylvania freight station, carrying away many large quantities of merchandise.

Many mining towns in this region are reported to have suffered severe damage from water. Several mills were forced to suspend operations.

SPEED MANIACS TO BE FORCED TO VIEW BODIES OF VICTIMS

CHICAGO.— Speeders in Chicago will have to view bodies of victims of speed mania, according to a new plan put into force to-day by Judge Stelk, of the speeders' court.

Sentencing eight men yesterday for speeding, the court ordered the men to the morgue, where they were shown the maimed body of a child killed by an automobile.

If the new "curatiae" process is not sufficient to lessen death rate due to "joy-riders," Judge Stelk said a new punishment might be sought. "I wish I had authority to prescribe a whipping ost on the lake front where all could gather around to witness the spectacle," said Stelk.

The building trades are not connected with Trades Council or the O.B.U.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Editor of The Examiner.

Sir,—Mr. Leader's letter serves the very useful purpose of bringing the question of Prohibition to an immediate issue. God says that it is not wrong to drink alcoholic liquors in moderation. The Prohibitionist flatly contradicts and reproves God for taking such a position. The man or woman who goes to the poll and reproves God will suffer for it. The fate of the drunkard may be infinitely deplorable, but that of the total Prohibitionist will be too terrible to contemplate.—Yours,

J. H. Burnham.

Editor, Examiner.

As a butcher of many years' standing in this City, I wish to emphatically deny the statement contained in last night's Review, that a meeting of the butchers had been held and that there was a disagreement of some of them, and meat prices would now probably fall.

No such meeting was held, and there is no agreement, arrangement, or understanding of any kind among [illegible] prices of selling cost. There has not been a meeting of the butchers for any purpose within the last six years, and the cost of meat in the City compares favourably with the same costs in any other City, when you consider how this part of the Province has been stripped of live stock in the last three or four years.

The butchers are receiving just a living wage above the high cost of wholesale meats.

As the express rates will be very shortly increased within a short time, this is something which the consumer will be required to meet on meats which are expressed to the city.

Whoever is responsible for the circulation of the rumour contained in last night's Review stated what was incorrect and what never existed, namely, any arrangement between the butchers fixing the prices of meat.

Yours truly, J. W. Edwards,
421 George Street, City.

Peterborough, August 26th, 1919.

Editor, Examiner.

In last night's Review appeared the statement that the butchers had held a meeting, and on account of one butcher not reaching an agreement with the others, he would sell lower than the other butchers, and this meant a fall of prices in meat.

I wish to say on behalf of the firm of J. G. Jopling & Sons, of which I am manager, that I have never attended or known of any meeting of the butchers of this City to arrange prices, agree on prices, or for any other purpose.

There is no agreement, and never has been any agreement, with my firm and any other butcher or butchers of the commodities we sell.

The statement in last night's Review is absolutely untrue, and has no foundation, and I wish to say that the prices of the goods sold by J. G. Jopling & Sons are based only upon the cost by the wholesalers to us.

I am writing this letter on behalf of my firm, to correct the impression that was created by the statement in last night's Review.

Yours truly, F. W. Jopling.

Peterborough, August 26th, 1919.

The Editor, Examiner.

Sir,—A statement appears in the Daily Review of the 25th of August that one of the local butchers has launched a trade war with his competitors, and will reduce his prices, and that this action was decided upon at a meeting of the dealers last week when the retailer refused to remain with the others in keeping up the present scale of prices.

May we beg that you will give us a little space in your valuable journal upon the subject. It is absolutely untrue that any meeting of the dealers took place at any time. There has not been a meeting of the local butchers' trade for six years past. The present scale of prices is not kept up by any combination of the members of the trade or of any of them. The prices of meats are based upon the price we have to pay for cattle. We are all in competition with each other, and the prices charged fluctuate with our own expenses, and have nothing to do with any common agreement.

We want to say that we think it very unfair that rumours of this kind should be circulated through the [illegible] purpose of hooting the trade of a particular dealer who, to secure a personal temporary advantage chooses to cut prices below what is commercially safe, and a reduction of five cents a pound on all grades of meat would, at the present high cost of cattle, mean bankruptcy to a greater part of the trade.

Thanking you, sir,

James Grady.

Peterborough, August 26th, 1919.

PRINCE VISITS WAR HOSPITALS

ROYAL VISITOR CHATTED WITH MANY OF THE WOUNDED MEN--IS MADE A DOCTOR OF LAWS BY TORONTO UNIVERSITY

TORONTO, Aug. 26. — Nearly two thousand maimed and sick soldiers of the Great War, from all parts of the Dominion at St. Andrew's and the Dominion Orthopedic military hospitals, pased under the sympathetic eye of the Prince of Wales this morning when he visited and inspected these two big institutions, legacies of the part taken by Canada in the fight for freedom which ended so victoriously. The Prince spoke personally to many of the men. An enquiry here and there of a particulary broken man, and words of praise for a much decorated hero, were all that the time would allow for, but not one man in these two [illegible] looked by the Prince's well known and generous smile.

IMPRESSED AT ORTHOPEDIC.

His Royal Highness was particularly impressed with the work being done by the Orthopedic Hospital in the straightening of limbs made crooked by the Huns, and the application of apliances for real legs and arms left in France and Belgium.

After an inspection of the Toronto general Civil Hospital, one of the most modern on the continent, the Prince returned to Government house for luncheon.

This afternoon was "Educational Day" for the Prince. At Convocation Hall he was made a doctor of laws, with the usual impressive ceremonies.

In his address Sir James Faleoner expressed appreciation of the honor done to the University in the acceptance by the Prince of this degree. His Royal Highness replied with unassuming modesty which has become known in Canada as characteristic of him.

The latter part of the afternoon and evening will be taken up with social functions—a garden party at the Government House and a military dance at the Royal Canadian Yacht Club.

To-day's activities were of a quieter nature than those of yesterday, when the popular demonstrations made possible by the civic half holiday were declared by the old timers to have been more enthusiastic than has ever been witnesed in this city. At the same time the route of progress to-day to all the various functions were well lined with cheering crowds. Every hour that the Prince stays in Toronto apparently increases his popularity with the masses.

FUNERAL ON MONDAY

The funeral of the late Mrs. F. C. Dela Fosse took place, from the residence of her mother, Mrs. John Halpin, Monday, August 25, to St. Peter's Cathedral and thence to St. Peter's Cemetery. The pall-bearers were: Messrs. J. J. Duffus, C. G. Corbutt, B. Q. Dench, M. Sharpe, B. Halpin, H. M. Kennedy.

ADVANCE IN PRICE OF BRAN AND SHORTS

Local mills received notice from the Grain Board at Ottawa, yesterdy, that there will be an advance in the price of bran and shorts. Bran will go up from $42.25 to $45.25 and shorts from $44.25 to $55.25.

SUMMER COMPLAINT IS A SERIOUS BOWEL TROUBLE

Very few people escape an attack of Summer Complaint. It may be slight, or it hay be severe, but nearly everyone is liable to it.

You can't tell, when it seizes on you, how it may end.

Allow the profuse diarrhoea, the vomiting and purging to continue for a day or two and you will become weak and prostrated.

Just as soon as the bowels become [illegible] ler's Extract of Wild Strawberry and check these unnatural movements, and thus prevent the [illegible] becoming weakened.

Mrs. L. J. Alteen, wife of the well known wholesale and retail Fish Dealer, 44 Hill St., Amherst, N.S., writes: "I have four children, the oldest being eight years old. Every summer they were troubled with Summer Complaint. Doctors' prescriptions did not seem to help them any. One day a friend asked me to use Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. I at once got a bottle, and to my surprise and wonder, I soon saw a change in them. I now keep a bottle of it in the house all the time, and will recommend it to any mother."

LOCAL MARKET

Last week saw few changes in the local market. With the exception of spring wheat and live hogs the market remained firm despite the local merchants' prophesies of lower prices. Live hogs took a phenomenal drop of $2.50 during the week, from $22.75 per cwt., to $20.25 per cwt, and on Saturday spring wheat dropped from $2.09 per bushel to $2 per bush.

The merchants, however, remain firm in their belief that a drop in prices will come soon in most lines, with the exception perhaps of such fruits as grapes, peaches, plums, and pears of which there is a short crop. To-day's market, however, showed but little change. To-day's prices follow:

Bad Breath IS CAUSED BY CATARRH

Canadians suffer more from Catarrh than from any other disease. On this account Catarrh is dangerous and should be checked at the outset.

It isn't necessary to take internal medicine to cure Catarrh. There is a far better method.

Doctors now treat Catarrh by sending a purifying, healing vapor down through the breathing organs. In this way the germs of Catarrh are destroyed.

The only successful vapor treatment is CATARRHOZONE, which the patient breathes through a special inhaler to the real seat of the trouble. The rich piney esences of Catarrhozone heal and soothe all inflamed surfaces. They effectively treat the nose, throat and lungs with a powerful antiseptic that destroys irritation at once.

Catarrhozone brings into the system the balmy air of the pine forest. It cures completely colds, coughs, catarrh, weak throat and bronchitis.

Once tried, Catarrhozone is always used. Nothing so pleasant, so simple, so quick to relieve so absolutely sure to permanently cure. Accept no substitute. Large size, lasts for two months, and costs $1.00; small size, 50c; sample trial size 25c; at all dealers.

TEXAS FLYER FIRST TO REACH TORONTO IN BIG AERO RACE

TORONTO, Aug. 26. — At 11.30 a.m. No. 43 plane flown by Lieut. Piemic of Texas, was the first to arrive in the International derby New York to Toronto.

The machine left on its return journey at noon and it is reported to have reached Buffalo at 12.30.

The second plane flown by Lieut. Maynars of North Carolina, arrived at 12.09, carrying a letter of greeting from Mayor Hyland of New York to the Prince of Wales, also other mail.

BAKER CARRIES MAIL.

MINEOLA, N. Y., Aug 26. — Colonel William A. Barker arrived here from Albany at 9.20 o'clock this morning in a German Fokker machine. Barker, wo was the fourth of the Toronto flyers to reach New York, carried a bag of mail which immediately was placed in another plane and forwarded to Washington.

Two more pilots, making a total of six, left this morning on the initial leg of the race.

It was stated here unofficially this morning that for reliability and efficiency Major R. M. Schroeder, flying a Vought V. E.-7, had made the best performanec to date. Schroeder was the third arrival from Toronto yesterday.

Reports from Syracuse say that 14 racers, including planes bound in both directions, were ready to hop off there.

Captain Carey Smith driving an S. E.-5, was compelled to alight on a farm near the Belle Isle railroad yards last night when his fuel ran low, flying from Albany. He missed the landing field at Syracuse.

The first three airplanes to arrive here from Canada in the aerial derby started for their dash for home and the finish line when Roland Rohlfs in his Curtis Oriole left the ground at 9.31 o'clock.

The other two, Major R. M. Schroeder and Sergt. C. B. Coombs followed in quick succession. Colonel C. C. Brandt got away on the first leg of his flight, leaving just one more plane to start from this field.

REACH BUFFALO.

Buffalo, N. Y., Aug. 26. — The first planes from the east arrived at Curtis field at 10.27 a.m. Lieut. Jas. Plumb, in a De Haviland V., arrived at Curtis Field at 10.17 a.m., the first of the Mineola fleet of air planes to arrive on their way to Toronto. Plumb left Syracuse at 8.41.

Captain Ole Simonian, in a De Haviland V., arrived at 10.23. He left Syracuse at 8.32. Pilot Smith in a S. E. 5, was the third to arrive, landing at 10.30.

SCHROEDER AT ALBANY.

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 26. — Major Schroeder, in his V. E. 7, first of the Toronto flyers to leave New York on his return journey, was the first to land at Albany, arriving in his U. S. D. 9 A.

THE ARRIVAL AT MINEOLA.

MINEOLA, N. Y., August 25. — Three fast airplanes swooped down on Roosevelt Field here to-night, completing the first leg of their round trip flight between Toronto and Mineola, in the first international aerial derby on record.

Sergt. Frank Coombs, a Canadian aviator, flying a D. H.-9 with 400 horse power Liberty motor, was the first arrival, landing, at 7.11 o'clock, just six hours and 11 minutes from the time he started on the 500 mile course at Toronto. His actual flying time however was only 3 hours and 35 minutes, stops having been made at Buffalo, Syracuse and Albany.

Roland Rholf, the famous American test pilot, who was the first flyer to hop off at Toronto, despite the fact that he had previously suffered a spill when his Oriole plane turned turtle, landed at 7.18 o'clock, and Major R. M. Schroeder, another American flyer, who had elected to start the race at the Toronto end, arrived four minutes later.

PETES PLAY BELLEVILLE AND BRIGHTON TO-MORROW

The Peterborough Central League team had arranged a game here for Thursday night with the Prospects of Trenton, N.Y., but Mr. Ward Patterson, vice-president of the O.B.A.A., doubtful as to the amateur standing of the bunch from across the line, refused to give the Petes a permit for the game, so that game was cancelled.

The members of the Peterborough team have lots of baseball in sight, however, for to-morrow afternoon they play an exhibition game in Belleville with the champion G.T.R. team, and to-morrow evening will clash with Brighton in a twilight game. The Lindsay team have defaulted to Belleville and the latter have asked Peterborough to take their place to keep the champs in shape for the O.B.A.A. games. Belleville will play the Petes at Riverside Park a week from Saturday, while on Monday next, under the auspices of the Trades and Labour Council, the Peterborough Central League team will play two games with Port Hope, playing in the morning and afternoon.

PERRITT THINKS HE'LL COME BACK

M'GRAW PROMISES HIM ANOTHER TRIAL IN 1920.

New York—Poll Perritt, upon whom waivers have been reported by the Giants and who has John McGraw's permission to play where he will this season, is still confident that his career as a major league pitcher has not come to an end, and he looks forward to regaining his berth as a Giant regular next spring.

"The muscles of my right arm have bothered me ever since I came north in May," said Phil yesterday, "and I think the trouble can be traced to two colds contracted in the arm. The day I reported the club was playing in Brooklyn and I rode back to New York in an automobile. I didn't have an overcoat on and my arm pained me considerably that night. Then one day in Chicago on the first Western trip I started a game, but didn't have anything and was taken out in the first innning. I was so sore at myself that I sat on the bench for the remainder of the game cussing and forgot to put on a sweater. Again my arm pained me for several days and it hasn't been much good since.

"However, I haven't lost hope of making a comeback, and McGraw has agreed to give me another trial at the training camp next spring. I'm sure I'll make good there and I'm also sure that you'll see old Poll winning a few games for the Giants next season."

OUR DAILY SHORT STORY

How Long Is Five Minutes?

By BEN WINSLOW

(Copyright)

Every house in the little town of Ardeola had been wiped out by a "great conflagration." That a village so insignificant could be visited by a catastrophe of sufficient magnitude to warrant an application of the word "conflagration" may seem paradoxical, but, in view of the fact that every splinter of its thirty-nine buildings was consumed in the blaze, no other word would fit.

Therefore the newspapers of Westvalia chronicled the fire that wiped out its little neighbor across the river as "a great conflagration."

The facts, although given in painful detail in the columns of the press the day after the fire, were brought out more entertainingly during the legal proceedings that followed several months later.

The people of the late Ardeola blamed the Osage Valley railroad for the calamity, and they were so firmly convinced that the soulless corporation was the cause of their loss that thirty-eight of them brought suit against the railroad. The one exhome owner who did not seek redress at the hands of the court was John Lester, although his home was among the first to go.

Lester was a lawyer and had been referred to by the press on several occasions as "promising." The other thirty-eight losers intrusted their case to him, and in order that he might go into the battle as the legal representative of the people, with no interests other than those assumed in that capacity he entered no claim against the railroad.

It was a very generous act indeed, considering that the people he represented, having lost their all, could pay no retainer; in fact, the amount he could recover, if any at all, being entirely problematical, no promises of compensation were given.

That it was to be a bitter fight was evident. The railroad company, not satisfied to let its legal representative at Westvalia defend it, sent down three of the shining lights of the law department to assist him. They were on the ground the second day after the thirty-eight petitions were filed, whipping their case into shape for trial.

The thirty-eight petitions were identical, with the exception of the name of the petitioner, and they set forth that the Osage Valley railroad owned a bridge extending across the Grand river from Westvalia to Ardeola, the said bridge being a drawbridge, and the said draw being operated and controlled by employees of the said railroad company.

On the day of the fire—in fact, at practically the instant the fire started—the draw of the bridge, having been opened by employees of the railroad company to allow the passage of a tugboat, also owned by the said company, became clogged, and by reason of the said clogging of the said draw the fire-fighting apparatus from Westvalia was delayed in reaching the scene of the fire, the bridge being the only means of communication between the two towns; and furthermore, that by reason of the above-mentioned delay the fire gained such headway that the Westvalia fire department was unable to check it.

It was upon the facts set forth in petitions that the homeless inhabitants of Ardeola hoped to recover. The first move of the railroad's attorneys was to secure a consolidation of the petitions, agreeing to pay full damages in each individual case if they lost the case that went to trial.

When Lester agreed to that proposition the petitioners became uneasy lest they had made a mistake in intrusting their cases to the young man, and when he called only two witnesses—one plaintiff to establish the fact that the fire had occurred, and the driver of the fire engine to prove that the open draw had caused considerable delay—and then rested his case, a majority of them were quite sure that they had made a mistake.

The railroad attorneys were taken off their feet by Lester's procedure. They expected to see the entire membership of each of the thirty-eight families on the stand; but they recovered quickly and began calling witnesses.

The only point they made was that the draw was open only five minutes. The operator of the draw testified positively as to the time, and he was followed by the bridge flagman with testimony equally positive. They both stated that they fixed the time by the arrival and departure of passenger train No. 95.

They testified that the train came into the bridge block at the Westvalia end at eight-twenty-five and crossed the bridge at eight thirty, and the engineer, fireman, conductor and brakeman on No. 95 corroborated their testimony.

The petitioners were disappointed in the cross-examination conducted by Lester. The only questions he asked tended to establish more firmly the fact that the draw was open only five minutes.

"How much time do you desire for argument?" inquired the court.

"I am satisfied with what time the other side desires," replied Lester.

The railroad company's Westvalia representative thought he saw an opportunity to gain an advantage. He knew Lester's ability as a court orator, and even before the trial he had intimated to his assistants that to choke off Lester's talk would be a decided advantage.

A hurried consultation was held by the four railroad lawyers, and as a result the Westvalia representative stated that five minutes was sufficient.

"I am satisfied with that, also," said Lester, dashing the remaining hopes of the thirty-eight petitioners. They had counted not a little on Lester's argument to the jury, and they knew that it took him more than five minutes to get warmed up.

Mr. Stansbury was selected by the railroad attorneys to do their talking, and he devoted his five minutes to driving home the fact that the draw had been open only five minutes, and that five minutes was too short a time for the fire to gain enough headway to be beyond the control of the fire department.

Therefore the total destruction of the town must have been due to other causes with which the railroad company had no connection. Though short, it was a splendid argument, delivered in Stansbury's most captivating manner, and it carried conviction to the minds of the jury.

While the railroad lawyers were congratulating their orator the eyes of the petitioners were on Lester. It was his turn to talk. Stansbury's masterful argument would be picked to pieces and his laurels dragged in the dust. Lester rose from his seat, and, with the customary "if the court please," and "gentlemen of the jury," he addressed them from his place at the table.

"My friend of the other side, with eloquence that would move an image of stone, has convinced you that the draw on the bridge was open only five minutes, and that in that short time the fire could not have gained [illegible] beyond the control of the fire department when it finally reached the scene. Will one of you gentlemen kindly take out his watch?"

The juror on the left end of the first row produced a large silver timepiece.

"Now," continued Lester, "will you kindly call time when my five minutes is up."

He parted the tails of his Prince Albert and sat down.

The petitioners were panic-stricken. Was the man mad? He was wasting valuable time. Why didn't he pitch into Stansbury's argument and tear it into shreds as he did the arguments in the debate last year? Why didn't he say something? But Lester settled himself comfortably in his chair, closed his eyes and idly twirled his thumbs.

Pictures by kind permission of the Illustrated London News.

There are few people alive in Montreal to-day who remember the historic visit of H. R. H. Prince Albert Edward of Wales, to the Canadian Metropolis in 1861. There are still fewer who were privileged to attend the festivities incident to that visit, but still here and there remain elder statesmen of Montreal who recollect the brilliant ceremonies with which the Boy Prince, who later became King Edward VII., was received by the loyal population of Montreal. At that time the city was only a village as compared with the metropolis of to-day, and its population was much more pronouncedly English-speaking.

It would be hard to conceive a greater contrast than that presented by the reception to King Edward's grandson in 1919, and that given the then Prince Albert Edward in 1861. Whiskers and steamboats were then the predominant features, while such few railways as existed were of as primitive a type as the beavers sported by the nobility. The Canadian Pacific had not been dreamed of by the band of great potential dreamers of continental progress who were then in their buoyant youth. Since then the tiny engines, mostly burning wood, with a few coaches of the primitive age of railroading have given place to the all-steel train with monster locomotive capable of hauling a million pounds weight of the present Prince of Wales' train without a quiver. The present Prince of Wales will travel in his special train with more comfort than his grandsire could have at Buckingham Palace, and with conveniences unknown to the Royalties of 1861.

On August 19th, 1919, Prince Albert Edward of Wales was officially welcomed at Quebec City. He embarked for Montreal on the steamer Kingston, the best means of travelling then.

Arriving at Montreal on August 25th, the Prince visited the Exhibition, where special performances were given in his honor, and later in the day proceeded to the recently completed tubular Victoria Bridge.

A round of festivities followed, one of the most notable being the grand ball given in honor of the Prince of Wales by the citizens of Montreal on the night of Monday, August 27th. There being no dance hall large enough the citizens built an immense wooden pavilion for the occasion, which was lavishly decorated.

There were no fox trots in those days, but quadrilles, lancers, waltzes and other formal terpsichorean exercises, but the chroniclers of the time recorded that Prince Albert danced incessantly until well after half-past four, and greatly enjoyed himself.

NEW FISHING STUNT AT C. G. DAM YESTERDAY

A new "stunt" in fishing was introduced at the C.G.E. dam. One of the high voltage wires, carrying 40,400 volts, broke and fell into the stream above the dam. Almost immediately several large lunge appeared floating on the surface of the water. They appeared to be dead and some of the men employed at the dam put out in a boat to secure them. All except one, however, revived sufficiently to escape, but the remaining one was landed successfully. By the time the boat reached shore it, too, had revived. It tipped the scales at 14 lbs.

NEW PAY FOR SOLDIERS.

About $250 Is Reported Rate of Permanent Force.

(Special to The Examiner.)

OTTAWA, Aug. 26.—A rumour to the effect that the Canadian army soldier pay is to be increased from $1.10 to $3.00 a day, is not well founded. It is stated here that the pay of the permanent force will be about the same as that of the Mounted Police —about $2.80 a day, but this will include rations and barrack accommodation. A single soldier living in barracks will get about $1.70 each. Nothing definite yet, however, has been decided.

THE FIRST ATTRACTION OF THE SEASON

Undoubtedly one of the most important events of the theatre of this season will be the presentation of "Seven Days' Leave", at the Grand on Wednesday evening, Sep. 3rd.

The big London and New York success, which enjoyed a run of six months at the Park Theatre, New York and played 2 years at the Lyceum Theatre, London, and with a record of box office receipts, transcending all records in the history of the modern playhouses, has for its author Walter Howard, a successful maker of plays.

"Seven Days' Leave" is a war comedy, yet attacks the great world drama from what might be termed the inside. Its scenes lie about London. The distant roar of the guns across the Channel may be imagined if not actually heard, but the action passes in environment with which every Britisher is familiar.

Two women and a man for its romance, principally. The man, a gay young blade, in from the front for a week's breath, falls desperately in love with a young woman who ardently reciprocates his trash. The second almost instantly enters, with charms that are deliberate if not sensuous and the audience sees the scarn fickle, if not worse. His flame observes as much and the emotions of all concerned are tense when it is suddenly revealed that the coquette the second woman who would be wooed, while professing to be a Belgian refugee, is actually one of the type often shot as something else. And with this revelation the play is under way, with excitement and thrills succeeding each other until a spectacular denouement occurs in the blowing up of a submarine in view of the audience.

LIBERALS APPARENTLY WILL NOT OPPOSE THE CANDIDATES OF FARMERS

PROVIDING THEY ARE BONAFIDE REPRESENTATIVES OF THE RURAL ASSOCIATION---SOUTH RENFREW MAY ACCEPT THE NEW LEADER.

GOVERNMENT'S PROBLEM

(Special to The Examiner.)

OTTAWA, Aug. 27. — That the Liberals will not place a candidate in any seat in the coming Federal by-election where a bona fide farmers' candidate is running, would appear to be the policy accepted by the party, judging from the attitude of the Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, as expressed before the Liberal Convention at Alexandria, in the County of Glengarry and Stormont last night.

So far as the Opposition is concerned, it has after all only the election of its own leader at stake, the Government on the other hand, must fleet at least three Ministers, Sir Henry Drayton, Hon. Dr. S. F. Tolmie, and the new Minister of Public Works, whoever he may be. Every candidate in the field who is not for the Government must be considered as against it, since, if elected, he will either swell the ranks of the cross benchers or of the Opposition. The Opposition, on the other hand, can look upon every man seriously opposing a Government candidate as constituting, after all, an Opposition candidate.

A seat must be secured for Mr. King. At the present time two are mentioned, Prince Edward Island and South Renfrew. The first is already vacant, and a movement appears to be on foot to induce I. E. Pedlow, the sitting Liberal member on the latter, to withdraw on Mr. King's behalf.

A number of prominent South Renfrew Liberals gathered at Ottawa yesterday and canvassed the situation.

J. Grace, of Arnprior, thus expressed himself after the conference: "South Renfrew, like Carleton County, has accepted many outsiders, and we feel that if Mr. King is big enough to be leader, and I think he is, there should be no delay, at a crisis like this, about finding him a seat. South Renfrew accepted and elected James O'Reilly, K.C., of Kingston, as a supporter of Sir John Macdonald in 1872. Duncan McIntyre, of Montreal, contested it as a supporter of Edward Blake in 1888; and George Graham, of Brockville, sat for the county after the 1911 general election. Providing that Mr. Pedlow, M.P., would consent to retire until the next election, there is little doubt that the new Liberal Chief could be easily elected."

Generally speaking, it is not expected that the Opposition will place candidates in seats where the Government's candidates are effectively and seriously opposed by bona fide farmers, veterans, or Labour candidates.

VOTERS' LISTS WILL SOON BE PRINTED

MANY NAMES HAVE TO BE ADDED---APPLY TO REVISING OFFICERS.

The printing of the voters' lists as first compiled by the enumerators is nearing completion. When this work is finished, the lists will be posted in their respective sub-divisions in some grocery store or other place that is central to each sub-division.

The voters are then expected to ascertain whether their names are on the lists or not. If they have been overlooked, they should make application to the revising officer.

After the lists have been thus given to the public for ten or twelve days, there will be sittings by the revising officer, to whom voters should apply for the insertion of their names on the lists. When all this detail has been arranged, a complete copy of the lists will be available to the public in the post office.

JACK DEMPSEY OUT OF WORK

(Special to The Examiner.)

CHICAGO, Ill., Aug. 27.—Jack Dempsey became affected by the actors' strike to-day. The champion is booked for a few weeks here, but to-day it appeared he would have no place to put on his show. Permission was asked of Union officials, who have tied up practically all the theatres in Chicago by strikes, to use one of the theatres closed by striking stage hands and musicians.

PRINCE SPENDING HIS LAST DAY AT THE TORONTO FAIR

BIG DISPLAY OF FIREWORKS TO-NIGHT TO MARK HIS FAREWELL --RESTED THIS MORNING.

TORONTO, Aug. 27.—To-day will, according to arrangements, be a veritable blaze of triumphant glory for the increasingly popular Edward, Prince of Wales, who will to-night attend a magnificent pyrotechnic and electrical display arranged in his honour at the Canadian National Exhibition. In keeping with the spirit of the age, and the Prince's own democratic tendencies, His Royal Highness will end his three days' stay in this capital city of Toronto, in the company of the general public. He will rub shoulders, so to speak, and join in the applause with the citizens of the community.

During his visit to Toronto, the Prince has attended some exclusive functions where his fellow guests were admittedly members of "the sets but his farewell activities will be among the great and general citizenship of democracy-loving Toronto.

This morning was spent quietly by the Prince. After two busy days and nights he rested at Government House till noon. Then there was a continuation of his initiations into the realms of scholarship and learning. The Law Society of Upper Canada, "Ontario," made him a bencher, and a barister, which induced one of those present to jocularly remark that if the popular Prince should ever tire of his present or future high position, and elect to step down, he will always be entitled to earn a living as a pleader at the bar in Ontario.

Inspected the Veterans.

In the afternoon the Prince was the dominant figure at the Canadian National Exhibition and appeared for the first time in Toronto mounted on horse back. He inspected the Great War Veterans, who appeared in great strength for the event. There are sixty thousand veterans in Toronto. Two [illegible] presented for [illegible] the various heroic deeds in France and Belgium. In addition there were inspections of Boy Scouts, Girl Guides and other organizations, with presentations of addresses. The Royal train with the Prince and his party on board, will leave the temporary C. P. R. station in Rosedale to-night at 11.30 for Ottawa.

D. HARDIE MAKING LABOUR BANNERS

HAVE BEEN ORDERED BY UNIONS FOR BIG PARADE.

In the Labor parade to be held in the city on Labor Day three of the handsome silk banners to be carried were the work of a Peterboro firm, the D. Hardie Tent and Awning Manufacturers, Water street. One that of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers is a splendid work of art and is carried out in Royal blue with gold lettering. Above the insignia of the Union and signifying the fact that the Union is International two crossed flags, the Union Jack and Stars and Stripes are cleverly pointed. The Carpenters and Laborers Union emblems are of exactly the same size 60 by 42 inches and are do one in navy blue with gold lettering. All are of heavy silk and finished with heavy gold braid and fringe. Mr. Hardie said this morning that the total cost of the three banners will amount to over two hundred dollars. The painting on the flag is the work of Mr. J. Sherman.

Hung in Armouries

In the evening the banners will be hung about the walls of the Armouries as decorations for the ball to be given by the Unions.

DISCUSSES AUSTRIAN TREATY.

(Special to Examiner.)

PARIS, Aug. 27. — The Supreme Council of the Peace Conference met this morning for consideration of the treaty with Austria.

SHORTAGE OF CARS CUTS THE PRODUCTION OF COAL

(Special to The Examiner.)

WASHINGTON, August 27.—A serious car shortage throughout the country is leading to another big coal scarcity this winter, John Callahan, of the National Coal Association, told the Senate Sub-Committee investigating the coal situation.

The railroad administration, Callahan said, is not furnishing enough facilities to ensure the production and shipment of sufficient bituminous coal to meet the requirements of the nation this year.

"Car shortages," said the witness, "caused the coal mines to fail to produce 5,000,000 tons of coal during the weeks ending 2nd August and 9th August. During ten weeks, the shortage cut the production more than 12,000,000 tons.

TO SUIT FARMERS OF EAST AND WEST

WHEAT BOARD COMING EAST FOR FURTHER SUGGESTIONS.

(Special to The Examiner.)

WINNIPEG, Man., Aug. 27.—Canadian Wheat Board after holding sessions in Winnipeg practically every day for two weeks, adjourned, and will meet again in Toronto on Monday, Sept. 8, where further sessions will be held for the purpose of receiving suggestions from farmers and millers of the east in regard to the handling of Ontario wheat. Many changes were made in the details of handling the crop to suit western farmers and trade generally, and a meeting to be held in Toronto will give eastern men the same opportunity to offer suggestions which may be taken advantage of with benefit to those interested.

James Stewart, chairman of the Board, left on Monday for New York and Ottawa for the purpose of making arrangements for shipping of the Canadian surplus wheat overseas.

R. R. BROTHERHOOD DOESN'T SANCTION PACIFIC STRIKE

(Special to The Examiner.)

[illegible] shopmen and not the brotherhood chiefs should answer President Wilson's offer of a wage increase of four cents an hour, Warren S. Stone, President of Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, said here to-day.

"Personally I have no comment to make on the President's offer," he said. "The shopmen can and will answer him." Stone, however, stated that increased wages will not solve the economic question. He advocated immediate steps to lower the cost of living as a means of serving the problem of strikes for higher wages.

Applies to All Industry.

"The same problem applies to all industry," he said. "The railroad workers are facing the common question of the high cost of living. Lower the cost of living and you eliminate wage increase demands and strikes."

Stone took the positive stand that the Pacific Coast railway strikes are without the support of the Brotherhood chiefs.

"We will do our utmost to carry out our contracts on the Pacific Coast," Stone said. "The strikes were not sanctioned by us. We will see that our men out there perform their duties in full as specified by our contracts."

Asked if the Brotherhood officials were in a position to fulfil their contracts by filling the places made vacant by strikers, he replied: "We have carried out our contracts for a good many years and will continue to do so now."

COMMUNITY PICNIC FOR SMITH PEOPLE WAS FINE SUCCESS

Yesterday afternoon a community picnic was held on the T. H. Graham Farm at Chemong Lake, under the auspices o fthe Gilmour Memorial Church Sunday School. It was a community picnic in every sense of the word, for to it the whole community was invited, without distinction or discrimination.

In spite of the unfavourable weather conditions, the affair was a success in every way, and was largely attended.

The programme provided that there should not be an idle minute from two o'clock till dark, and this was carried out to the letter.

There were the usual races for the children, but the feature of the day was the series of organised community games, with a place and a part for everyone. The ages of those taking part ranged from 12 to 60, and in one game there were 50 participants.

Some of the games were: Passing the ball, overhead ball, jumping the stick, and tug-of-war. In the tug-of-war the Fourth Line of Smith challenged the world, and won.

To Rev. John Galt and the committee in charge are to be congratulated upon the success of the novel event.

FORESTERS GREET VISITING MEMBERS

TEMPLE BUILDING, BAY AND RICHMOND, TORONTO, PLACED AT INCOMERS DISPOSAL.

While the outstanding characteristic of Independent Forestry has always been Fraternity combined with Life Insurance on a solid basis at cost to its members, yet the organization's thoughtfulness for its membership upon every occasion has marked its career from its inception. Mr. Geo. A. Mitchell, Assistant Supreme Ranger, the enthusiastic superintendent of the organising department, has with his usual enterprise made provision for the members who will visit Canada's National Exposition. Mr. Mitchell has arranged to place the handsome offices in the Temple Building, at the corner of Bay and Richmond streets, of the organizing department over which he so ably presides, at the disposal of visiting companies and brethren. Here they will find every facility and convenience that will add to the pleasure of their visit to Toronto, and at the same time receive a souvenir, besides being provided with attractive literature. Rest rooms, writing desks and materials are provided, thus assisting members to keep in touch with the home circle even when absent.

This accommodation no doubt will be fully appreciated, as it can be made the meeting place for the members and their friends.

In connection with the Exhibition has had a [illegible] to the Exhibition grounds, but this new arrangement will not only take the place of that, but is located in the heart of the city, in the home of Independent Forestry, the Temple Building, from which radiate all the principal car lines and is in close proximity to the business and entertainment sections of the city. In conversation with Mr. Mitchell some very interesting facts were gleaned of the progress of Independent Forestry.

It has since organization paid out in sick and death and funeral benefits $61,909,673.33. Its assets at Dec. 30th, 1918, were $46,707,709.00, with a membership to-day of over 176,000, and without any extra premium charge it paid all death claims resulting from the great war and is now heartily interested in assisting returned members so that they may get back to the equilibrium of former years as speedily as possible.

Mr. Mitchell, assisted by an able staff, will be found ready to extend a cordial welcome to all who may accept of the Order's hospitality during Canada's Great National Exhibition, and as the Superintendent tersely put it, "at all other times."

DENTAL CLINIC FOR VETS NEARLY READY

While the actual opening of the military dental clinic at the Armouries is retarded on account of the fact that the contractors' estimates have had to be sent to Ottawa, and returned to the city, three rooms in the cavalry quarters are in readiness for the opening directly the contractors get the electrical appliances fixed in. This it is hoped will be done in a few days time. All the equipment is strictly up to date.

Captain McLean, who is in charge of the clinic, is a returned man of three years service in the army, having crossed in April, 1916. While overseas he served with the infantry, and wears one wound stripe. Before enlistment he practiced dentistry in Trenton. Besides Captain McLean, three officers will be at the clinc and six men of other ranks.

Captain McLean said the clinic at the armouries had been opened as the one opened several months ago in the city could not handle the large number of men who have returned, and need dental attention.

"SEVEN DAYS' LEAVE" AT GRAND NEXT WEDNESDAY

"Seven Days' Leave," the big spectacular melodrama to be presented as the first attraction at the Grand, on Wednesday evening only, September 3rd, will be seen here with the same equipment in every essential that the play included at the Lyceum Theatre, London, and Park Theatre, New York City, the scenes of its sensationally successful presentations. Realism has a stirring place in the action of the play. One of the big effects shows a submarine being blown [illegible] to view of the audience—a night scene of the most thrilling description.

DENEKINE PUSHING INTO RUSSIA WITH LIGHT OPPOSITION

NOW DOMINATES TERRITORY LARGER THAN GERMANY---CONTROLS TRAFFIC ON VOLGA RIVER.

OCCUPIES ALL CAUCASUS

(Canadian Press.)

PARIS, Aug. 27.—General Denekine, the anti-Bolshevik leader in Southern Russia, now dominates territory larger than Germany, and his forces are daily progressing into Central Russia, with comparatively slight opposition.

His actual front two days ago, according to accurate military information received here, extended from Odessa northward to Elizabetgrad, then north-east to a few miles south of Kursk, thence east to Novokopersk, continuing to a point on the Volga.

General Denekine also occupies all the Caucasus region from the Caspian to the Black Seas, and south to the Georgian border.

His forces are not occupying Asstrakhan, at the mouth of the Volga, but he controls the traffic on that river by occupying Tzaritzin and the road along the river running northward for a distance of two hundred miles.

BOLSHEVIKI CLAIMS SUCCESS.

(Canadian Press.)

LONDON, Aug. 27.—Pskova, to the south-west of Petograd, has been captured by the Bolshevik forces, according to an official statement issued at Moscow.

The Bolsheviki also claim successes on the Volga, in General Denekine's territory. They report the capture of Kamishin, on the Volga, 120 miles south-west of Saratov, by their forces, which are declared to be advancing toward Tzaritzin, 100 miles further south on the Volga.

BANKERS APPROVE WILSON'S REPLY TO RAILWAS MEN

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—New York bankers approve President Wilson's stand on the wage demands of the railroad shopment, according to a statement issued to-day by the Dow, Jones and Co., Wall Street News Bureau. It is declared that opinions in financial circles agree upon the soundness of the President's argument, "which stands out in sharp contrast to the more or less Socialistic reasoning from the labour element." If the President had taken his present stand some months ago, an effective readjustment in price and wage conditions might have been realized before this, according to the interpretation of the bankers' attitude. "But there is no certainty in financial circles," says the Dow, Jones statement, "that the railroad shopmen, nor indeed other branches of labour, will acquiesce in in Mr. Wilson's counsel. The remarkable success of traction employees lately, it is expected, will have a [illegible] satisfied with existing conditions.

BOY SCOUTS IN HIGH SPIRITS OFF TO SEE PRINCE THIS MORNING

With faces aglow with anticipation and youthful enthusiasm, 100 Boy Scouts, accompanied by six scoutmasters, C. Thornton, H. Blake, E. J. Whiteside, D. Tyre Sedgwick and H Carton, left by the early train for Toronto to be reviewed by His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales at the Exhibition to-day. The boys were in full uniform and equipment. The Scout Masters will personally look after the safety of the boys during their absence from Peterborough. "The people of Peterborough may well," one onlooker remarked, "be proud of representation which left the city this morning and should appreciate the City Council's generous act in giving the $200 to the lads to represent the city. The visit will doubtless inspire loyalty and also educate the youth of the country along the proper lines.

Keen Appreciation.

The boyes left with feelings of pleasure and keen appreciation of the act of the Council in so materially assisting their project in spending the day at the fair. An interesting feature of the departure of the scouts was the fact that before leaving they cleared out all pennants bearing the word Peterborough, from the local shops, demonstrating their pride in the city in which the Local Council of Scouts is located.

To Meet Scouts.

Owing to the late hour at which the boys will return to the city this evening (11.30) and their youthful age, the owners of cars in the city would confer a gracious act if as many as could find it convenient would meet the train and take the boys to their homes.

SHIPYARDS AFFECTED BY CESSATION OF BRITAIN'S PROGRAMME FOR NAVY

MAY BE CHEAPER TO SCRAP SOME OF THE HALF COMPLETED VESSELS INSTEAD OF FINISHING THEM---YARDS WILL BE CLEARED FOR COMMERCIAL BUILDING.

40 WARSHIPS ON WAYS

LONDON, Aug. 27. — All private shipbuilding yards throughout the country, numbering about twenty, are affected by government order that all work be stopped on warships except those about to be launched. The Admiralty yards at Chatham, Devonport and Portsmouth will not stop, however, as they are entirely occupied with the refitting of 2700 steamers which are about to be returned to their owners, from whom they were requisitioned for war service.

Among the warships being built at private yards are cruisers, destroyers and submarines, and the work on some of these may be continued, according to the Mail, if it is found cheaper to complete them than to break them up.

Ship builders must be liberally compensated in cash where contracts are broken, though several million pounds sterling may be involved. It may prove more economical than carrying out a building programme.

Commercial Vessels Needed.

The Mail quotes an officer of the admiralty as saying that one sound reason for stopping the work on warships is that the step will clear the yards for commercial building. There is an excellent demand for new tonnage and this work will probably absorb the men liberated by the stoppage of work on the naval vessels.

According to the Glasgow Daily Record, work on 40 warships, ruined country, numbering about 20, are stalling, has been stoped.

STRANGE CHILD IS MISSHAPEN

QUEBEC, Aug. 26.— A phenomenal child was to-day brought from St. Honore, Temiscouata county, to the Hotel Dieu du Precieux Sang, at Saint Malo. It is an eight-year-old boy, Leo Morin son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Morin farmers, at St. Honore. The child is 2 1-2 feet tall, his body is only six inches in circumference, his limbs are those of a child barely one month old, and his head, with a circumference of thirty inches, weights forty pounds. The boy is in full possession of his mental faculties and will undergo treatment at the above mentioned institution.

SHANTY MISSIONS IN BRIT. COLUMBIA

REV. THOMAS JOPLIN, IS HERE ON ANNUAL VISIT.

Rev. Thomas Joplin, Field Secretary of the Shantymen's Christian Association, is on his annual visit to Peterborough in the interests of the missionary work that is carried on in the various lumbering districts of this country. The British Columbia field has been entered by Rev. Oswald Smith and Rev. J. B. Hooper of Toronto, who have three assistants. For the extension of their work they need a launch, which will cost about $1,000. During the year of 1918, ending on March 31st of this year, the Association visited 270 camps. The missionaries tramped 2,730 miles, travelled 636 miles by dog train, and preached to 13,916 men, of whom 3,462 were foreigners. Mr. Joplin will be at the Y. M.C.A. until after Sunday. Letters may be addressed to him there, and he will be glad to meet any pastor or other persons who wish him to give an address during his stay in Peterborough.

The Supply of Army Material

F. G. Kellaway, Deputy Minister of Munitions, asked for approval of £185,000,000 for the year ending March 31, of which £90,000,000 is an aftermath of the war and the balance represents supplies to other departments of the Government including estimates for the War Office, Air Ministry, and local Government Board, the last mentioned being purchases for the Government Housing Scheme. The total expenditure of the Ministry of Munitions since is establishment was £1,834,507,941. Mr. Kellaway revealed that the British losses in materials during the German offensive in the Spring of 1918 were 1,000 guns, 70,000 tons of ammunition, 4,000 machine guns, 200,000 rifles, 700 trench mortars, and 200 tanks. Yet within a fortnight all had been replaced and in many cases with superior weapons. On the day the Hindenburg line was broken the British fired 943,000 shells more than were fired in the whole South African war. Fifteen thousand tons of poison gas were supplied in 1918 alone. The introduction of a coat system saved the country £300,000,000. In the Ministry of Munitions alone, 7,344 contracts involving £102,000,000 were still running and disposals by the department had realized £130,000,000 to date. It was getting such good prices for the state that it was now accused of profiteering. Six hundred and fifty thousand pounds sterling had been realized from the sale of motor transports during the last three weeks.

THE WORLD WOFULLY IN NEED OF LIVING ACCOMMODATION

LIKE A PLAGUE HOUSING SHORTAGE HAS SPREAD TO NEARLY EVERY LAND; VLADIVOSTOK, CHINA AND PALESTINE AS SORELY BESET AS NEW YORK AND LONDON.

NEW YORK—The housing problem seems epidemic because it is prevalent in every quarter of the world, and what is more, is becoming more serious with every day that passes. New York is in the throes of it now, and naturally folks here think that only their city is so afflicted. But Boston is complaining, and so is Chicago and Philadelphia, and what is more, little communities in faraway corners of the country, never before troubled with a lack of accomodations for permanent and transient population, are now crying loudly for relief and charging that folks from the cities are crowding them and forcing up rental and bringing a lot of other troubles on them.

America by no means can say that the shortage of homes is a problem particularly its own. Long before the trouble became serious here it had become acute in the British Isles.

Stopage of construction in other countries by the calling of men to the colors or to the munition plants was reflected in rentals going up and the demand increasing beyond the supply.

Continental Europe had housing troubles long before New York or Chicago, Boston or Philadelphia had real reason for shouting that they had no homes to live in and that landlords had the tenantry by the throat.

Neutrals Also Affected.

The shortage here was attributed directly to America's entrance into the struggle. It was a logical conclusion, and was supported by the fact that every warring nation had housing troubles. Neutrals were supposed to have escaped these, but reports which have been received from other parts of the world from time to time to show this is not true, and that the folks who remained out of the war are just as badly off for homes as those who stopped peaceful enterprise to take up arms.

Chile for instance has had riots. Folks have mobbed those they thought were responsible for the situation which had increased their rentals and prevented new buildings from being erected. Other countries of Latin origin on this side of the Atlantic had similar outbreaks, but none perhaps as bad as Chile's

Travellers from the Orient and the Far East report that the housing problem is one of the most serious ones and is vexing the minds of the authorities to relieve the situation before the populace, out of desperation make the situation worse by destroying that which stands. Large cities of China are said to be underbuilt, and congestion there is worse than at any time in the history of the Flowery Empire.

Vladivostok is short of buildings. A year ago there was ample accomodation in the city and rentals showed no increase over pre-war levels. Strange developments in the Sussian situation changed conditions in Vladivostok. The number demanding homes was greater than the homes in the city and the result was that those who had money used its power to secure that which was difficult to obtain. They paid the price demanded and secured living places. This established new rent levels for Vladivostok, and since then the city is said to have witnessed a steady, upward movement in rentals. Prices to-day are said to be many times what they were only a few months ago.

Holy Land Shortage.

Palestine, never before troubled with housing problems, is said to have them now. The Zion movement following the defeat of the Turks by General Allenby's British army is, of course, responsible in large measure for this. This movement, however, is augmented somewhat by the movement of natives from the arid wastes and the fertile valleys to the large cities because of the lack of food.

Food, war, shifting of population for one reason or another, usually for selfish gain, and curtailment of building have brought to this much troubled world a great trouble which will require all the skill and ingenuity and ability of the leading men of the world to eliminate. It will take time and patience to remove the epidemic.

GLAD SHE TOOK SISTER'S ADVICE

MISS SELMA WILL FEELS LIKE A NEW PERSON SINCE TAKING TANLAC.

"Nothing ever helped me until I got Tanlac and now I am just like a different person" said Miss Selma Will, residing at 709 Lawson street, St. Paul, Minn., in an interview recently.

"There are times before I began taking Tanlac," continued Miss Will, "when I had terrible headaches that I could not do any work for several days. My stomach was in such a bad fix that I could not eat much of anything without suffering intense cramping pains afterwards. My appetite was very poor and I was so run down and weak that I would frequently have dizzy spells and was extremely nervous. My sleep seemed to do me but very little good and I always got up in the morning feeling just as tired and worn out as on retiring at night. I have taken many kinds of medicines and doctored for a long time but nothing seemed to do me any good.

"Finally my sister persuaded me to try Tanlac, as she had gotten such splendid results from it and by the time I had finished my second bottle I had a good appetite and I felt better in every way. My stomach never bothers me now no matter what I eat and I never have a headache nor a pain of any kind. Really I am feeling just fine, better than I have in the past five years and there is nothing too good for me to say of Tanlac."

There are thousands of persons who complain of being nervous and run down. They are not sick exactly but feel tired out and good for nothing most of the time. They need something to build them up and throw off the symptoms of this weakened, debilitated condition.

The system, besides being purified by Tanlac is toned up and invigoratated as the medicine, aside from assisting the blood, reinvigorates the consitution, overcoming as it quickly seems to do nervousness indigestion non-assimilation of the food, headaches, kidney complaints and many other ailments that are so common to the thousands of half-sick, depressed men and women.

Tanlac is sold in Peterborough by W. B. Warne Drug Co., Ltd.; in Havelock by A. C. Denike; in Lakefield, by the Tanner Drug Co., Ltd.; in Fowler's Corners, by W. A. Hunter; in Gelert by A. J. Scott; in Westwood by G. Pringle and Son.

SUGAR MAY RISE ONE CENT A POUND

MONTREAL. — A word of warning was issued by leading members of the Wholesale Grocers' Guild yesterday that the despatches threatening a rise in the price of sugar to 20c a pound were altogether outside the bounds of possibility and that no such ridiculous prices were even thought of.

The worst that could happen, it was stated, was that the prices might rise possibly a cent a pound for a time, with a likelihood that, with careful conservation this increase might later on be found unnecessary. But the wholesale grocers, through officers of their guild, isued a warning that people should not become excited over the threatened increase of prices and start hoarding sugar, as such a course with the present scarcity, would simply intensify the difficulty, and force prices to much higher levels than the market really demands.

APSLEY, Aug. 27.—A grand reception for the returned soldiers, under the auspices of the Women's Auxiliary, was held last Tuesday evening on Hale's lawn and proved quite a success. The lawn was beautifully decorated for the occasion with flags, red white and blue streamers and Japanese lanterns. During the evening a splendid programme was rendered. On the platform were Colonel and Mrs. Johnston of Peterborough, Capt. and Mrs. Bygott of Lakefield, and the local clergy. The ice cream booth was under the supervision of Mrs. A. Jones. All returned soldiers received ice cream free of charge, outside funds being devoted in aid of the soldiers' monument soon to be erected in the village. A free-will offering was also given for the same purpose.

The following was the programme rendered:

ORIGIN OF EARL HAIG' TITLE

LAST HAIG OF BEMERSYDE OF THE OLD LINE WAS A FRIEND O. SIR WALTER SCOTT.

Pride of ancestry and love of the ancient Scottish homeland blaze out in the title, "Earl Haig of Bemersyde," assumed by the famous soldier who commanded the victorious British armies in France and Flanders. An ancient prophecy, too, has been helped in its fulfillment, for almost 700 years ago the famous Thomas the Rhymer uttered these words, which ever since have been quoted in the southeast of Scotland:

"Tyde what may betyde, Haig shall be Haig of Bemersyde."

This Thomas the Rhymer was an important man in his day—landed gentleman of Tweedside, as well as poet and prophet. His estate was not far from Bemersyde, which is three and a half miles east of Melrose. Thomas the Rhymer was witness to an undated charter of Petrus de Haga of Bemersyde, and the best authorities refer it to somewhere toward th close of the thirteenth century. Therein the prophet is named "Thomas Rhynor de Ercildune." Ercildune is now Earlston, on the Leader, about two miles from its junction with the Tweed.

Earl Haig, it has to be explained, is himself not from Berwickshire, or "The Merse," the old home of his ancestors. He is what is known in Scotland as a "Fifer"—that is, a native of Fifeshire, the ancient "Kingdom of Fife," lying on the north shore of the Firth of Forth and washed on the east by the North Sea. The claims of the Haigs to "an auld descent," to use Allan Ramsay's phrase, are nevertheless beyond question.

A sturdy, warlike race they were, these old Haigs of Bemersyde, with red hand in every foray, from the earliest days of which we have record of them. Some authorities think they are of ancient Pictish extraction, and others think they are descended from the ancient Britons. A Norman origin is more likely. Be that as it may, the Haigs trace their descent, by indisputable documents from an earlier Petrus de Haga than the one who flourished in the days of Thomas the Rhymer. This Petrus de Haga was proprietor of the lands and baron of Bemersyde in the reigns of Malcolm IV and William the Lion, Kings of Scotland, which last succeeded to the Crown in 1165 and died in 1214. In a donation of Richard de Morville, Constable of Scotland from 1162 to 1185, of the Chapel of St. Leonard's, in Lauderdale, to the Monastery of Dryburgh, Petrus de Haga was a witness. In the same era lived Henry de Haga, who was killed in the expedition of William the Lion against the Earl of Caithness in 1199. Petrus de Haga, the son of the first mentioned Petrus, in various charters is styled "Dominus de Bemersyde."

This Petrus de Haga, with Sir Alexander Davenant, was appointed by King Alexander II. of Scotland to pursue and apprehend John de Bisset for burning the Earl of Athol in his own house at Haddington in 1242. John, his son, joined Sir William Wallace in the struggle for Scottish independence, and was with him at the battle of Stirling Bridge in 1297. His son, Petrus, adhered to Robert the Bruce, and fought with him at the battle of Bannockburn in 1314, but was killed at the battle of Halidon Hill in 1333. John Haig, fifth Baron of Bemersyde, the son of Petrus, fell at the battle of Otterbourne in 1388. Gilbert Haig, the eigth Baron, fought with the Scottish army, which defeated an English force under the Earl of Northumberland at Sark in 1449. He also assisted the Earl of Angus in breaking the power of James Earl of Douglas, in 1455. William Haig, tenth Laird of Bemersyde, fell at Flodden in 1513. His son, Robert Haig, had a command in the army under the Regent Arran, which engaged the English near Ancrum in 1544. He captured Lord Evers, an English leader, and as a reward for this exploit he obtained a discharge of all the duties due by his family to the Crown.

The great-grandson of this Baron, James Haig, fourteenth Laird of Bemersyde, had eight sons, the four eldest of whom were killed in the service of the Elector Palatinate, King of Bohemia, in 1620 and 1630. David Haig, the fifth son, carried on the line of the family and was succeeded by his son, Anthony Haig, who was an officer in the service of Sweden. After this the soldiers from Bemersyde seem to have been few and far between. From Petrus de Haga until the last proprietor in lineal descent, the Lairds of Bemersyde numbered nineteen. Now, after a break of fifty or sixty years there is once more in Scotland a Haig of Bemersyde, the first of a new, and, let us hope, a long line.

Bemersyde is set amid the fairest scenerey in all the Scottish borderland, a region redolent of poetry, song and warlike tradition. The ancestral home of the Haigs is the oldest inhabited house in this part of the Valley of the Tweed. To Sir Walter Scott there seemed "almost a wizard spell" hanging over Bemersyde. There the great Wizard of the north spent many happy hours with the Haigs of his day, the last of the direct line. Sir Walter's last visit was with Turner, the painter, in 1831. Turner made a sketch of Bemersyde on that occasion. In the foreground of the picture are Scott and Lockhart, and standing near by is Miss Haig.

From the crest of Bemersyde Hill there is a glorious prospect. It was Sir Walter's favorite view:

"Where fair Tweed flows round holy Melrose
And Eildon slopes to the plain."

and there he was always accustomed to halt his carriage for a spell. On the day of Scott's funeral the cortege on the way from Abbotsford to Dryburgh, halted at the brow of the hill for a minute or two, accidentally, as Lockhart, Scott's biographer thought; but when it is recalled that one of the horses in the hearse was Sir Walter's own and must have borne him over the countryside many a time the explanation is simple enough.

A waistcoat in color or white adds to the smartness of the tailored suit.

Careless Shampooing Spoils The Hair

If you want to keep your hair looking its best, be careful what you wash it with. Don't use prepared shampoos or anything else, that contains too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it.

The best thing for steady use is just ordinary mulsified cocoanut oil (which is pure and greaseless), and is better than anything else you can use.

One or two teaspoonfuls will cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get mulsified cocoanut oil at any pharmacy. It's very cheap, and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months.

A NOVEL SUGGESTION

If there are many United Farmers who share the views of Albert Hellyer, the U. F. O. candidate in East Wellington, the chances of an entente cordiale being developed between the farmers and the labor interests would seem to be most remote. Mr. Hellyer's suggestion for dealing with the cost of living deserves credit for its originality, at least. He calmly proposes that the hours of labor in manufacturing establishments should be lengthened to correspond with the working hours on the farm. Advocating this step because he contends it would increase the number of workmen needed in urban industries and the surplus labor would be driven to the farms, food production would be increased and consequently the cost of living would drop. It is not difficult to imagine the reception this proposal would receive at a meeting of labor men. At this time when every effort of the trades unions is to secure better wages and shorter working hours, Mr. Hellyer's suggestion would be as welcome as one of the Dominion Government's orders-in-council. Finding a common platform for the farmers and labor unions would seem to be a difficult task if the candidate for East Wellington represents the views of the United Farmers.

THE PLAYGROUNDS ASSOCIATION

A few days ago a reference was made in these columns to the splendid success of the supervised playgrounds. The fine attendance throughout the summer, the interest shown by the children, the boon the playgrounds were to the mothers of the city and the good work of the supervisor were pointed out as features of the season, but there was no mention of the fact that in order to pay the supervisors it was necessary for some of the public-spirited members of the Playgrounds Association to go on notes, nor was it stated that the Association faces a deficit of $600. Yet these are facts. The people of Peterboro should, however, see that they do not remain facts. And it surely only requires the statement of the situation to produce enough donations to wipe out the deficit. There is no doubt as to the value of supervised playgrounds to Peterboro; their worth has been proven in the past few years and never more emphatically than during the present summer. It would be a shame indeed, if the members of the Playground Association were left alone to shoulder the financial burden of an enterprise that has been a community asset. The $600 deficit should be wiped off the books by those citizens of Peterboro who are financially in a position to subscribe to this most worthy cause. Perhaps the need has not been understood, but now that the facts have been given to the public The Examiner is confident that there will be a ready response. Think it over and if you are in a position to help send in your donation at once. The Examiner will be glad to receive it on behalf of the Playgrounds Association. We have benefitted by the work of the Association; the city's gratitude should be shown in a tangible manner.

THE BY-ELECTIONS

At last the Bordon Government has summoned enough courage to face the electors. After waiting for months, afraid to take the plunge, the Government has finally announced the dates of the bye-elections in eight ridings, some of which have long been without representatives. The hesitancy of the heads of the Unionist administration is not difficult to understand. The reports from friends of the party in different parts of the country cannot have been reassuring. Hostility to the administration has steadily grown—to such an extent that the Government realizes that it will have a fight on its hands in every riding that is opened. Gone are the days when the Government could count upon a newly appointed minister being returned by acclamation—gone so completely that in the coming bye-elections there will be a contest in practically every constituency, although Hon. Dr. Tolmie's personal popularity in Victoria, B. C. may return the new Minister of Agriculture without a vote being necessary. Everywhere else the Government faces strong opposition. In Ontario the United Farmers will have a candidate in each of the constituencies as in other ridings where bye-elections are to be held there will be found a fight.

The bye-elections will be held on October 2?, which means that in the Ontario constituencies they will follow right on the heels of the prohibition referendum and possibly of a Provincial General Election as well. The electors of these particular ridings are no doubt looking forward to an unusually active October.

THE LIBERAL LEADER.

The large audience who heard Mr. Dewart on Friday evening got the impression of an earnest, honest man who will fight hard and win victory. There is nothing about him of the spellbinder. He appeals only to the reason of his hearers, argues his case thoroughly and massively, finishes it, and brings conviction to every open mind. He knows the history of nickel in Dominion and Ontario politics, and spares none who do not reserve to be spared.

The shocking negligence of our governments at Ottawa and Toronto in regard to the export of Ontario nickel via New Jersey to Germany in the late war was exposed by Mr. Dewart in an array of evidence that was even horrifying. People who lost sons, brothers, fathers in the war, especially in its latter years, will gasp with horror at the favors extended, even illegally, to the International Nickel Company by two governments that boasted their "patriotism" and slandered the character of Canadians whose loyalty does not confine itself to the pocket. The decent public will agree with Mr. Dewart that the most drastic investigation should be made of the whole nickel business in late years and its connection with politics in the war. Mr. Dewart contrasted with the criminal laxity of our governments the manner in which the British and Australian governments dealt with the Hun agents whose operations were brought to their attention. We want to know the reason why.

In these days of profiteering and governmental inactivity at Toronto in dealing with illegal combines, the Government's record on the nickel question is of peculiar significance. If our Government in time of war concerned itself so little to curb the manipulations of a company directed by 'enemies' of our country, but regularly encouraged that company in spite of its flagrant character and played into its hands though voices all around were crying out against the iniquity, what action can we ever expect from such a government against native Canadian combines who merely plunder us without taking the lives of our young men. Mr. Dewart very properly emphasizes the case of the Nickel Company. He is a master of that important and crucial subject. The whole treatment of nickel by the Ontario Government in recent years has been unpatriotic in the extreme, on a par with the Borden-Bourassa alliance in 1911, and it is typical of the piratical economic policy pursued at both Toronto and Ottawa. These Governments crush and make poor the mass of the people, and if the people object they are un-British or disloyal to the Empire. Canada, especially Ontario, is the most backward part of the Empire in democratic legislation. Mr. Dewart promises when returned to power to prosecute the combines and give us a square deal. What can be more British than that?—London Advertizer.

WARNS GERMAN POLICE.

Must Be Vigilant With Four Million Unemployed and Communists Active.

(Special to The Examiner.)

MUNICH, Aug. 27. — The commandant of the Guard troops, addressing recruits here, warned them they must reckon with the situation caused by the fact that there were four million unemployed in Germany. There was much discontent in the country, he said. He declared the Communists were rebuilding an organization which, he feared, would develop trouble.

PRISCO WITHOUT TRAINS.

Hit To-day by Railway Strike That Paralyzes South California.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Editor of The Examiner.

Sir,—In answer to Mr. Union Man, whoever or whatever that may mean, he must be ashamed of his craft when he don't name it. There used to be an old saying, which should apply to such as he, "If you deny the trade, give up the tools." But what I am saying, you don't need any tools at the present time to belong to a union. All that is required as to come along with your money and your vote, stand by us, and we will stand by you. Not only can they gain admission to a union without any tools, but without any reputation either, which is a bigger obstacle to my joining than the money question. As I have been taught to believe that the other fellow has rights to be respected, too, which the present day unionism don't make any pretence of doing.

And Mr. Union Man says he has sympathy for me if what I say is true. I am sure I am thankful to him, if what he says is true (about the sympathy), but frankly, I don't believe it is. Nor did I write the letter to gain sympathy. It's the last thing I would expect from most union men, but to protect myself against the implication that I was discharged for not doing my duty, and to give a reason for being in the city at all. I have been told by a man who was close by when a person was being lynched, that if there was one hundred men there, or five hundred men, they were all asked to take a hold of the rope to spread the responsibility so far around that no one could be punished for the crime. That is partly what I mean by men being admitted to the unions without reputation, and my bigest objection to belonging. The more backing such are sure of getting the more likely they are to commit violence, and until trade unionism begins to choose its company better and quit consorting with Bolshevism and revolutionists, I must decline the invitation to join.

Whatever the provocation in the East we have no need of these cutthroats here, as there is no place to draw the line between the rich and the poor, as witness the fact of (according to press reports) Senator Robertson carrying a union card.

And then the unions had the hardihood to talk about abolishing the Senate. They would take the man's job from him after he made such a good climb. They were running true to form though. Always better at stopping work than starting it.

But about the laugh. The laugh is certainly on the union in Winnipeg, as they gave the rich man the chance to buy up most of the poor man's Victory bonds by starving him to it, and blocking work till a lot of the working classes will either starve or beg next winter.

Thanking you Mr. Editor and making this my last on the subject,

Yours very truly,
BERNARD WELSH.

HAS NEVER MISSED THE TORONTO "EX."

Resident of Peterborough Has Seen Them All Since 1883.

TORONTO, Aug. 26.—Can anybody beat the continuous attendance record of D. W. Perley, of Peterborough, up to a short time ago, a resident of Toronto? Mr. Perley has been at the Exhibition every year since 1883.

"I simply could not miss the Toronto Exhibition," said Mr. Perley. "It's a sort of yearly occurrence in my life, something like a birthday.

"I suppose the first fair you saw in 1883 was a pretty small thing," ventured a Times reporter to Mr. Perley.

"Indeed it was not," he replied. "There were close to 175,000 people there. The Toronto Exhibition never was and never will be a pretty small thing."

EMBARGO ON FEEDS TO THE UNITED STATES

The Canadian Wheat Board has notified all millers that an embargo has been placed on all shipments of bran and shorts to the United States except by a special permit issued by the above board, and, as stated yesterday, that bran will sell from now on at $45.00 per ton and shorts at $55.00 per ton which shows an increase of $3.00 for the former and $11.00 for the latter.

It was also announced that prices for new crop spring wheat flour will be the same as those ruling now for old crop wheat flour notwithstanding the fact that millers have to pay much more for their wheat this year than last.

CHANGE IN DIVORCE LAW.

Recent Rush in West Intensifies the Need of Greater Expedition.

OTTAWA, Aug. 26. — The avalanche of divorce applications following the conferring of divorce jurisdiction on the Courts of the Prairie Provinces is regarded as intensifying the probability of a Federal divorce law, which would abolish the Senate divorce procedure, and give to Courts in all provinces the same authority as is now exercised outside of Ontario and Quebec.

A bill to that effect was introduced last session by W. F. Nickle, and passed its second reading, but got no further. As the vote indicated, the House was favourable to it, and if reintroduced by someone it will probably pass at the regular session next winter.

The Senate is "fed up" on divorce, and not disposed to cling to its privileges. The main argument against the proposed reform is that the court system will expedite and cheapen divorce, and thus intensify what many regard as an evil.

NEIL MAKES BLANCHE ORTON'S HOME A RENDEZVOUS

CHAPTER LI.

At the time I gave Neil's reply little thought. He was piqued when I said I would not sit at the table with such men, and had replied that there were many women who would simply for that reason. But afterward I was to recall that remark with the stabbing reflection that I had caused it, and also had perhaps been responsible that it had been true.

I had talked a little to Neil of my plans for Robert, and of my ideas concerning the social position we must try to make for ourselves for our son's sake. While agreeing with me that it would be perhaps important later, he had laughed because of the baby's age. But I had thought of it until I not only had a longing for social prestige, but for its symbols. It was this that made me determined to stop —in as far as I could— the entertaining of what I called "objectionable men" in our home.

That I was sending Neil to another woman, who for his sake would "be nice" to anyone he chose to take to her home, I had no idea; that he had Blanche Orton in his mind, never occurred to me. In fact since baby came I had forgotten—almost —that I ever thought I had cause to feel a bit of jealously because of her. Only once, at her dinner, had I felt the least recurrence of the emotion which before my boy was born had commenced to make me a trifle uneasy. It had been but a slight uneasiness then, just the beginnings of what might have grown into unhappiness because of their intimacy. But this feeling had lain dormant for months, and I had been so happy that there seemed to be nothing that could make me unhappy again.

Then too Neil's attitude, his loving care, had caused me to forget all that had gone before. Women are like that; they so easily forget things the man whom they love does to make them unhappy, and cling so desperately to other things.

A man, after he is married, will not cherish a glove or a rose given him in the sentimental days of courtship, while a grandmother will spend time gloating over the contents of an old trunk where in she, years before, has laid away the first flower he ever gave her, the first invitation, and his love letters. He has the reality; why bother She also has the reality, yet she clings to, and thinks tenderly of, the days when they first met and loved, and so holds on to the symbols of those days.

So I cherished the loving things Neil had done and said. And I forgot the short space of anxious, worried days and nights when I had wondered if he cared for Blanche Orton; and if his business methods were strictly all right. (The word "honest" or "dishonest" I never spoke in connection with Neil —not even in my thoughts.)

As I have said, Neil and commenced to remain out evenings again. Now that baby was older he went to sleep early, and I was often lonely. Once when I said:

"Neil, why do you stay out to dinner so often? Even if you have to go out afterward, I wish you would come home and have dinner with me. It makes the evening so long when you do not."

"You object when I bring home the men I have to see," he had replied shortly.

"What if I do? You can meet them after dinner, can't you? Surely you aren't always expected to dine with them?"

"They expect attention —it's part of the game. I want their money. And it strikes me you aren't at all averse to spending all you can get But you don't want to do anything to help me get it."

"That's not so! I am willing to do all I can in reason. If you would tell me more of your business affairs, I might perhaps be better able to judge of what was necessary. But I know enough to know that it is not necessary for me to sit at table with the sort of men you sometimes bring home."

MUST WORK AND SAVE NITTI TELLS ITALIAN

ROME. — Francesco S. Nitti, Premier and Minister of the Interior, issued a proclamation today addressed to all the Prefects, urging them to carry on a campaign for greater production in the country, most frugal economy, and the prevention of strikes.

"I desire," says Signor Nitti, "that a campaign be carried on in all the provinces having for its immediate stimulation of greater production and more frugality among consumers. There is urgency for a program in the country for more economy, and more work. There is a condition in Italy which forces us to act now strongly and vigorously.

"A majority of the public continues to live as heretofore. Besides, there is a large part of the people who, instead of working less nd demanding greater compensation. It is clear that today in order to sell other countries we must have equilibrium in the balance of trade. In 1913 we imported $200,000,000 more goods than we sold, but in 1918 we imported more than $2,000,000,000 of goods more than we exported.

"We must buy grain, fats, coal, and other commodities. We must give our Allies assurance of our faith to produce greater wealth in the interior of Italy. In this condition the strike is the arm of dtstruction. Every time there is cessation of work it is a serious blow at the nation all indifference on the part of producers is a menace."

Signor Nitti said that up to the present all Italian credits had come from England and the United States. England, he added, now was unable to furish credits, and the only hope of Italy was the United States.

"The United States alone are in a position to furnish us credits," said Signor Nitti.

MEAT CAUSE OF KIDNEY TROUBLE

Take a glass of Salts if your Back hurts or Bladder bothers—Meat forms uric acid.

If you must have your meat every day, eat it, but flush your kidneys with salts occasionally, says a noted authority who tells us that meat forms uric acid which almost paralyzes the kidneys in their efforts to expel it from the blood. They become sluggish and weaken, then you suffer with a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sours, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine gets cloudy, full of sediment, the channels often get sore and irritated, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night.

To neutralize these irritating acids, to cleanse the kidneys and flush off the body's urinous waste, get four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy here, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure, and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink.

AN OLD RECIPE TO DARKEN HAIR

Sage Tea and Sulphur Turns Gray, Faded Hair, Dark and Glossy.

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural colour and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is mussy and troublesome.

Nowadays we simply ask at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You will get a large bottle of this old time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients for about 50 cents. Everybody uses this preparation now, because no one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, thick and glossy and you look years younger. Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is a delightful toilet requisite. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

SWEDISH LIQUOR PLAN EXPLAINED BY DOCTOR

Licensing of Purchasers by Government Cuts Drunkedness, He Says.

The September-October number of "The American-Scandinavian Review" which contains an article written by Dr. Ivan Bratt, describing Sweden's solution of the problem of alcoholism through the so-called Stockholm System. As a physician and legislator, Dr. Bratt has had occasion to study alcoholism from several angles and he is the originator of the Stockholm system which he describes.

Under the Stockholm System the amount of liquor issued to any individual is strictly limited. Any one desiring to purchase alcoholic beverages is obliged to apply for a motbok, a small book of detachable coupons upon which the liquor writes his name, leaving one as a receipt for each purchase of goods. The issue of motboks is carefully supervised and none are given to minors or to confirmed drunkards .The amount of liquor which each individual can purchase under this licensing system is strictly limited.

The element of private profit is altogether eliminated from the liquor traffic, since the sale of intoxicants is a government monopoly. According to Dr. Bratt the good effects of the system are unmistakable. He cites figures to prove the tremendous decrease in the number of arrests for drunkenness since it has gone into effect.

The Swedish physician does not believe that absolute prohibition is a practical remedy for alcoholism. At one time during the war the price of liquor in Sweden rose to prohibitive height on account of the decline of foreign importations. According to Dr. Bratt this enforced abstinence did not have the effect of checking the consumption of liquor by the Swedish people. On the contrary, there was an alarming increase in the delirium tremens cases, because many people deprived of their accustomed mild stimulant, resorted to denatured alcohol in order to satisfy their craving.

Curious Wills

Even the great Duke of Marlborough could not resist the temptation of a farewell "slap" at his duchess when he left her £10,000, "wherewith to spoil Blenheim in her own way, and £15,000 to keep clean and go to law with."

William Darley, of Ash, bequeathed to his spouse, "for picking my pocket of 60 guineas, the sum of one shilling." And the will of Chas. Parker, a London bookseller, contains this clause: "I give to Elizabeth Parker the sum of £50, whom, through my foolish fondness, I made my wife, without regard to family, fame, or fortune, and who in return, has not spared, most unjustly, to accuse me of every crime except robbery."

A Yorkshire testator thus indulges his humour at the expense of his widow's feelings and pocket. "During my married life, I have always declared that my wife was the dearest woman in the world, and I m convinced that should anyone be rash enough to marry her after my death he will find her so, to deter as far as possible anyone making such a ruinous experiment, I leave her nothing."

DETROIT TEACHERS GET SALARY BOOST

AND HIGH COST OF LIVING ALLOWANCE FOR CIVIC EMPLOYEES.

Detroit, Mich, Aug. 25. — Three thousand school teachers will benefit under the plan suggested by May-Council by which city employees receiving less than $1,200 a year are to be given a "high cost of living allowance," in addition to their regular salaries.

This was announced by Mayor Couzens to-day, following a conference with Frank Cody, Superintendent of Schools, and Charles A. Gadd, Business Manager of the Board of Education, in which school heads urged immediate action by the city to aid teachers in combatting the high cost of living.

To Raise Teachers' Salaries.

School officials have been preparing a new salary schedule for the Board of Education employees which will be provided for in the next annual budget to be submitted to the Council in July, 1920. It is proposed to raise the minimum salary of teachers from $920 a year to $1,200, and the maximum from $1,540 to $1,800 a year.

"I am convinced school teachers cannot live on their present salaries," Mr. Cody said. "Figures on the cost of living show that women receiving $920 a year pay most of board requires personal neatness in its teachers, and many have been taxed beyond their means trying to dress accordingly."

Scale of Increases.

The scale proposed by Mayor Couzens provides a war bonus of 20 per cent. to city employes receiving less than $1,199 a year; 15 per cent. to those getting between $1,200 and $1,299 a year; 10 per cent. to employes paid between $1,300 and $1,499 a year; 4 and 5 per cent. to those paid between $1,500 and $1,699 a year. Under this plan school teachers getting a minimum salary of $920 will receive $1,104 a year, and those getting the maximum now will receive $1,617 until high living prices are decreased.

FRANCIS X. BUSHMAN AND BEVERLEY BAYNE

IN CLEVER PLAY AT THE GRAND THEATRE.

"Outlaw," which will be shown at the Grand theatre Thursday, Friday and Saturday, with Francis X. Bushman and Beverly Bayne as co-stars, is a play of powerful appeal.

Andrew Craig is in love with a girl of whom his mother does not approve. To please her sick fancies he breaks with the girl temporarily, hoping to win his mother's approval when she should regain her health. His mother does not recover, however, and after her death he seeks the girl again to make her his wife. He finds her already married, having believed his love for her was dead.

Broken-hearted at the accumulation of troubles, Craig declares that the hand of God is against him and that henceforth he is God's outlaw. To get away from his grief he leaves the town and settles in a distant village.

After many adventures he meets a girl whose character is so beautiful that he is won back to his former faith and happiness.

Mr. Bushman and Miss Bayne are suported by many notables among who mare Helen Dunbar, Samuel Kramer, Charles A. Fang, Belle Bruce, Valentine Mott and Early Chichester.

PEACH MARMALADE

This recipe can be made from portions of imperfect peaches when making preserves or in canning. Remove the stones and peel the fruit. Cut in small pieces and allow three-quarters the amount of sugar that you have peaches. Place both fruit and sugar in layers in a preserving kettle and let stand several hours for the syrup to form, then cook down until like orange marmalade. If desired the juice and grated rind of one lemon can be added for each pineapple and half peaches may be used instead of all peaches.

WHEAT CROP PROMISING.

Threshing Is Now General Throughout Province of Saskatchewan.

REGINA, Aug. 26.— Threshing is now general throughout the Province, according to reports received by the statistics branch of the Saskatchewan Department of Agriculture during the week ending Aug. 23.

In the southeastern districts reports show that threshing will be general by the 25th. The yield of wheat in the north part of the district will run from 15 to 20 bushels while in the south estimates run from 5 to 15. Oats and flax will be better in many places than expected. Regina-Weyburn districts reports show threshing general this week. In the east central district, threshing is well advanced. Estimates of the yield show wheat averaging 17 to 30 bushels. Oats cutting is well under way and yields will be good. Slight damage from rust in the remainder of the Province to the north reports show cutting practically finished and threshing started this week.

ONTARIO'S SPRING CROP ALL CUT NOW

BEANS ARE RUNNING TO A LIGHT YIELD.--PLUMS A GOOD CROP.

TORONTO, Aug. 25.—The following is a summary of reports made by Agricultural Representatives to the Ontario Department of Agriculture:—

The generous rains which have visited the Province during the last week or ten days have had a reviving effect upon pastures, corn, late potatoes and roots which crops have been noticeably suffering from the prolonged drouth.

Nearly all spring grains have been cut. In same quarters a part of these crops is still in the stook, but the bulk has been well housed. Where threshed; spring grains as a rule are not going over the estimate in actual weight. Some complaints are being made of rust in oats.

A few beans have been already harvested and are running rather light in yield.

The rains were timely for those intending to put in winter wheat, and if present intentions and preparations are carried out last year's area of this crop will be considerably increased this fall.

Plums have been one of the best orchard crops this year, and have come into the market a week earlier than ordinarily.

Grapes also are promising a good yield.

A number of the cattle being marketed are showing the effect of the light pastures. Huron reports that co-operative marketing of live stock, etc., is coming more into vogue, some nine or ten farmers' clubs in that country now selling that way.

Hogs have decreased in value, local sales reported ranging $20.50 to $22 a cwt. Small pigs are selling at $15 a pair in Frontenac.

Elgin states that lambs are going to market earlier than usual.

Victoria reports that a number of trators have been purchased by farmers in that county, and that fall work this season will be greatly helped thereby.

Mrs. Phillip Surette Met Horrible End on Island Home.

HALIFAX, N. S., Aug. 26. — A shocking occurrence took place at Surrells' Island, twenty miles from Yarmouth, on Saturday morning, when Mrs. Phillip Surrette was attacked by an ox and so badly gored that she died shortly after. The unfortunate woman was about forty-five years of age, and seeing the ox at large in her garden she attempted to drive it out. As she did so the animal turned on her, and before assistance could reach Mrs. Surrette she was gored and hooked about in a frightful manner. Her clothes were torn off her, and she was practically dismembered.

LACKS THREE SENSES BUT NORMAL OTHERWISE

Canadian Soldier Cannot Feel, Taste or Smell as Result of Yellow Fever.

Nothing more serious than mumps was the cause of a Canadian soldier being discovered who is claimed to be the most remarkable man in the world. This is an unquestionable conclusion to be drawn from a description of the extraordinary warrior given in "The London Lancet."

The man was originally a Breton sailor. He emigrated to Canada eight years and enlisted in the Canadian army. Later he developed mumps and was sent to a military hospital, where his remarkable qualities were discovered.

It was observed that the patient was a well developed, powerful looking man of a very cheerful, even temperament, good natured and far removed from the neurotic or hysterical type. But he was found to be almost entirely devoid of sensation.

He is insensitive to pain and has undergone serious operations without any anaesthetic. His body is plentifully strewn with the scars of wounds and burns that he has inflicted on himself for bets or to astonish the onlookers. The author of the account in "The Lance" tells of seeing his hold a burning match against the skin of his arm and then pick off the charred fibre. He has never suffered from headaches or pain of any other description.

"The patient possesses no sense of touch. He cannot feel the ground with his feet, and has to control his movements by sight. He has a consequent difficulty in walking at night. There is a complete inability to recognize objects placed in his hand when his eyes are shut.

He cannot distinguish between heat or cold, whether in the temperature of food or of the weather, and fever and chills cause to perspire or shiver, but without any sensation of cold or heat.

No sense of muscular position seems present and the man says that he cannot tell whether his arms or legs are moving or not. He has no sense of fatigue and the only way that he is made aware of failing strength after prolonged and violent effort is by his falling to the ground.

He is unable to find his nose without guiding his hands by sight and of he be moved about when his eyes are closed he is ignorant of the fact.

All motive of smell is absent. Even fuming nitric acid was ineffective when strongly inhaled.

The man is mentally sound and rather above than below the average of intelligence. As a child he appears to have had a slight sense of touch, and he dates its complete disappearance from the time when he had an attack of yellow fever in Sangal at the age of seventeen. His sight and hearing, however, seem to be normal—Milwaukee Sentinel.

BARKER MAKES THE ROUND TRIP

CANADIAN ACE ARRIVES AT LEASIDE AND GETS GREAT RECEPTION—NEWS OF THE AIR DERBY.

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 27.— Col. W. G. Barker, V.C., famous Canadian airman, flying a captured German "Fokker" machine, completed the round trip from Toronto to New York and return in the International Air Derby, at 9.18 a.m. He was the first of the competing aviators to arrive at Leaside to-day and the crowd at the airdrome gave him a great reception. Col. Barker declared that his left arm, which was frozen during the eastern flight, was uncomfortable, but had not caused him much inconvenience in making the trip from Buffalo this morning.

Stormy Conditions.

SYRACUSE, N.Y., Aug. 27.—Canadian and American participants in the flying Derby again face stormy conditions in Syracuse and Central New York. About 25 more are expected to check in and out at Bethk farm field. During Wednesday the weather premitting, forty-five braved the heavy rain and winds of Tuesday without any serious mishaps, as far as [illegible] concerned, because of [illegible] leave for Wm. Scott, the Canadian service, was compelled to wire cancellation of a dinner engagement he had with the Prince of Wales. Rain storms late in the afternoon prevented a number of planes from continuing their trips to Buffalo and Albany.

On the Last Leg.

ROSEVELT FIELD, L. I., Aug. 27.—Two more air racers hopped off this morning on their return to Toronto in the International Air Derby. They were Wallace Young, a civilian, who took the air at 8.35, and Lieut. O. S. Palmer, who left at 9.39 o'clock.

Twenty-two contestans were expected to arrive here to-day. Capt. A. E. Simonin was the first of returning New York flyers to reach Albany to-day, arriving from Syracuse at 9.05, with a flying time of fifty-six minutes. He resumed his flight thirty minutes later.

Other New York flyers to arrive and depart at Albany on the last leg of their journey were Lieut. Midkiff and Lieut. Ray Browne. Captain H. W. Cooke, in a German Fokker resumed his flight to Toronto from Albany at 10.06 o'clock. About 25 planes were expected to check in and out of Syracuse ,although stormy weather conditions were reported from that city.

BYE-ELECTION DELAY CRITICIZED BY KING

OTTAWA, Aug. 26.—"The delay in issuing the by-election writs is inexcusable and can only be explained by the government's complete indifference to the right of the people to control parliament." The foregoing statement was made by Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, leader of the Liberal party, regarding the by-elections to-day. "Representation in parliament is the first right of a free people," declared Mr. King; "every denial or postponement of that right is in the nature of an infringement of a fundamental liberty. In arranging for the by-elections on October 27the government has contrived to maintain eight vacancies in parliament for the period of the ensuing session which the public has been given to understand will be concluded before that date.

"It is well that electors should understand how far we are getting away in Canada from government by the people as it should be carried on where regard is had for the right of constituencies to representation in parliament.

Voice Of The People

Editor, The Examiner.

Sir,—My invitation to the Review to publish certain Police Court records was declined, notwithstanding my offer of $500.00 to the War Veterans' Association Building Fund. That offer still stands open to the Review for a week.

The Review knows that the reason of its attacks upon me is because of my instructions from the Mayor to prosecute a certain investigation some time ago, and I assured the memebrs of the Council of my active and vigorous taking up of this investigation, concerning a former head of one of the departments. It was an unpleasant task, but in my position as City Solicitor I appreciated my duty, commenced the proceedings, and this incurred the displeasure of the Review.

If the Review will invite me to disclose these facts which I have asked the Review to disclose, I will do so on the political platform within the next few weeks, if an election is pending.

Regarding my contribution of $180.00 to the Patriotic Fund, I told the gentleman who canvassed me for my subscription that I would pay this money in a lump sum or in instalments at the end of the year, if he desired it, and he told me it would make no difference, and that I could pay this at the end of the year. When he asked me for my contribution I sent it down within twenty-four hours after the request was made.

I might say, in addition to that, that my firm acted for soldiers and soldiers dependents, and have done yearly over five hundred dollars' worth of professional work for which we have not asked a dollar, and this is one of the contributions I made, for which the Review, of course, will give me no credit.—Yours truly.

G. N. Gordon.

GUNNER A. L. ALLEN WAS DISCHARGED

MAGISTRATE CONSIDERED EVIDENCE INSUFFICENT AND VAGUE.

In this morning's Police Court Gunner A. L. Allen was acquitted of the charge of theft of subscription money for the "Pictorial Review" laid against him. Miss Margaret Hall as witness for the prosecution stated that on the 9th of January, last, Allen had taken her subscription for the "Pictorial Review". She had paid him two dollars and he had given her a receipt but she had never received the magazine. About two months afterward she had written a letter to the office of the Allard-Brophy Co., of Toronto, for whom Allen was agent, complaining of her not receiving the magazine and sending the receipt he had given her. The Company had notified the local police.

Mr. Harold Gilbert, district agent for the company, said that he had never received from Allen a report of the subscription. Allen had claimed on that date that he had lost his receipt book, but had made no mention of Miss Hall's subscription, Gilbert continued. He had written the head office regarding the loss of the books and had sent them the money for the subscription of Mr. Bruce Johnston, which Allen had given him and had said it was the only one recorded in the lost book.

At this point Mr. Strickland, Allen's lawyer, asked Gilbert if there was any previous conviction against him. Chief Thompson objected to the question and the remainder of the trial was enlivened with frequent arguments between Mr. Strickland and the Chief. The Magistrate sustained the Chief's objection.

H. G. Allard, formerly of the Allard- Brophy Co., was then called. He testified that he remembered nothing regarding the case. He could not produce Gilbert's report for the month as he was no longer a member of company and had no access to its files. He had made efforts through the present members of the company to obtain the report but had been unsuccessful as the files had been transferred to the head office of the company in Buffalo.

The defendant,( Gunner Allen then took the stand. He stated that all subscription money he had ever received had been turned in to Mr. Gilbert. With regard to Miss Hall's subscription he remembered losing his receipt book containing a record of the transaction. He had however, taken a note of Mr. Johnston's and Miss Hall's subscriptions and handed it and the money to Mr. Gilbert.

The magistrate in reviewing the case considered that the Crown's evidence was too hazy and vague and that he could not convict Allen on it. Therefore he discharged the defendant.

After court, however, Allen was taken into custody again on a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses in Port Hope on February 1st, last. The amount was named as $15.00.

STATE CONTROL OF MILK IN NEW YORK PROPOSED TO REDUCE MILK

RECOMMENDATION OF MILK COMMISSION TO REGULATE PRICES AND LIMIT PROFITS AND THAT CITIES ENGAGE IN DISTRIBUTION.

NEW YORK, August 26. — State control and municipal distribution of milk are recommended as a possible "regrettable alternative" in a report to Governor Smith of New York State, made by Martin H. Glynn, former Governor, and John H. Finley, State Commissioner of Education, appointed to investigate the high cost of living. The report recommends that a fair price committee be appointed at once in New York city in an effort to bring about co-operation between dealer and consumer. If other methods of bringing down the price of milk fail the following measures are recommended:

That a State milk commission be created.

That milk distributors be licensed.

That the commission regulate milk prices, limit profits and inspect the books of milk companies.

That the commission assist cities in establishing their own systems of distributing milk.

That cities be authorized to acquire milk distributing systems.

That a special effort be made to provide cheap milk for the children of the poor.

That "loose milk" be guarded from contamination.

That the commission have power to revoke a dealer's license.

The report it is expected, will have the effect of preventing a further increase in the price of milk which the combines had scheduled for September. Charges of profiteering against these combines have long been levelled. One paragraph in the above report would indicate that the charges are not without foundation. It says: "This increase (in the price of milk) is due in considerable part to the causes which have led to high food prices generally, among which was the demand for our milk products abroad during the last two years of the war, but when the Milk Reporter for July calls editorial attention to an existing considerable surplus over-domestic needs, due to the increased flow of milk,' and urges the finding of a new foreign market in order that profitable prices be maintained, we have reason to infer that there are other causes than these general causes and reasons that can no longer be called patriotic.

BRITISH GUNBOATS AND DANUBE POLICY

GREAT WATERWAY NOW OPEN TO ALL AND TRAFFIC RESUMED.

BUDAPEST, HUNGARY.— The British vice-admiral E. C. F. Troubridge, now that Bela Kun cannot block the Danube, is enabled to open the waterway to traffic from source to mouth after months of effort against the selfish opposition of seven states. He has a fleet of gunboats to back up the Entente policy of "the Danube for all." The Roumanians showed an inclination to block the mouth of the river to the disadvantage of the up-river states.

Admiral Troubridge took control of the pilots whom the Rumanians tried to force into swearing allegiance to Roumania, and has taken charge of all ships and hydrographic stations. The first passenger boat has left for Pressburg, while a cargo of 500 tons of sugar is leaving Czecho-Slovakia for Serbia. The admiral had 500 tons of food on the way to Budapest as soon as proper distribution was assured.

With Henry James, the admiral is organizing the basis for a big traffic to replace the broken down railroads, and thus restarting the economic life in thhis part of Europe. A channel 500 feet wide has been cleared in the river and the last four sections are ready for traffic. The coal problem, however, remains critical.

ITALY WANTS WORK IS SORELY TRIED

DEMOBILIZED ARMIES WOULD FURNISH ABUNDANT LABOUR FOR NEW INDUSTRIES.

LIFE NOT DISORDERED

ROME—Many Americans just arrived from the United States to prospect for posibilities of developing and exploiting this country's resources have told me their idea was to provide capital while Italy, on her side, would provide the hand labor. This would not be difficult as thousands of men are being daily demobilized who are searching for employment. American experts would at first direct the working of the business to insure the efficiency of the organization. As soon as Italians had learned the American method of running a business it would be left estirely in their hands. This way of co-operation has given excellent results in the Far East, where Americans direct many of the chief industries and factories with natives working under them.

The first question Americans ask upon landing in Italy is whether the revolution is still raging and whether Bolshevism has made much headway here. There surprise is intense when, upon driving through Genoa, they see no signs of strife or unrest, but the usual activity and bustle of a big, busy town.

Rome strikes them the same way. They cannot keep from exclaiming: 'Why, in America the general opinion is that Italy is in the throes of a great upheaval, not for from Bolshevism." Perhaps the last food riots which occurred in some parts of the kingdom did much to generate this opinion in the United States.

But if some of the disadvantages and sufferings were known under which the Italian nation is still laboring, although we are almost nearing a year since hostilities ceased, Americans would wonder that Italy succeeded in keeping from utter anarchy. Food conditions and restrictions are just as severe and numerous as they were during the war. Bread and maccaroni, which are the staple food of the poorer classes, are just as dark and uneatable as before. Many days of the week meat is unprocurable. Sugar, and especially butter, are unheard of luxuries.

Gas is still meted out at certain hours of the day, and the poor people who cannot afford to cook with gas often have great difficulty to prepare their meals, as coal has never been seen for private uses since the war began. Charcoal is scarce, and dear. Owing to the miners' strike in England, the quantity of coal assigned to Italy has been still further limited. Thus many trains which had been added to the railway service since the armistice have been again curtailed. The result is that in this boiling weather people have to travel packed like sardines, many standing in the corridors.

All this and much more the Italian people have supported uncomplainingly and calmly for many months, always hoping things would improve. Prices, however, continued rising to fabulous heights, so that it was inconceivable how certain classes of the people succeeded in keeping alive. Popular patience wore out in certain towns, and the people took the law into their hands and sacked good clothes shops. Be it noted that no jewelry shops or furniture shops &c., were touched; only those shops which contained the necessaries of life. Other towns, seeing the success of such attempts, followed suit.

The Italian people, however, soon realized that things were not improved by looting and pilaging, that it only meant more days of suffering and want.

This movement was sporadic and unorganized among a certain number of people who through years and months of suffering had lost patience and rebelled. Socialists and anarchists hoped to take advantage of the unsettled conditions in the country to plot the overthrow of the established order of things but it turned out an utter fiasco.

If the Italian people can only find one who knows how to lead them the country might reach a height of prosperity and richness never dreamed of, as it has the elements necessary to reach such results.

U.S. WITHDRAWAL FROM MEXICO IS EXPLAINED

WAS NOT INFLUENCED BY DIPLOMATIC NEGOTIATIONS.

WASHINGTON, Aug 26. — The decision to withdraw from Mexico cavalry troops who crossed the border in pursuit of bandits who kidnapped two army flyers was wholly a military one, and was not influenced by diplomatic negotiations now in progress, it was made plain here today.

The orders to General Dickman at the time of the crossing on to Mexican soil were so plain, it was said here, that he had plenty of authority to draw the expedition back without further word from Washington.

These orders were that a "swiftly moving force" could be sent across the border on a "hot trail." After a chase of several days during which the troops were hindered by two rainstorms, the trail army officers said, probably grew cold and Dickman decided that it was time to withdraw.

More expeditions, it was clearly indicated may go into Mexico at any time if the bandit bands which infest the border become sufficiently bold to warrant it, providing border commanders see a good chance to wipe out a bandit band.

Word that Secretary Lansing's reply to Mexico's note of protest against the crossing had gone forward, was still awaited here to-day.

Despatches from Mexico City that the Government is making a close study of points at issue between this country and Mexico, interested officials here to-day.

It was pointed out, however, that the announcement was made as an indirect answer to critics of the present Mexican administration who have been aiming at cabinet changes.

Press despatches reaching here show criticism at Carranza because of Mexico's more or less strained international relations.

Just beneath that freckled, tanned or reddened complexion there's an exquisitely beautiful skin of youthful tint and delicacy. If you could only bring this complexion to the surface, discarding the discoloured one! You can—in the easiest, simplest, most natural manner imaginable. Just get at any drug store an ounce of ordinary mercolized wax, apply nightly like cold cream, removing it mornings with warm water. The wax assists Nature by gradually peeling off the lingering particles of scorched and half-dead surface skin, causing no discomfort whatever.

Cutaneous defects like pimples, blotches, liver spots, moth patches, freckles, of course disappear with the old skin. Nothing else will accomplish such wonderful results in so short a time.

FE DIE SCHUPP DECLARES HE HAS RECOVERED USE OF HIS TRUSTY SOUP-BONE

New York—Somewhere, somehow, under a broiling summer sun, Ferdinand Schupp has found again the effectiveness which slipped from him more than a year ago. The strength that he used to know has seeped back into his sinewy left arm, and control, a lost art with him over a span of several playing months, has ben regained by the Louisville kid. In the parlance of the sporting world, Scupp has "come back." He says so himself.

Now there are many ball players who say much about themselves which may be liberally discounted, but Schupp is not one of these. At all times, since he bobbed up with a lame whip at Marlin in the spring of last year, he has adhered strictly to the truth in discussing his case. Last year he was rather pessimistic, and he began to believe he never would recover the use of his pitching arm, but this spring an improvement in the condition of the arm having been brought about, he became hopeful. He was, however, always very conservative in his expressions concerning the progress he was making. Last year it was: "I don't know; looks as if the old soup bone will never come around." This years it was: "Feels better. It may be some good yet."

Yesterday he literally smiled all over his face when the writer asked him how he felt.

"I'm right," he said. "There isn't a doubt now. The warm sun in St. Louis or something has put my arm back in shape. Never, no, not even in 1916 and 1917 when I was going pretty good, did my arm feel better than it does right now. There isn't a pain left in it. I've got as much stuff as I ever had and, more important than anything else, I can control the ball.

An Excellent Performance

The record of the game pitched by Schupp in Boston last week tends to bear out his contention that he is right again. Facing the Braves in the second game of a double-header, the Kid allowed seven scattered hits and a solitary run, issued three passes and registered eight strike-outs. That performance compares favorably with any he turned in when he was at the top of his career.

"I didn't know I was going to pitch that game until the first game was over and most of the time between games had expired," he said yesterday. "I was loafing around on the bench when Branch Rickey told me I was going to work the second game. I hopped out and started to warm up, and I hadn't pitched more than three or four balls before I realized that my arm was in wonderful shape and I was ready to start.

"Because I have been wild in most of my starts for the past year or so the Braves figured that it would pay to wait me out. They tried it, but it didn't work. Four of the eight men I fanned took the third strike, and on each of the four I curved a ball right over the plate for the third strike."

Schupp appears to be very well satisfied with his present berth.

'Of course I didn't like to leave the Giants," he said. "Nobody does, I guess, but I must say that I am contented now. Everybody, including the St. Louis fans has treated me fine, and I haven't a thing to worry me. I have just gone ahead and got back in shape, and I am sure that Rickey won't be disappointed in me."

That Schupp is still a favorite with Polo grounds fans was evident yesterday when the Louisville Kid walked across the field before the game. Making his first appearance here in a St. Louis uniform, he was the recipient of a burst of genuine applause, and it is certain that if he pitches against the Giants hundreds of fans will be rooting hard for him to win. If this be treason make the most of it.

FRANK CHANCE IS NOT SURPRISED AT MORAN'S SUCCESS

NEW YORK, Agu. 25—Frank Le Roy Chance, who managed the Chicago Cubs when they won the national league pennant in 1906, 1907, 1908 and 1910, also the world's championship in 1907 and 1908, and who led the Yankees in 1913 and 1914 with dubious results, saw the Giants take both ends of Wednesday's double header with the St. Louis Cardinals at the Polo grounds. Chance paid for a box seat near the Giants' dugout and as one of the fans he enjoyed the sport immensely.

Chance and Barney Oldfield are making a tour of the country in a big motor car. They went by train from Los Angeles to Toledo to witness the Dempsey-Willard fight, then motored to Saratoga to take a fling at the races and subsequently came to this city by way of Boston. They will start for Chicago in a few days on their long journey back to the Pacific coast.

Chance saw the Cubs break even in Tuesday's double header with McGraw's men and was astonished by the weakness of his old ball club. The once Peerless Leader still maintains that the Cubs, when they captured the highest honors in baseball, were stronger than any other National league pennant winners.

"Miner Brown was the best pitcher I ever saw," said Chance in a fanning bee. "He was a greater pitcher than Mathewson! Why Because he invariably beat Matty and finally McGraw wouldn't send Big Six against him. Yes, we had two wonderful catchers in Johnny Kling and Jimmy Archer in the days when we used to fight the Giants tooth and nail, but McGraw had a catcher equally as good in Roger Bresnahan

"You don't see such men as Tinker and Evers playing around second base nowadays. Those fellows were in a class by themselves. Heinie Zimmerman, who was with the Cubs in 1910, still is paying good ball from what I have seen of him. He is one of the most graceful infielders in the game and seems able to do his share with the bat. McGraw certainly has picked up a promising youngster in this boy Frisch who is covering second base. He is very fast and appears to have much natural skill.

"Toney has developed into a fine pitcher. You know I discovered him, but he was very green, had an underhand delivery and couldn't control the ball. He was a tall, thin fellow when I first saw him, but he's a trifle too heavy now. He delivers the ball something like Matty did in the old days."

Surprised at the Comeback of Leifield

"The old timers are not all dead yet," continued the Cubs' former leader. "Look at the come back of Lefty Leifield, who pitched a one hit shutout for the St. Louis Browns the other day.' Leifield was one of the Pirates' best pitchers when they won the pennant back in 1909. I had forgotten all about him until I read about his remarkable performance in the box. Leifield must be nearly forty years old, but evidently he still has his noodle in goodworking order.

"I am particularly interested in the Cincinnati Reds [illegible] old catcher, Pat Moran, is at the head of them. Moran, when a player, was a close student of baseball and a splendid chap personally. I predicted six years ago that if Pat ever got the chance he would make his mark as a [illegible] and naturally I am pulling for him. Moran always knew the value of a strong pitching staff and that is one of the big reasons why he has built up a pennant winner."

Chance added that he had no idea of returning to the game as manager or magnate. He has plenty of money nd owns a profitable orange grove at his home in Glendora, Cal.

"ONLY A PAUPER WHOM NOBODY KNOWS"

TORONTO, August 26.—That all is not "beer and skittles" when a Royal Prince comes to town was exemplified in the Police Court this morning. Yesterday, while this city of limitless industry, of immense wealth, palatial homes, educational and social culture, was doing itself proud by giving the handsome young Prince the royal welcome he deserved, there was a white-haired old man wandering aimlessly about the flag-bedecked streets, wondering at the contrasts in fate. Late in the afternoon he found himself at the edge of the multitude outside the City Hall.

"I wonder if I can see the Prince," he said to a bystander. But the chances were few. Had he been Nicodemus, he might have climbed a tree, or a telegraph pole; but then Nicodmus was not crippled with the infirmities of age. Besides, Nicodemus was not a poor man. Had he been here yesterday, he would have worn a frock coat and silk hat, and had an invitation to the Yacht Club or Government House. This old man, Wellington Weller, happened to be so poor that he had neither influence, nor wealth, no home, and was to helpless to push his way through "the press."

"I guess I won't be able to see him," said the old man as he hobbled away.

This morning the police brought him through the handsomely-decorated entrance to the $3,000,000 municipal buildings, and stood him before Police Magistrate Denison, who, by the way, dined and talked last night with the Prince, and said this morning that the H. R. H. was "a very fine young fellow."

"This old man is not a vagrant," said Crown Attorney Corley.

"By George! if there's anyone here has anything against my character, I want you gentlemen to give it to me," burst forth the old man.

"We have nothing against your character, but in these days of profiteering it is a crime to be without the necessaries of life," replied the Crown Attorney.

"So it seems, so it seems," agreed the old man.

Then they sent him to the Jail Farm for six months.

BABE RUTH AFTER FREEMAN'S SEASON HOME RUN RECORD

We have a right to suspect that Babe Ruth hopes to slam-bang his way to a new major league record for home runs in a single season.

Ruth has made twenty-three homers to date this year.

As most every thirty-third degree bug-nut in the universe knows, one John Freeman, affectionately dubbed "Buck," holds the medal for slamming out the greatest number of homers in a given year in the big shows. With the Washington club in 1899 he drove out twenty-five home runs.

The record has never been equalled in the majors, although it has been eclipsed several times in the minors.

Some of the minor league records are interesting, though, as they were made by men who also starred in the majors, but failed to set any home run records after they advanced to the fastest company.

The best record was hung up by Frank Roth, with the Evansville team in the old Three-I league in 1901. Roth connected with thirty-six homers.

Ping Bodie earned his name of fence buster when he slammed thirty balls against the fence for home runs while with San Francisco in 1910.

Gavvy Cravath, recently made manager of the Phils, treated American Association fans to some slugging in 1911, when he laced out twenty-nine four baggers.

Outfielder Leslie Mann, while with the Seattle club in the Northwestern League, ran up twenty-seven homers during the campaign of 1913.

Wildfire Frank Schulte, in 1911, got twenty-one home runs. That same season Bues, with the Seattle club, made twenty-seven.

When Ruth soled out his seventeenth homer the other day he passed the American League record, held by Socks Seybold.

KENTUCKY CLAIMS OLDEST MAN IN THE WORLD, SOON BE 118

SERGEANT, Ky.— September 3 will be the 118th birthday of Uncle John Shell, of Greasy Creek, Leslie county, according to his story, although others insist, on seemingly good authority, that he is 130. The National Geographical Society at Washington has been asked to investigate the claim that Mr. Shell is the oldest person in the civilized world.

Uncle Henry Chappell, a near neighbor, now past ninety, says Mr. Shell is 130. He declares that he has frequently seen a tax receipt held by Uncle John Shell dated 1809. Allowing Mr. Shell to be 21, the age at which a man pays his first tax, he assuredly is 130.

Other old men in the vicinity agree with Mr. Chappell's claim. But without question Uncle John Shell is the oldest and most remarkable personage living in this country.

To his legion of acquaintances in Eastern Kentucky he is "Uncle Johnnie." He is still hale and hearty, enjoying his three meals, sometimes four meals a day, and looks many years younger than he himself claims to be.

Can Read Finest Print.

On the occasion of a correspondent's visit the noon day meal consisted of venison, fish and honey, all secured by Uncle John. He is proud of his marksmanship. The bees from which he took the honey were hunted by himself, for his eyes are still as good as those of the average man of fifty. He can read the finest print. The fish were of his own catch. Over night was spent in the old Shell home, the party sitting up late at night listening to the early istory tales of the country—how he made his way through unbroken forests and wilds, encountered frequently by the traders.

When asked about a photograph of himself, he said, "I have never had my picture taken and I believe I will still persist against it." With a little persuasion, however, he agreed to pose. Then he declared that it was the delight of his life to have his picture made, that it might appear in print to be circulated over the country.

"Others might benefit by it," he said. "My life has been an open book. I have lived next to nature; I eat pure food, drink pure water, take ample exercise, use a moderate amount of pure whiskey, chew tobacco—to all these I attribut my long life and good health. I spend much of my time in the mountains enjoying the wonder working of nature, breathing pure air.

"I never took a dose of medicine; in fact, I don't want anything to do with the new-fangled doctors; they can't do you any good."

In the old-fashioned country shooting matches on Greasy Creek every Saturday Uncle John Shell is there with his rifle, which he carried with him across the mountains of Kentucky [illegible] With his old rifle he won many of the prizes.

Recently Uncle John cut his third set of teeth, and he now has splendid grinders.

Uncle John is the father of eleven children, has a host of grandchildren, many great-grandchildren and scores of great-great-grandchildren — all living along Greasy Creek.

There will be a homecoming birthday celebration, with a great dinner, on September 3. Kindred and friends from adjacent sections and counties will be there.

Shell has lived close to nature since earliest youth. When the Indians hunted in Kentucky the settlers always worked with a rifle close at hand.

"It has been my constant aim to take life easy and not to worry," he says, and to this he largely attributes his longevity.

It is not uncommon to see the old man set out and walk to Hyden, the county seat, twenty miles over rough mountain roads, and return the same day.

"I can out-walk out-work out-eat and enjoy life better than any of my neighbors and friends of forty," he declared.

A DISGRACEFUL OCCURRENCE

On Wednesday evening, one of the ball players from Avonlea objected to a decision of the umpire and with some of his friends, decided to "beat the umpire up." At the close of the game he opened a dispute with the umpire, which was borne with great coolness until the Avonlea player, who appeared to be spoiling for a fight, began to use language that no man could stand for and respect himself afterward. A blow was struck which gave the visiting heroes the opportunity for the fight they were looking for; but alas, they fared no better than they did at the ball game. A short, sharp melee ensued in which the innocent bystander was swatted with the same zest as the combatants. The casualty list was composed chiefly of Avonlea names, and the "honors" went to the "home guards." The incident was not a pleasant one; but the onus rests entirely upon [illegible] who started it. Until a ball player has learned to respect the decision of the umpire, he has no business on the field. It is unfortunate that the actions of one or two should throw the game into disrepute, and the [illegible] in particular. Yet that is the result of such ill-regulated action. The manager of the Avonlea team was Herb Munro, and no better sport is to be found. He plays the game all the time, and has the respect of his opponents as well as his team mates. Had they listened to his counsel, the affair of Wednesday would not have occurred. The manager expressed himself as satisfied with the umpire's decision, and we are confident that he will see to it that the "fire-brands" are restrained in the future.—Rouleau Enterprise.

The degree was conferred in quiet ceremony in the library of Osgoode Hall at one o'clock this afternoon The Prince signed his name on the same roll as used by his grandfather. The veteran treasurer of the Law Society conferred the degree and read the address.

A feature of the affair was the presence of twelve soldier barristers who were in attendance on the Prince All had recently returned from the war, and eight of them wore decorations, won on the battlefield for distinguished service and valor in action.

RED'S CONTROL WAS TAUGHT BY MORAN

The most valuable asset in a successful hurler's repertoire is control. Without it a slabster encounters no end of difficulty in winning games. A twirler may have a world of speed and curves galore, but what good is all that if he is unable to hurl the ball where he wants it to go. In short, [illegible] the secret of successful pitching in leagues big and leagues small.

The Reds are the prospective winners of the National league pennant, but had Manager Moran neglected to spend many weary hours in teaching the [illegible] members of the hurling department the art of controlling the ball, Cincinnati fans would not be preparing to witness the big games in their city. Last season Eller was considered a good pitcher and Ring was only a mediocte slabster. Each possessed ability, but much of their effectiveness was lost because they could not control what they had. Along came Pat Moran and his wisdom, and now the pair are among the best in the major leagues. Last season Eller in 37 games issued 59 passes, and Ring walked 48 men in 21 games. This season it has been difficult for any opposing batters to reach first via the base on balls route, while they are pitching, and the same is true of the other members of Moran's staff.

The recent games played in New York and Brooklyn by the Reds offers a good example of the control of the hurlers. A total of ten games was played, six with the Giants and four in Brooklyn. In the games Eller, Ruether, Fisher, Ring, Sallee, Bressler and Luque pitched at least one frame, and the only member of the staff who did not get into a contest was Mitchell, a young right hander. In the ten contests a total of 353 batters was pitched to and only nine were walked to first base. That is an average of less than one walk a game. Only one batter earned the distinction of being purposely passed, and he is Larry Doyle, who stepped to the plate in the 14-inning contest at the polo grounds as a pinch hitter.

Jimmy Ring, who owes nearly all his success to Pat Moran's words of wisdom, hurled the game for the Reds, and it was the only pass he issued during the long battle. In the series with the Robins that followed the polo grounds contests Ring did not allow a run to be scored off him, and Ed. Koney was the only man able to draw a pass. Ring limited the Robins to three widely scattered hits, two of which were of the scratchy variety. In the game Hod Eller hurled against the Robins he did not issue a single pass to first base. In that contest Eller duplicated the perfect control displayed by the veteran Slim Sallee in a previous game of the series.

In the first game of the series at Brooklyn Walter Ruether displayed perfect control and only six hits were made off him and the Robins were shut out.

BASEBALL

LINDSAY DEFAULTS.

Owing to lack of practice, and inability to get away to-day, the return game with [illegible] O. B.A.A. finals has been postponed.

For some time past the team has failed to practice, owing to lack of interest, and several of the players were indifferent about playing a return game.

As a result Belleville are winners of Eastern Ontario, and will play the winners of the Toronto group.

M'GILL FOOTBALL TEAM TO MAKE EARLY START

Coach Frank Shaughnessey Calls First Practice for September 22.

Montreal, Aug. 25.—The McGill University football club is making preparations for the coming season and have arranged to have the training table in the McGill Union. The season will open on October 11 and Coach Frank Shaughnessey will report here immediately following the close of the Michigan-Ontario League race.

When the McGill fourteen takes the field in the opening game against the Royal Military College in Kingston on October 11, very few of the former players will be present. Lt. Lorne Montgomery, hero of many hard fought battles, and one of the best Intercollegiate quarterbacks, will represent the old guard that carried the red and white colors to the top in years previous to the war. It may be that one or two others will also be back, but at any rate their numbers will be few. Old McGill will depend for the most part on preparatory school players and the infinity of Shaughnessey to carry them to the top.

Lorne Montgomery, President of the McGill Club has writen to the Intercollegiate Executive asking that a meeting of men appointed as referees be held in Kingston to discuss the new rules and amendments.

CROWD SWARMS ON FIELD AND STOPS PLAY-OFF GAME

Woodstock, August 25.—To-night's play-off game between Y.M.C.A. and Bankers for the City League title and the right to compete in the O. B.A.A. semi-finals ended in a most unsatisfactory manner in the ninth inning. Y.M.C.A. were leading by 14 to 13 when the rival managers and players engaged in a heated argument which culminated in the crowd swarming out onto the field. Before order could be restored and the contest recommenced it was too dark to continue. The Executive will decide as to whether or not another game will be played.

The Y. M. C. A. used four pitchers, but McClenaghan went the full route for the Bankers and was found for ten hits.

COST $81.75 PER SOLDIER

Britain to Receive $83,757,250 for Transporting American Troops

WASHINGTON, August 25. — For each man transported overseas in British vessels the United States government will pay Great Britain $81.75 under an agreement reached between Brig. General Frank T. Hines, Director of Transportation in the War Department, and Lord Reading, representing the British government.

Secretary Baker, it was learned today, has approved of the agreement, which fixes a price a little more than half that tentatively put forward by the British at the beginning of the negotiations.

The total cost of the British tonnage used in troops transportation is estimated at $83,757,250, the number of men carried having been 1,027,000 Similar negotiations are in progress with the French and other governments.

GOVT OFFER FOR G.T.R.

Discussed at Conference This Morning, But No Definite Decision Reached.

(Secial to The Examiner.)

OTTAWA, Aug. 27.—A conference occurred this morning between Sir Alfred Smithers, chairman of the Grand Trunk Board of Diretcors and Sir Robt. Borden, with regard to the ultimate fate of the Grand Trunk system.

While the result of the negotiations has not been divulged, it is understood that the government has definitely decided that it will not deviate to any considerable extent from the offer made to the chairman in London in previous negotiations. No immediate conclusion, however, is expected to be reached. The government's offer is estimated at an annual rental of $8,000,000.

FEW SOLDIERS LEFT

Slight Delay Owing to Number of Dependents to Bring Over

OTTAWA, Aug 26.—It is difficult to state just how long it will take to bring home the balance of the Canadian Expeditionary Force now in England. Late reports received at the Militia Department place the number of men to be brought over at about 10,000. His number may have been decreased by sailings taking place within the past couple of days. The movement of these men is somewhat delayed by the fact that most of them have dependens, and that accommodation on boats has to be provided for women and children. If boats are available, the remainder of Canada's army should reach home shores within a comparatively short time.

GOES TO SLEEP IN A BREWERY, WAKES IN KITCHENER CELL

KITCHENER, Aug. 26.— We go to sleep in a brewery and wake up in a cell, was the experience of John Arkle, charged with vagrancy in police court here to-day. He was allowed to go when he established the fact that he could not find a place to room, and that he had secured a job at a factory here. He claimed he was invited into the brewery by the engineer, who later called the police.

SEEK OUT DEFAULTERS.

Secret Service Men Operating in Abitibi Region.

QUEBEC, Aug. 26.—A widespread search for absentees under the Military Service Act, is being conducted by secret service men of the Federal police in the region of Abitibi, where, it is said, hundreds of draft evaders have taken refuge, trusting to the bush to keep them out of the hands of the law.

On Saturday the detectives reported to headquarters at Ottawa that a young man who, they claim, tipped off a number of absentees that the police were coming. A technical charge of hindrance to the work of the police will be laid against the lad.

GARY REFUSES TO MEET LABOUR MEN

ALOOFNESS OF U. S. STEEL HEAD MAY LEAD TO BIG STRIKE.

NEW YORK, Aug. 26. — Elbert H. Gary, chairman of the board of the United States Steel Corporation, declined late to-day to meet personally John Fitzpatrick and other representatives of the American Federation of Labour, who constitute a committee appointed to organize the workers in the iron and steel industry.

Mr. Gary sent word to the committee that if it had any statement it wished to make it should be reduced to writing and then it would be considered by the corporation.

The refusal of Mr. Gary to see the committee was the first definite development here in the controversy which may result in a strike of a large army of workers to enforce union recognition and better working conditions.

The effort to arrange a conference with the head of the largest single unit in the iron and steel industry came a few hours after the hurried return from Europe of Samuel Gompers, who announced before he sailed that his presence home was more imperative than abroad.

The committee headed by Mr. Fitzpatrick, has been authorized to call a strike on Aug. 30, if it fails to obtain the concessions desired. If a walkout is ordered it will involve every industry dependent upon iron, steel and tin.

HARVEST BRINGS RELIEF TO CZECHOSLOVAKI

CONDITIONS IN POLAND ALSO IMPROVED, HOOVER SAYS—MATERIALS URGENTLY NEEDED.

VIENNA.—Herbert Hoover, head of the interallied relief organization, and his staff reached Vienna today after a trip of ten days through Czechoslovakia and Poland and more particularly through those sections of Poland recently recovered from the Bolsheviki.

Mr. Hoover told the correspondent that general conditions in Czechoslovakia and Poland were improved with the arriva lof the harvest. Czechoslovakia may require some minor food imports during the next year, but more particularly needs raw materials. Portions of old Poland will require some more food imports and also will need raw materials in order that the enormous number of unemployed may be put to work in the manufacture of prime necessities.

In the areas recovered during the last two months from the Bolsheviki, Mr. Hoover said, the economic situation could only be expressed by the term "complete demoralization." He continued:

"We made a more particular study of this entire area. The population consists in large majority of Ruthenian peasants and large Polish landholders, the peasants cultivating their own land and hiring themselves in normal times to the great landowners. In addition there is the town population, consisting half of Poles and half of Jews. The Poles comprise the intelligent element and conduct the large enterprises, whereas the Jews form the trading and commercial class.

As a result of seven invasions by different armies the country has largely been denuded of buildings. The estates of the larger landowners have been destroyed, and while the peasants are cultivating approximately enough foodstuffs for their own supplies, these regions, which in normal times export large quantities of food, mostly from the large estates, are four-fifths uncultivated.

"In normal times the town populations exist by exchanging manufactured goods for years, and the supplies of foodstuffs having vanished, the town populations are left entirely without support of employment. As there have been no manufactured goods to exchange, and as the currency no longer has any purchasing power, the peasants do not care to exchange foodstuffs for it, there has been a total breakdown of the economic cycle.

"In addition to the destruction and robbery which accompanied the repeated invasion of rival armies, these areas have been, of course, through a caldron of Bolshevist revolution and the intellectual classes either fled from the country or to a considerable extent were imprisoned. Some were executed. The Ruthenian peasants have been stirred up against the great landowners, which accounts for the destruction of the equipment of the large landed properties. It appears to us that it will require years for this region to recover, for animals must be provided, agricultural implements imported and the whole agricultural production restarted.

"The function of the Jewish population as middlemen was undermined by the cessation of commerce and they have naturally under the struggle for existence turned to any means of livelihood. They have tried to get a living by handling foodstuffs from the country, and all the peasants and town populations of Poland are in arms against them on the charge of profiteering.

"The terrible consequences that arose from revolution, where they are not made hard enough by the shortage of food and clothing, are made worse by the epidemic of typhus. The hospitals are full of victims."

CHILD BURNED TO DEATH.

Hid in Packing Case After Setting Grass on Fire.

VICTORIA, Aug. 26. —Hiding in an empty packing case after setting fire to the dry grass in the yard of his home, little Herbert John Wood, aged 4 1-2 years, was burned yesterday, when the case caught fire from the burning grass. Apparently he was overcome with fright and unable to cry for help.

Mrs. Leigh is a frequent visitor in Peterboro.

THE NEW YORK STOCK MARKET

(Special to The Examiner.)

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—Leading issues opened slightly lower on Stock Exchange to-day.

United States Steel opened at 101 3-8 off 1; Crucible at 148 1-4 off 3-4; New Haven at 32 1-8 off 5-8; Pan-American at 109 1-4 off 3-4; U. S. Rubber at 122 1-2 up 1; Canadian Pacific at 154 up 1-2; and Studebaker at 103 1-2 off 1-2.

The market was forced to absorb considerable selling in the first half-hour. This move is believed to be due to the shopmen's call for a strike vote and Judge Gary's refusal to treat personally with Union representatives.

U. S. Steel sold down to 101 1-4 off 1 1-8 during the first half-hour; Baldwin down to 104 1-2 off 2 1-2; Bethlehem B. to 83 1-8 off 2; and others in proportion.

The market closed weak. The market eased off at the close with most of the leading issues closing with a net loss. U S Steel at 100 1-2 was off 7-8; Crucible 146 1-2 off 2 1-2; Baldwin 105 1-8 off 1 7-8; Bethlehem B 82 1-2 off 2 5-8 and others in proportion.

And at the river's crystal brink,
Christ yill bind the broken link.

GRIFFIN — In loving memory of our dear son, Pte. Milton F. Griffin, of the 58th Battalion who fell in battle on the fields of France, Aug. 27th, 1918, at the early age of 18 years, 2 months and 6 days.

Oh, we little thought as we said
That we parted forever, and you were to die,
Grief that we felt words cannot tell,
For we could not be with you to bid you farewell.
You nobly answered duty's call
And gave your life for one and all.
Your unknown death was a bitter blow
That none but an aching heart can know.

Judge's Summary.

I beg to report on judging Lawns and Gardens which was done on the 19th inst.

The limited number of entries seemd to discourage the officers of the Society, yet they should not feel that their good work is not producing results—far from it.

In going over the route, surprises were in store for me, for Peterboro has progressed wonderfully in the work of beautifying the residences and improving the street boulevards.

The entry in Class A of Mr. Copping is worthy of inspection by any one who contemplates building and laying out their grounds; the planting is easy and free from hard lines. Shrubbery and trees are not crowded, and the practice of making a circle of earth around a tree is not folowed. The trees are preserved in their graceful and natural form and the branches well feathered with foliage to the ground which is pleasing to the eye. With trees on boulevards and exceptional places this cannot be followed.

There is work for the Society to endeavor to induce the City Council to grade the boulevards and seed or sod them and have them mowed This is done in some cities and adds very much to the appearance of the town

I am inclined to think it would be well-spent money for the Society to have photos taken of the three first in each class and show them in lantern slides at a meeting held in the winter time. At such meeting I would be pleased to point out where improvements could be made and answer questions in connection there-with as I am still interested in my Old Home Town

All of which is respectfully submitted by

W. H. FOORD.

HIT TROMBONIST WITH THE TENOR

ROME, Aug. 27.—Scenes of wild panic broke out among the audience witnessing a performance of La Travinta, at Serino, during a duet between the baritone and the leading tenor. Guiseppe Murialti, the baritone, was impersonating the father.

In the midst of the singing, Murialti, a powerful man, suddenly seized the tenor by the neck and flung him across the footlights. The tenor landed on the head of the trombonist, knocking the latter unconscious. In the panic that ensued a number of persons were injured. One woman died later at a hospital.

It was subsequently learned that Murialti recognised in the tenor a man who had supplanted him in the affections of a young woman at Piacenza.

FARMER DENOUNCES HIGH-PRICED ROAD

SAYS PROVINCIAL HIGHWAY IS SPEEDWAY FOR TOURIST.

(Special to The Examiner.)

BEETON, Ont., Aug. 26.—Before a largely attended meeting of the farmers and their wives of South Simcoe riding here yesterday afternoon, R. H. Hillson, President of the United Farmers, denounced the Provincial highway, which he described as an auto speedway for American tourists.

They say because the farmers opposed the highway, he declared, that we were opposed to good roads. But we were opposed to building an auto speedway from Montreal to Windsor at the cost of $80,000 per mile, for American tourists. The farmers would rather have 80 miles radiating from the county seats at a cost of $1,000 a mile, than one mile of the highway. The highway parallels two railroads and is not going to increase the revenue of those lines. We have junk piles of railways in many parts of the province. But it wouldn't do for us to spend $80,000 a mile to build speedways to provide competition for them.

CURRIE WILL TELL TORONTO OF MONS AND LAST BATTLES

SAYS HE HAS NO RELISH FOR SPEAKING, BUT WILL TRY TO DO JUSTICE TO THE MEN,

(Special to the Examiner.)

OTTAWA, Aug. 27. — "I am not going to do any preaching and I am not going to enter any controversies."

Such was the emphatic statement of General Sir Arthur Currie, the newly appointed military councillor and inspector general of the Canadian forces, in the course of a chat with your representative to-day.

"I was very anxious to visit Toronto, for I know the magnitude of Toronto's effort in the war, the immense money that Toronto made, and the loving faithfulness with which Toronto people looked after their men overseas while the war was on."

"But I did not calculate on what has been prepared for me in Toronto for I hear that I am to make six speeches there. Now, making speeches, is not in my line I am no orator, and it is a real effort for me to make a speech and I have no speeches prepared. I shall talk to Toronto on the things that I think Toronto wants to hear about. I am not engaging in controversy but I may have something to say about Cambrai, Mons and other features of the later fighting. I want to try and give the people some idea of what their boys have passed through, and of what Canada should do for them, and how Canada should treat them now that they are back in civies.

NOT A PAGEANT.

"I want to get the people to realize that war is not a matter of flag flying and drumbeating—a gallant glorious show. I want to tell them that war is a bloody butchery, and that the strongest opponents of war are those men who have been through it, and have endured its horrors—those men who are now trying to fit themselves back into industrial and commercial life."

"Most of the boys are too modest to tell of their own experience, so I shall try to tell my Toronto audience something of what they have done and endured. I may make it a bit personal, too, for I know many of them intimately, and all their worth."

That was all that the general had to say about his Toronto speeches.

His friends here are just a little bit afraid that his Toronto visit may be to strenuous for him, for it is known that Sir Arthur's health has been none too good of late, and that he needs rest and recuperation.

DECIDED IMPROVEMENT IN LABOUR SITUATION THROUGHOUT DOMINION

SOME UNREST REMAINS BUT STRIKE CLOUDS ARE MOVING OFF—INDUSTRIAL PARLIAMENT NEXT MONTH MAY BRING MORE HARMONY.

MINERS AT WORK

OTTAWA, Aug. 27.— Reports received by the Labour Deartment show that the labour situation throughout Canada is much improved. There is still a certain amount of industrial unrest throughout the country and a number of strikes, but generally speaking the situation is better than at any time for the past nine months. Senator Robertson has received a wire that of the 182 mines in District 18 in Alberta and British Columbia all but sixteen are now at work. Most of these mines have been closed down for months owing to the activtiies of the One Big Union. However, legitimate trade unionism seems to have gained the upper hand and the One Big Union aparently has been chased over the mountains.

Arrangements are now being completed for the Big Industrial Parliament, which will be held in Ottawa opening September 15. There will be present some two hundred delegates representing, capital, labor and all the Provincial Governments. It is hoped that out of this conference will come agreements as to legislation to be passed with the cooperation of employer and employe and Dominion and Provincial Parliaments. It is not expected that any labor or industrial legislation will be passed this coming session of Parliament, but necessary acts will form one of the chief features of the session, which will be called after the New Year.

RENT WAR OPENS IN APPROVED WAY

WINNIPEG'S LANDLORDS AND TENANTS ISSUE "WHITE" PAPERS.

(Special to The Examiner.)

WINNIPEG Aug. 28.— Landlords and tenants of apartment blocks started preparing to-day for a rent war and "white" papers were issued by both parties in the conflict. One by the landlords sets forth that increases proposed for October first are more than justified and declares that present rents are nothing compared to what they will be in the future. The other, by a self-constituted committee of tenants, is a call to arms directed to all apartment block tenants in the city, urging that they organize to combat rent profiteering.

In the meantime the Great War Veterans are awaiting word from Judge Robinson at Ottawa as to whether the new Board of Commerce has jurisdiction over rents.

A. F. OF L. EXECUTIVE IN SPECIAL SESSION

(Special to The Examiner.)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.—Holding in its hands the delicate balance of the immediate economic and industrial future of the country, the Executive Council of the American Federation of Labour met in extraordinary session here to-day. Among the leaders, drawn here by disputes in their [illegible] meeting of the Council, the belief was expressed that the Presidents of the various unions with the A. F. of L. might be summoned before final action is taken on the big pending problems.

While immediate action is expected on the steel and railroad situations, they believe the rank and file may be consulted before steps are taken on the broader questions of the future policy. The threat of the strike of Union employees of the United States Steel Corporation and the demands of the railroad shopmen will be given first consideration by the Council.

Shopmen will be given first consideration by the Council.

HINDENBURG MAY BE PRESIDENT

(Special to The Examiner.)

BERLIN, Aug. 28. — The National People's Party has decided to nominate Marshal Von Hindenburg as its candidate in the next Presidential election, it was reported authoritatively to-day.

No date has been announced for the Presidential election in Germany. The President, according to the constitution, serves seven years, but the original plan was that President Ebert should hold office only provisionally. The People's Party is Conservative in its make-up and policies.

CANADIAN SHOPMEN ARE DISSATISFIED

ARE TAKING A GENERAL STRIKE VOTE—WANT HIGHER WAGES.

(Special to The Examiner.)

WINNIPEG, Man., Aug. 28.— The possibility of a general strike of several unions of railroad employees in Canada is foreseen by Winnipeg railwaymen, as a result of the failure of Unions here to get substantial increases in wages.

Canadian railway shopmen, who have been negotiating for some time without result with the Canadian Railway War Board, are taking a general strike vote. Charles Dickie, Canadian secretary of Railway Shopmen, who is in Winnipeg, said to-day that the situation is critical. He awaits a telegram of instructions from Montreal.

Railroad employes in Canada have received little or no satisfaction, it is claimed. They are prepared, therefore, to throw in their lot with their fellow workers south of the boundary, where a big strike vote is now being taken.

In the event of no last hour agreement being reached the railroad systems of the continent would be completely tied up, for shopmen, railroad firemen, trainmen and conductors are working together to secure increased wages, which range from 26 to 40 per cent.

FARMERS RUSHING STOCK TO MARKET

(Special to The Examiner.)

CHICAGO, Aug. 28.—Belief by the farmers that the government is in earnest in its drive on high prices, was given by drovers to-day as the main reason for a decline in live stock prices and its sympathetic lowering effect on provisions. Fifteen thousand cattle and ten thousand hogs were on hand at the stock yards to-day, held over from yesterday. Packing house experts said the drop of $1 a hundred pounds in the price of hogs was due to the unusual invasion of the yards by the farmers. He is driving everything on four feet he can find, they said, with the result that an over-taxed capacity forced down prices.

FORDSON FARM TRACTOR REDUCED IN PRICE

MR. DUFFUS WILL DEMONSTRATE THE TRACTOR AT ANY TIME.

[illegible] they have just received a wire that the Fordson Farm Tractor has been reduced in price to $760.00 f.o.b. factory

This news will be greatly appreciated by many farmers who are now contempalting launching into power farming.

Mr. Duffus states implicitly that he is ready to demonstrate at any time that the Fordson Farm Tractor will do the work of eight horses; besides, will furnish ample power for such farm work as filling silos, grinding grain, threshing, etc. Deliveries will be made according to date of orders.

GERMAN SOCIALISTS PROTEST AGAINST THE SILESIAN POGROM

(Canadian Press.)

BERLIN, Aug. 28.—Gustav Noske, Secretary for Military Affairs, has threatened to suppress the newspaper "Freiheit" if it persists in making what he alleges are false charges against the government. The threat was occasioned by a full page appeal printed in the Freiheit, addressed to the "revolutionary proletariat" It charged that the government was waging a "bloody war on the Upper Silesian workers" and fostering a counter revolution. To say the Freiheit, as a result of Noske's threat, adoted a less violent tone in its utterances dealing with the government It describes, however, 54 meetings which were held Tuesday night and were attended by 100,000 workmen as a protest against pogroms, militarism and counter revolutions. It says that resolutions adopted call upon workers to gather around the independent banner of revolutionary Socialists.

CARNEGIE LEFT $10,000 EACH TO LLOYD GEORGE AND WILLIAM H. TAFT

WILL PROBATED TO-DAY DISPERSES ABOUT THIRTY MILLION DOLLARS—WIFE AND DAUGHTER PREVIOUSLY PROVIDED FOR—$5,000 FOR MRS. ROOSEVELT.

$200,000 TO PITTSBURG UNION

(Special to The Examiner.

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—The will of Andrew Carnegie, filed for probate at noon to-day, disposes of an estate estimated at between $25,000,000 and $30,000,000.

The will leaves Carnegie's real estate, works of art, and household goods to his wife.

The sum of $200,000 is left to the University of Pittsburg.

In a statement issued simultaneously with the probation of the will, Elihu Root, Jr., a member of the law firm that stood for Carnegie, said that during his life time the philanthropist made gifts to charity aggregating $350,000,000.

The financial provisions for Mrs. Carnegie and her daughter, Mrs. Roswell Miller, were made during Carnegie's life time.

With regard to Mrs. Carnegie, the will itself says: "Having years ago made provision for my wife beyond her desires, and ample to enable her to provide for our beloved daughter, Margaret, and being unable to judge at present what provision for our daughter will best promote her happiness, I leave to her mother the duty of providing for her as her mother deems best. A mother's love will be the best guide."

The fourth article of the will contains many legacies, among which are bequests to charitable institutions. The following article provides for bequests to relatives and friends. Among the latter are annuities of $10,000 to William Howard Taft and David Lloyd-George, and bequests of $5,000 each to Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt and Mrs. Grover Cleveland.

MISSING FLYERS HAVE TURNED UP

LIEUT. SLATER AND SERGT. STRICKLAND REACH MOUNT CLEMENS SAFELY.

(Special to The Examiner.)

MOUNT CLEMENS, Mich., Aug. 28.— Lieutenant H. B. Slater, and Sergt. Strickland, believed to have been lost in Lake Ontario or to have been blown out of their course and landed in some out of the way region during their flight from Buffalo to Toronto in the International Aerial Derby, New York to Toronto and return, yesterday, are safe at Selfridge Field here, 200 miles out of their course.

Lieut. Gill reported that Slater's machine developed engine trouble, causing him to head for his home field instead of continuing the flight to Toronto. Slater was in wireless communication with Selfridge Field throughout his flight after leaving Buffalo, it was said. Compelled to land shortly after leaving Buffalo, the aviators made temporary repairs to their motor. They reached Selfridge Field late in the day. No apprehension for thier safety was entertaained here.

The Earlier News.

BUFFALO, N.Y., Aug. 28.—Lieut. H. E. Slater and his observer, Sergt. Strickland, were missing since they [illegible] in their last leg of the aerial derby. Officials at the Curtis Field this morning said the airship sighted by Bert A. Costa late yesterday might have been the missing plane. It was then headed north-east in a rain and wind storm. It was far out of its course. For three hours last night Capt. H. W. Cook, in a German Fokker, scoured Lake Ontario for a sight of Slater, and then having exhausted his supply of gasoline, was compelled to alight on the shores of Lake Ontario, near the village of Newfane

CANNERS SWAMPED WITH ORDERS ARE CLEANING UP ONTARIO'S FRUIT MARKET

CROP IS LIGHT AND BIG PACKERS HAVE TO IMPORT SUPPLIES—ENGLAND A HEAVY BUYER OF CANNED GOODS—A RECORD SEASON.

USING GRAPES FOR WINE

Mr. W. J. Oke, who has recently returned from the Grimsby fruit district, stated this morning that there is little likelihood of lower fruit prices. The crop generally is fair, with the exception of the apple crop, which is very short. But the demand is much greater than the supply. In fact, many Canadian fruit men are importing from the United States to supply their needs.

This is due largely to the fact that stocks in Britain are almost entirely depleted, and Canadian canning factories are deluged with orders for the Old Country. They are paying exorbitant prices in order to secure fruit for their factories: but even so, it has been necessary for them to import in large quamities from the United States.

Size of Orders.

One small canning factory which Mr. Oke visited was working on an order for 40,000 cases of fruit. All the factories were working night and day, and Sundays, to fill their orders.

This naturally makes it hard for fruit dealers to obtain fruit, and when they are able to do so, it is only at a high price. For the canners are able to outbid them generally, as they are receiving $6.50 per case for canned fruit for the Old Country.

This is the biggest year the Canadian canners have ever had, and they fear that it may be some time before they will again have such a season.

Mr. Oke stated also that where in former years fruit dealers bought by the carload, this year they are fortunate to get a small shipment, and then only at a high price.

Good Crop of Grapes.

"The grape crop is good this year," he went on to say, "but the grapes are being used for wine, and are almost as much in demand as fruits for canning.

Mr. Oke believed also that the canning situation might cause increase in the price of sugar, for enormous quantities of sugar are being used in the canneries.

ORDERS ARE CLEANING UP ONTARIO'S FRUIT MARKET

ONLY TWO YANKS ARE MISSING

WASHINGTON, Aug 28.—two men of the thousands of the American expeditionary force who went into battle against the Germans remain ugaccounted for, according to a casualty list issued to-day by the War Department.

A previous list showed more than 100 missing in action.

Total casualties now are placed at 291,732, with 77,422 deaths from all causes.

ISSUES WARNING OF IMPENDING CRISIS

RADICALS FOMENTING REVOLUTION IN U. S, BANKER SAYS.

(Special to The Examiner.)

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—Lewis E. Pierson, head of the Irving National Bank, and a director of the Chambers of Commerce of the United States, following a trip throughout the West to investigate industrial conditions, to-day gave an interview to the United Press, in which his impressions were summed up as follows:

Radicals are openly advocating revolution.

Business men seem indifferent to or ignorant of the facts.

No real effort is being made to answer the Bolshevik propaganda.

Apparently a shrewdly conducted and amply financed Bolshevik campaign aims at the overthrow of the Government. A crisis is at hand. It calls for national action.

Pierson made the trip in his capacity as a director of the Chambers of Commerce of the United States.

A REAL ACE

Col. William Barker, V.C., D.S.O., etc., one of Canada's greatest fighting airmen, and the hero of the most thrilling battles against odds during the war, may not win the Toronto-New York Aerial Derby, but he has added to his record as one of the bravest of the brave. In his flight from Toronto to New York and return this very gallant flyer had to operate his machine with only one hand, his left arm being useless as the result of wounds sustained in his historic fight over Bourlon wood with sixty German planes, an encounter that set the whole British army talking. To make his feat the more remarkable, Col. Barker's arm was frozen during the flight, owing to the extreme altitude at which he flew, but in spite of this misadventure which occurred on his way to New York, he was quickly on his machine again, and off on his return air voyage to Canada. Barker is a real ace—and if he has not been successful in winning a prize—the complete results are not yet known—he has added to his reputation for courage and grit.

BACK TO THE OLD LINES?

Will the coming session of Parliament see the disappearance of the so-called Unionist administration and a return to the old party lines? According to the Ottawa correspondent of the Toronto Times such a development is not to be regarded as unlikely. The organization of Hon. Robert Rogers' Conservative Association gives point to the Times' diagnosis of the case. The Times admits that the Government has no platform to put before the country and points out that an organization is absolutely necessary. A caucus of the supporters of the Government during the session may produce a platform and organization that will satisfy the private members but if the Cabinet does not succeed in providing a programme that can be endorsed by the rank and file, the early departure of those Liberal Unionists who are still holding ministerial portfolios may be expected. Some of them might be willing to step over into the Conservative camp to preserve their positions, but their welcome from the Conservative members would not be a cordial one to say the least. There are thousands of Conservatives who are clamoring for a restoration of the party lines and many of them are not backward in calling for the resignation of the Liberal Unionists. When Ward Associations in a government stronghold such as Toronto decline to endorse Unionist candidates and declare themselves as determined to support only straight Conservatives, the situation is interesting, to say the least. The decision will have to be made before long. The Government has to face eight by-elections on the 27th of October. Possibly there may be other ridings open by that time, and there will have to be some fence-mending before the fighting begins.

THE VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

With the date of the prohibition referendum drawing near—even the exact day has not yet been officially announced—it is natural that the discussion of the many different angles should be constantly increasing, not only in conversation among the citizens but in the daily press. The problem is one of the greatest that the people of Ontario have had to decide so that it is not to be surprised at that the different phases are being discussed on all sides. Naturally, too, there are many who wish to put their view before their fellow citizens and they are seeking or will seek to do so through the newspapers.

The result will be that unless there is a limit placed upon the correspondence dealing with the referendum the papers will be unable to publish half of the communications. The Examiner has no desire to stifle public discussion of the question, but in self-defence has been forced to the position that no letter on the subject of prohibition, whether for or against will be published unless the name of the writer appears in print at the bottom of the communication. Those who wish to express their opinion on the question may do so in The Examiner if they are sincere enough in their views—otherwise it will be waste of time to send letters dealing with the temperance question to this office.

It may not be out of place when the subject of letter to the press is under discussion to point out that many of the communications received by The Examiner not only on this but on other subjects give evidence of but slight consideration on behalf of the writers for the printer and proofreader. People scribble their letters on the paper the meat was wrapped in or on some other scrap of improvised writing material, write on both sides of the paper and along the borders, in many cases so nearly unreadable that the printer who sets the matter for the paper often has to guess at meaning, with results that must sometimes be surprising to the correspondent. Ordinary courtesy should be enough to cause letter-writers to make sure that their communications are in shape to be easily handled and read.

WHO WILL HELP?

The many citizens who have recently expressed their appreciation of the work done at the supervised playgrounds during the summer have an opportunity of backing up that appreciation by assisting in wiping out the deficit that exists at present. As explained in The Examiner last evening $600 is the sum needed to meet all expenses in connection with this year's operation of the playgrounds. It would be the height of injustice were the providing of this amount to be left to the managers of the Association who have given liberally of their time and money to ensure the success of the enterprise. They have already done more than their share, and it should be regarded as an obligation on the honor of the citizens to see that the amount that is still needed is provided. If there is a genuine response to the appeal it will not require large sums from any particular individual to accomplish the writing off of the debt. Donations will be cheerfully accepted by The Examiner on behalf of the Playgrounds Association. If you are in a position to help do not delay. The cause is a worthy one—ask the parents of the hundreds of children who spent a happy and useful summer in the four playgrounds provided by the Association.

ABOUT PROFITEERING

Those who are inclined to doubt that our present system of production is the last word in perfection, must find very choice entertainment in some of the reports appearing in the press these days. Not very long ago Dr. R. J. McFall, Cost of Living Commissioner, made allegations of profiteering against retailers and accused the Retail Merchants' Association of evil designs against co-operative movements throughout the country. Representatives of the associations in various districts, retorted with violent denials of the accusations. As everybody knows, all storekeepers earn their living by means of the profit they make on the goods they sell. Whether they are "profiteers" or not is another question. We take it that a "profiteer" is to define exactly what the profits. As far as we are aware, nobody has yet defined what a reasonable profit would be. Therefore, the first thing that must be done before we can prove that anybody is a "profiteer" is to define exactly what the term connotes. Having done this it would be necessary to make a full examination of the books of all suspected persons, in order to find out whether they were "profiteers" or not. When we set about fixing profits, we are endangering the present system of production and distribution. For our whole system is founded on profit. It must be remembered that the outcry against "profiteers" is a very modern growth. It is, as we have previously pointed out in these columns, one of the results of the war. While men and women were making unprecedented sacrifices in the common cause, it was found, as has been the historic custom at such junctures, that a few were making vast fortunes by exploiting the war activities of the country. The outcry against the flagrant profiteering, which was undoubtedly going on, had, therefore, its source in sentimental reasons rather than in logical arguments against the injustices of the system, and a reasoned effort to amend it. Hence, it is that the wrath of the country is directed against the persons of the most flagrant offenders rather than against the system which permits such offences. But it is the system which is wrong. This spasmodic hunt after isolated "profiteers" will never get us anywhere. Every man in business is in it to make a profit. We have yet to meet the man who undersells his neighbor because he thinks he is making too much money on his goods. We know a man who was sitting on a committee of his local community to enquire into the high cost of living. An opportunity presented itself whereby he purchased a car of goods at a cut rate. He was selling these on his counter the next day at 110 per cent. profit. This happened to be the current rate, and if he had cut his prices, his fellow-tradesmen would have considered it a breach of business etiquette. This gentleman told us his experience and asked us if he were a "profiteer." Not knowing, as we have stated, what a "profiteer" was, we could not tell him definitely, but hinted that he would very probably come within the general meaning of the term. As this man pointed out to us, prior to the war, he would have boasted about this particular deal and would have been congratulated on it as a man of keen business acumen. Now he is not inclined to talk very much about it lest he be regarded as a criminal. Incidents of this nature shows the immense change which has occurred in the minds of the public, but it also shows us the enormous dimensions of the task which confronts those whose hope to curtail profiteering by regulating business under the present system. Practically every man who does not work for wages—and many who do—is a possible profiteer. The printer, the farmer, the shoemaker, the retailer, the hotel-keeper, the real estate dealer, and the hundreds of other small business men are just as liable to develop profiteering proclivities as the manufacturers, the commission houses, or the wholesalers, the difference being that the smaller men's dealings taken individually, may not count for very much, while the big operators may affect the whole country. The problem grows on contemplation and all hopes of a feasible solution by the methods at present being adopted, diminish to the vanishing point—Turner's Weekly.

WILL DECIDE ON THE FORMATION OF UNION PARTY

OTTAWA, Aug. 27. — This coming session promises to see some interesting political developments. A number of caucuses of the government supporters will be held when a final decision will be taken as to the formation of a new Unionist party, or as to a return to the old alignments. Last session at an enthusiastic caucus a resolution was passed favoring the formation of a permanent new party. It was understood at the time that the matter of a platform and organization should be left to the caucus at a later date. There is good reason to believe that this is being discussed by the Ministers at the present time and that a proposed platform and plans for organization will be laid before their supporters at the coming session. The caucus will then have to decide whether it still favors a permanent party and will have to agree upon the nature of the platform.

The necessity of a decision on the part of the government is becoming daily more necessary. The Opposition has a new leader, a platform, and is building up a strong political machine. The government, while it has a fine record of constructive legislation, has no platform to put before the public, while it has absolutely no organization of any kind and no party of any variety can long exist without organization.

With eight bye-elections pending in six of the nine provinces it will be necessary for the government to take some action if it is to make any showing.

The activity shown by Hon. Robt. Rogers and those Conservatives who want a return to old party lines and want to drive the Liberal Unionists out of the party makes necessary some decision shortly as to whether there is to be formed a permanent new party or whether there shall be a return to the old party lines.

If the caucus decides against a new Unionist party a break up of the Cabinet is likely. While Hon. A. A. Calder, Hon. N. W. Rowell, General Mewburn and other Liberal Unionist Ministers are prepared to merge with the Conservatives in the formation of a new party, they will not agree to step into the Conservative camp. Resignations would almost certainly follow. Sir Robert Borden would either have to resign as Prime Minister or reorganize on Conservative lines and appeal this fall to the country.

$440 FOR BABY WELFARE AN UNSOLICITED NUCLEUS

CLINIC WILL BE OPENED WHEN SUITABLE QUARTERS ARE SECURED —GENEROUS CITIZENS HAVE GREAT OPPORTUNITY TO ASSIST A NEEDED WORK.

TO CONSERVE LIFE

The spontaneous appeal of the Baby Welfare movement to the citizens is indicated by the following unsolicited donations that have already been received;

| | |
|---|---|
| Otonabee Chapter, I.O.D.E. ..... | $100.00 |
| Peter Robinson Chapt., I.O.D.E..... | 100.00 |
| 57th Chapter, I.O.D.E..... | 100.00 |
| Ashburnham Patriotic Association..... | 100.00 |
| The Teacher's Guild..... | 35.00 |
| Mr. Paul Trebilcock..... | 5.00 |

This is a total of $440 which may be confidently regarded as an earnest proof of the support the public will give to Baby Welfare. It is also an encouraging nucleus which should be quickly and largely augmented by generous citizens who will recognize the importance of this work as a community effort.

To Instruct Mothers.

The object of this welfare clinic is to instruct mothers in the care of their babies and in the care of themselves. Eventually a nurse may be employed to visit the homes and there instruct mothers. There has been some difficulty in securing suitable rooms for the clinic, but as soon as they are obtained this welfare work will be begun. In some cities public spirited men have been glad to provide the necessary rooms without charging for rent, taking this means as an opportunity of assisting this enterprise with all the benefits that will accrue to the community from it.

The great loss of life in the war and as a result of it places a new duty upon the public of realizing the heavy responsibility of saving babies, of conserving life. In one of the provinces of this country 10,000 babies die annually from preventable causes. By new and united efforts it is hoped that the instruction of mothers and the care they and their babies require will have an immediate beneficial effect.

Citizens of Peterboro who desire to contribute to the Baby Welfare may send their subscriptions to Dr Jessie Bernie, 502 Water street. Dr. Bernie is convenor of the Welfare committee.

RUBBED CONCRETE FINISH, NOT GRANITE, FOR BRIDGE

SPECIAL COMMITTEE ENLARGES MR. FRANK BARBER'S SUGGESTIONS OF ECONOMIC CHANGES IN THE FINISH—PROPOSE PARK ACROSS THE RIVER.

INDUCED ENGINEER TO STAY

The Hunter street bridge will be given a rubbed concrete finish instead of chipped granite as the result of the decision by the Bridge Committee last night. A month or more ago the Council was impressed by Mr. Frank Barber's proposal to finish the exposed surface with chipped granite. He then emphasized the possibilities of economy in the slight alterations he suggested in this detail of the plans, but the Committee concluded that a rubbed concrete surface except in the arches would improve the chance of making a saving. Last night's motion was proposed by Ald. Turner, seconded by Ald. Taylor. The soffits of the arches will be finished with trap rock, to preserve the concrete from the deleterious effects of the gases from engines passing beneath.

The question was freely discussed by the Committee with Mr Townsend, and Mr. Nevin of the Russell-Townshend Co. The original purpose of the meeting was to discuss whether the finish of the retaining wall on the east approach to the bridge should be of chipped granite surface as the previous motion appeared to require, or as the Committee wished, be of rubbed concrete finish.

Wanted Committee's Wishes.

Mr. Townshend stated that according to Engineer Barber's instructions all the perpendicular surfaces of the bridge, including the retaining wall, were to be of chipped granite. He wanted to know what the Committee wished.

Ald. Hamilton thought that the granite surface on the wall was not necessary.

Ald. Turner explained that it had always been the Committee's wish to have the wall finished in rubbed concrete, but in framing the motion a month ago regarding the finish of the bridge the fact that the finish of the wall had not been specified had been overlooked.

The above motion was then made and carried. This will mean that all the bridge surfaces will have a rubbed concrete finish which will effect a considerable saving.

The former motion provided that all the vertical surfaces of the bridge would be finished in chipped granite and that the surfaces on the underside would have a chipped granite finish of one foot on each edge, the remainder of the underside to be left as they would be when taken from the forms.

City Raises Mr. Christy's Salary.

Ald. Phelan then told the Committee that on Saturday he had been notified that Mr. Christy, an engineer on the bridge, and according to those who worked with him, one of the best men in Barber's employ, was leaving. He and the Mayor had seen Mr. Christy and retained his services by increasing his salary $25 per month.

Ald. Edgar, after excusing himself for interrupting, as he was not a member of the committee, wanted to know why the City should pay part of salary of a man in Mr. Barber's employ.

Proposes Steel Arch Bridge.

Ald. Turner then recommended that Mr. Barber be instructed to prepare plans for a steel arch bridge over the river subject to the approval of the Railway Board. He contended that many people wish to be shown why steel would not be more advantageous than concrete. The preparation of the plans would likely cost in the neighborhood of $1,000.

Ald. Morrison:—"Are we going to spend $1,000 to satisfy the curiosity of a few?"

Ald. Turner replied that there was a doubt in many people's minds and that the statements of the steel men had increased that doubt. It should be cleaned up for the satisfaction of everybody. There was no seconder for Ald. Turner's motion, however.

Use Bridge Appropriation For Park.

Ald. Turner then brought up the matter of expropriating the property on the east side of the river south of the bridge for a public park. City Clerk Armstrong remarked, however, that there was some doubt as to the legality of using a bridge appropriation for a park. It was decided to refer the matter to the City Solicitor.

ALL HIS EFFORTS WERE FAILURES

CONN TRIED SIXTEEN YEARS TO FIND RELIEF—GAINS 20 POUNDS BY TAKING TANLAC.

"I tried for sixteen years to find a medicine or treatment that would overcome my troubles, but all my efforts failed completely until I commenced taking Tanlac," said Dan Conn, a well known employee of the P. & O. Implement Co., and who lives at 801 Elm street, Canton, Ill., the other day.

"My general health just seemed to give down all at once," continued Mr. Conn, "and during all these years it has been a hard struggle for me to keep on my feet. It was just a general all round breakdown, but my stomach seemed to give me more trouble than anything else. What little I ate just seemed to lie like a lump of lead right in the pit of my stomach and would cause me to suffer something awful. All my strength left me and I just had to drag around with no life hardly at all. Then to make matters worse, rheumatism hit me about four years ago, and this trouble got so bad that it finally put me in bed, where I had to stay for a good long time. For several days at a time, my legs would be so badly drawn up that I couldn't straighten them out at all, and the only way I could get any relief was by rubbing my legs for hours at a time. I lost so much in weight until I got to where I looked like a skeleton almost. I went everywhere for treatment that I was able to go, and tried many different kinds of medicine, but I just gradually got worse all the time.

"That was the condition I was in when a friend of mine talked me into taking this Tanlac on trial, and sir, if you would just come down to the factory and see me work now, you would never think I was down and out in health such a short time ago. Tanlac did it too, and I'll tell the world so, and I will say further that I think it is the best medicine on earth. Tanlac just hit my case exactly, and since taking nine bottles of it, I am as well and strong as I was in my life. I have a fine appetite, and everything I eat agrees with me, all right. My stomach trouble has been completely overcome, and so has the rheumatism. I have gained over twenty pounds in weight and am stronger in every way than I have been in sixteen years. Now a medicine that will do that much for a man ought to be talked about, and as long as I live I will boost Tanlac everywhere I go."

Tanlac is sold in Peterborough by W. B. Warne Drug Co., Ltd.; in Havelock by A. C. Denike; in Lakefield, by the Tanner Drug Co., Ltd.; in Fowler's Corners by W. A. Hunter; in Gelert by A. J. Scott; in Westwood by G. Pringle and Son.

GREAT ACTIVITY IN BRITISH TRADE

MUCH TRANSPORTATION SEEN AT RAILWAY STATIONS AND ON STREETS.

LONDON, Aug. 26.—The special writer for the Daily Mail on trade conditions in Great Britain, who has asserted that a survey of the situation does not confirm the belief that the trend of events is all in favor of America's export trade and that exportation on a considerable scale is about to begin, says in a new article:

"Evidence of the activity of the trade of the country is to be deduced from the amount of transportation in the streets of London and other large towns, which not only consists of goods from overseas, but comprises a large amount of export traffic bound for the various railway terminals.

"The street traffic has been growing in volume for the past two weeks. It includes private motor lorries, purchased from the War Office, vehicles of forwarding companies and railway vans of every description. Such traffic stations, as the inward traffic is so great; but the efforts recently made to utilize the coastal services are beginning to have some effect.

"The export trade in the direction of the Continent also is growing in volume. Some forty vessels sailed from Shields Friday and Saturday direct for the Continent, ten from Swansea and thirty others from South Wales ports."

GEN. CURRIE APPEALS AGAINST BOLSHEVISM

Calls on Press and Clergy to Stop Work Against Returned Men.

SHERBROOKE, Que., Aug. 27.—Sherbrooke yesterday honored Gen. Sir Arthur Currie on his visit here. An address of welcome was presented by the Board of Trade. Touching on farming conditions as they prevail in this district, Gen. Currie said:

"In England, where an enormous percentage of the people are congregated in the city of London, the medical boards during the war unearthed the fact that fifty per cent. of the male population was unfit for military service. That was not true of Canada, where the population is more spread out but it goes to show that farm life helps the health of a nation."

With reference to Canada's veterans, General Currie said:

"I know now that there is infamous work now going on and that there are those who are trying to wean the returned soldier away from his high ideals by pernicious efforts I appeal to the returned soldiers to 'shoot up' these efforts, just as they shot up an opposing German nest in the field. I appeal to the press to lead the fight against these pernicious efforts, and I appeal to the pulpit and the clergy to help lead the way. The chaplains in the field have done their duty by practising Christianity, while heretofore they have only preached it, and it is now up to them to help in the fight against a new foe."

CHRISTIAN MASSACRES IN NORTH-WEST PERSIA FORM A HORRIBLE STORY

THIRTY THOUSAND KILLED OR LOST AND WOMEN CARRIED OFF TO MUSSULMAN HAREMS—CHRISTIANS HAD JOINED THE RUSSIANS

TURKISH BUTCHERY AGAIN

LONDON, Aug. 27. — A terrible story of the martyrdom of the Christians of North-west Persia is told in the Daily News. It is narrated by one of their number, Dr. Yonan. Soon after the war began, Dr. Yonan says, the Russians came to Urumyah, in the province of Azarbaijer, and induced the Christians from Assyrian battalions to fight against the Turks.

There was a battle in Urumyah in February, 1918, in which the Christians were victorious. After this the heroic, but small, Christian force fought fourteen battles with the Turks and Persians, and routed their enemies. But no help came from the Allies, and the defeat of the Armenians cut off the Christians from the Syrians. By the end of July, 1918, their ammunition was exhausted, and the Turks were at the gates of Urumyah. The Christians who dwelt at Salmas, a fertile plain on the north side of Lake Urumyah, had been massacred and flight was the only course left to those of Urumyah.

So 75,000 men, women, and children left their homes in a vast procession, taking with them such property as they could collect hurriedly. Those who could not escape sought refuge in the American and French missions. Here terrible scenes were enacted. Monsignor Sontag, head of the French mission, died a martyr's death and his brethren in religion were also murdered.

Children were laid on the pages of open Bibles and hacked to pieces. Meanwhile the fugitives were attacked by the enemy at four places and thousands were cut off and massacred. Children were snatched from their mothers and dashed to the ground. Hundreds of women were carried away to Mussulman harems.

In all, 30,000 were killed, lost, or captured.

MINORITY REPORT FAVOURS GERMANS

(Canadian Press.)

Baltimore, Md., August 28th. — The Germans were acting in accordance with the existing laws of "civilized warfare" when they executed Edith Cavell, the British nurse, it was declared yesterday in a minority report of the committee on military law of the American Bar Association. Both majority and minority reports were prepared.

S. S. Gregory, Chicago, chairman of the committee, referred to the Cavell case and was supported by Judge W. P. Bynum, Greensboro, N.C., in recommending the abolition of the death penalty for women convicted of violating military law.

SAILORS ARE GUESTS OF EXHIBITION TO-DAY

(Canadian Press.)

TORONTO, Aug. 28. — Touring sailors of the Prince of Wales Squadron are to-day guests of the City of Toronto, and the Canadian National Exhibition. Six hundred strong they arrived from an inspection of Niagara Falls and spent the morning at the fair grounds, taking in the sights. At noon they were brought in street cars to the city hall, where Mayor Church told them what good fellows they were in connection with the defence of the Empire. Then they went to the Island and saw a real ball game—a novelty for some of them—between the Newark and Toronto teams of the International league. The fact that the Newarks are frequently known as the "Sailors" was an interesting coincidence.

To-night the visiting Jack Tars and marines will have supper at the Exhibition, spend the evening in the grand stand and midway, and leave on a Canadian National special train for the east.

A SICKLY WIFE NO FIT MATE FOR ANY MAN

GIRLS AND WOMEN SHOULD [illegible] STRENGTH

Never before was physical health and vigor so highly esteemed and so eagerly sought for as to-day.

No man finds happiness in a sickly wife and the woman who wishes to enjoy the pleasures of life should spare no effort to maintain perfect health.

Is your daughter growing up strong and ruddy? Has she strength to drink in greedily all the pleasures that youth so zealously seeks—or is she compelled to use the street car instead of enjoying the delightful exercise of walking—does she after the ball arise refreshed and vigorous, or is she exhausted, indifferent, and perhaps irritable?

When strength and vigor can be so easily maintained by Ferrozone, when the glow of health is so quickly brought to the cheeks and elasticity to the step, it is plainly a mother's duty to see that Ferrozone is on hand to assist her daughter back to health.

Upon the wake of Ferrozone quickly follows a stream of rich, nourishing blood which imparts that power and surplus energy so earnestly desired by those in ill health.

Stop and think what this means for your daughter—certainly a great deal, and it can be accomplished by Ferrozone.

Every growing girl and young woman derives enormous benefit in many ways from this nutritive, vitalizing tonic.

It is especially suited for young women and is a guarantee of health and regularity as long as it is used.

Ferrozone is free from alcohol and perfectly safe to use. Prepared in the form of a chocolate coated tablet, and sold in 50c boxes or six for $2.50, at all dealers, or direct from the Catarhozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

FRANCE LIKELY TO RATIFY THE TREATY

BUT AMNESTY BILL IS EXPECTED TO TEST GOVERNMENT'S STRENGTH.

(Canadian Press.)

PARIS, Aug. 28.—Ratification within a short time of the Peace Treaty with Germany — now before the Chamber of Deputies — seems probable, despite the views of some elements that France is not guaranteed sufficient military protection by the document; but the ratification vote will not conclude the debate on the Treaty.

After the pact has been ratified, "Motions of Regret," embodying the objections to such clauses on the document as have met with criticism, will be presented, thus re-opening the debate.

After these are disposed of, the Chamber will pass to the discussion of the Anglo-American-French Treaty for the protection of France in case of unwarranted aggression by Germany.

The debate on this pact is expected to be brief, as the Government is considered likely to content itself with making a statement on the circumstances under which the Treaty was signed, and explaining what protection is afforded France by it.

Then Parliament will take up the Amnesty Bill, in a controversy over which the opponents of the Government are counted upon to marshall all their strength.

Montenegro Uprising

WHOLE COUNTRY IN STATE OF REVOLUTION.

SERBIANS TRYING TO SUPPRESS IT.

(Canadian Press.)

LONDON, Aug. 28.—Fighting has broken out everywhere in Montenegro, and the whole country is in a state of revolution, according to news received here.

The situation is extremely serious, and the Serbians are using strong measures in an attempt to suppress the uprising.

The uprising in Montenegro seems likely to bring a big, long-smouldering difference between the Montenegrin supporters of the former King Nicholas and the faction adhering to the plan for the incorporation of Montenegro in the Jugo-Slav State.

THE ONE BIG UNION

(Special to The Examiner.)

WINNIPEG, Man., Aug. 28.—The rejection of the One Big Union by the Regina Trades Council following the return of the Alberta miners to the International Union ranks, marks still another backward slip for the One Big Union organization. The contest between the International and the O.B.U. has now become one of endurance with surface indications show that for the moment the One Big Union is losing ground. In Winnipeg the Trades and Labour Council has reorganized itself and makes the claim that it overlaps the new organization very considerably in membership.

"See America First" This Summer

Now is the summer of summers to know your own land. Mountains and valleys as magnificent as the Alps—landscapes as alluring as the world knows—lie before us here.

Years ago Goodrich began saying "See America First, and see it in your motor car". Goodrich cries it louder this summer of 1919. The scenery is the same; the roads are better.

As in previous years, it is a wise safeguard, when setting out on your motor tour, to equip your car with Silvertown Cord Tires.

You find their supple cable-cord body gives a special comfort in easy riding for long travel. And what means more to your trip, their durability and dependability eliminate three from the load of invisible things your mind and car must carry.

Your best insurance against the trials of rough country roads is the tires with the Twin Red Diamonds on the sidewall. "See America First" on Silvertowns.

Children Cry for Fletcher's

CASTORIA

Fletcher's Castoria is strictly a remedy for Infants and Children. Foods are specially prepared for babies. A baby's medicine is even more essential for Baby. Remedies primarily prepared for grown-ups are not interchangeable. It was the need of a remedy for the common ailments of Infants and Children that brought Castoria before the public after years of research, and no claim has been made for it that its use for over 30 years has not proven.

What is CASTORIA?

Castoria is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups. It is pleasant. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other narcotic substance. Its age is its guarantee. For more than thirty years it has been in constant use for the relief of Constipation, Flatulency, Wind Colic and Diarrhoea; allaying Feverishness arising therefrom, and by regulating the Stomach and Bowels, aids the assimilation of Food; giving healthy and natural sleep. ### NEIL MAKES BLANCHE ORTON'S HOME A RENDEZVOUS

CHAPTER LII.

After that conversation neither of us again mentioned the men he brought home. Occasionally he would still bring some business man to dinner, but not often, and invariably a very correct, very nice-appearing man. What he did with the other sort, interested me so little that I forgot to ask.

Lorraine Meston and I were shopping one day. It was about five o'clock when we finished.

Let's stop at Mrs. Orton's on the way home. I haven't yet paid my last dinner call," she said as we got into the car.

"That's a good idea. I haven't paid mine either, and it is of such long standing I am almost ashamed to go."

"She will, perhaps, be dressing for dinner. Still we will go."

I was surprised to realize suddenly that I was anxious that she would be at home, and able to receive me. It was a peculiar feeling, so strong that it rather puzzled me as to its cause.

Happily, she was at home. She received us in her boudoir. She was lying on the chaise-loungue. She looked very lovely—but rather tired.

A lovely pale, creamy-yellow silk tea-gown clung to her figure, making her svelte gracefulness particularly noticeable. She seemed to be pleased that we had called, altho Lorraine said afterward that it was because she knew she looked lovelier than either of us ever could hope to. But Loraine was a bit "catty" at times.

"I am to have company to dinner," she explained, and am resting. "I have been up very late for several days, and am showing the fatigue. I want to be at my best, for I expect to be bored to death."

"Why be at your best if you are bored" I asked, smiling.

"Then is when one needs to be. If you are being entertained, it is easy and natural to be entertaining. But if you are bored, it just as surely is almost impossible to keep yourself from being boresome. Think that over and see if I am not right," she said, turning to Lorraine who looked as puzzled at Mrs. Orton's explanation s I had felt.

"Yes—I —guess you are—right," I said slowly, "I remember, when Neil brings home a clever, interesting man to dinner I never have the slightest trouble entertaining him; but when he brings some stupid man, I am so tired when he is gone, and can't think of anything to say to him while at dinner without an almost visible effort."

"Of course I am right! I have entertained both kinds often enough to know."

We then gossiped for a little before we left. On our way out we passed one of her maids carrying a huge box of flowers. I knew they were American Beauties by the stems, which stuck out from the end of the box.

"Someone is attentive to the widow," Lorraine said after we had entered the car, "I'll wager she won't be a widow long."

"Of course she won't! She's too clever, and too beautiful." Never, even to myself, had I failed to acknowledge Blanche Orton's cleverness or her beauty. It wasn't my way.

"That was a great idea of hers about resting so that she could be at her best before men who bored her," Lorraine mused. I think it's awfully clever of her to think it out like that. "I wonder whom she is having. She said nothing of any woman, did she?"

"No—she said 'company'," I returned.

"I'll bet she meant men," said Lorraine. "She hasn't any intimate women friends; and if she was giving a dinner I should be sure to have heard of it, even tho I were not invited. No— it's a man affair!" she finished decidedly.

"But why ask men who bore you?" I queried, "One sometimes is bored by one or the other of a married couple whom one has to ask; but I cant see why a widow should feel obliged to entertain anyone who bores her."

It may be it is a business affair," Lorrine said carelessly as she bade me good-bye.

To-morrow—Barbara's Father and Mother come to visit.

EVERYDAY READING

"If we walk in the light as he is in the light, we have fellowship one with another, and the blood of Jesus, God's Son, cleanseth us from all sin." (1st John 1, 7.) Light is knowledge. Spiritual light must be spiritually imparted. Walking in the light of the Spirit means walking or acting according to the knowledge imparted by the Spirit; that is, being obedient to the revelation given by the Holy Spirit. "As many as are led by the Spirit of God, these are sons of God." (Rom. 8, 14.) "As many as receive Jesus become children of God." (John 1, 12.) To be led or guided by the Holy Spirit is one and the same thing as receiving Jesus, that is, coming under His blessed control, to be taught, led and guided and kept from sin. In these days of so-called Christian activity in connection with the various kinds of church machinery, "being led of the Spirit," with many, is an unknown entity, and yet without the teaching of the Spirit we have no divine assurance, no certainty in regard to spiritual things. I was pleased to read on the front page of one of our church denominational papers the following (penned, I suppose, by the editor): "Our patron saints dead and preachers alike may be in error, our own inclinations, our own interests, our own advancement and success, may all seem to point one way, and they may be all astray. But where Jesus leads, it is safe and right to go. The path may be strange to our feet, and our fathers may never have trodden it; loss and disaster may seem to be just ahead, if we make the venture: our dearest friends may think us fools for trying it; but to the loyal Christian heart there can only be one path, and that the one our Master treads. Despite all appearances, only in that path lies life, peace, love, and joy, and highest attainment. Whatever others may do or not do, our duty is plain and clear, 'Follow thou me.'" It may be that the champion fighters against this truth, in the near future will boldly and gladly preach it. Living under the law of the Spirit brings to us assurance, satisfaction, and liberty. Victor.

GUM TENDERNESS —A TOOTH-MENACE

It is true that four out of five people over forty suffer from gum-shrinkage, or Pyorrhea (Riggs' Disease). But many people even under thirty have Pyorrhea. Women, particularly after the baby comes, are peculiarly subject to Pyorrhea. At such time they cannot be too careful about their teeth.

Pyorrhea commences with tender gums, or with gum-bleeding, at tooth-brush time. Gradually the gums become spongy. They inflame and then shrink. The teeth become exposed to decay at the base and tiny openings in the gums become the breeding places of disease germs which infect the joints—or tonsils—or cause [illegible]

Beware of that first gum tenderness! Try Forhan's for the gums. It positively prevents Pyorrhea, if used in time and used consistently. No ordinary tooth paste will do this.

And Forhan's cleans teeth scientifically as well. Brush your teeth with it. It keeps the teeth white and clean.

If gum-shrinkage has already set in, start using Forhan's and consult a dentist immediately for special treatment. 35c and 60c tubes. All druggists.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier Said

"After all, what a man does with his money is to invest, and there is no better way to invest it than in Life Insurance."

As an ESTATE BUILDER there is nothing to equal Life Insurance.

TAKE THE FOLLOWING ACTUAL RESULT

A young man, sixteen years of age, took out a 15-year Endowment (No. 210380) in the Sun Life of Canada, which matured on the first of April. This young man paid annually $66.30 for fifteen years, and he has now, through that investment, an immediate estate of $3,435.00 in case of death.

DO YOU KNOW THAT THIS AMOUNTS TO ALMOST 15% COMPOUND INTEREST ON EVERY DOLLAR HE PAID?

No wonder Sir Wilfrid said (and he might have added, No better place than the Sun Life of Canada), "There is no better way to invest it than in LIFE INSURANCE."

AND THE SUN LIFE OF CANADA GIVES THIS RESULT.

A Century of Temperance Progress is at Stake

THIS advertisement is addressed particularly to friends of organized temperance throughout the Province of Ontario. They have rallied to win many a victory before. They must rally in full strength for the Victory of Victories now, to make The Ontario Temperance Act permanent law.

ONCE, in Ontario, whiskey could be bought at 50 cents a gallon by anybody. Liquor-selling taverns outnumbered the schools. Distilleries outnumbered the grist mills. Within the memory of living citizens of this Province, drunkenness was a feature of well-nigh every fair, and of every election day. Fighting and rioting were common holiday amusements in many an Ontario town and village, in the "good old days."

Shall Ontario go Back?

One day in 1827, just 92 years ago, three brave men in the town of Brockville met together and formed the first pledge-signing temperance society in Ontario. "Milk sops" people called them. But they had courage, they had convictions and their ideal of Temperance has triumphed.

Shall We Give Up?

On April 27, 1916, the Legislature of Ontario enacted a law prohibiting sale and distribution of alcoholic beverages within the Province. Almost a century of struggle lies between those dates—1827 and 1916—a century of slow, painful progress and steady toilsome climb, fighting, fighting every inch of the way. We have fought the good fight and we have won. Ontario is dry.

Shall We Surrender Now?

The Ontario Temperance Act was passed as a war-time measure. The Great War brought home the truth about liquor to our Legislators and our people. Now that the war is over the facts are still the facts. After a century of struggle, and a victorious armistice, Ontario should not relax her vigilance until the terms of the Ontario Temperance Act are written into a Victorious Treaty of Permanent Temperance Peace!

The Ontario Temperance Act is the best piece of Temperance Legislation that has ever become law in this Province. Its repeal is unthinkable!

"NO!"—FOUR TIMES—"NO!"

ANY one of the proposed amendments that will face you on the ballot paper would spoil the Ontario Temperance Act. It would be a slip down hill after an upward climb of a hundred years. Those who love this Province of Ontario and have put heart and soul into its social progress and achievement will make no mistake. Mark your ballot X, four times in the column headed "No," and herein fail not or, in so far as temperance goes, your ballot is spoiled.

PRICE OF CLOTHES HIGH IN ENGLAND

BIG ADVANCE IN COST OF MEN'S SUITS, WOMEN'S DRESSES, ETC.

Fussy dressers who used to buy their clothes in England, are nowadays more inclined to patronize home industry. Previous to August, 1914, and for some time afterwards, England was a land of good clothes at low prices. In the old days, with sweatshop labor, even West End tailors could turn out classy clothes for from $25 to $35 a suit. But cutters, and particularly garment sewers, etc., in Britain are no longer content to toil for the wretchedly insufficient pay so many of them received before the war. For this and other reasons prices have soared, until to-day, according to returned Canadians, most lines of men's and women's clothes and especially boots and shoes, are as dear or dearer in England than in Canada.

"Previous to 1914," stated a returned traveller, "I could buy a first-class serge, tweed or worsted suit from my tailor in the West End of London for $35. To-day he is asking from $90 to $100 for a suit of that quality. Add a stiff Canadian duty on to that and the fact that you will probably have to have the suit altered when it arrives, you don't gain much by passing up your own home tailors to go abroad."

Cotton Dress $100!

"The prices they ask for women's clothes in London are simply frantic," exclaimed a Canadian lady just home. "They will show you the plainest little cotton dress and holding it up to view, remark: 'Only twenty guineas, madam.' Think of it, more than $100 for a thing like that. Everything else is in the same ratio."

"Good boots and shoes are [illegible] ately higher in England than in Canada," declared another Canadian. "In Toronto the very best makes in men's lines don't exceed $11 to $15 at the very outside. In London they are asking from $30 to $80 for boots and shoes which are no better. Gloves, hosiery, everything, is sky high in the Old Country."

JACK JOHNSTON YEARNS FOR HOME

Black Jack Johnson would give all he possesses and all he hopes to possess, if Uncle Sam's watchful sleuths would allow him to return to that country, the land of his birth, and travel his own way unmolested.

The foregoing news comes from Lew Levine, the Buffalonian, now travelling along the Mexican border. Writing from N. Laredo, Tamps, Mexico, Levine sends the following concerning the Johnson - Cowler battle:

"On 10th Augush I attended the fight between Jack Johnson, the former world's heavyweigfiht champion, and Tom Cowler. The fight was held in the huge bull ring, called 'Laredo,' and drew about 8,000 spectators, 99 per cent. Mexicans.

"It was a pretty fair fight, going the limit, 15 rounds. The referee, who didn't know much about the job he was filling, gave the decision to Johnson.

"Despite stories sent to the States about Johnson not being liked by the Mexicans, I found that the ex-champion is well liked and has behaved himself. There is no truth in the report that Johnson was ordered to leave the country. From my observations I should say Johnson may remain in Mexico as long as he conducts himself as he has.

"I had a long talk with Jack after the fight. Gee, if ever there was a home-sick man, Johnson is that person. He told me he would give everything he possesses and all he hopes to ever get if he could return to the United States and not be jailed by the Government. You know, Jack was sentenced to serve a year in jail and skipped out. He wants to go back, but he hates to be grabbed and shoved into jail. There was a tear in his eye when he talked about home.

"Cowler told me he is going to Spain. I guess Johnson told him he could get some matches over there. Cowler made a hit with the Mexicans, but it was strange to me to hear the Mexicans, who are a shade above Johnson in colour, rooting for the big black. I enjoyed the sight and while the fight was nt a thriller, nevertheless it was interesting."

MOB MANNERS MAR GREAT GOLF FINAL

Nothing but a parabolic pop bottle was lacking from the amateur golf championship at Pittsburg last Saturday to elevate, or depress, the sport to the plane of professional baseball.

The crowd, estimated as high as 8,000 strong, swarmed upon the fair green and edged upon the putting green. When Davidson Herron, the local Pittsburg favourite, rather unexpectedly put up an even fight and a little more, partisan feeling broke all bounds. "Davie's in the rough!" megaphoned an excited official. "Stand back! We want to give him every chance for the hole!"

Robert Jones, of Atlanta, had few friends present; but one of them remarked with not unnatural weariness, "While you're about it, give Jones a chance, too." At a critical moment in the contest Jones was about to make a brassie stroke with a good chance for the hole. An official who [illegible] port "saw a boy 400 yards down the course, bawled [illegible] on his megaphone, with the result that Jones topped his ball into a bunker, and lost two strokes in getting out of trouble. At this the triumph of the crowd became insolent, hilarious.

With due respect, all this constitutes no elevation of the sport of golf, but a notable depression. Baseball players are paid professionals, who very well know the order of service for which they are paid. One may regret that local fans are allowed to become protagonists in the championship—and again one may regard the fact with tolerance, even amusement. But an amateur championship is, or should be, amateur. On the part of the spectators as on the part of the contestants, no code should obtain except that of the sportsman—which is to say the code of the gentleman who, whatever his personal preferences, shows favour only to good play on either part. The contestants at Pittsburg were sportsmen and behaved as such. Each has a grievance; but the grievance of Mr. Herron is the greater, in that a clean and very notable performance was marred by the conduct of those who should have been most interested to make his victory stainless.—New York Times.

PETES BEATEN IN BRIGHTON

LOST EXCITING GAME BY 3 RUNS TO 2---BRIGHTON TO PLAY HERE.

The Peterborough Ball Club only succeeded in playing one of the two games scheduled for its eastern tour yesterday. Rain prevented the game at Belleville with the champion G.T. R. team yesterday afternoon, but the Petes moved over to Brighton and had an exciting clash with the team of that town. Brighton winning by 3 to 2. The game was to have been a seven innings affair, and when Brighton went to bat in the last of the seventh the Petes were leading 2 to 0. Brighton scored two runs and tied up the game. It was decided to play the tie off. Neither team scored in the eighth, but in the last half of the ninth Brighton scored the winning run. The Brighton team is made up principally of American visitors who [illegible] district. The Petes lined up as follows: Soden c., Kirn p., Swanston 1b., R. Rose 2b., Mulcahy s.s., Murray 3b., Clancy l.fr., McCarney m., Heenan r.f.

LOCAL SCOUTS HAD RECORD AT TORONTO

BOYS HAD BIG DAY BUT FORMAL INSPECTION DID NOT TAKE PLACE.

The Peterboro Boy Scouts had therecord at the Exhibition yesterday yesterday, 101 Peterboro Scouts attending. 107 boys represented Oakville but Oakville is on the outskirts of Toronto and consequently would be expected to be largely represented.

The formal inspection by the Prince of Wales which had been planned did not take place for as soon as the Prince appeared pandemonium seized the crowd and he was immediately surrounded by a great crowd rushing forward in a frantic effort to get as near him as possible. Consequently there was little chance for formality. But the winning smile of the Prince which has charmed Toronto was far more appreciated than all the formality planned would have been.

The Scouts returned home last night on the 11.52 C.P.R. train, tired but happy, having seen the Prince, the Exhibition, and having had a day long to be remembered one in which Ontario paid tribute to its future ruler in no small way

THE EMPIRE'S ATTRACTION.

Under the new management, the pictures at the Empire moving picture show excell any which have been previously shown and the theatre is holding capacity houses each evening. Last night "The Exquisite Thief," featuring Priscilla Dean, proved a splendid attraction. The story, that of a female and charming burglar who undertakes to hold up a dinner party, and calmly proceeds single handed to relieve all the guests of their jewelry has a very happy ending in the exquisite thief's reformation, is well told and well acted throughout. Some thrilling situations develop during the action of the play which holds the audience in breathless expectancy as to what the ending may be.

The programme also includes a a side splitting comedy and a picture of unusual interest from the Screen Magazine, being the process of woollen manufacture from the sheep to the wearer.

CONSTANCE TALMADGE IN "WHO CARES?"

Joan, young, happy and carefree—just a kid — lives alone with her grandparents, who have forgotten the word "youth." In a house nearby lives Martin Grey, a young man who has come to his country home to grieve alone over the death of a dearly loved father.

Eventually Martin and Joan meet and get acquainted easily in the fashion of the very young. One day Joan is discovered with Martin and her grandparents forbid her to see him again. This is too much for little Joan, whose only happiness has been in the company of the man who has learned to love her. She runs away to Martin and he takes her to the city, where they are married.

To Joan, married life is no different than any other kind of life, and she proceeds to carry out her idea of what life should be. Life is one mad merry-go-round, and each person's motto should be "Who Cares?" She forgets she ahs a husband and flirts madly with everyone and anyone.

Martin suddenly realizes that he has married a will-o'-the-wisp, a butterfly, whose motto is "Who Cares?" So he says "Who Cares— who the devil cares?" and becomes fast friends with Phoebes, a chorus girl.

After a time the young couple realize that life holds no real happiness without the other. And so these happiness seekers become the ideal married couple, with love and happiness to rule their home. This is the story of "Who Cares?" in which Constance Talmadge is presented by Lewis J. Selznick and which will be seen at the Grand theatre to-day.

SEXTON KILLED, NOTRE DAME CHURCH CLOSED

(Special to The Examiner.)

MONTREAL, Aug. 28. — Michael Giroux, night watchman at Notre Dame church, is dead in hospital as a result of a fractured skull, sustained by an unknown assailant who was hiding in the building, it is believed, to steal sacred and valuable vessels and relics there. The church is closed to-day for the first time since its erection one hundred and twenty-five years ago, so that the police can search for finger prints.

The British Society of Class Technology will establish centres for scientific research for the industry.

PRINCE HOPES TO DESERVE TRUST OF CANADIAN PEOPLE

ANOTHER SPLENDID RECEPTION FOR HIM TO-DAY IN OTTAWA.

(Canadian Press.)

OTTAWA, Aug. 28.—The Dominion capital gave a warm welcome to the Prince of Wales to-day. When the Royal train pulled into the station at 11.15 a.m. the sun broke through the clouds and shone brightly. Citizens had turned out in thousands in holiday attire and for hours awaited patiently the coming of the Prince. When the Prince stepped from the Royal train the first to greet him was Sir Robert Borden, who introduced His Royal Highness to his colleagues of the Cabinet and other distnguished persons on the platform with whom he was not already acquainted. At the platform were representatives of the government and military and naval authorities.

Greeted General Currie.

The Prince has a kindly smile for everybody but it was notable that he greeted with especial warmth Sir Arthur Currie and Sir George Perley, with both of whom he has been associated overseas. Replying to the address of the Government of Canada, H. R. H. said in part:

"You have spoken, Mr. Prime Minister of allegiance to the Crown as the expression of that common devotion to British institutions and British ideals which unites all the people of the Empire. I am conscious that this lays upon me as His Majesty's heir a very grave and also very inspiring responsibility. I therefore greatly prize the opportunity which you have given me of seeing all parts of this great Dominion for myself, making a real acquaintance with its people and acquiring first hand knowledge of its splendid prospects and resources. Canada played a signal part in the protracted fight for justice and freedom, which has so keenly tested the vision and manhood of the Empire during the past five years, and I believe that she can now look forward to rapidly increasing power, both moral and material as one of the great nations of the British Commonwealth. It will be my constant endeavour to share her hopes and feelings and to deserve her confidence."

STREET CARS TIED UP BY POWER TROUBLE

At press time this afternoon, the street cars awere as dead as they were this morning when a few seconds after six o'clock they stalled within a block of the barn as a result of the breakdown of some part of the machinery at the sub-station.

The usual Thursday morning shoppers were greatly inconvenienced by the tying up of the cars, and it is more than likely that many of those in the outskirts did not come down town.

INCREASE GRANTS FOR CONSOLIDATED RURAL SCHOOLS

(Canadian Press.)

TORONTO, Aug. 28.—The need for consolidated schools in rural districts was emphasised by the Hon. Dr. Cody, Minister of Education, at to-day's meeting of the Ontario Municipal School Association, at the City Hall.

"I do not think we will ever turn away from this one-roomed school—the 'little red schoolhouse" with which so many of us are familiar," said Dr. Cody. "But the solution of better education in rural districts is the consolidated schools."

"They have tried the plan in the West, and it works splendidly. Where they are planning a school, they erect one central instead of five or six scattered schools. Of course, there is the difficulty of conveying the children to and from [illegible] has been solved by the securing of buses or motor cars in each district, and in this way all the children in the countryside are taken to the school.

"I do not believe in trying to force consolidation on the people. That is not democratic. But in order to encourage consolidation, we are going to give a grant of from $800 to $12,000 towards the erection of the central school for each district, and also from 10 to 40 per cent of the cost of conveying the children to and from the schools. The plan will not necessarily reduce the cost of maintaining the schools. The attendance of children would probably largely increase."

THIRD DOSE RELIEF! FIFTH DOSE! DIARRHOEA STOPPED

Diarrhoea does not need to persist for any length of time until the whole system is weakened and debilitated. No other disease so quickly undermines the strength and brings about a condition of prostration and very often total collapse.

Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry is not only prompt and effectual in checking the diarrhoea, but at the same time acts as a stimulant, strengthening the heart and braces up the whole system, and one of its principal points is that it does not leave the bowels in a constipated condition.

Mr. W. H. Arnold, Fort Qu-Appelle, Sask., writes: "A few years ago [illegible] attack of [illegible] nothing I took seemed to do me any good. I was getting worse all the time. Hearing that Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry was good for diarrhoea I went into town and procured a bottle. After the third dose I felt relief and after I had taken the fifth dose the diarrhoea had stopped. I always keep it in the house and would not be without it."

See that you get the original "Dr. Fowler's." It has been on the market for the past 74 years. Substitutes may endanger your health. Price 35c. Put up only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

IN MEMORIAM.
LEAN.—In loving memory of my dear friend, Wilbert A. Lean, who died of wounds in France on 28th August, 1918, aged 25 years.

If we could have raised his dying head,
Or heard his last farewell,
The grief would not have been so hard
For us who loved him well.

We think of him in silence,
And his name we oft recall;
But there's nothing left to answer
But his photo on the wall.

Friends may think we oft forget him
When at times they see us smile—
But they little know the sorrow
Which that smile hides all the while.

—Amy M. Booth.

Where our nation's sons were fighting,
For land and liberty.

And amid the din of battle,
Nobly you did fall,
Far away from those who loved you,
None to hear your call.

Who would whisper words of comfort,
Who would soothe your pain,
Ah, the many cruel fancies,
Ever in our brain.

Oft in dreams we see you lying,
On the battle plain,
Calling but in vain

Yes, our boy, our noble Percy,
Is one numbered with the slain,
Altho' we loved him very dearly.
He will never come again.

We all hope to meet him some day,
On that bright and happy shore,
On that resurrection morning,
When we meet to part no more.
—Inserted by his wife, mother, sisters and brother.

VEGETABLE GROWERS ARE MAKING PROGRESS

Mr. R. . Stone of Guelph and W. A. Ross of Vineland, vegetable specialists, held a field day yesterday afternoon at the gardens of Charles Kitney and Sons, under the auspices of the Peterboro Branch of the O.V.G.A. It was attended by a large representation of the members who gained considerable knowledge of how to detect insect troubles and disease in plants which evils are becoming harder to fight each year. After spending about three hours in the gardens, the members present enjoyed a splendid lunch provided by the Branch.

Already Secured Prizes.

Although it has only been in existence for about eighteen months the Peterboro Branch of the O.V.G.A. has already secured three of the prizes in the field crop competition in Eastern Ontario and so far one in the Canadian National Exhibtion this year.

HORSES BOLTED AND INJURED TWO MEN

Yesterday afternoon James Dailly and Fred Doughty were injured when they were run down by a team of horses in the C. P. R. yards. Neither of the men's injuries were serious, however.

The mem were members of a gang, scraping the C.P.R. tracks on the Peterboro Cereal Co's siding. A shunter was backing a train in and a team of horses standing near by became frightened and bolted, knocking down dailly and Doughty. Dailly was the more seriously injured of the two and was removed to St. Joseph's hospital. He was returned to his home to-day, however.

PRESENTATION TO MISS INA CURRIE

A very pleasant evening was spent on Monday last at the home of Miss Mary Yost, when a number of the friends of Miss Ina Currie met to spend a social evening with her. Miss Currie will soon be leaving the city for the Salvation Army Training College in Toronto, where she will undergo training to become an officer in the army.

The evening passed very quickly and the enjoyment was added to considerably by Mr. Henry Parnell, who performed the part of entertainer in in his usual clever style.

At the close a presentation of some uniform was made to Miss Currie by Miss M. Edwards, while the following address was read by Miss Ella Seymour:

Dear Ina,—We felt we could not let this opportunity pass without expressing our appreciation of your comradeship in the years that have passed.

Now as you are about to leave us we trust that in the coming years the remembrance of this evening will come back to cheer you in the work to which you are devoting your life. As a token of our love we ask you to accept this small gift.

Signed on behalf of the girls and boys—
A. M. Yost,
E. Seymour,

RAILWAY LEADERS URGES TRUCE WHILE H. COST OF LIVING DRIVE ADVANCES

MARKED NOTE OF MODERATION IN DELIBERATION OF FEDERATION OF LABOUR EXECUTIVE- WORKERS HAVE EXPRESSED DESIRE FOR STRIKE TO PROCEED.

A NINETY DAY TRUCE?

(By Fred S. Ferguson.)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29. — The country's industrial situation was distinctly in the hands of the men in overalls to-day.

Two powerful forces were being brought to bear on him to maintain at least a ninety days' truce, while attempts are made to lower the high cost of living.

The first was a letter sent out by the railway employees' department of the A. F. of L. urging such a truce while attempts are being made to lower the cost of living.

The second was the telegram of Rail Director Hines, clearly showing that the government is ready to invoke the law and take extreme measures to prevent strikes on the railroads now that the labour leaders have gotten behind the administration in its programme.

Leaders of the shopmen, other railroad men, and workers of other industries, are hopeful, but by no means certain, that the programme will be accepted.

ON MODERATE LINES.

As the Executive Council of the A. F. of L. continued its deliberations on the critical situation to-day, its efforts were entirely along lines of moderation. The leaders are replying on the "common sense" appeal of the letter to the shopmen to obtain its adoption. They do not believe public sentiment would support a strike. Demands of other railway workers are still pending, or will soon be presented, and the answer of the shopmen is expected to have important bearing on all of these.

It was reported to-day that partial returns of the referendum which was taken, following President Wilson's appeal, show that eighty per cent. of the votes received favoured going ahead with the strike, despite the appeal. The letter sent out yesterday, therefore, must be relied upon to turn the tide.

Leaders expect considerable radical reaction from the letter, but believe that the mass of conservative workers will assure favourable response. The referendum will be by secret written ballot and complete returns are not expected for more than a week.

SCENARIOIST COMPLIMENTS CONSTANCE TALMADGE

Julia Crawford Ivers, author of the scenario for "Who Cares?" the Cosmo Hamilton play in which Constance Talmage will be seen at the Grand Theatre to-day, declares that it is a picture admirably suited to Miss Talmadge because it contains the very spirit of youth.

"Constance Talmadge," said the scenarioist, "exemplifies youth more perfectly than anyone I can think of. In this picture I endeavoured to show by contrast the wonder and beauty of youthfulness. Everything else is old, even the dog, and against this the spirit of the young girl naturally rebels. I think it is an effective picture from the dramatic standpoint as well as containing much character depiction and a peculiar quality of attractiveness that must be seen to be appreciated.

"Constance Talmadge," she continued, "might well be termed the girl with a thousand faces. She has the most wonderful control over her facial expression and can depict any emotion with a readiness that is astonishing."

Constance Talmadge is presented in "Who Cares?" by Lewis J. Selznick.

BACON PRICE STEADY HERE

SCARCELY REFLECTS THE SHARP DECLINES THAT CHICAGO REPORTS---NOT MUCH HOPE FOR DROP.

DEALERS DOUBTFUL

(Special to Examiner.)

TORONTO, Aug. 29. — With hogs selling for $15 on the Chicago market, housewives will still have to cut their bacon very thin and use it sparingly, as there is no indication yet that the Canadian hog will follow the example of his American brothers.

At least that is the consensus of opinion among the dealers both retail and wholesale.

"Has the drop in the Chicago market had any effect on the Canadian market?" asked the reporter of Swift's Canadian chief buyer.

"Not yet," was the reply.

"Is there any indication that it will?"

"I cannot say there is. We are paying $21.25 per hundred pounds, with an offer of ½c per pound less to-morrow. If the American market goes down we have got to go down some, but it is hard to say what will happen." The speaker said that he did not put much stock in the Chicago report anyway. He looked upon it as "newspaper talk."

At the municipal abattoir the opinion was expressed by one of the officials that the prices would probably come down shortly although not in proportion to the drop in Chicago.

"Prices generally are lower in Chicago than in Toronto," said the official. "I do not look to see prices here reach the level now paid on the Chicago market. It looks to me as if the buyers over there are holding off with the object of getting prices down. They look for a break. They are letting the hogs accumulate as they sometimes do here. But they must have them over the week-end."

"Then you do not look for any appreciable drop here?"

"I should not be surprised to see a drop of from $1.50 to $2 per cwt. from the present price of $20 to $21."

EMPTIED 400 BBLS. OF FOAMING BEER IN STREETS OF CHICAGO

(Special to Examiner.)

CHICAGO, Aug. 29. — Four hundred barrels of 2.75 per cent. beer, manufactured by the Schlitz Brewing Company of Milwaukee, before the war time prohibition became effective, were dumped into the gutters of the streets to-day by Otto B. Fugrst, the United States Revenue Inspector, to enable the company to recover $2400 in taxes previously paid the government.

The officials of the brewery recently called the revenue collector to the fact that after having paid the tax of $6 a barrel on beer, they were prevented by law from selling it.

They were told that the tax would be refunded if the beer was destroyed. The beer was emptied into the streets forming a foamy stream several inches deep. Men and women hurried to the scene with cups and pitchers and attempted to salvage some of the beer but were driven away by the government officials.

PRINCE RESTED THIS MORNING

(Canadian Press.)

OTTAWA Ont. Aug. 29. — The Prince of Wales did not visit the new Parliament Buildings this morning as originally intended. He felt rather tired after his busy day yesterday and decided to rest during the morning. At half past one he attended a government luncheon in his honour, when Sir Robert Borden spoke briefly, concluding with an assurance to the Prince that His Royal Highness was on the verge of that immense territory which is the heritage of the Canadian people, and wishing him God-speed on the journey which still lays before him. His Royal Highness replied, and referred to the achievement of the Canadian army corps and to those who served at home, commending particularly the inestimable help of the women. The Prince will attend the Labour Day sports Monday.

RENOVATED THE SCHOOLS FOR NEW ARMY OF CHILDREN

NO EXTENSIVE CHANGES MADE IN THE WORK DURING THE HOLIDAYS--BIG ATTENDANCE EXPECTED.

No provision for extra accommodation of pupils in the Public schools for the coming year has been made by the Board of Education, but they are confident that such pupils as return to school or commence their studies this term will find as least comfortable accommodation pending the finishing of the big new school in the west end.

Few Alterations.

The pupils returning on Tuesday morning when school will re-open for the fall term will find a few changes in the schools, as the Central and King Edward are the only ones which have undergone any kind of repair. The King Edward has been renovated as far as kalsomining and painting on the interior and the placing of a new fire escape from the third flat of the building, the latter alteration has been contemplated by the Board of Education for years. The Central school has been considerably improved as far as flooring and redecorations.

Staff Changed.

Four changes will be made in the Public school staff. Captain Joe Munro has returned from overseas to take up his old position, Miss Bonnycastle, Miss Paxman and Miss Doughty have been added to the staff to take the places of those who have resigned. In the Domestic Science department Miss Hazel Moffat has taken the position left vacant by Miss McVannell, who resigned to devote all her time to the Normal school.

Two Changes.

Two changes have been made in the teaching staff of the Collegiate Institute. Mr. Graham, of Picton, will replace Mr. Hone and Mr. Richardson of Barrie Mr. Jethro Graham. The interior of the Collegiate has been slightly improved and the Science room refitted. Otherwise no changes have been made in the school.

Separate School.

All the schools have been cleaned and renovated during the holidays, but no extensive alterations were required.

THE FUNERAL OF ADELARD GUERIN

The remains of the late Adeland Guerin, 81 London street, who was killed on Monday morning last at the Street Car Barns were laid at rest yesterday in St. Peter's Cemetery, Rev. Father Guiry officiating. The pall-bearers were Messrs. J. J. Lynch, Nelson Graham and P. Kenny who represented the Knights of Columbus and Comrades Muir, W. Primeau and Clancy representing the Great War Veterans. High mass was sung by Father Guiry at St. Peter's Cathedral at 9 o'clock.

BOLSHIE CLAIM MORE VICTORIES

LONDON, Aug. 29. — The town of Kupiensk, 61 miles south east of Kharov, and Pavlovsk on the Don river, 90 miles south, southeast of Voronezh, have been captured by the Bolsheviki, according to a statement issued by the Russian Soviet government to-day.

ARSON CHARGES WERE DISMISSED

At Apsley yesterday the case against Isaac Whitney and Mrs. Eva Dewey apprehended by High Constable Moore on a charge of setting fire to the residence of Mr. Wm. Jones of Anstruther was dismissed. A number of witnesses were heard but Magistrate Langley in giving Judgment stated that there was no evidence which would justify a conviction.

COSSACKS CAPTURE 13,000 BOLSHEVIKI AND ROUTED BIG ARMY OF RAW LEVIES

ONE RED REGIMENT DESERTED TO GENERAL KAMONTOV---POLES ARE CHECKED SOUTH OF PRIFED MARSHES---DENIKIN'S CAVALRY ACTIVE.

USING ARMORED TRAINS

LONDON, Aug. 28.—The Cossacks under General Kamontov, who succeeded in breaking through the Red army, captured 13,000 Bolsheviki and dispersed 20,000 mobilized but untrained men. A despatch has been received to this effect from General Kamontov, which reflects the Bolsheviki claim that his communications have been cut.

(According to a Bolsheviki communication received by wireless in London, August 27, the Cossacks broke through the Red army, whose heavy masses closed in behind them, cutting off their communication with the anti-Bolsheviki forces).

A Red regiment with 40 officers deserted to Kamontov, who is forming a division made up of former Bolsheviki. He has evacuated Tambov and is proceeding north-west towards Koslov, headquarters of the Bolsheviki southern front.

General Denikine's advance is continuing rapidly; he is now within 10 miles of Kiev and 12 miles from Petlura's forces. If a junction occurs, the entire Red Bolsheviki forces remaining in the pocket 250 miles deep on a 50-mile width to the south of Kiev will be cut off.

Meeting Little Opposition.

To the north-east General Denikine has captured the important railway junction of Bakhmacs 90 miles west of Konotop. Denikine's cavalary and armoured trains are leading the advance and are not meeting with much opposition along the whole western front. The Bolsheviki, however, are massing on his centre and right, having captured Volchansk, Valuika and Buturlinovka. The plan of Gen. Denikine Cossacks is to clear the left flank preparatory to a general advance.

The Bolshevik claim of the capture of Pskov, south west of Petrograd, is probably correct. Further to the south the Poles are advancing on Dvinsk, and to the eastward have forced the Bolsheviki back to the Dvina near Polotsk, imperilling their lin.

South of the Pript marshes the Poles have been checked on the line of the Sluch River. Heavy fighting is goin gon at Movgorod Volinsk. Further eastward the Bolsheviki have retaken Jitomar. This success has been counter-balanced by the capture of Fastov by the Ukrainians.

A NEW ROLE FOR AIRMEN

PETERBORO FLYERS ENGAGED TO TRANSPORT GIPS FROM PRESENT CAMP

NORTH TO MONTREAL AND QUEBEC.

Two former well- known members of the 93rd Battalion Band, and who later saw service with the Royal Flying Corps overseas, are to be pioneers in a new phase of flying in the near future. The two, Lieut. Victor Dallin and Lieut. Fred Walno, have accepted positions with the Northern Canada Trading Company, who are engaged in the trading and trapping industry to Ungava. Together with three other former members of the Royal Air Force, the Peterborough air men have been secured to conduct an aerial transportation system from the trading posts of the company in the far north to Montreal and Quebec. Instead of the long journey over land by dog-train and canoe, it is proposed to employ aeroplanes, which will swiftly carry the packages of rich furs from the northern woods back to civilization. The possibilities before such an enterprise are apparent.

Lieut. Dallyin is at present "stunt" flying at the Toronto Exhibition, being one of the squadron under command of Lieut.-Col. Barker, V.C., D. S.O., etc., who are flying captured German Fokkers. He and Lieut. Walno expect to leave for the north early next month flying by easy stages from Ottawa into the Ungava district.

OFFICE CLOSED

Owing to the Metropolitan excursion being held to-morrow, the office in the Barrie Building, will be closed all day.

ENTERTAINMENT BY SCOUTS WAS GOOD

SUCCESSFUL LAWN SOCIAL AT HOME OF MRS. BUGG.

The Boy Scout movement is so well known and so highly esteemed that it is unnecessary nowadays to eulogize this splendid organization. Suffice it therefore, to place on record the fact that yesterday (Thursday) the Vimy Ridge Troop of the battalion of Boy Scouts in this city—and the Peterboro' Scouts are second to none—bless the dear boys!—held—shall we call it a field day? at the residence of Mrs. Bugg, 249 Aylmer street. The grounds were elaborately decorated with flags, streamers and emblems of the Scouts methods of warfare, and a large and highly interested crowd was present to see and to hear. The general arrangements of the day—or rather afternoon and evening—were in the able hands of Scout Master Tyrer, who had evolved a good programme Space will not permit to detail all that was said or done, but it may be mentioned that Miss Cook in her character dance for which she is most favourably known, made a great impression. Songs by Mrs. Scholey were greatly appreciated. Scout Master Tyrer gave a Wild West Show; Professor Bowman as a Wizard performed wonders in witchcraft. Miss Dorothy Tyrer as a dancer was the cause of considerable admiration.

Miss Trickie as "Elizabeth the smallest lady in Peterboro'" was a draw as a side show; while Keith Mein as "Clarence" was also a drawing card. There were the usual candy and other stalls and miles of miscellaneous articles, among others some "Puffed Wheat". Here the article differed from the Scouts in one respect. They are both good, but these well conducted, self respecting lads were by no means "puffed" up; they were well behaved, good natured; always ready to do the good turn. And it did one's heart good to mix for a time with the happy joyous party drawn together to give these lads a good time of their own.

PACKERS' INTERESTS INSPIRED BY INTERESTS

FARMERS AND CATTLEMEN WANT REGULATION OF BIC INDUSTRY.

(By Raymond Clapper.)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29. — Witness appearing in behalf of the big packers before the Senate Agriculture Committee, are "inspired," Senator Kendrick, of Wyoming, declared today.

"The persons appearing here are inspired by the organised forces interested in defeating the bills, while the great unorganised masses are unheard," Kendrick said.

Kendrick, himself a big stock raiser, believes the rank and file of the cattle men and farmers are for regulation of the packers, as proposed in his own measure or the Kenyon bill, both of which are under consideration by the Senate Agriculture Committee.

Kendrick is president of the American National Live Stock Association, which has gone on record in favour of the bills.

SOLDIER TOLD HE IS DEAD

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 28.—To try to re-enlist in Uncle Sam's army and then be told you are dead is the experience of James Q. O'Malley, of Plymouth, Cal.

Although Col. T. E. Page, in charge of army recruiting here, insists that O'Mally is alive and produces the man and his honourable discharge to support his contention, official Washington insists that he is dead.

Despite repeated letters informing the War Department that her son is alive Mrs. O'Malley his mother, is receiving death compensation every month from the Government.

O'Malley has been trying to re-enlist for weeks, but has been unable to do so because the War Department contends that he is dead.

He learned for the fourteenth time that he was dead when he applied to the recruiting officer recently for re-enlistment.

HUNS DOCILE AND CONTENT

SPARTACANS REALIZE THAT THE PROLETARIAT HAS LOST ITS POLITICAL ENERGY.

NOT REVOLUTIONARY ENOUGH

(Canadian Press.)

BERLIN, Aug. 29. — Complaints that German workers no longer possess revolutionary vigor, and that they cannot be induced to strike for any political aims, have featured the two days' confrence of 52 delegates of the extreme Independent Spartacan sections, who claim to represent the many thousands of workers.

The conference was held in Halle, for the purpose of discussing means to overthrow the Government and to foment a world revolution.

It was resolved to organise a central bureau at Halle, but the president of the conference himself admitted that it would be unwise to attempt to use force to overthrow the Government, because the German proletariat was not sufficiently revolutionary.

HOME AFTER LONG SERVICE OVERSEAS

Pte. Albert White of the 2nd Battalion, who returned home from overseas a few days is one of the last if not the last Peterboro member of the unit to get home. Pte. White had been overseas for five years enlisting here in August 1914 with the 57th Regiment quota. One brother Pte. Arthur White was killed in France and another Pte. Oliver White who was overseas with the 21st Battalion was invalided home from the front.

GEN. CURRIE IN TORONTO

COMMANDER OF CANADIAN CORPS FOLLOWS PRINCE OF WALES— WAS GIVEN A CORDIAL WELCOME.

SIR SAM NOT THERE

(Special to The Examiner.)

TORONTO, Aug. 29. — Amid the blowing of bands, cheers of thousands and singing of hundreds of children, Sir Arthur Currie, commander of the Canadian army in France, was welcomed to Toronto to-day like the conquering hero that he is.

There were two receptions for General Currie in Toronto to-day.

One was rather private and all unknown to the general public. It was at the Union station at 7.35. The other was of a public nature at North Toronto station an hour later. It had been planned to bring the Canadian commander in at North Toronto because of the much better facilities there for the crowd to see him. A reception at the Union station would have been positively dangerous.

But it was found impracticable to get a C.N.R. coach around by the North Toronto station, so when the train arrived at the Union there awaited two breakfastless officers, Brigadier-General Gunn and Lieut.-Col. Goodwin Gibson. Also present was that well known soldier, Major Alastair Fraser, M.C., who was Aide De Camp to Gen. Currie for some time in France, and who was twice badly wounded in battle.

Sir Sam Didn't Wait.

Still another noted soldier was at the station, but he was not with the little Reception committee. That one was Sir Sam Hughes, former Minister of Militia, who came up from Ottawa by the C.P.R. and arrived just a few minutes ahead of Sir Arthur. Needless to say, Sir Sam did not wait for the coming of General Currie.

When the train pulled in, Sir Arthur was not quite ready to alight, but the Union Station officials are not respectors of persons. The General had not a private car and the officials insisted on shunting the train on a way from the point where it stopped.

"Leave the General's car here for a few minutes," suggested General Gunn.

"We can't have the works tied up for General Currie or anybody else," replied the station official, but he finally relented and left the car for a few minutes while the Corps Commander gathered his things together and stepped out to be greeted by Gen. Gunn and Col. Gibson.

There was a warm and firm hand clasp between General Currie and his former aide when Sir Arthur caught sight of Major Fraser, who was in his kiltie uniform. Then the party walked through the station passageway to Station street, where the motor cars were waiting.

The party sped away in Gen. Gunn's car to the York Club, where they had a hasty breakfast, and then made their way to the North Toronto station.

Too Early For Tired Crowds.

It was too early for a great crowd to gather at the North Toronto station, particularly after the three days of cheering the Prince of Wales. But even at 8.30 there was a large gathering of men, women and children around the station, including many overseas men, some in uniform and [illegible] the General, but their two little children are at Strathroy in the care of the General's brother. Lady Currie was presented by Miss Church, sister of the Mayor, with a beautiful bouquet of roses.

The General was greeted on the station platform by a big array of officers and prominent citizens. Brigadier-General John A. Gunn, officer commanding this military district, was there, so was Brigadier-General Robert Rennie, Brigadier-General C. N. Mitchell, Col. McKendrick Col. "Bart" Rogers, Col. Fond, Sir Henry Pellatt and many others.

For a few minutes the General stood on the platform shaking hands with a small host of friends and acquaintances and surrendering to a besieging battery of movie men and photographers, professional and amateur. The movie men also insisted on having Lady Currie come out into the sunlight for their benefit.

Then the Corps Commander walked west to the stairway, accompanied by Gen. Gunn. The crowd was waiting in the big arena below. The school children's choir was formed up behind the guard of honour, made up of "originals," and the garrison band provided the music.

Ringing cheers from the veterans and the crowd and the children greeted the first appearance of the General at the stairway. He stopped to speak to the veterans, who were lined up on the platform and to shake each man's hand. Then as he was half way down the stairs, the originals came smartly to salute and the band struck up a march.

Guest of Sir Henry Pellatt

The large choir of assembled school children sang patriotic songs, after which General Currie drove away with Sir Henry Pellatt, at whose home he will be a guest while in the city.

HOW MANY HOURS A DAY

The perrennial question "How many hours a day should be devoted to work?" is the topic discussed by a writer in "The London Illustrated News," who affirms "that from the scientific point of view much is to be said for the further limitation of the hours of work." He also contends that the kind of work indulged in should more or less govern the number of hours to be spent at it. As he remarke:

"In monotonous or 'repetition' work, where the same manual operations have to be gone through over and over again, the attention of the keenest workman becomes dulled after a time, which varies with the individual; and thereafter, without any necessary consciousness of the fact on his part, the pace slackens or the work becomes less accurate. Hence, when rapidity of output had to be combined with scrupulous accuracy, as with the turning of shells during the last three or four years, it was found that better results could be obtained by employing three sifts of eight hours each than by working men or women, however willing, for spells of ten or more hours on end. Taking six working days in the week, and making no allowance for Saturday afternoon, this works out at forty-eight hours per week for each shift."

Citing occupation that could bear a longer working period without fatigue, the writer mentions woodcarving and painting, which could, he says:

"probably be carried on for a longer period than eight hours without actual physical fatigue supervening; because the constant, if slight, change of attitude and finger play necessary would prevent any one set of muscles and nerves from being exercised unduly, and, although this could not be repeated daily, the difficulty would arise from the giving out of the worker's imagination rather than of his muscles. Moreover, in such a case, the artist is buoyed up with the pleasure which attends the execution of all creative work, so as to feel fatigue less quickly than one who is merely repeating a mechanical process every minute."

On the other hand, occupations such as those of engine driver, motorman, tramcar driver, or craneman should not be for too long a period at a time—in fact, reasons this writer, "an eight-hour day would be impossible."

"To take an instance that will be familiar to most, no captain in his senses would dream of keeping a steerman at the wheel for eight hours at a stretch, except in some extraordinary and unforseen emergency."

Therefore the conclusion arrived at is that "no hard and fast line can be laid down for all trades, and that the hours of work which would be light for one would be excessively hard if always enforced for another."

JUST SO.

A benevolent old gentleman was walking throuhg the outskirts of a town, when a woman darted out into the road, unmercifully beating a little lad.

"My good woman," exclaimed the kindly one, as he seized the woman's arm to stop her, "you mustn't do that! What ham has he done?"

"What! I mustn't do that! What harm has he done?" she shriked. "If you would like to knok, he has opened the hen-roost ,and all the fowls have got away!"

"Well, if that's all, it's nothing so very dreadful. Chickens, you know, always go home to roost."

"Yes, that's just it!" said the woman, gloomily.

FOCH WARNS YOUTH.

Must Guard Precious Victory That Has Been Won.

PARIS, Aug. 28.— Like Robert E. Lee, Marshal Foch is deeply interested in the education of the youth of his land— an education along sane, patriotic lines. He is now on leave of absence and is staying at his country estate in Brittany. A few days ago he stopped at a college near his chateau and talked with the boys there.

"Marshal Foch, is Germany really crushed?" one of these lads asked him.

The Marshal ointed to a statue of Jesus Christ nearby.

"Suppose that statue was struck by lightning," he replied. "How would you set about repairing it? Would you firs tchisel out the features and the hands? Not at all. First, it would be necessary to reconstruct the pedestal.

"That applies to the downfall of Germany. My son, Germany is really beaten, but you and all your comrades must by good sense and hard work seek to guard the precious victory won for you by your elders through suffering and sacrifice."

THIEF GIVES HIMSELF UP.

Declares He Feared Innocent Man Might Suffer For Crime.

BUFFALO, N.Y., Aug. 23. — Declaring he was afraid an innocent man would be arrested for a theft of which he was guilty, Davis Dexter, 38 years old, of New York, gave himself up to the police here to-day.

Dexter said that he had been employed as a driver for the Mercantile Lunch Company, of New York and that about three weeks ago he stole $3235 from the company. After stealing the money Dexter said he was worried by the fear that a chauffeur who was in the room at the time of the theft, would be accused of it.

But there is no substitute for genuine "Bayer Tablets of Aspirin" which have been proved safe by millions for Pain, Headache, Toothache, Earache, Rheumatism, Lumbago, Colds, Grippe, Joint Pains, Neuritis.

Proper and safe directions are in every "Bayer" package.

POLITICS TANGLED IN AUSTRALIA, TOO

PREMIER HUGHES FACES PROBLEM SIMILAR TO CANADA'S.

London, Aug. 28.—Outlining the general situation in Australia which contronts Premier Hughes, the Sydney correspondent of the Times states that the Premier finds the political situation very uncertain. The mixed driving force which has been assembled for the necessities of the war has expended itself now and the Nationalists are displaying a decided desire to reconstitute themselves on new lines.

Already there is evidence in West Australia, South Australia, Victoria and New South Wales that the farmers and perhaps the returned soldiers will create new parties closely identified with the producing interests, while the employing class shows a strong disposition to revert to conservatism. At the same time the labor party has ejected from its ranks all known extremists who have been bent on forming a Soviet party.

As the State and also the Federal Parliaments approve proportional voting, future elections will possibly substantially alter the present representation of the Nationalists. Disintegrating influences are also markedly present in the State Legislatures.

Nevertheless Premier Hughes holds a commanding position in the Federal arena, and remains unchallenged, and in view of the fact of the breakdown of former Premier Watts through ill-health, the Premier is certain to remain in office until the elections. His party, however, contains disruptive elements, and may be compelled to seek a new alignment with the moderate Labor win, which, associated with advanced Liberals, would give him control of a new radical party.

Urgent Problems.

With the high cost of living, profiteering, heavy taxation, industrial strife, soldiers' grievances, tariff revision, Bolshevism and naval expansion as the urgent constitutional problems, coupled with friction with the States, and myriad reconstruction problems, Premier Hughes will have to satisfy a whole continent, which starts with the idea of getting all its wishes, and believes that he is to have many millions from the German indemnity to distribute.

His greater danger is profiteering, and unless he can scotch this evil, even his tremendous prestige may vanish in a single day. Premier Hughes will require to be a superman in order to survive the political strife which will accompany reconstruction.

MINERS' STRIKE COST NEARLY FORTY MILLION

Tie-Up in Yorkshire Proved Expensive to the British Industrial System.

LONDON.—The Yorkshire miners strike has been an expensive bit of business for the union as well as for people not directly connected with the dispute. The generally accepted figures are:

| | |
|---|---|
| Damages to mines.... ..... | $10,000,000 |
| Coal lost to industry.. .... | 15,000,000 |
| Losses to kindred industries... ..... | 12,500,000 |

The strike fund of the miners, amounting to $1,400,000 was exhausted with the payment of the fourth week's strike benefits. This fund, it was stated, had taken some 25 years to acumulate.

The local Government Board, it is stated, cut a lot of red tape, and with the sympathetic co-operation of the local relief authorities averted dire distress throughout the district. In some cases $2.50 a week was allowed every married woman, with $1.25 additional for every child. This money, with the strike benefit, averted, the authorities believe, a great deal of suffering.

THIN, FRAIL FOLKS NEED PHOSPHATE

Nothing Like Plain Bitro-Phosphate To Put on Firm, Healthy Flesh And to Increase Strength Vigor and Nerve Force

ations and treatments which are continually being advertised for the purpose of making thin people fleshy, developing arms, neck and bust and replacing ugly hollows and angles by the soft curved lines of health and beauty, there are evidently thousands of men and women who keenly feel their excessive thinness.

Thinness and weakness are often due to starved nerves. Our bodies need more phosphate than is contained in modern foods. Physicians claim there is nothing that will supply this deficiency so well as the organic phosphate known among druggists as bitrophosphate, which is inexpensive and is sold by McDermid & Jury in Peterboro and most all druggists under a guarantee of satisfaction or money back. By feeding the nerves directly and by supplying the body cells with the necessary phosphoric food elements, bitro-phosphate should produce a welcome transformation in the appearance; the increase in weight frequently being astonishing.

Increase in weight also carries with it a general improvement in the health. Nervousness, sleeplessness and lack of energy, which nearly always accompany excessive thinness, should soon disappear, dull eyes ought to brighten and pale cheeks glow with the bloom of perfect health.

Caution—Although Bitro-phosphate is unsurpassed for relieving nervousness, sleeplessness and general weakness, it should not, owing to its tendency to increase weight, be used by anyone who does not desire to put on flesh.

CONDUCTOR PAID OUT HUNDREDS

NOTHING HELPED HIM TILL HE TOOK TANLAC—GAINS TWENTY-TWO POUNDS.

"I have not only gotten rid of one of the worst cases of stomach trouble a man ever had, but I have also gained twenty-two pounds in weight besides, and you may know by that what I think of Tanlac," said Robert Surges, of 663 Herman Street, Buelington, Wisconsin, in a conversation with a special Tanlac representative at the Central Drug Store in Milwaukee, recently.

Mr. Surges, who is running as conductor on the East Troy and Burlington Electric Line, between Milwaukee and Burlington, had been with his company for many years.

"For the past thirteen years, that is until Tanlac straightened me up," he continued; "my stomach had been bloating all up with gas, and many a night I have been up walking the floor on account of the misery caused by it. Last winter I was in such a bad shape and so run down that it took me twenty minutes, after leaving my car, to walk home, a distance of only four blocks. I was dreadfully short-winded, and the gas pressure on my heart was frightful. I was very bilious, and had frequent dizzy spells, and terrible headaches. I couldn't sleep, was afraid to eat, and had dropped down fifty pounds in weight, and hardly had energy and strength to ring up the fares on my car.

"I have been treated by specialists, took all sorts of medicines, and paid out hundreds of dollars trying to get something to get me right, but nothing seemed to reach my trouble until I got hold of Tanlac, and this medicine has proven to be just what I have needed so long. I am never troubled with gas on my stomach, pains, shortness of breath or any other bad feelings after meals now, and I can sit down to the table and eat just anything and enjoy it. I sleep good and sound every night, and have gotten so strong and well that my work is no trouble to me any more. I am just like a new man, and have heard lots of people who ride my car remark about my wonderful improvement. Tanlac is great, and I have the best reasons for praising it."

Tanlac is sold in Peterborough by W. B. Warne Drug Co., Ltd.; in Havelock by A. C. Denike; in Lakefield by the Tanner Drug Co., Ltd.; in Fowlers Corners by W. A. Hunter; in Gelert by A. J. Scott; in Westwood by G. Pringle & Son.

150,000 BOSCHES BILLETED AMONG SILESIAN POLES

WASHINGTON. — Concerning the activities of Germans in Silesia, the text of a petition by Polish representatives of the district of Upper Silesia and forwarded to the Council of Four at Paris was received here today through official channels, it says in part:

"We have been obliged to send out of the country from 6,000 to 8,000 men and even women and children to prevent their being arrested and done to death in prisons and dungeons specially prepared for Poles arrested in Upper Silesia.

"Over 3,000 Poles, chiefly men, have been arrested for the sole reason that they were of Polish nationality and imprisoned under the most appalling conditions. There jailers taken from the Grenschutz and Reichstruppen have maltreated these unfortunate prisoners in a most horrible manner, beating them to death and giving no attention to the most terrible wounds for fear of their cruelty being discovered by doctors and recognized as worse than that of the Bolseviki.

"The wives and children of the Poles of Upper Silesia have been beaten by the Grenschutz soldiers during their search of Polish houses and everything possessed by these unhappy people—pigs, cows, money and valuables—has been stolen.

The Germans allow a band of over 500 Bolsheviki and robbers to scour the country and attack country estates, private persons, etc., and lay the blame for all the misdeeds of this band on the Polish people in order to turn against Poland those Germans who incline to side with the Poles.

"The German Government has brought from all parts of Germany over 150,000 soldiers who have been previously excited against the Poles and directed those of Upper Silesia, who are habitants of Upper Silesia, who are in the direct want of all necessities and are nearly desperate.

"The Polish educated classes, although hunted and suffering fearful persecution, are endeavoring to restrain the working classes from having recourse to desperate measures, but on account of the 1,750,000 of Poles in Lower Silesia and the 750,000 Germans in the western districts of Upper Silesia who are entirely on the side of the Poles and explosion is possible at any moment. Should this occur an appalling butchery such as has not been heard of in the history of the world will take place, for the German soldiers will fall upon the unarmed population, who will defend themselves to the last breath.

"We therefore appeal to the Council of Four for aid in the name of humanity and justice and request that they order the German troops and German Provost agents to leave Upper Silesia immediately, for they are mere bandits who have come there to kindle a vast blaze and to let loose a tempest.

DEFAULTERS PAY FINES

Kingston, Aug. 27.—Six of the Labelle County, Que., defaulters who were sentenced Friday to pay $250 and costs or three month in jail at hard labor have paid fines. They were very much surprised when they found out that they had to go back to Barrifield, as they were still soldiers and had to receive discharges.

Wash The Kidneys!

After Bad Colds or Influenza Look to Kidneys and Bladder!

Owing to bad colds, over-eating or intemperance, or to the after effects of influenza—uric acid and toxins (poisons) are stored up in the body and cause backache, lumbago, rheumatic pains and stiff joints.

It is most essential that treatment be directed towards prompt casting out of the poisons from the body which cause these pains and aches. This means that the excretory organs—(the bowels, skin and kidneys)—should be excited to their best efforts. Every one should clean house—internally [illegible] by taking castor oil or a pleasant laxative such as Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets, which are made of May-apple, aloes and jalap. Take these every other day. This will create efficient bowel action. If you suffer from backache, irritation of the bladder and the kidneys, shown by the frequent calls to get out of bed at night, considerable sediment in the water, brick-dust deposit, perhaps headache in the morning, you should obtain at the drug store "Anuric" (anuric acid), first put up by Dr. Pierce.

To build up the strength and improve [illegible] manufactured by Dr. Pierce to be had in tablets at drug stores, or some good herbal tonic such as Dr Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery made from wild roots and barks without alcohol, and put up in tablets or liquid.

COMMERCIAL FLYING

The announcement in another column of the engagement by the Ungava Fur and Trading Company of two Peterboro aviators to conduct an aerial transportation system between the trading posts in the far north and the markets at Montreal and Quebec, illustrates the vast studies that are being made in the flying game. The developments that may be expected from the use of aircraft in commercial enterprise are indicated not only by the adoption of the aerial method of transporting furs, but by the success of the New York-Toronto race, which the majority of the machines negotiated the round trip in record time and without mishaps. The advantage of the aerial sky-route for bringing furs and other products of the far north into the cities of Canada hardly needs to be pointed out. It is only necessary to contrast the old method of dog-train and canoe, a journey that required many weary days with the 1919 method of a swift flight in an aeroplane. The winged machines are wiping out distance, and their use for commercial purposes has only commenced. Peterboro people will be interested in learning that two of the city's airmen are to be among the pioneers in the new method.

TELLING THE FACTS

The decision of General Sir Arthur Currie to tell the people of Canada some plain facts of what the Canadian soldiers went through in France, and to impress upon Canadians the necessity of better treatment for the heroes of the war, will be applauded not only by the ex-service men themselves, but by the public. Coming from the man who was at the head of the Canadian army, General Currie's words will have an added weight and if he continues to preach the doctrine of a square deal for the men who have come back from over there, he will be doing an invaluable service to the men themselves and to Canada. Public gratitude is sometimes short-lived; the services of the soldiers are soon forgotten in some cases, and it is well for the Canadian people to be reminded of the record of the Canadian corps and of the hardships and suffering its members had to endure. No one can speak with more authority on such subjects than General Currie, and although he pleads he pleads he is not an orator, and that it is a real effort for him to make speeches, the friend of the soldiers will hope that he will not hesitate to lay before the people some of the history of the war.

A NEW PARK

Ald. Turner's suggestion that the city should expropriate the land south of the Hunter Street Bridge on the east side of the river for a public park, is one worthy of consideration. The property would include the present Riverside Park and would take in the ground between the park and Hunter street. One of the most beautiful athletic grounds in Canada could be established at this point, if the present park were enlarged by the addition of the property just south of the bridge. It would be possible to have facilities for many different sports, including a good running track, while at the south end of the grounds a public bathing place might be arranged. It could be arranged that while the park would be available for the public for the greater part of the time that there would be facilities for collecting an admission fee when matches are being played. Sports like baseball, lacrosse and football cannot be carried on without financial support and this would no doubt be taken into consideration if the matter reaches a definite stage. Ald. Turner's proposal should be carefully looked into—it offers possibilities that would mean much to the people of Peterboro. Practically all the waterfront in the city has been allowed to get into the hands of private firms and individuals. A park on the River would give Peterboro one civic beauty spot at least on the Otonabee.

A pocketbook for handkerchiefs with a lining that can be removed and washed has been invented by a European nurse.

MONDAY'S CELEBRATION

Citizens generally will unite in wishing for seasonable weather on Monday and for the splendid success for the demonstration of the Peterboro Trades Council, the first celebration of Labor Day in the city since before the war. Nothing is being left undone by the Committee in charge that would add to the enjoyment of the occasion. "It is with bright hopes and happy anticipation that we look forward to having Labor Day of 1919 go down in history as the greatest and most successful demonstration local Labor has ever held," announces the official programme and a glance at the twenty-eight pages of the programme augurs well for a realization of these hopes. The Committee have provided a long list of events. There are two baseball games, one of them in the morning, a parade representative of all the different trades unions, a baby show, athletic sports of all kinds, a concert by the 57th Band and in the evening a dance in the armories. There is no need of citizens going out of town on the holiday in search of entertainment when the local Trades Council has been successful in arranging such an attractive programme and the support of the public should be behind the Committee in their endeavor to make Labor Day, 1919, a memorable one.

THE POLITICAL SITUATION

Some months ago it was announced that a new party called the Unionist party had been born. The event was supposed to have occurred at a caucus of the Government's parliamentary supporters in Ottawa. Unfortunately the doors were tiled against the press and public, and many rumors at once got into circulation. Some of those present were quoted as saying that the baby was stillborn; others, no less credible witnesses, claimed to have heard the infant cry as Hon. Mr. Rowell clutched it frantically to his bosom. On the other hand, Dr. Charles Sheard, M. P. for South Toronto, and a medical man of repute, declared there had been no accouchement, but only a preliminary diagnosis.

Dr. Sheard now seems to have been vindicated, for the Ottawa correspondent of the Toronto Times says the baby was not born at the time and place alleged, but that its arrival is confidently expected early in September. This same authority, who, by the way, is pretty close to the Government, expresses some fear that the baby after all, may not be born alive, and proceeds to discuss what will happen next.

We are told that another caucus of the parliamentary supporters of the Government will be called shortly after the opening session. That at that caucus Sir Robert Borden will propose the formation of the new party and present its platform of principles. If the assembled parliamentarians do not fall in with the suggestion then we are told that the Liberal members of the Cabinet will throw up their portfolios, be succeeded by Conservatives, and Sir Robert Borden will appeal to the country as the head of a revived and rejuvinated Conservative party.

Just how Sir Robert Borden is to step from the premiership of a Union Government into the leadership of the Conservative party is not explained, and the Times' correspondent apparently sees some difficulty, for he closes his despatch by saying:

> If the caucus decides against a new Unionist party, a break-up of the Cabinet is likely. While Hon. J. A. Calder, Hon. N. W. Rowell, General Mewburn, and other Liberal Unionist ministers are prepared to merge with the Conservatives in the formation of a new party, they will not agree to step into the Conservative camp. Resignations would almost certainly follow. Sir Robert Borden would either have to [illegible] ministry or reorganize on [illegible] appeal to the country.

With affairs in such chaotic condition at Ottawa, we may expect Sir Henry Drayton to defer running for Parliament until he finds out whether he has joined a Unionist or a Conservative government. If the Government is to be Conservative he can go before the Conservative convention in North Toronto. If it is to be Unionist he will probably have to run against a Conservative candidate.—Toronto World.

"SEVEN DAYS' LEAVE" COMING WEDNESDAY

The big patroitic spectacle, "Seven Days Leave," which comes to the Grand Opera House on Wednesday. As the name implies, "Seven aDys' Leave" is a war play of the most pronounced gunpowder type, and it has proved so thoroughly within the psychology of the hour that it is now being played simultaneously with great success in London, South Africa, Australia, Canada and the United States.

"Seven Days' Leave" was written by Walter Howard, an English actor and takes its name from the term used in Britain for the furlough granted soldiers to run across the channel for a brief visit at home. The action of the play takes place within the seven days of the usual soldier's leave and has as its locale rural England and the sea coast and channel.

The leading character is a young major in the British army, and the big scene of the third act is on the gun-deck of an American cruiser, which destroys the nemy U-boat.

Aside from the mass of intrigue woven by a swarm of spies which holds the audience in continuous suspense and the thrilling sensationalism, "Seven Days' Leave" boasts of a strong appeal through heart interest as well as a strong comedy vein. Even the management is true to the atmosphere of being in the hands of Robert Campbell a son of the late Bartley Campbell who gave to the stage "The Galley Slave," "The White Slave," "Siberia" and a long line of plays of the bombastic type whose influence contributed largely to the popularity of melodrama.

The story of "Seven Days' Leave" deals with the efforts of German spies to steal the plans of a submarine detector invented by the young officer. The English heroine and a charming emissary of the Kaiser match wits throughout the action and finally engage in a desperate swimming race to a buoy far out at sea from which the latter seeks to signal a German submarine, but is thwarted by the heroine. This sensational scene, which furnishes a consistent excuse for the appearance of two beautiful women in one-piece bathing suits and an alarming display of pulchritude, was the talk of New York. After the destruction of the submarine, the final scene carries the spectators to a quiet English churchyard, where a troop of soldiers are seen at the dedication of a shrine from which they march to embark for France.

BARBARA'S FATHER AND MOTHER COME TO VISIT

CHAPTER LIII.

In all the years we had been married, mother had visited us only once. So my delight can be imagined when I received a letter from her saying she and father would come and stay two weeks with us. That was so like mother—setting the time herself, and adhering strictly to it. She never wanted to interfere with anyone's plans.

I was in a perfect flutter of delight I was so anxious for them to see baby, so pleased that they would know how far more prosperous we were than when they visited us before, when we had been married but a couple of years, and lived in the smaller apartment.

"I'll give them just the very best time they ever had," I said to myself as I gave orders as to their comfort while with us.

I did many little things to the guest room to make it more homelike for mother. It was so much more elegant than anything to which she was accustomed. I was afraid it would make her feel just a little—out-of-place. So I added some "homey" touches — a sewing basket, a bible with good large print so it would not strain her eyes, a couple of copies of her favorite magazine, a footstool she had spoken of as being so comfortable on her previous visit; and, the morning she was expected I decked the room with some old-fashioned flowers such as we had at home in the garden. I remember that one of the maids said to me:

"Oh, why didn't you get roses or something?" And rather looked down on my kitchen-garden bouquet

Father and mother arrived when they said they would. I had persuaded Neil to go with me to meet them.

"Do plan to be at home to your meals while they are here," I said to him while we waited for the train.

"I certainly shall do so as far as I can. But business is business. I can't neglect it even for them."

"I don't expect you to," I was a little piqued at his answer, "but be at home as much as possible. They will stay only two weeks. Surely you can make your plans to be with us?"

Neil made no answer. Just then he had spied them, as they left the train, and had rushed forward to meet them.

I was so happy to see them, so glad they they had come, that I forgot all about our conversation, and that Neil had made me no promise to remain at home while father and mother were with us.

It makes my heart beat faster even yet, when I think of the fuss they made over little Robert. If I had thought him the nicest baby in the world before, I was sure of it now. Mother could scarcely bear him out of her arms, altho his nurse—one with all the new ideas of how baby should be raised—frowned and shook her head behind mother's back.

"It won't hurt him to be cuddled a little," mother said when I told her. "I feel sorry for babies nowadays. They are put down and not held. They get very little real, old fashioned tending. Poor dears."

"But it is better for the babies.

"I don't care if they do. It doesn't hurt the mother or the baby either to be natural. And it isn't natural to have a baby in the house and not cuddle it."

I took father and mother out in the car every morning. They were astonished at the style in which we now lived. And several times I saw mother look as if she were not wholly pleased. But she said nothing—not until the night before she left. Neil had been out several nights to dinner, and when I had found fault, he had been inclined to act impatient. He had also come in long after they had retired.

"I should rather have a little less, daughter, and have more of my husband's society," mother said as I was helping her pack up, the night before she left us.

"It isn't that, mother. I scarcely think I can make you understand. But Neil is a very big business man—has big deals which depend upon him for their success. He cannot help staying out when these men are in town.

Father, who had been sitting by, watching us, now broke in:

"I haven't said anything, Bab, but, my dear daughter, I am afraid for you and Neil." Then he said something under his breath which sounded like "a house of cards."

FEW FOLKS HAVE GRAY HAIR NOW

Druggist Says Ladies Are Using Recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur.

Hair that loses its colour and lustre, or when it fades, turns gray, dull and lifeless, is caused by a lack of sulphur in the hair. Our grandmother made up a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur to keep her locks dark and beautiful, and thousands of women and men who value that even colour, that beautiful dark shade of hair which is so attractive, use only this old-time recipe.

Nowadays we get this famous mixture improved by the addition of other ingredients by asking at any drug store for a 50-cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," which darkens the hair so naturally, so evenly, that nobody can possibly tell it has been applied. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small stand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also brings back the gloss and lustre and gives it an appearance of abundance.

Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is a delightful toilet requisite to impart colour and a youthful appearance to the hair. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease

"TEN MILLION DOLLAR" PREACHER IS IN PETERBORO ON A VISIT

REV. DAVID S. KIDD BYRNE IN THE CITY IN THE INTERESTS OF THE SCRIVEN MEMORIAL—WORKING ON PROJECT.

Rev. David S. K. Byrne, the "Ten Million Dollar Preacher," is in town, registered at the Munro House. Mr. Byrne is here in the interests of the Scriven Memorial. He has interviewed the Rev. J. R. Webb, with reference to interesting the local Ministerial Association and the people of the city in erecting a memorial to the late Joseph Scriven in this city.

It is intended to erect memorials here, in Port Hope and in the Sackville District. The Port Hope Ministerial Association is already interested and Mr. Byrne desires the cooperation of the Port Hope and Peterboro Associations. Anyone who is interested may see Mr. Byrne at the Munro House.

He considers the Scriven Memorial a matter of moment to the people of this district. The late Mr. Scriven, who was a resident of Port Hope, was the author of several hymns, among them "What a Friend We Have in Jesus." He was a philanthropist in every sense of the word and gave away a fortune of $300,000 to the poor and needy of the Port Hope and Peterboro district. He died in 1886.

The Rev. Mr. Byrne's life story resembles an extract from a novel. Mr. Byrne was born at Bewdley under the name of David S. Kidd. In 1907, however, he rescued Miss Lucy Byrne, daughter of the late Chicago multimillionaire from white slavery, and as a result was adopted by Mr. Byrne. The daughter died later and after her father's death, the Rev. Mr. Byrne was made sole heir of the vast Byrne estate by his foster father's death. The will was approbated in 1907 and Mr. Byrne is now on his way to Toronto to settle the estate.

He has dedicated his life to the rescue of outcasts of society and has founded a mission at 319 University avenue, Montreal. In the past eighteen months he has rescued three hundred girls between the ages of 14 and 16 years from white slavery. It is his purpose to establish such missions in New York, Chicago, Detroit and Toronto. The Rev. Mr. Byrne is also pastor of the Church Workers' Congregational Church of Montreal.

He has been at the Kawartha Lakes for the past few days, accompanied by his wife, a cousin of the late Pastor Hamilton, and is now on his way to Toronto via Port Hope, where he will likely speak on Sunday evening.

Real Wonder-Worker For Wrinkled Faces

Those who have tried all sorts of so-called "wrinkle-removers", in a vain effort to lose those unwelcome traces of age, illness or worry, can scarcely find words to express their delight with the wonderful saxolite formula, once they have given it a trial. The success of this method is due not alone to its marvelous effectiveness—upon the deepest lines and crowsfeet, as well as upon the very fine ones—but also to its surprisingly quick action and its entire harmlessness. Its simplicity and its inexpensiveness are other commendable features, for one need only dissolve an ounce of powdered saxolite in a half pint of witch hazel, and bathe the face in this solution. At once a remarkable transformation is behld.

It is not only the effect on wrinkles and creases that is so noticeable, but facial contour is remarkably improved and the face looks much younger. One should be sure to ask the druggist for the powdered saxolite. The [illegible] is very grateful to tired, perspiry faces.

OPPOSE CONTRACT SYSTEM

Guelph, Aug. 27.—The local Trades and Labor Council is opposed to the contract system of letting out rural mail routes and will present a resolution to Ottawa calling for the abolution of the contract system, and that instead a rate of sixty cents a mile per annum with permanency of position be guaranteed so long as the service is satisfactory, and that it be made retroactive from 1917. There is a clause in the resolution asking the Government fair-wage officer to investigate the present system, which it is claimed is most unfair.

FLU TO RETURN BUT MAY NOT BE DEADLY

Fraternal Congress at the Hotel Statler yesterday, that an epidemic of influenza would sweep the country this winter. Dr. W. A. Evans, former Health Commissioner of Chicago, confidently asserted that deaths from the disease would not materially increase the general death rate of the country, and there was every reason to believe that in the course of a few years influenza and other diseases of the respiratial tract would be brought as completely under the control of science as, at present, are typhoid and scarlet fevers and others bacterial diseases.

Dr. Evans based his belief that influenza would return this winter on statistics that showed how the disease had continued in a constantly lessening degree for several years after the epidemic in 1890.

In reveiwing the spread of the great influenza epidemic of last winter, Dr. Evans said that while the disease was mostly contracted by persons under thirty years of age, only about one half of the persons in the country under that age were susceptible to the disease and because of that fact—because the disease had practically burned out the return inside of 30shrdlushdrlu the susceptible material—it could not return inside of 30 years to do any very great amount of damage. Before the expiration of that period medical research will find an absolute preventive, the speaker believed.

MASSACRE OF ARMENIANS WILL FOLLOW DEPARTURE OF ALLIES

PARIS, Aug. 28.—British troops began leaving the Caucasus region on August 15, and will all be out of districts where they have been protecting Armenians before September 15, David Arnold, of Providence, R.I., managing director of the American committee for relief in the Near East said to-day upon his return to Paris from London. While at the British capital he interviewed Count Peri, Under Secretary of War, who told him it was impossible for the British to retain troops in Armenia unless the United States should give assurance she would send troops to relieve them within two or three months.

Mr. Arnold, who left Constantinople three weeks ago, says it is imperative that Turkey, both European and Asiatic, should be policed by foreign troops before any actual partition of the country takes place. He says if this is not done there will be wholesale massacres.

"For humane reasons," Mr. Arnold said: "the United States should accept the mandate for all Turkey. I believe 100,000 Americans could police both European and Asiatic Turkey and keep the country in order for two years, or until local conditions are stabilized. From 400,000 to 500,000 Armenians now in Russian Armenia will undoubtedly starve or be killed if the British leave without other foreigners entering to act as a police force, as Armenia is being oppressed equally by the Georgians, Turks, Tartars and Kurds. They hem in the Armenians on all sides and persecute them, not allowing food to reach them."

J. H. BURNHAM SAYS UNIONISM IS NOW A PRETENSE.

OTTAWA, Aug. 28.—Mr. J. H. Burnham, M.P., for West Peterboro, announced today that in the coming session of the commons, he will be found in the cross benches, the parliamentary No Man's Land where sat last session Dr Michael Clark and Hon. W. S. Fielding.

Mr. Burnham states: "I was elected as a unionist 'for the period of the war' and I will not betray those Liberals who trusted me by continuing the pretence of unionism beyond the period agreed upon. That, in my opinion, would be bringing Canadian politics to the lowest point yet reached in Canada's history. I am for keeping faith above all things."

MUSIC AND DRAMA

AT THE GRAND.

At the Grand the week end programme for to-night and to-morrow is especially attractive, and the first performance last evening drew a capacity house. In "Outlaw," Francis X. Bushman and Beverly Bayne delighted the audience with their clever delineation of the characters they portrayed, those of a county sheriff and a village girl who are much in love with one another, but kept apart by the aspirations of the girl's mother to have her marry money. The story, which is told in a comic manner, is replete with thrilling situations and ends in a blissfully happy way.

Tuesday is undoubtedly one of the biggest hits ever presented at the Grand Theatre.

Board of Education May Try This Out.

HAMILTON, August 26.—Members of the board of education to-day expressed themselves as greatly interested in the suggestion of the secretary of the board, R. H. Foster, that the eyes of the pupils in the public schools should be tested as well as a survey of their teeth made The matter will probably be discussed at the next meeting of the internal management committee. The trustees agreed that any children go through public school with eye troubles that become serious in after life which could easily be remedied by glasses during the early years of school life. It is admitted by the members that the expense would be heavy, but they believe that possibly it would be justifiable.

Evicted From Home, New Yorker Had to House Wife and Children in Wagon.

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—For more than a month Carmine Castellano, his wife and their two children, Frank and Thomas, 5 and 2 years' old, respectively have been living in a dump cart with which the head of the family earns his living, it has been learned through Mrs. Castellano's appeal to the Mayor's Rent Profiteering Committee of Newark, N.J.

For a failure to pay rent the Castellanos were evicted late in July, and since that time the mother and her two boys have slept in the cart with an old blanket for protection. The head of the family has been obliged to sleep in the stable.

After a month of such life Mrs. Castellano became ill last Sunday. The children also were sick. Mrs. Castellano's mother heard of this and sent for her, and since then Mrs. Castellano and the two children have been sharing a three-room apartment with fifteen other persons.

ON COAL DEPENDS ECONOMIC FUTURE OF CENTRAL EUROPE

ENGLAND'S SCARCITY MAY IMPAIR HER FOREIGN TRADE—EVEN POLITICAL AFFAIRS MAY HINGE ON COAL.

WASHINGTON.—Coal and shipping men here to-day united in the statement that coal has succeeded food as the primary factor upon which the economic and, perhaps, the political future of Europe immediately depends. They say Herbert Hoover did not underestimate the gravity of the situation in his cabled remarks of to-day on the coal situation in Central Europe; that, rather, he touched only one phase of the subject.

So great is the need in all Europe for coal that a high government official said to-day that he would not be surprised if President Wilson should use his war power control of the emergency fleet to divert a large part of its tonnage to carrying coal to Europe. France, Italy Holland, Denmark, the Scandinavian countries, as well as the Central Powers are in need of coal to a degree that cannot be appreciated in this country, Austrtalia, and even England, trying to obtain coal from the United States. Rome and Paris are being supplied with gas made from American coal, and South American railways are running on it.

England in Bad Way.

On account of decreased production England is able to supply to the countries that formerly depended on her only a fraction of the coal they require. She is hard put to it to keep her bunkers supplied around the world. As her shipping prosperity depends on fuelling her merchant marine, the supplying of the bunkers is her first consideration.,,

The next consideration with England is to send coal to coalless South America in return for her immense purchases of foodstuffs there.

What she can spare is going to the continent of Europe, but it is only a drop in the bucket compared with the requirements.

The United States is the only country in the world that has coal for export in any considerable volume, but this source is limited by the shortage of ocean shipping and by the available supply of the best grades of gas and steam coal, which, on account of the enormous freight rates European buyers insist on having. The average freight rate on coal to European ports is $25 a ton, as compared with the cost of about $5.50 at the water.

As Builder Of Trade.

There is a strong tendency to send surplus coal to South America rather than to Europe, as it can be used as a powerful instrumentality in building up American trade in that part of the world. The cold business view of the situation prompts American exporters to take advantage of the situation and instead of sending coal to Europe where it is bitterly needed, send it to South America, which can no longer get coal from England. The lack of coal, therefore, is not only causing England great concern at home and for her neighbors, in Europe, but is likely seriously to impair her foreign trade.

It is estimated that there are now 4,000,000 deadweight tons of shipping, American and foreign, engaged in the coal trade between the United States and foreign countries. Of this amount about 1,000,000 tons is contributed by the Shipipng Board fleet, the wooden ships being conspicuous in this trade. Even this great fleet, however, is not able to carry anywhere near as much coal as is needed, because of the great length of time required to make a round trip, which averages about seventy-five days, so that it takes two months and a half to get 4,000,000 tons across the ocean with the whole coal fleet steadily in service.

If the United States should divert any more ships to the coal trade, it would seriously interfere with generalcommerce, which already, for other causes, begins to show a tendency to decline. The world is still short of ships. But it is believed that the country's oft-tried international altruism will soon be put to the test of another sacrifice for the benefit of the old world. It will not be asked to appropriate money to buy coal for Europe, as it was to buy food last winter, but it probably will be asked to divert hundreds of ships from more profitable and, commercially, more beneficial uses.

Europe, roughly speaking, now has food enough, but lacks the coal with which to transoort it and to give the employment, with the wages of which it may be purchased; so that her food problem is still unsolved. American coal is declared to be the only solution.

FEW KNOW DAME NATURE

MANY PERSONS PROFESS TO LOVE HER WHO HAVE NEVER

A great many people profess an affection for Nature who have never met the dame and know nothing about her or her ways. Most of our lives are spent in looking at the procession. Take it away and the zest of living is gone. The average individual wants to see something going on, but it must be the human "go on"—the external and eternal stimulation afforded by the march of events. Anything else is stagnation. Sick people like nature—bound in cloth. Their taste calls for formed gardens and shaven lawns. They call it "going to the country" to ride muffled in veils, in an auto on a concrete road at thirty miles an hour. A young woman, taken into Oakland County's lake region for the first time, was asked "Wasn't the country lovely?" The reply was "I presume so, but I didn't see it we went so fast."

To those accustomed to city noise and bustle, three days of country quiet develops homesickness. A lamentable lack of mental resources, when thrown upon themselves, comes to view. A very short shelf would hold all the books writen these days by men who live what they write. Who writes of nature and describes country life is a Pharisee. The real nature lover is as rare as men like John Burroughs and Enos Mills. Country people do not appreciate their environment, otherwise they would not be so ready to give up the plenty and privacy of the home acres for a thirty-foot lot and a dinky porch on a village street and a daily trip to the store for two quarts of potatoes and a box of berries. Farmers are great despoilers of beauty. A tree is cut because its roots exhause the soil; they choose a shadeless site for the new house, and perhaps plant trees awaiting their growth, when well-grown forest trees are reasonably near. Trees along the highway are trimmed to resemble feather dusters, and all low-growing bushes uprooted as unsightly— automobile people like it that way. Should immortality brings immigrants from all over the universe into another plane of existence—say the "twentieth"—if asked what the world we came from was like most of us could only speak of sidewalks, brick canyons, and automobiles.

For a day's real country pleasure—if you like that sort of thing—lock the car in the garage, find it possible that absolute vehicle known as a phaeton, coerce a not too ambitious nag into the traces and go forth to explore. Turn from main traveled roads down the first shaded, lonely way that invites, and note Nature' unstudied beauty. See how she garlands a fence with bittersweets, festoons a young tree with a wild grape vine, or fringes a marsh with rose mallows. The homely but picturesque rail fence, the squirrel's highway and haunt of bush and bird has been replaced by a more modern substitute, but the fields and hills beyond are the same. Samuel Johnston regarded one green field as like any other green field, but there is a difference to eyes that have real vision. Part of the joy of such a pilgrimage is the associations recalled; one landscape calls to mind others like it or in contrast. Recollections which Thoreau said were as 'intangible' and indescribable as the tints of morning and evening" are the true harvest of life.—Detroit Free Press.

MEN IN U. S. UNIFORMS RAID FAMOUS PARIS BAR.

PARIS — Six men wearingUnited State navy uniforms carried out a spectacular holdup last night in a bar room run by the famous French clown Footit, on Montaigne street.

The men entered the bar at eleven o'clock and five of them lined up the customers against the wall and searched their pockets. Meanwhile the other man rifled the till, taking from it in addition to 10,000 francs, Footit's watch and a diamond ring. Footit endeavored to defend his place against the marauders and broke a champagne bottle over the head of one of the men who, however, apparently was not injured.

Footit became famous through his appearance as a clown on the Adeon stage. He is well known to the patrons of all the Paris vaudeville houses.

BIG BOXING BOUTS FOR BROCK ST. RINK

Peterboro is to have a chance of seeing a good programme of boxing on Friday evening, September 12th in Brock street Rink. The main bout will be between young Cattle, formerly heavyweight corps champion of the C.E.F. and Kid Brompton of New York. Cattle is a former member of the 18th Battalion and in 1917 won the corps championship in France. He now has his eyes on the Canadian lightweight title and his here with Brompton, a well known New York lightweight will be a good test. In addition to the main bout here will be a good programme of preliminaries and an interesting night's sport is promised.

M'GRAW'S HOPES WERE WRECKED WHEN "SHUFFLIN' PHIL" QUIT

NEW YORK, Aug. 28—The untimely defection of Phil Douglas, upon whom John McGraw was counting in the ultimate dash down the homestretch, caps the melancholy climax for the Giants and practically wrecks whatever lingering chance they carried for the title.

Furthermore is gives McGraw's critics an opportunity to assert he was euchred in the deal by which he gave Davey Robertson for the big pitcher. It is assumed Fred Mitchell must have known when he traded Douglas whether or not Shufflin' Phil still was given to pastiming along the primrose trail.

But certainly McGraw is not to blame for Douglas' latest outbreak. The Giant leader gave him every opportunity to make good in New York, and if Douglas had grasped the chance instead of boosting it he doubtless would have been a fixture with the club next season. Now, however, he has been placed on the ineligible list and will be lucky indeed to get off.

That Douglas should have thrown down McGraw and his team mates at a time when every member of the club is fighting tooth and nail to keep the pennant race is to be regretted.

Although the Giants have fallen under hostile bombardment and have only a remote chance for the flag, the morale of the club is unshaken. Never has the team shown better spirit than today with the route black with disappointment. Fletcher has played every day with a lame leg—an exceptional display of sheer grit. Fred Toney has responded when called upon despite illness of morse than a month. But Douglas was the weak link and here came the break.

The case of Douglas is no state secret in baildom. This is not the first time he has frolicked along the guilded course. Cincinnati knew him as a member of the Reds as one of its most eccentric citizens. Brooklyn, too, found him in the hot water of more than one jam. Chicago, too, had cause for complaint, although it is a matter of record that Douglas had settled down somewhat when he joined the Cubs. For a time he pitched his so-called head off for Fred Mitchell.

When Shufflin' Phil joined the Giants he asserted he intended to put forth every effort to help McGraw land a pennant. He declared it had long been his abition to play with a championship club and requested McGraw to pitch him as frequently as possible. He did well enough when called upon, but showed nothing over which fandom could wax enthusiastic.

Last Friday when the Giants took the field Douglas was missing. McGraw scoured the dressing room and sent messages in quest of the straggler, but Phil was far, far away and up to a late hour last night managed to elude all pursuers.

McGraw is through with Douglas. Discipline must be enforced on the club now more than ever. The Giants are still in the fight for the flag and McGraw will permit no let up.

KITCHENER STAR GOES TO ST. KITTS

TORONTO, Aug. 28. — George Hiller, the clever little centre player of the Kitchener O. H. A. senior team, will not be with the former world's champions this winter. Hiller has moved to St. Catharines, where he is employed by a tire firm, and is not likely to play at all. Of course he is eligible to play with St. Catharines, as he has been there most of the season, but the Garden City has no team. He can play with the nearest town or village, and may be found with Welland or Niagara Falls in the Intermediate series. Parkes, Hainsworth, Hillman, Merrick, Karges, Trushinski and Lerous are still in Kitchener. The management of Kitchener expect young Clarke, a junior to make a place on the senior team. He is a good boy. Kitchener team will start to condition early in October with road and gymnasium work in order to be ready to step on the ice for the first game in the best of condition. This was not done last year, and, as ice was very scarce the players never really reached their form.

ONE OF THE FIRST TO ENLIST HE COMES HOME AMONG THE LAST

CORPORAL GASH SPENT 17 MONTHS IN FRANCE AND THREE YEARS IN MESOPOTAMIA—IN INDIA DURING AFGHAN UPRISING.

WOUNDED AND DECORATED

His many friends will be pleased to hear that Corp. A. Gash, R.A.S.C., has at last arrived at his home, 75 Smith street, after over five years' active service overseas. He was one of the first to leave in August, 1914, and one of the last to reach home wearing the red and four blue chevrons, also other decorations, one being the 1914 Mons Star Medal, which was struck as a decoration for all survivors of the first British Expeditionary Force as a memento of the fighting and hardships they endured in the retreat from Mons and the Battle of the Marne.

Corp. Gash was wounded and slightly gassed at the battle of Ypres whilst attached to the 3rd Lahore Division from India and thinks quite a lot o fthe fighting spirit of the Gurkas. Corp. Gash left with them after seventeen months in France for Mesopotamia with the relief for General Townsend at Kut. He went through the hardships of Mesopotamia in 1916, also in the advance on Bagdad, being wounded again at Sinniyatt, also contracting a heat stroke and enteric fever, but recovered in a few months and returned to his battery again in in the advance to Persia, and reached Baku in Persia.

He left for India on demobilization in March after three years and three months in Mesopotamia. On arriving there he was detained owing to the Afghan rising, arriving in England about the 20th of July, meeting his wife and daughter, who went to England to meet him after five years. They returned home to Canada together .Corp. Gash formerly worked for Matthews-Blackwell.

U.F.A. SMITEING HAND THAT HELPED THEM, SAYS DEWART

LIBERAL PARTY HAS CONSISTENTLY STOOD FOR POLICIES IN THE INTEREST OF FARMERS---SAYS MR. HALBERT IS AGITATING A SPECIAL CLASS PARTY.

LEFT HIS PROFESSION

(Special to The Examiner.)

FERGUS, Ont., Aug. 29. — "The farmers' organization, now known as the "U.F.O.," have risen up to smite the hand that helped them," declared Mr. Dewart, Liberal leader, at the Liberal convention here yesterday, "and so far as one of the gentlemen who talks for the farmers is concerned, he seems to be in it for his own profit. Mr. Halbert has talked about knocking any man off the U.F.O. platform, whether Liberal or Conservative, with his bare knuckles, unless nominated by the U.F.O. When he talks about the "slime of politics," we must consider who Mr. Halbert himself is. Is he a farmer sticking to his profession? The answer is, he is a farmer who has ceased farming, has bought a house in Uxbridge, and is now a paid agitator going up and down the country, creating unrest and dissension."

"Mr. Halbert is no more entitled to represent the staunch farmers of Ontario than is any other paid organizer, and I do not consider him the kind of genuine farmer who should represent a genuine farmers' movement. In the attack he is making on many Liberal members of the Legislature, he is opposing men who desire and have always shown their good will by their actions in the Legisuature."

Special Class Party.

"I speak strongly in this matter because there is a concerted attempt being made to organize a class party in the province which, in my opinion, is calculated to do more harm than good. You need all classes of men to represent the various interests of the community, and the Liberal party is endeavouring to see that representative men are chosen who will represent all the diverse elements.

"In that way has the U.F.O. got a real argument against the Liberal party?" asked Mr. Dewart. "They advocate that special legislation is required to conform to agricultural needs, but have not the Liberal party always advocated this?" Mr. Dewart here compared the attitude taken by the Liberau party with that taken by the Conservatives on purely agricultural problems. "The Liberal party," said he, "has stood consistently for a reclaiming programme which would repopulate the deserted farms of the province. Mr. Parliament, a Liberal member, seconded by Mr. Bowman, a member of the U.F.O. movement, moved a resolution at the last session of the Legislature, but no action was takn by the government of Sir William Hearst."

THE BOY SCOUTS VISIT TO TORONTO

BEST $200 ADVERTISEMENT THE CITY HAS HAD—THE STORY OF THE TRIP—BOYS ENJOYED EVERY MOMENT OF THE OUTING.

Sharp on time at 6 a.m. the C.P.R. platform was alive with Scouts, many of whom had been up at 4 a.m., on Wednesday morning last. The Boys were ordered to fall in in their own troops for roll-call. At 6.15 inspection of troops took place, and as neat and clean a bunch of boys as you would want to see were ready to do honour to His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales and Peterborough. The train entered on time, and the Scouts appeared on street, many for be remembered for years. On arrival at Toronto they were held up for 20 minutes while the secretary went to get street car tickets. Just then the Scouts appared on th street, many for the first time; and as usual Toronto had a good reception waiting for the Peterborough Scouts. Just as they were going to cross the street a horse shied on the street car line and blocked the traffic, which in five minutes was cleared by the help of the Boy Scouts of Peterborough. On arrival at the corner of Yonge Street to take the King Street car for the Exhibition it was found impossible to get a west entrance car and the Scoutmasters decided to take east entrance and march through the Exhibition grounds, which was done, although being held up for on hour through orders not being given the east end to admit the Scouts free. Once admitted we were pilotd through the then vast crowd of people to the west end, which was a good half-hour's march. "Clear the way. Let the Peterborough Boys through." "Here you, get out of the Boys' way." "Don't they march nice! What a nice lot of boys." These are some of the speeches which were heard as they marched with their Peterborough banners flying from their staves. On arrival at headquarters they were dismissed. Two or three boys were detailed off to get lunch boxes, in which was more than enough for the boys. After lunch the Scouts went down the ground till 1.30 p.m., when they were called for parade to the Grand Stand, at which they arrived at 2.30, and waited for the Prince, who arrived at 3 p.m.

Some of the Scouts said they did not see him, but that was chiefly because they could not distinguish His Royal Highness from the other officers, who were all on horseback. The formal inspection planned could not take place on account of the crowd The boys were dismissed at 3.30 until 7.30 to see what thy could of the Exhibition. What appeared to be the most exciting time of the day was the race against time to watch the train home. Many said they would not make it, but luck was with the Scouts, in spite of the fact that two of them were sick, and we arrived in Peterborough on time.

It was regretted that the Scouts going south had to walk home in the "wee sma' 'oors" of the morning, as there were only two or three cars to take any of the Scouts home—they went north and west. And so ends the day, never to be forgotten, and the best advertisement Peterborough ever got. It was said, coming home, that the only people in Toronto who did not hear of Peterborough were the ones in the cemetery. The following officers, to whom much credit is due for looking after the Scouts, had a busy time, and instead of a holiday, had a day of hard work, are as follows:

Scoutmasters C. Thornton, St. Andrews; C. Carte, St. James; V. Sedgwick, Ashburnham; H. Ashmore, Acting, Vimy; W. D. Tyrer, Vimy; and H. Blake, Sam's Own; with District Scoutmaster E. J. Whiteside in charge.

Th Scouts who went were as follows:

Sam's Own — Scouts McIntyre, Franks, Brown, J. Stratton, Mc-Mackness, Simmons, Willard Wilson, R. A. How, A. Patterson, Cowling, Peace, Jones, Lowden, Kellahy, Derrick, McFadden, Whitcroft, Read, R. J. Thomas, Turner, Crowley, Kennedy, Saunders.

Vimy—Scouts B. Collison, P. McInnes, N. Schwerer, H. Lundy, B. Cranfield, E. Preston, T. Smith, W. King, K. Shaddett, H. Cranfield, R. Lord, J. King, B. Bugg, H. McBride, B. Sims, J. Walton, G. Sukloff.

Ashburnham—Scouts T. Montgomery, F. Pullyblank, F. Nelson, W. Wyatt, O. Smith, A. Connors, E. Mowry, A. Champion, F. Mesley, S. Hamilton, Montgomry.

(Special to The Examiner.)

ROOSEVELT FIELD, Aug. 29. — Interest in the Air Derby quickened to-day when it was learned tha Lieut. Daniel B. Gish, who left here yesterday in a De Daviland 4, had a chance to beat the time of Lieut. H. W. Maynard, regarded as the possible winner. Gish's unofficial time to Toronto was 312 minutes. If he can do as well on the return he will have beaten Maynard's record. Officials at the field prepared a summary to-day showing that of the fifty-seven original entries, fifty-two actually started. Twenty-seven have finished the race, nine are expected to complete the return trip to-day, and six machines were disabled.

MRS. DOOLEY'S ADVICE TO WORKING GIRLS

Milwaukee, Wis.—"I wish all girls who work and suffer from functional disorders would profit by my advice and take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Before I was married, when I came home from work at night, I would be just worn out with pains which dragged me down. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it made me feel like a new woman. I can work from morning until night and it does not bother me, and I wish all girls who suffer as I did would try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. E. DOOLEY, 1286 25th Street, Milwaukee, Wis.

Working girls everywhere should profit by Mrs. Dooley's experience, and instead of dragging along from day to day with life a burden, give this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. It has overcome just such conditions for thousands of others, and why not for you? For special advice, write Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass. ## EX-SOLDIERS REFUSE DINNER

Owing to the refusal by local discharged and demobilized men to attend a dinner in their honor, the Guildford (England) Town Council has decided to abandon the dinner.

The men's refusal was a protest against the Town Council appointing as burough surveyor and engineer, Mr .Ernest Minors, deputy borough surveyor of Darlington. Of six applicants selected for interview, out of sixty seven, Mr. Minors, aged thirty-seven, was said to be the only one who had not served in the army.

The ex-soldiers declined to take part in the celebration "as a protest against the unwarrantable action of the local authority in deliberately passing over the ex-Service men. This action is a gross breach of the promise so often repeated that the men to whom its country owes its very existence to-day shall be remembered in future." It was also decided not to accept the mayor's signed thanks for their services.

IGNORANT OF FATE OF SUBMARINE BREMEN

LONDON, Aug. 27.— There is no truth in the report that the crew of the German commercial submarine Bremen was captured during the war and returned recently to Germany, according to official information given the correspondent to-day. It was added that the British admiralty has no knowledge concerning the fate of the Bremen, but that it is assumed the submarine foundered while endeavoring to cross the Atlantic.

Glass of Hot Water Before Breakfast a Splendid Habit

Open sluices of the system each morning and wash away the poisonous, stagnant matter.

Those of us who are accustomed to feel dull and heavy when we arise, foul tongue, nasty breath, sour stomach, lame back, can, instead, both look and feel as fresh as a daisy by washing the poisons, toxins from the body with phosphated hot water each morning.

We should drink, before breakfast, a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to flush from the stomach, liver, kidneys and ten yards of bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour bile and poisonous toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary tract before putting more food into the stomach.

The action of limestone phosphate and hot water on an empty stomach is wonderfully invigorating. It cleans out all the sour fermentations, gases, waste and acidity and gives one a splendid appetite for breakfast and it is said to be but a little while until the roses begin to appear in the cheeks. A quarter pound of limestone phosphate will cost very little at the drug store, but is sufficient to make anyone who is bothered with biliousness, constipation, stomach trouble or rheumatism a real enthusiast on the subject of internal sanitation. Try it and you are assured that you will look better and feel better in every way shortly.

PRINCE OF WALES "FED" UP ON FORMAL FUNCTIONS IN HIS TRIP

Quinn L. Martin, of the New York Herald, says the Prince of Wales has found the arrangements for his tour of Canada entirely opposed to his own idea of things and has declared he wishes to "meet the people and is going to meet the people. I am informed His Royal Highness has found that his daily programmes as at present carried out do not give him opportunity for putting into action the things he journeyed across the ocean to do, namely, to get at the inside life of Canadian people and live with them if only for a few hours or minutes at a time, and visit with them in their homes and at work.

It is intimated that he is "fed up" on formal and official procedure and proposes to take into his own hands the laying out of his daily schedules.

I found that the first radical change in his programme will be a trip to Montreal on September 2, after leaving Ottawa. Montreal originally had been left out of the prince's itinerary until his return in October from the West. In Montreal he will seek to get into direct touch with the people.

The next change is that instead of attending a certain meeting and party in Ottawa the latter part of this week, as his programme provided, he will hold an open and entirely public hand-shaking meeting with the people of all classes, devoting only a short time to formal affairs.

When the Prince's tour was arranged it was intended to have him jump from Ottawa September 1 directly to Winnipeg. Now, as the latest official report shows, he will not go direct to Winnipeg but will spend ten days in the coal mines and in the fishing and hunting country in North and West Ontario.

In some of the smaller towns he will leave the royal train and go down into the mines, having lunch with the workers and visiting in the homes of their families.

He proposes to go fishing for one day near Oba, and further west will angle along the little streams of that region, allowing and even inviting people to cast a hook alongside his own.

Whether the Prince of Wales has been entirely the cause of these big, and perhaps significant alterations, or whether they reflect the attitude of his father, the King, and his mother, the Queen, I do not know.

It is told to me that many minor changes in the time of train stops in small rural districts are sought by the Prince, and that many stops not scheduled will be made while the Prince chats with the village and farm residents.

These changes point to the fact that the Prince as he is quoted as saying, is determined to "meet the people," and has formed the opinion that his trip as arranged would result in cementing good will between the people of the Dominion and the mother country, to nearly the extent it would if otherwise handled. At least, he believes, I should say, that he can best serve the Crown and gain kind feeling more solidly by looking at the people rather than by having them look at him.

His very actions, it seems, warrant that impression. He often discards the solemn expression with which he enters a crowd, to smile and talk to the cheering thousands.

LABOUR TO FIGURE IN ONT. ELECTIONS

UNIONS TO TAKE TO POLITICAL FIELD IN SPITE OF A. F. OF L.

TORONTO, Aug. 27.—Labour expects to be a much bigger factor in the approaching Provincial elections than on former occasions. Hitherto the workers have followed party lines for the most part, and the comparatively small Labour vote was split up among various factions of workers. Through the medium of the Ontario branch of the Canadian Labour party it is hoped that a greater degree of co-operation between these factions will be secured and the strength of the working class vote be brought to bear in a telling way. The discontent with governing bodies generally, the unrest over high cost of living and the breaking up of party prejudices by war experiences, are counted on to make the Labour vote a real factor in the elections.

The secretary of the United Farmers of Ontario, J. J. Morrison, is a member of the executive of the Ontario section of the Canadian Labour party. In a number of ridings, the C.L.P. or the I.L.P. (the Independent Labour party), with which it is seeking co-operation, is backing the same candidate as is being supported by the U.F.O., notably in St. Catharines and North Oxford. Labour also will run its own candidate in the two Hamiltons, Niagara Falls, in probably three Toronto ridings and in many others. In this city it is expected that the arrangement will be that the Trades Unionists put a candidate in in a second riding, and the I.L.P. a candidate in the third.

Labour Against Prohibition.

The Canadian Labour party is not so extremely socialistic as the British Labour party, but its programme is understood to include the securing for the producers, by hand or by brain, "the full fruits of their industry and the most equitable distribution therefrom." On the basis with the U.F.O., it has turned against daylight saving. But it remains against the U.F.O plank for [illegible] yesterday, at a convention for the riding of East Simcoe, at which it was decided to run a candidate acceptable to the farmers, returned men and Labour, F. W. Foster, organizer for the new Labour party, said "The one plank in the farmers' platfor that Labour cannot endorse is its pronouncement in favour of the prohibtion of the liquor traffic."

The I.L.P. now has more than eighty branches, or 26 per cent. more than it had when its canidate almost won the St. Catharines by-election. H. J. Halford is the chairman of the Canadian Labour party in Ontario, and James Simpson is the secretary.

The U.F.O. had a bumper meeting in North Waterloo last night, and decided to put a candidate in the field within a week. The Labour men are anxious to co-operate.

A Liberal—U.F.O. Candidate.

While the United Farmers have shown many indications of their intention to oppose U.F.O. members who accept party nominations, both the Liberals and the U.F.O. are backing Peter Smith, of Stratford, who was first put in the field by the Liberals.

In East Elgin the U.F.O. have selected Sydney S. McDermand, of Lakeview, as their candidate for the Federal House. Recently he gave up the Liberal party nomination for the Legislature. Malcolm McVicar, Reeve of South Dorchester, was chosen as U.F.O. candidate for the Legislature. In yesterday's convention, Mr. McDermand said that "if the United Farmers ever start catering to party politics, I am through with them."

The railway carmen, the machinists unions, one of the plumbers and steamfitters' unions, and a boilermakers' local have decided to affiliate with the Canadian Labour party and pay a per capita assessment for election purposes. The American Federation of Labour has discouraged political activity.

More Talk of Conventions.

Colonel J. A. Currie, M.P., says a Nationali Conservative convention will be held this autumn. He said nothing about a Provincial convention, possibly being content to leave that to Billy Maclean. Back in 1911." W. F." did not have so much use for conventions — in fact, wouldn't go-near one.

The World suggests that if the Hearst Government is defeated or has a narrow escape, the Union Government at Ottawa, as such, will passout of existencee, and party lines be restored.

John Galbraith, who styles himself the Independent Conservative candidate for East York, writes to the press stating that "if Sir William Hearst wishes to do a kind thing for the Conservative party of Ontario, he should immediately hand his resignation as Premier to the Lieutenant-Governor."

FOUR ARE INJURED AT MONTREAL FIRE.

Firemens' Ladder Falls While Fighting Blaze at Lumber Yard.

MONTREAL, Aug. 26.—Four firemen were injured, one of them who is in a critical condition, in a fire which occurred early this morning in the lumber yards of J. P. Belladeau, at the corner of Ontario and Parthenais Streets.

The firemen then climbed into the lumber and tried to get at the flames which were in the middle of each pile. A ladder was placed on one of the piles, and as the four men mounted with their hose, the wood began to slip and fell with a crash.

The ladder fell on top of the lumber and the firemen were thrown in all directions. The chiefs and their men rushed into the place and soon had the victims rescued.

The blaze caused a damage roughly estimated at $25,000.

The Governors are: Gardiner, Missouri; Stewart, Montana; Cooper, South Carolina; Sproule, Pennsylvania; Milliken, Maine; Campbell, Arizona; and Burnquist, Minnesota.

GAS IN THE STOMACH IS DANGEROUS

Recommends Daily Use of Magnesia To Overcome Trouble. Caused by Fermenting Food and Apid Indigestion.

Gas and wind in the stomach accompanied by that full, bloated feeling after eating are almost certain evidence of the presence of excessive hydrochloric acid in the stomach, creating so-called "acid indigestion."

Acid stomachs are dangerous because too much acid irritates the delicate lining of the stomach, often leading to gastritis accompanied by serious stomach ulcers. Food ferments and sours, creating the distressing gas which distends the stomach and hampers the normal functions of the vital internal organs, often affecting the heart.

It is the worst of folly to neglect such a serious condition or to treat with ordinary digestive aids which have no neutralizing effect on the stomach acids. Instead get from any druggist a few ounces of Bisurated Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water right after eating. This will drive the gas, wind and bloat right out of the body, sweeten the stomach, neutralize the excess acid and prevent its formation and there is no sourness or pain. Bisurated Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk), is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and the best form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.

SUBMARINES TO STAY.

American Naval Officers Say Ruthlessness is Outweighed by Value

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—Abolition of the submarine as an instru[illegible] warfare does not seem probable to [illegible] officers who have given careful study to the arguments put forth before allied naval commissions investigating the subject, it was learned to-day. It is the belief of these officers that submarines will become more and more numerous in the principal navies of the world during the next few years.

The principal argument for abolition was that as long as the submarine were recognized as legitimate instruments of warfare there would remain the danger of some nation repeating the ruthless and inhuman campaign inaugurated by Germany. Advocates of the submarine, however, do not believe such past inhumanities should be the determining factor in deciding whether the submarine should be abolished.

The naval factions, both in this country and abroad, opposed to the abolition of the submarine believe that the factor of possible mercilessness of the undersea craft should not be separated from the equal and possibly worse horrors of gas warfare, bombing from the air, and [illegible] British during the war show that the losses of British merchant shipping through mines amounted to 6,377,000 [illegible] sunk by submarines.

The argument has been advanced that, despite the fact that the best inventive genius of several nations worked on the problem of devising means to wipe the submarine out of existence, the sub-surface craft remains the only long-radius vessel that, alone and unsupported, can go nearly anywhere and, entirely discounting its main purpose of torpedoing enemy warships, its unique defensive qualities make it a naval weapon of the utmost usefulness, even when restricted in its use against merchant shipping.

SAYS RUSSIA WILL WIN BACK TRADE IN 5 YEARS

RUSSIAN BUSINESS MAN HAS FAITH IN KOLCHACK'S ARMY--ENGLAND'S AID IS APPRECIATED IN SOUTH RUSSIA.

NEW YORK.—That Russia will retrieve her portion in the world's commerce within the next five years under a stable democratic government, was the opinion of S. S. Novosseloff, President of the Russian Tanners Association, which controls 1,000 leather factories in that country, who has just returned from a visit to Europe.

Tells of General Conditions.

In speaking upon general conditions abroad from information gleaned by him during his trip, Mr. Novosseloff said: "During the six weeks of my stay in London I endeavored to acquaint myself with the political and economical situation in Europe as well as with the status of my country.

I saw a great many people very well versed in political and economic questions. I have also seen the representatives of the Government of Kolchak and Denikin, and many Russian refugees who just escaped from Petrograd and Moscow, one of them left Petrograd in July.

"I am very optimistic regarding the developments in Russia in the very near future. I have been informed by very good sources and have every reason to believe that Russia will be in the very near future freed from the Bolshevist yoke. The overwhelming mass of the population from the forest peasant to the poorest worker starving and idle, to the unmurdered remnant of the middle and educated classes will rise sooner or later in utter desperation against the bloody tyranny of the crew of wicked people coupled with criminals and murderers.

"The terrible tales of refugees have personally seen and who are most reliable are so dreadful that it is almost impossible to reproduce. The hideous massacres and tortures which Lenine and Trotzsky's Chinese and Lettish mercenaries are perpetuating

Sees People Tiring of Bolshevism.

"I saw General Dragonilroff, the assistant of General Denikin. The struggle which was started by Generals Alexieff, Kornilloff and Denikin against the Bolshevist hordes in the south of Russia seemed at first hopeless, but those who were strong, bold and devoted to Russia managed to preserve the Russian army, and in spite of all obstacles, being short of guns and ammunitions, it continues to free from Bolsheviki almost all of the southeast of Russia, and are victoriously advancing toward Moscow.

"The population, completely exhausted and tired of the Bolshevik rule, is greeting the volunteer army everywhere as savior and does everything to help it. The Bolshevik army, abundantly supplied with ammunition, still strong, the officers of this army, whose families are taken as hostages, dare not abandon the Bolshevik cause, and it is possible there can be some reverses for the Denikin army. However, I am confident that sooner or later this army will have Moscow, and thus finish the Bolshevik tyranny.

"England's name stands unequaled throughout the territory of General Denikin because the south of Russia has come to the conclusion that England is the only nation that is prepared to help them. In fact the English people are doing everything they can in order to relieve their loyal allies from the horrible sufferings which they have stood. The English view of Russia is a very optimistic one. They think that there is reason to hope for a quick recovery of the country because they are aware and they understand her enormous recuperative power.

"The English people also realize the most important role which Russia has got to play in the world's life, and this point of view is very clearly expressed by Lord Churchill, whose most interested and talented speech I had pleasure of hearing at the Russian British Club in London and who said that if Russia will not be saved by the League of Nations, the League of Nations will be destroyed herself.

"Coming to the question of trade relations between Russia and England, I must say that the English people show themselves most progressive and, to me, it does seem to me that the American business circles will still up to the policy of wait and see England will become the middle man between America and my country.

There are in London very big concerns that are sending enormous quantities of goods to the south of Russia on a credit basis. There are two credits that opened to the Denikin Government representatives in London for the supplying of the Government.

A financial plan is also being organized for arranging of big loans for Russia under guarantee of Russian business people living in London and Paris.

Help for Russian Business.

The British Government on their side is doing everything possible to help the business circles to secure close trade relations between England and Russia.

"Among several measures of this kind it is well to show the facilities which are now to industries and merchants sending their goods to Russia, in relation to insurance. The Government has undertaken the insurance of all goods which are shipped to the ports of Russia against any risk during the shipment as well as during their storage in Russia.

"I would like to say that the British people are most sympathetic toward Russian refugees and also toward Russian officers who are now being freed from German prisons. One can hardly imagine with what devotion, love and kindness those poor people are treated in England. There are many charity institutions to help the people, but the most helpful and successful of them is the work of prominent English ladies. Lady Paterton and Lady George Buchanan, each of whom have established institutions in London under the guidance and who are devoting themselves completely to this noble cause.

Mr. Novosseloff speaks English fluently and has travelled all over the United States.

GERMANY IS FACING A COALLESS WINTER

COAL FAMINE IS UNAVOIDABLE AND THREATENS TO CAUSE SUFFERING

Berlin, Aug. 28.—That any possibility of averting a coalless winter is regarded as a forlorn hope is indicated by reports received from the Silesian and Ruhr coal fields, the action taken by municipalities in many sections of the country and the restrictive measures agreed upon by the coal commission, which promises as much light and warmth as the winter moon.

Greater Berlin was informed to-day that it would be permitted to indulge in the luxury of a hot bath on the first and third friday of each month. Kitchen ranges will not be permitted to operate between the hours of 8 and 11.30 a.m., and 2 and 7 p.m. The use of bathroom ovens and of all emergency heating devices consuming coke briquettes is also prohibited.

The first warning emanating from the workers and addressed to the Government by the labor union at Bochum, urging the addition of severest measures to curtail the needless consumption of coal advises the Government to restrict show window illumination by the early closing of shops and by shutting down places of entertainment and amusement long before midnight.

Threatens Suppression.

Gustav Noske, secretary of military affairs, has threatened to suppress the newspaper Freiheit if it persists in making what he alleges are false charges against the Government.

The threat was occasioned by a full page appeal printed in the Freiheit addressed to the Revolutionary Proletariat. It charged that the Government was waging "bloody war on the Upper Silesian workers" and fostering counter revolution.

To-day the Freiheit, as a result of Noske's threat, adopted a less violent tone in its utterances dealing with the Government. It describes, however, that four meetings which were held Tuesday night were attended by 100,000 workmen as a protest against progroms, militarism and counter-revolutions.

It says the Russians adopted a call upon the workers to gather around the independent banner of the revolutionary socialists.

pleted and made public to-day, it was said at the White House.

The date of departure from Washington is uncertain, but it will be within ten days if the President can carry out his wishes.

Cities tentatively included in the itinerary are Helena, Billings, Bismarck, Cincinnati, St. Paul, Minneapolis, Reno, Los Angeles, and Atlanta. A speech at San Francisco is assured.

BETRAYED EDITH CARVELL GOT MANY OTHERS INTO TROUBLE

PARIS, Aug. 27.—Georges Gaston Quien, on trial here, charged with communicating military information to the enemy, and having collected evidence against Edith Cavell, the English nurse who was executed by the Germans in October, 1915, was questioned by the court to-day relative to his movements in June and July, 1915.

At yesterday's session of the court, Quien traced his journey from St. Quentin to Brussels, where he arrived on June 9. After reaching the Belgian capital, Quien decided to cross the frontier into Holland. This he succeeded in doing, presenting himself at The Hague ot the French military attache, who sent him back into Belgium.

Arrested by Germans

He said to-day that he re-entered Belgium on the night of June 23, in company with one Van der Smissen. The next day he was arrested by the Germans, who accused him of travelling without a passport, and was imprisoned in Antwerp until late in July. This testimony was questioned by the colonel acting as president of the court, who said it was "strange no trace of his imprisonment could be found at Antwerp, and that the Germans later permitted Quien to go to Brussels."

Saw Edith Cavell

The accused man admitted having seen Miss Cavell on July 2, after he had visited the home of a Madame Bodart, at which time he said that a certain Jean Maes, who, he said, was a fellow-prisoner in Antwerp, accosted him in the street. There was read into the record a statement showing that Maes was a "suspicious character," and that he was known to have been in the pay of the Germans, being employed by German police at Brussels.

Madame Bodart gave Quien a package to be left at the home of a Madame Machiel. Quien denied that he had examined its contents, although during his preliminary examination he admitted he knew it contained annotated road maps for the use of persons attempting to escape from the country. It was pointed out by the prosecution today that one of these maps, which only Quien could have obtained, was the chief evidence against Madame Bodart, and brought about her condemnation before a German court-martial. Explaining his discrepancy in his story, Quien said he was suffering from loss of memory.

Got into Trouble.

The president of the court pointed out during the hearing that almost every one with whom Quien came in contact was immediately placed under arrest or condened by the Germans. Among those mentioned by the president was Father Bonsteels, who, believing Quien was honestly aiding allied soldiers to escape, gave him a railroad map which showed the latest German modifications. Father Bonsteels was soon after arested and sentenced to 12 imprisonment.

It was declared that Quien had asked a Madame Van Damme to aid two young persons to escape, and that these two were directed to the frontier by Madame Van Damme, who sent another lady with them as a guide. The three were arrested, and Madame Van Damme was also thrown into jail by the Germans, at their trials, all four were condemned.

SAYS POLITICIANS ARE MISTAKEN

PEOPLE ARE RESPONSIBLE FOR THE FARMERS' MOVEMENT, SAYS MORRISON.

(Special to the Examiner.)

TORONTO, Aug. 29. — "That is entirely a misrepresentation," stated Secretary Morrison of the United Farmers of Ontario to-day with reference to Mr. H. H. Dewart's assertion at Fergus yesterday, that the U. F. O. president; R. H. H. Halbert, was a hired agitator.

"That's just where the politicians make their mistake. Mr. Dewart does not need to bother taking a cudgel to Halbert, but if he wants to attack the U.F.O., he will have to take the cudgel to the people of rural Ontario. If he wants to attack them all right. It is the people who are responsible for this new movement, not Mr. Halbert. That is where the party politician miscalculates. They don't understand the new movement fostered by the developed democratic spirit. They are too used to politcs with the party machines."

Mr. Morrison stated that when W. G Charlton claimed that U.F.O. members had been nominated by certain political parties they had not been endorsed by the U.F.O. who had run a third candidate in opposition, that he was perhaps right.

"Where a man has been a Grit or Tory and an U.F.O. man too, and he decides to line up with his party again, he cannot draw the U.F.O. into line with him, stated Secretary Morrison. If he chooses to go back to the old party that is entirely optional with him and perhaps a few of his personal friends, but he cannot hope to take the organization with him, because that is a thing distinct from its individual members.

SETTLEMENT OF LOCKOUT

MOULDERS OF PETERBORO LOCK GET 45-HOUR WEEK.—RESUME WORK.

The moulders of the Peterboro Lock Company have resumed work under an agreement that concedes to them practically the demands they and the other moulders of the city asked last spring. They wanted 44 hour week, and they have accepted 45 hours, that is the eight hour day, except on Saturdays, when they will work 5 hours in the mornings. The moulders of the Lock Company are paid on a piece work basis and with an increased rate that amounts to practically 25 per cent., it is understood that the rate will be higher than the 75c per hour demanded in the other shops in the William Hamilton, Peter Hamilton, G. Walter Green and Ashe Hall Companies.

On May 1st the moulding shops closed down when the requests of the moulders for a new wage scale and a shorter working week were refused in the local shops. Since then all the factories requiring casting have been exporting their work to Montreal and across the border. With the new agreement by the Lock Company to their employers it is expected that there will be a general settlement of the differences between the employers and the men of all the foundries.

85 ALLEN THEATRES IN U.S. AND CANADA HAVE SPRUNG FROM ONE BRANTFORD SHOW

PHENOMENAL SUCCESS OF THE ALLEN THEATRES, ONE OF THE WONDERS OF TO-DAY PETERBORO'S THEATRE HAS BEEN THOROUGHLY RENOVATED FOR OPENING ON MONDAY.

ORCHESTRA A FEATURE

Thee Allen Theatre, in which the old Royal completely loses its identity, is one of a chain of at least eighty-five Allen theatres in the United States and Canada. Their number is constantly increasing and among the most recent additions, completed or nearing completion, are one in Winnipeg, London, Halifax and Vancouver, and three in Toronto. The Allens are also erecting in Detroit, Cleveland and Montreal theatres costing one-half a million dollars each. And the list is steadily lengthening, with the prospect that every city of any importance in this country will eventually be linked into the Allen system.

Wonderful Growth.

Ten years ago when the moving picture industry was in its swaddling clothes and was making a precarious start in the cold world that regarded it as something of an illegitimate offspring of the dramatic art, when few persons had any faith in it or saw its vast possibilities, Jules and Jay J. Allen had a little "show" in Brantford. To-day after a phenominal career, which is only beginning, they are recognized as one of the major constellations in the moving picture firmament in Canada and the United States. As stated, their obscure and struggling little show in Brantford has grown as if by the magic of Jacks beanstalk to proportions that can scarcely be conceived even when their theatres are counted almost to the century mark. They made their beginning in Ontario, and first heartening developments were in the province and when suddenly the moving picture tide flowed into public favor, the Allen boys found themselves on the crest of the wave that swept over the world. It is a marvellous story of these days of new and undreamed of wonders, but Peterboro has concrete evidence of it in the new Allen theatre which will open to the public on Labor Day night.

The Allen Standard.

In a sense the Allen theatres are a family affair. Mr. B. Allen, the president, is the father of Jules and Jay J. Allen, the directing officer and also of H. J. Allen, who is in charge of all the booking of films. Their local theatre will secure the advantage of this immense organization assuring the public of the very best motion pictures that can be secured.

Pictures shown in their big theatres will also be shown here, and at times new releases will be seen here before they reach Toronto or Montreal, depending largely upon the "routing." It is unnecessary to refer to the Allen standard of pictures, but it is ineresting to note that Mr. Morris Rosenthal, the manager of the Allen theatre in this city, insists upon the general quality of a picture apart from any consideration of its "star." But the pictures already booked will present a galaxy of stars, Marguerite Clark, Mr. S. Hart, Dorothy Dalton, Douglas Fairbanks, Pauline Frederick and so on. Marguerite Clark will open in "Three Men and a Girl," and will be followed in the next change by Wm Hart in "Branding Broadway," in which he makes his debut in evening clothes. The programmes will include Arbuckle and Sennett comedies, serials, in short all the best in pictures.

Music a Feature.

The Allen company makes a specialty of its orchestras. Luigi Romanelli of Toronto has charge of all their orchestras in Canada. He recently organized the local orchestra which will be composed of six or seven pieces. Local musicians have been engaged and will be retained as long as they prove satisfactory, in other words while they measure up to the Allen requirements as demanded by Mr. Romanelli, who will be here for the opening and will make regular visits thereafter.

Continuous Performance.

There will be a continuous daily performance at the Allen Theatre from 2 a. m. until 10.30 or 11 p. m. The orchestra will consist of only

PRINCE DOESN'T FORGET THEM

Montreal, Aug 29.—Prince Edward's real kindliness of disposition is strikingly exemplified in the arrangements he asked to be made for his fleeting Montreal visit next Tuesday. Hearing that the inhabitants of Pont Viau, which lies outside the Island of Montreal, waited last Sunday night, with their village illuminand decorated to see him pass in his automobile, only to be disappointed because he entrained at Three Rivers, the Prince has asked to be motored out there Tuesday. He will also spend a quarter of an hour in the suburb of Outremont in recognition of the fact that some hundreds of the inhabitants waited in the dark in the railway yard while his train was changing locomotives for the Toronto journey Sunday night.

PETERBORO EXHIBITION BOARD HAVE NOW REAL FAIR GROUNDS

IMPROVEMENTS AND ADDITIONS MADE THIS YEAR HAVE BEEN VERY EXTENSIVE—IT WILL BE PETERBOROUGH'S BEST FAIR.

The Peterboro Central Exhibition Board laid out a very extensive improvement campaign at the first meeting this year, which has kept them busy raising money in various ways in order that these improvements would be completed for this year's fair. Most of all the grounds have been levelled and sidad and at the present time look like a great park, which they really are.

Since last year a new amusement stage, band stand and dining room has been erected and this has been used and found of much benefit for the holiday attractions put on by the Fair Board this summer. The next building to be erected was a race horse stable with conveniences for the owners, which has also been greatly appreciated.

The third new building built was the show horse stable and this will be a great advantage during the Fair and an addition to the Fair plant that both the public and owners of show horses will admit is a very important improvement.

The Main Building which has been the object of many uncomplimentary remarks in the past has been so remodelled in its interior as to be unrecognizable and the fruit class of vegetables in the city will fill it entirely. For the heavier exhibits an annex to the main building will be put up that will give plenty of room and better possibilities for making a display than in the past.

The whole grounds and buildings will be lighted as in a manner never before attempted and the Board believe that this year they will give the greatest show in the history of the Peterboro Central Exhibition.

SENTIMENT IS STRONG FOR THE OLD UNIONS

(Special to The Examiner.)

WINNIPEG, Man., Aug. 30.—Very little O. B. U. sentiment is apparent in Regina, Saskatoon, or Moose Jaw," R. A. Rigg said. He returned to-day from a western trip.

"My trip in the interests of the Internationals could be described as a complete success," he continued. "With very few exceptions, Unions in the three cities are lining up behind the Internationals."

Rigg feels certain that the O. B. U. movement is definitely defeated, as far as the three centres in Saskatchewan are concerned.

BECK ADVOCATES PURCHASE OF G.T.R.

(Special to The Examiner.)

STRATFORD, Ont., Aug. 29.—Addressing a meeting of representatives of municipalities to the number of about seventy-five from all over Western Ontario, as well as many hundreds of local citizens in the City Hall last night, Sir Adam Beck advocated the taking over of the G.T.R. system and electrification of the same as a public utility to save coal and money to the people. He also advocated the Dominion government investigating the great oil fields in the west and if they are of sufficient value to develop them and sell oil and gasoline to the people at cheaper rates than those prevailing now, and promoted by two private corporations, Sir Adam declaring that prices could be cut in half.

BOARD OF WORKS CHANGED ITS MIND ON BRIDGE FINISH

DECIDED UPON CHIPPED GRANITE INSTEAD OF PLAIN CONCRETE AS PROPOSED ON WEDNESDAY.

WILL IMPROVE APPEARANCE

The Hunter Street Bridge will be finished in chipped granite, with the exception of the soffits of the arches and the retaining walls on the east side of the river. This was the decision of the Board of Works last night on a motion by Ald. Turner and seconded by Ald. McIntyre recommending that the previous resolution providing for a rough finish be rescinded, and that the soffits of the arches of the bridge be finished in concrete as it came from the forms with the exception of 18 inches at the edges which are to be finished in granite and that all the outside faces of the bridge be given a granite finish with the exception of the retaining walls on the east approach to the bridge.

This decision was arrived at after Mr. Barber had explained his views to the Board. He said that when he had heard of the changes proposed at Wednesday night's meeting he had consulted the architect. Both he and the architect had decided that it was vital to the appearance of the bridge that it be finished in granite. It would be better in fact, he thought, to leave off the colored tile specified, than to leave off the granite finish.

Says It Is An Economy.

Turning to the economical side of the question, he explained that the tile would cost $4,310. If this were left off the city should be able to have a granite finish on the faces of the bridge at a saving. He proposed also that the trap rock tor the soffits of the railway arches be left off, as it was not necessary. The gases from the locomotives would have a more injurious effect on the mortar holding the rock than on the concrete, and thus loosen the rock.

Mr. Barber thought that Ald. Turner's proposal, made on Wednesday night, of converting into a park the property on the east side of the river, south of the bridge, a good one. In case this was done the architecture of the bridge would become more important.

There was considerable discussion as to whether the small retaining wall on the south side of the east approach to the bridge should be of granite finish or not. Ald. Hamilton stated that everything was now ready to pour the moulds for it with a concrete finish. If this were changed it would mean considerable delay in the work. It was decided that if necessary, it could be covered with Virginia creeper or something of the sort. The above motion was then carried.

SAW CRUCIFIXION OF CANADIAN SERGT.

(Special to The Examiner.)

ST. CATHARINES, Ont., Aug. 30.—"I saw the first Canadian the Germans crucified," said Lieut. Edward Jones, just returned. "He was a sergeant of the 15th Machine Gun Battalion, and it was in April, 1915. There was no support and they drove us back a mile and a half. The Huns captured this poor fellow and pinned him up to a barn door. They ran one of their sawlike German bayonets through his stomach and they pinned his wrist and legs with Ross rifle Canadian bayonets."

"Do you suppose he was alive when they crucified him?" he was asked.

"I certainly do, because when we got to him he was still bleeding," was the lieutenant's reply.

HEIR TO MILLIONS A CUB REPORTER

(Special to The Examiner.)

NEW YORK, Aug. 30.—Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr., has turned his back upon the Newport season, and gone to work as a "cub" reporter on the New York Herald. The heir to numerous millions was hired the day before yesterday at a salary of $25.00 a week.

Young Vanderbilt obtained the job on his own initiative, by a letter he wrote to the city editor of the Herald. For the last two days his work has been limited to the handling of the "cheese" assignments that are the lot of the novice in newspaper work. These have not dulled is enthusiasm for the craft.

"I wanted to be a reporter," he explained yesterday, "because I have always found newspaper men to be the brightest and most alert people I know. When I was in France with the 27th Division, I noticed that any duty calling for resource and initiative was nearly always given to a former newspaper man."

U. S. PEACE DELEGATION SPENT $2,250,000 ON TRIP

WASHINGTON, D.C., August 30.—The high cost of Peace Treaties and the probability of increased outlay in further negotiations were revealed to the Senate by President Wilson in an itemised statement of the expenses of the American delegation at the Peace Conference.

The estimated expenditures of the delegation to date are about $1,250,000, the President's statement showed. Some of the bills have not been paid yet, and the President wants about $825,000 more to complete the job of treaty making. He thinks the negotiations with Austria-Hungary, Bulgaria, and Turkey cannot be completed by 31st December, and that the total bill will not be more than $1,500,000; but, as certain Senators explained, after that the United States will have to pay its share of the League's maintenance if the Peace Treaty is ratified.

Among items in the accounting which attracted attention were: $13,000, confidential expenses; $14,000, purchase of automobiles; $31,000, hire of laundry of hotel linen; $350,000, rent of Hotel Crillon; wages of hotel employees, $53,000; food and hotel supplies, $128,000.

PRESIDENT EXPLAINS EXPENSES.

In explanation of the size of some of the expenditures, President Wilson said:

"In considering these expenses and estimates, it should be borne in mind that for a time the personnel of the American delegation numbered more than 1,300 persons, and on 31st July last, had been reduced to about 700, eighty-eight of whom were civilians, the remainder being from the army and navy.

"This Conference has been held at a time when conditions in France are abnormal, price of food being more than 120 per cent. greater than a year ago; railroad transportation having inceased more than 150 per cent.; fuel not only difficult to obtain, but only obtainable at prices 200 per cent. higher than before the war."

ASHBURNHAM'S NEW INDUSTRY, THE AUTO SPECIALTY COMPANY

HAS ALREADY TURNED OUT 5,000 FENDERS FOR FORD CARS--TWO AMERICAN FIRMS HANDLING U. S. BUSINESS.

LARGE ORDERS FROM TORONTO

Peterboro's new industry, the Auto Specialty Co., in the Florence Building on Hunter street, east, while still in its infancy practically is fast assuming large proportions. The plant is engaged in the manufacture of fenders for Ford cars and since opening in the spring has shipped 3,000 fenders to wholesale dealers in all parts of the Dominion. The company has also completed arrangements with [illegible] and Buffalo for handling the American business on a royalty basis.

The fenders are of a special type to be placed on the front of the car to protect the lights and radiator from mud and add much to the appearance of the car.

The local plant is fully equipped in every way, and at present is employing a force of about eight men. The sheets of iron are brought in, cut to the proper size and shape, bent and perforated. They are then varnished and dried and ready for shipment.

Mr. Florence has so far kept his plant from the lime light in the belief that distance is an added attraction, and that consequently it would add little to his local trade to advertise it about town. Orders are coming in fast, however, one large Toronto firm ordering 400 fenders a short time ago.

The front part of the building has been converted into two stores. One now occupied by the Primeau Shoe store, which carries a stock of shoes and haberdashery. The other store will be occupied by the Boorman Novelty Co. Mr. Florence is considering converting the second floor into apartments and making the basement into a barber shop, pool room and bowling alley.

Altogether the building is an addition to Ashburnham's business section and should help considerably in the boom which is expected in Ashburnham when the bridge is completed.

CRUIX OF COBALT LABOUR TROUDLE

MANAGER OF MINES REFUSE TO RECOGNIZE MINERS' UNION.

(Special to The Examiner.)

COBALT, Aug. 30.—For four days now a committee of leading business men has been attempting to bring about an end of the Cobalt strike. They have failed. The mine managers continue to refuse to deal in any way with the Union.

The mine managers have issued their first statement defining their position. It may be given in the following paragraph. In the words of the Minister of Labour, the present labour dispute in Cobalt has narrowed down to a positive difference of opinion as to whether or not the local branches of the Western Federation of Miners now known as the I.U. of M.M. and S.W. should be recognized. On one side the Union officials and the Minister of Labour insist that it must be recognized and on the other side the managements are just as positive in their determination that the Union will not be recognized until at least the laws of Canada are so amended as to make such recognition obligatory.

The managers express the opinion that had the Minister of Labour acted on the report of Mr. Quirk and taken a neutral position a lot of trouble would have been avoided.

The municipal street car line refused to accept Canadian silver at all.

ENGINEER OR INSPECTOR WAS UNSOLVED QUESTION

STEEL STRIKE NEXT MOVE?

(By Fred S. Ferguson.)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30.—Intervention by the President today appeared to be the only thing that will avert a strike of the Union workers in the steel industry if they attempt to carry out their threats. The time limit given Judge Gray, head of the United States Steel Corporation, for a reply to the last letter of the Steel Workers' committee requiring a conference, has expired wnthout a reply being received.

The commmittee informed Gary they could be reached at the National Hotel, Washington, until last night. They waited until a late hour, whereupon Secretary Foster announced he was taking a train for home. Early to-day when a reply was still lacking, John Fitzpatrick, head of the committee, declared "nothing more to be done."

OF IMPORTANCE TO AUTO OWNERS

ARE YOU LIABLE TO A FINE OF $10? WORTH WHILE LOOKING INTO.

Mr. H. P. Lindsay, issuer of motor vehicles licenses, has drawn the attention of the Examiner to Section 8A of the Motor Vehicles Act, which reads as follows:

8A. Where an owner changes his address as given under sub-section (2- of section 8 he shall forthwith send by registered letter or cause to be filed in the Department of Public Highways his change of address, and every subsequent change of address, and on failure to do so shall incur a penalty not exceeding $10. 8 Geo. V. c. 37, s. 2.

When this is interpreted it means that as well as reporting a change of residence from one part of the province to another it is just as necessary to report change of street address in the city in which you reside. If an auto owner has taken out a license in the spring, giving his address at that time, he must report his new city address if he moves.

Only one party in Peterborough has complied with this section of the Act, and it is not possible that he is the only man in Peterborough owning an auto who has had occasion to change his address. It is worth while for auto owners who have changed their address since taking out their auto license to look into the matter.

BOARD OF WORKS RECENTLY AGREED TO PAY FRED CHRISTIE'S SALARY INCREASE, BUT THE ALDERMEN DISREGARD IN OPINIONS LAST NIGHT.

SHOULD CITY OR MR. BARBER PAY HIM?

"I don't give a tinker's d—n whether I ever see the bridge again, but while I'm on the job I'll see that the work is done properly," stated Fred Christie, "inspector or engineer" of the Hunter Street Bridge, to the Board of Works last night.

The question had been brought up as to whether Mr. Christie's salary should be paid by the city or by Mr. Barber. According to the agreement between Mr. Barber and the city the salaries of inspectors were to be paid by the city, but if Mr. Barber were to send an engineer to supervise the work he was to pay the engineer's salary. Hence the question of liability for Mr. Christie's salary would depend upon whether he was an inspector or a supervising engineer.

Ald. Edgar took the latter view, but Mr. Barber explained that he always supervised all work himself.

Supervises Them All.

"Generally," he said, "I supervise thirty bridges a year. I can't be at each of them all the time, but all questions are referred to me. Every question regarding this bridge has been returned to me."

Ald. Phelan stated that when Christie was away for a day the work was tied up.

Mr. Barber replied that that fact did not necessarily prove him a resident or supervising engineer. It was a tradition of the engineering profession that one man could supervise several jobs at once.

A Medical Analogy.

Ald. Turner stated that he was of the same opinion of Mr. Barber. For example a doctor supervises each of his patients, yet he is supervising many at the same time.

Mr. Barber interposed with: "I'm not trying to put anything over on you. You've always found me honest."

Ald. McIntyre and Ald. Hamilton both believed that Mr. Barber was right in his decision that Mr. Christie was an inspector.

Ald. Crowe stated that it would take a lawyer to prove to him that Mr. Barber shouldn't pay. He was in favor of splitting the difference.

Mr. Christie's Declaration.

At this point Mr. Christie's who had been present during the discussion rose and said: "Gentlemen, if all this discussion is over me, I don't give a tinker's d—n whether I ever see the bridge again, but while I'm on the job I'll see that the work is done properly!" and left the room. The mater was then dropped and left over until the next Council meeting.

POISONED OLIVES KILL SIX PERSONS

CANTON, Ohio,—Poisoned olives were the cause of the death of six persons, including Colonel Charles C. Weybrecht, who attended a dinner party here Saturday night, according to Dr. J. P. De Witt.

Dr. De Witt, who is attending one of the poisoned, stated that he had injected into a rabbit several drops of the liquid found in the olive bottles used. The rabbit, he said, developed symptoms akin to those in the persons who died and died within twenty-four hours after the injection The dinner party was given in honor of Colonel Weybrecht, who had just returned from overseas.

CHICAGO,—Arsenic was found to-day in samples of coffee taken from a downtown lunch room where thirty persons were poisoed yesterday, according to Health Commissioner Robinson, who expressed the opinion that some one had put poison in the coffee with malicious intent. The police were asked to search for the guilty person.

KILLED BY A "BISON."

Lord Reading talked at a Washington dinner party about the cockney accent. A cockney cook, he said, came over and settled in America. Her mistress, who was a widow, told her one day how she came to lose her husband. 'I lost my husband on the western prairies,' the woman said. 'He was killed by a bison. I suppose you know what a bison is?' Lawke, yes, said the cockney cook, I'd like to 'ave a quid for every one I've made a pudding in.

ALD. PHELAN APPOINTED SUBURBAN ROAD OFFICIAL

REPRESENTS CITY ON THE COMMISSION TO DESIGNATE AREA IN COUNTY'S NEW POLICY—TRAFFIC THROUGH BREWERY LANE.

BOARD OF WORKS BUSINESS

At last night's meeting of the Board of Works, Mr. T. Q. Quartermaine appeared and showed a sample of a puncture proof tire interliner for automobiles. The sample had been in constant use for sixteen months. The tires sold at $42.00 per set of four. It was decided to leave the matter with the Chairman of the Fire, Water and Light Committee and the Chairman of the Board of Works, with power to act in purchasing for the city's motor truck.

Sidewalk on Water Street.

A petition was received from the Peterboro Canoe Company, and W. G. Morrow, asking that a sidewalk be constructed on the east side of Water street in front of their properties. The completion of the new pavement will cause the water in wet seasons to overflow their property from the street. Referred to the City Engineer to be presented at the next meeting of the Council.

Suburban Road Commission.

A letter was received from the Suburban Roads Commission, asking the city to appoint a representative to act with the county in fixing the boundaries of a suburban road area, which will be subject to city maintenance. Ald. Phelan was appointed.

Drain Blocked.

Fred Holmes of Hilliard street, complained of a drain which was plugged up in front of his house and caused the water to overflow on his property. Referred to the City Engineer.

Paving Plants.

Three letters were received from various companies quoting prices of paving plants. They were all held over with the exception of one from Russell's Limited of Montreal, who advertise a paving repair outfit for $600. Ald. Turner thought that this could be made the nucleus of a large plant. It was moved by Ald. MacIntyre and seconded by Ald. Turner, that the City Engineer be instructed to write the company for more information.

Request Refused.

The residents of Lansdowne street, from Park to Aylmer, some time ago, asked the Utilities Commission for a water main which was badly needed. The request was refused. It was decided last night to refer the matter to the Fire, Water and Light Committee.

The residents of Auburn street also complained that they had been promised that their street would be oiled. The promise had not been kept.

Brewery Lane.

The mater of opening up the Brewery lane for more traffic was considered and it was decided to have the City Engineer and the Chairman of the Board of Works make arrangements with the Calcutt Estate to refer the mater of more lights for the lane to the Fire, Water and light Committee. It was also decided to appoint the numbers of returned soldiers necessary as traffic officers at the lane. The wages will be $3.00 a day.

Public Liability Insurance.

Ald. Turned moved, seconded by Ald. McIntyre that the Chairman be authorized to secure public liability insurance for the Hunter Street Bridge.—Carried.

Those present were: Aldermen Phelan (Chairman), Morrison, Turner, Garside, Edgar, Hamilton, McIntyre, Crowe and Gainey.

VISIONS OF HYDRO FOR THE FARMERS

(Special to The Examiner.)

LONDON, Ont., Aug. 29.—Visions of electric lights and electric power on every farm, lessening labour for the housekeeper and farmer, and thereby combatting the exodus from rural districts to the cities, appear before members of the United Farmers' Association, as a result of Sir Adam Beck's recent allusion to a scheme of provincial assistance in extending Hydro to the townships.

Sir Adam, in a statement on Hydro policies, made recently before a convention of advocates of a flat rate, declared that Sir James Whitney had some years ago tentatively agreed to pay one-third of the costs of transmission line extensions into townships. The funds for this purpose were to be taken from the provincial revenue secured from leases of water power sites. It is claimed that if funds were made available for this purpose Hydro could speedily and cheaply be made available to thousands of farmers who now feel that the cost of transmission lines is excessive.

The farmers are keen to secure the benefits of Hydro, and Sir Adam's proposals appeal strongly to them. J. J. Morrison, Provincial Secretary of the U. F. O., stated while in Mount Bridges at the West Middlesex convention yesterday, that it was his purpose to interview Sir Adam to pledge the support of farmers to the scheme. The U.F.O. platform explicitly approves public ownership of utilities and the extension and development of the Hydro Electric service in Ontario.

IF BACK HURTS BEGIN ON SALTS

Flush the Kidneys at once when Backachy or Bladder bothers— Meat forms uric acid.

No man or woman who eats meat regularly can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which clogs the kidney pores so they sluggishly filter or strain only part of the waste and poisons from the blood; then you get sick. Nearly all rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, constipation, dizziness, sleeplessness, bladder disorders come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts, or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any reliable pharmacy and take a tablespoonful in glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to activity, also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer causes irritation, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which all regular meat eaters should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and the blood pure, thereby avoiding serious kidney complications.

A NEW CROSS-BENCHER.

Mr. J. H. Burnham, member for West Peterborough, has announced that when the session of Parliament opens on Monday he proposes to leave the Government side of the House and sit with the cross-benchers. Mr. Burnham gives as his reason that he was elected as a Unionist for the period of the war and that he "will not betray the Liberals who trusted me by continuing the pretense of Unionism." The conscience of the member for West Peterborough is a rather perplexing thing. In the first place Mr. Burnham was never a Unionist candidate, except in so far as he himself and his camp followers chose to appropriate that name. He was selected as a Conservative candidate at a straight Conservative convention, and when many prominent Conservatives and a number of Liberals who desired to see a Unionist candidate placed in the field, arranged a mass meeting to make a nomination, the Conservative machine stampeded the meeting to such an extent that the selection of a candidate was impossible. Mr. Peck, who was announced by the chairman as having secured the majority of votes, refused to accept a nomination under such circumstances, and the field was left to Mr. Burnham. He was never regarded as anything but a Conservative candidate, and his stand was considered what he now terms a "pretense of Unionism" from the start, so that his present characteristic demonstration only serves to confirm the popular opinion that has prevailed.

THE EMPIRE'S LOSS.

Canadians will share with their fellow members of the British Empire in the grief that is felt at the sudden death of that splendid statesman, General Botha the Premier of South Africa. General Botha who only a few short years ago was commander-in-chief of the Boer army, which for many weary months fought the forces of Great Britain, had re-established himself as one of the staunchest pillars of that Empire, one of its most faithful defenders. The story of General Botha is among the proudest episodes in the history of Great Britain. No better example of the British principle of justice and the square deal could be found than the history of South Africa in the past twenty years. In the making of that history General Botha was the most outstanding feature. He was Prime Minister of South Africa ever since self-government was given his country, and he so carried on the arduous duties of his position [illegible] races of South Africa were welded into a nation. The result of his work was determined beyond doubt by the loyal stand of his dominion in the world war.

Genral Botha can ill be spared from the councils of the Empire. His death is a loss that will be felt everywhere.

THE BOARD OF COMMERCE.

The activity that the United States' Government is showing in rounding up the profiteers and reducing the cost of living is in sharp contrast to the failure of the Canadian authorities to grapple with the situation. Although the authority to appoint a Board of Commerce to deal with the problem was rushed through Parliament in the closing hours of the session, as a matter of supreme importance, as indeed it was, there has been nothing done since. At this late date the composition of the court itself has not been definitely decided upon. Two members of the Board were selected in Judge Robson and Mr. W. F. O'Connor, and now the announcement is made that Mr. F. A. Acland, the Deputy Minister of Labour, has been appointed as the third member. Mr. Acland's apointment is, however, merely temporary, and a permanent appointment will be made later, so that the Board is not likely to get actively to work for some time. In the meantime prices continue at their abnormal level and the public has to suffer, their grievances increased by the reports from the United States of the quick response to the American government's campaign. The Canadian people cannot understand why, if it is possible across the border to effect a twenty-five per cent. decrease in food prices within ninety days, as is promised, similar results cannot be produced here. They were prepared to accept the Board of Commerce on trial as it were, but the machinery is so long in getting into operation that the people have lost patience with it. They want a little action for a change.

THE RATE OF EXCHANGE.

The fact that Canadian money is being heavily discounted in the United States just now seems to be perplexing to many people. In its monthly commercial letter the Bank of Commerce deals with the situation in a manner that should be instructive to the public:

The steady advance in the premium on New York funds seriously affects those industries which depend upon raw materials obtained from the United States. From that country, during the year ending June last, cotton, iron and steel products to the value of $216,000,000 were imported. Other imports essential to manufacturers, the cost of which will be similarly affected, are valued at a large sum. The inevitable advance in the cost to the consumer is one of the causes of the existing social unrest, and this cause would at any rate be partially removed if the demand for New York funds was decreased by lesser imports of luxuries and non-essentials.

In March, 1918, it was pointed out in a supplement to our letter that the appreciation in the rate for United States funds was at that time accentuated by the operation of several abnormal factors, such as the disorganization of transportation and the consequent check upon exports from Canada, the enormous imports from the United States, and the effect of the credits which Canada had granted to the United Kingdom to assist in procuring war material. The balance of trade with all countries in favour of Canada at the end of December, 1917, was $588,000,000. At the close of March, 1918, it had grown to $623,000,000. For the succeeding year, ending March, 1919, it was $343,000,000. These balances are partly offset by advances from the Imperial treasury for the maintenance of our expeditionary forces abroad, but even after making allowances for these the balance in favor of Canada is very large. In the ordinary course of events, this would have resulted in the exchanges being favorable, but the factors which caused the high premium on New York funds in the early months of 1918 are still in operation, in some respects in a more accentuated form. The credits being furnished to Great Britain are still considerable, and substantially offset that country's debtor balance to us, and in addition we are furnishing credits to other European countries. The remedy then suggested applies with equal force to-day; it is to increase exports to the United States, and to curtail imports from that country. While the war was proceeding Britain obtained credits in the United States for purchases there, and it was hoped that she would also arrange credits there to pay for purchases made by Canada to facilitate the production of war material. Now that the war is over Britain apparently does not favor the creation of further debt abroad, and, therefore, it cannot be hoped that part of her debt to Canada will be arranged by her assuming our liabilities in New York. The adjustment of our adverse balance there must apparently await trade developments in the shaping of which the present adverse rate of exchange is not undesirable.

In the three years ending June last, Canada imported merchandise from the United States valued at $2,228,000,000 and exported to that country goods to the value of $1,183,000,000, leaving an unfavorable balance of $1,045,000,000. Thus during the period named, the United States supplied 61 per cent. of our imports from all sources, and the customs returns since June indicate that there is no diminution in our purchases from them. On the other hand, of our total exports to all countries amounting to $4,029,000,000, only 29 per cent., or $1,183,000,000, went to the United States; 31 per cent., or $2,076,000,000, went to the United Kingdom, and 20 per cent. to all other countries. Our imports from the United Kingdom in the period we are dealing with, amounted to only $251,000,000, the balance in our favor being $1,819,000,000, as compared with the unfavorable balance of $1,045,000,000 due to the United States. In Canada the cause of diminished imports from Britain is thoroughly appreciated. We know that her men and her physical resources were mobilized for the defence of freedom more intensively and unselfishly than is as yet fully realized, with the result that her exports, which had been steadily increasing before the war, were curtailed. To facilitate imports of the materials necessary for the prosecution of the war she made free use of external credits, and the credits granted to her by Canada for this purpose were liberal, as already indicated. The purpose of the sacrifice made by Great Britain and her allies is now attained but there is left to be adjusted an unbalanced and critical state of foreign trade. Canada finds herself already a considerable creditor of Britain and likely to become a more important one, and ranks as one of the chief debtors of the United States. The adjustment of our trade balance with Britain cannot be expected until conditions in that country have become more settled or until her factories can again turn out, and her ships move, the goods we need. The cause of a premium or a discount on New York funds, although well understood by those who have to handle foreign exchange transactions daily, remains somewhat of a mystery to the general public. When making purchases in cities across the border of the United States it is found that the Canadian dollar is discounted at rates varying from five to six cents, and sometimes more. The unbalanced state of trade already indicated is the cause of this. The position of the Canadian buyer in the United States, although not a desirable one just now is relatively speaking more advantageous than that of the buyer from any other country, excepting Japan, Spain and Argentina. German money is at a discount of 74 per cent; Italian 39 per cent., Belgian 30 1-2 per cent., French 30 per cent., English 10 per cent., Swiss 7 1-2 per cent., Dutch 6 per cent., Danish 17 per cent., Norwegian 11 per cent., and Swedish 16 per cent.

PRINCE ASKED FOR A ONE-STEP AT OTTAWA

DISPELLED ALL INTENTION OF FORMALITY AT DANCE—PICKED "WALL-FLOWER" AS PARTNER.

Ottawa, Aug. 28.—Whatever intention there had been of formality at the reception given to his Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, at the Country Club to-night, if such intention there was, was dispelled, when the Prince himself begged Lieut. T. W. James, Conductor of the G. W. V. A. Band to play a one-step, and led off on a beautiful lantern-lit outdoor dancing floor to the tune of "Johnny's in Town," with Lady Dorothy Cavendish as partner.

Once the dinner was over, and the ladies had been formally presented, the dancing began, and the first question that the Prince asked Lieut. James was what dance music he could play. The Lieutenant suggested "Arabian Nights," "I don't know it," said his Royal Highness. "Well, there's 'Johnny's in Town,'" said the Lieutenant.

"That will do," said the Prince.

"All right then we'll try it," was the answer, and the band struck up. His Royal Highness barely missed a dance, and did not leave it to his staff to pick his partners. On one occasion, indeed, he found himself facing a lady who was alone and was not dancing, and to her extreme delight, he swung onto the floor with her. And his dancing was not of the solemn ritualist kind either; he chatted gaily with his partners, as he danced and proved himself a some dancer."

HOLIDAY FOR ELECTIONS.

Proposed by Canada Federation of Labor.

Toronto, Aug. 29.—The declaration of a legal olidahy for the Provincial and Federal Elections is the striking plank which is included in the agenda of the Canadian Federation of Labor, which meets in annual convention at the Sons of England Hall here on September 3 and 4. The plans, according to the General Organizer, Thomas Watt, are being laid with a view to pasisng a strong resolution requesting Premier Sir Robert Borden to take the matter up in the interests of Labor throughout the Dominion. It is pointed out that such an innovation would be a great boon to Canadian Organized Labor, inasmuch as it is believed the numbers of laborers voting would increase by a tleast fifty per cent. The assertion of Labor leaders now is that under the present system men who hold the franchise fail to register their votes. Especially, does this apply to workingmen.

DON'T THROW AWAY YOUR OLD SHOES

I Can Make Your Old Shoes Last Longer, and Save You the Price of a New Pair

SHOE PRICES are soaring higher than ever before. In these days economical people are turning to the shoe repair man for a remedy against expensive shoe leather.

I am advising customers that if they take my advice I can save them the cost of a new pair of leather shoes.

HOW? This is my plan: If the leather uppers are good, I make a NEW WELT and put on a new pair of half soles. This gives you as good a pair of leather shoes as a new pair, and in some cases better, because the leather in the old uppers is often better than the leather now used in new shoes.

THE WELT IS THE LIFE OF THE SHOE. What is the Welt? In Shoemaking a WELT is a narrow strip of strong leather sewed around a shoe that holds the upper leather and the insoles.

With a new welt and a new pair of soles you have as good a pair of leather shoes as you can buy now for $9 or $10.

A broken seam, a worn sole, an uneven heel—these are but excuses for throwing away old shoes. With my shoe-craft knowledge I can restore their good looks and give you a good pair of shoes at a trifling cost that all can afford.

I am advising customers to send in their sole-worn shoes before the Fall, and have them repaired in this way now, instead of having to buy a new pair at the present high prices.

Come in and I will explain my process and show you how it w pay you not to throw away your old shoes.

SLUMP IN HOG PRICES

Statement of Representatives of Big Packers—Wednesday's Slump Prevalent

CHICAGO, Aug. 28.—A fall in hog prices to $15 a hundredweight within three days was forecast by representatives of the big packing companies at the Stock Yards today, when resumption of trading showed Wednesday's slump still prevalent. Hogs of the canning variety listed at yesterday's close at $17, a drop of $1.50 in one day, were offered to-day at $16, with few changing hands. The bulk of sales at the opening of the market was around $17, compared with $23.65 early this month.

The packers remained out of the market and live stock experts predicted the biggest slump since 1917.

EXTRAVAGANCE VS. RESPONSIBILITY

NEW YORK BANKER SAYS PRICES WILL DROP WHEN MONEY IS LESS FREELY SPENT,

NEW YORK, Aug. 29. — President Hine of the First National Bank of New York, one of the most powerful, and perhaps the most conservative bank in Wall street, replying to a request from the United Press for his opinion as to the cause of the present high costs and what course might reduce them, in a nutshell said:

"The prevailing ability and disposition to indulge in extravagant expenditure seems to me to account largely largely for high commodity prices, which will surely be reduced when money is less easily made and less freely spent than at present."

The Promoter's Wife

BY JANE PHELPS

BARBARA'S PARENT'S ARE DISAPPROVING.

CHAPTER LIV

I was not at all surprised at either father or mother mentioning the way we lived. I had expected they would that father had meant anything save from a money standpoint, when he had said he was afraid for Neil and me, I never dreamed. I knew our extravagant way of living—our servants, cars, etc.—seemed, much of it, needless to them. That father thought we should save, I also knew He had in fact asked me if we had saved anything since our marriage, and I had to confess I did not known I told him to ask Neil, but he would not.

"He might think me meddlesome Bab," had been his answer.

After they left I recalled that conversation and asked Neil if we had saved much money since we had been married.

"Why so suddenly inqusitive?" he had queried.

"Oh, nothing! Only father asked me if we had saved a certain proportion of what you had earned, and I couldn't tell him because I didn't know."

"In the sense your father meant, I guess we haven't saved much. A man needs his money in his business nowadays. I am insured for you and the baby, but what cash I have, I have to use. Your father would want me to put it into a savings bank at 3 or 4 per cent. when I can make many times that by using it."

"But is it safe, Neil?"

"Safe as can be."

That ended all my worries over saving. Neil knew how much we could afford to spend, and until he called a halt I need not feel anxious In fact I did not even ask how much insurance he had, so sure was I that he had done what was best.

Lorraine Morton called the day after father and mother left. I had seen no one while they were with me. It had been mother's wish that we should not entertain, but that we spend the time quietly.

"We see each other so seldom," she had apologized. So when Lorrane came in I was sure I should hear the accumulated gossip of the two weeks my parents had been with me.

"Oh, by the way, Bab," she suddenly broke off a description of a new dress she had ordered, "you remember that day we called on Blanche Orton—it was just before your father and father came You know I have not seen you since."

"Yes—what of it?"

"That dinner Blanche gave was a man-affair."

"How do you know?"

"Mrs. Lacy's cook is sister to a new maid Blanche just hired. She told the cook that there were three men and no women at the dinner. That one of the men was lovely, but that the other two were awful —especially one of them. That they didn't know how to eat, what forks to use, or anything. And she said that they all drank a lot, even the nice one. And that the one she said was the worst, got noisy and was perfectly dreadful."

"How can she endure such men?" I said disgusted.

"It is strange, isn't it? Mrs. Lacy asked the same question and the maid said that all they talked about was money, and stocks, Oil stocks, I think she said. I was so interested!"

Usually the naivete of Lorraie's last remark would have amused me But I scarcely heard it. Who could the three men have been whom Mrs Orton enterained that night I recalled quiet distinctly that Neil had not come home for dinner, and that it had been very late when he came in. This fact was clear in my memory because I had afterward wished that I had asked Lorraine to stay and keep me company.

"Could it be—was Neil the "lovely" man the maid had told of as being Mrs. Orton's guest And were the other two some of those boorish rich men I had refused to receive?

"If you don't, there are women who will."

That speech of Neil's came back so plainly that I scarcely realized that Lorraine had said good-bye and I was alone.

(To be Continued).

RACE THREATS IN AMERICA CAUSED BY AGITATORS

STRONG APPEALS TO RETURNED NEGRO SOLDIERS TO DEMAND THEIR RIGHTS.

NEW YORK — Within the next few months our organization will be in such a condition that if there is a lynching in the south and a white man cannot be held to account down there, the button will be pushed here and a white man in New York will be lynched."

This was the statement last night made to more than 3,000 cheering negro men and women by Marcus Garvey, negro backer of a project for a steamship line controlled by non-Caucasians. Assistant District Attorney Archibald Stevenson, of counsel for the Lusk committee, now probing radical activities here, listened. There also were present detectives of the Bronx squad under Inspector Gegan and stenographers who took down Garvey's speech.

The meeting was held under the auspices of the Universal Negro Improvement Association at Carnegie Hall to sell stock in the Black Star Line, an enterprise which, as announced its intention of operating a line of cargo ships between America and Africa, the West Indies and South and Central America.

Garvey, who is president of the organization and editor of the Negro World, a newspaper published here for the race, continued:

"We shall continue the war until we get democracy. Woe betide the man or nation which stands in the way of the negro. The negro shed his blood in the great war, and that same blood will continue to be sacrificed until we get the rights we demand."

Of the projected steamship line of the organization, Garvey, said:

"We are striving to make Africa a republic, and the white man here harries us in this plan. In America and England the negroes are asked by the white man: 'What are you doing here?' The negro in Africa soon will as the white man: 'What are you doing here?'"

"We are out to get what belongs to us, politically, economically, socially, and in every other way.

Garvey said the organization began 21 months ago with 21 members. It now has a membership of more than 5,000 in Harlem alone, he said.

He denied statements that unrest among the negroes was caused by extremist agitators spreading propaganda among the members of that race. He said:

"This organization is not partisan. We are the negro party and stand alone to fight for our rights."

Loud cheers and applause, punctuated the remarks of Garvey as he criticized the whites and called on his hearers to believe that the dawn of a new era had been born for the coloured race.

WILL PUT DOWN THE CALIFORNIA STRIKE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.—Director-General Hines to-night served notice on "Public offices, railroad offices and employes and citizens generally in California, Arizona and Nevada," that the railroad administration would undertake to restore full railroad service in those States on and after 7 o'clock next Saturday morning, and that all striking employes who do not return to work by that time will find their places filled.

Anyone who interfered with or impends the use of railroad property, Mr. Hines said, would be dealt with for having committed an offence against the United States.

This action coming after the announcement by the four Brotherhood chiefs that the brotherhoods would assist the Railroad Administration in operating the lines if the illegal strike was not terminated, is the most drastic action taken by the Government in a labor controversy.

A 300 MILE BEE-LINE.

"In crossing the Nullarbor Plain (so named because it is treeless, the Trans-Australian Railway runs without a curve for 300 miles—probably the world's record for straightness. In all its length of over 1,061 miles, the line does not cross a single stream of permanent water." This statement was made by Mr. T. R. Johnston, late Chief Commissioner of Railways, New South Wales, in the course of a paper read before the members of the Royal Colonial Institute. — Daily Graphic.

A Suggestion for Saving

CASH in the pocket encourages careless spending.

You will find it a much easier task to save if you keep your "Spending" money in a Savings Account with The Bank of Toronto. There it is safe and can be drawn upon when really needed.

A reluctance to draw from that account will grow upon you, and protect you from many needless expenditures.

Once the saving habit is acquired, the account, with its earnings of interest, will steadily grow to a substantial amount.

Many young men and women are working out this scheme with us to advantage.

It is a plan worthy of a trial.

WINNIPEG VETERANS AND LABOUR UNITE FOR POLITICAL ACTIVITY

(Special to The Examiner.)

WINNIPEG, Aug. 30. — There is further development of the propaganda of the Dominion Labour Party Soldiers' and Sailors' Labour Party to be held in Winnipeg in September.

Local branch of the Labour Party is growing steadily in numbers and is perfecting a thorough organization for the purpose of securing representation in the City Council and in the Local and Dominion Houses. The whole movement has been stimulated greatly by the effects of the recent general strike, the political side of the Labour movement having been thrown up into special prominence.

The local Labour party have been engaged on extension and adjustment of the political programme they issued early in the year and they have completed machinery for the nomination of their candidates for office. Their method of nominating is somewhat novel.

Candidates will be selected by ward committees of the Labour party and these will be brought into comparison with candidates selected by committees of Soldiers' and Sailors' Labour party and if possible two bodies will agree to send forward to the convention candidates acceptable to committees of both parties.

When the convention makes its selections the names of the nominees will then be submitted for ballot to the whole membership of the two organizations and members will thus have the final choice of men who will run for election as representatives of the parties.

By this method the membership of the parties could exclude the candidate who had secured the nomination of convention .The object of the above system is to place the decision as to candidates on the broadest possible democratic basis.

REMINDS PRINCE IT IS TIME TO MARRY

(Special to The Examiner.)

OTTAWA, Aug. 30.—"Mind you get married soon and have some fine children like yourself," exclaimed an old lady of eighty years, as she shook the hand of the Prince of Wales at the public reception in the City Hall Yesterday afternoon. The remark sent the Prince into peals of laughter, and made Admiral Halsey's grim face relax.

The Prince shook hands for 55 minutes with all comers, at the rate of about 45 shakes a minute. The last to be presented were 20 blind people of Ottawa.

He received a wonderful ovation as he left the City Hall. The streets were choked with people.

"Seven Days' Leave" Announced as the First Attraction at Grand Opera House

ON WEDNESDAY EVENING IS COUNTED AS ONE OF THE BIGGGEST OFFFERINGS OF THE SEASON

This ponderous melodrama is founded on a stirring war scene, with a wealth of romantic and comedy interest, the play made an instantaneous hit when staged in London at Sir Henry Irving's Lyceum Theatre two years ago. It has been running at the British metropolis ever since and proved so popular that organizations were soon playing it throughout South Africa, Australia, New Zealand and Canada.

Upon the entry of the United States into the war Walter C. Jordan and Robert Campbell secured the American rights and presented "Seven Days' Leave" at the Park Theatre New York, where it ran one year to a record breaking business. Because of the patriotic character of the offering and its value as Allie propaganda, the attraction numbered among its patrons and endorsers leading diplomatic military and social representatives of all nations that were drawn together to wage civilization's war. Upon leaving New ork, "Seven Days' Leave" played an engagement at Washington, where the administration officials filled the house at one performance, and the Secretary of the Navy, Josephus Daniels acting as spokesman, gave unqualified approval as "An inspiring play that everyone should see."

"Seven Days' Leave" takes its name from the term commonly employed to describe the brief vacation allowed soldiers at the front to rest up and recuperate in England The action all centers there except for one scene on the English Channel where cruiser destroyes a lurking German U-Boat in a scene described as the climax of sensational realism.

"Seven Days' Leave" was written long before the advent of this country into the war, yet its central figure is a young officer in the British Army and risen to the rank of Major The experiences that befall him during his seven days leave furnish the foundation of th story. Spies are on his trail to steal the plans of a submarine detector that he has invented, and the machinations have an effect upon his love affair that lends strong heart interest. One of the most sensational incidents disclose the woman spy and his fiance in a frenzied swimming race in the stormy waters of the Channel to reach a buoy where the signal control of the hidden submarine is located. This episode is responsible for the introduction of two beautiful women attired in one piece bathing suits, a la Annette Kellerman.

DUCKS ARE REPORTED FAIRLY PLENTIFUL

SHOOTING SEASON OPENS ON MONDAY—MANY HUNTERS READY.

The duck shooting season will open on Labour Day with a rattle of shot guns that hasn't been heard since the old days before the war. Members of the Gun Club and other Nimrods will disperse in the general direction of the rice beds north and south of the city.

At Pigeon Creek and Rice Lake the enthusiasts will take up their positions on Sunday night for the zero hour at daybreak, when the first flocks feeding in the bays will come under fire.

Occasional reports have brought promise of rare sport for this season. In spite of the annual shooting, these game are apparently not diminishing in number. Hunters are reminded that wood and eider ducks must not be shot this season, but as they come south in the colder weather the prohibition need not cause much trouble for the present. Black ducks are the most numerous on opening day.

LeVasseur had won his admiration and that his work will never be forgotten by him. He commented favourably on Pte. LeVasseur's aptitude, ability, and qualifications, and wished him every success in his return to civil life.

THE MISSIONARY'S TASK.

Dr. Torrey, the evangelist, in speaking of missionary work, remarked: "Teachink the heathen must be most difficult of all. Just think—first you must teach them the language before you can even lay the foundation for a knowledge of God. The task reminds me of a missionary friend of mine who was working among the Indians. One of his pupils came to him one day and informed him that a sparrow had built a nest in the cross trees of his lodge. 'Is there anything in the nest yet?' asked the missionary. 'Heap much,' said the Indian, proud o fhis English. 'The sparrow has pups.'

NORTHUMBERLAND FARMERS UNITE

(Special to The Examiner.)

WARKWORTH, Ont., Aug. 30.—Disaffection has crept into the wedge of the East Northumberland U. F. O. political campaign in the form of a threatened division of the farmers along old party lines, due greatly to the personal popularity of the Conservative candidate, Alex. Hume, of Seymour Township.

Undismayed, however, by any signs of possible defection, the majority of the farmers, at their convention yesterday, strongly favoured the nominating of candidates to contest the elections for both the Provincial and Federal Houses.

Instructions have been issued to all local clubs to rally their members and send a full delegation to the nomination convention wich will be held here on 10th September.

Strict injunctions have been issued that an equal number of men and women must represent the various clubs.

The farmers arrived here with nothing but club organisation as an asset, but when they concluded, they had formed a full riding executive and formulated tentative plans for their campaign.

The executive includes five vice-presidents, one from each township, whose duties will be to direct the organisation activities in their respective districts.

THE RIDER AS IT IS.

"In speaking of this bill before Congress you mention a 'rider.' What is a rider?"

"A rider," replied Senator Sorghum, "is usually like the postscript to a woman's letter — apparently an afterthought, but in reality the most important part of the communication."—Washington Star.

SHARP STRUGGLE OVER PEACE TREATY IN U. S. SENATE

(By L. C. Martin.)

(Special to The Examiner.)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30.—A sharp struggle in the Senate forcing the Relations committee over the form of treaty reservations when the subject is taken up early next week, was forecast here to-day. Republican views on reservations vary widely.

The treaty opponents met to-day to try to decide on plans for stumping the country in opposition to President Wilson. They have been unable thus far to determine how many Senators shall go or when and where. Senator Lodge is trying to discourage the whole idea by pointing out that they can get better policy by remaining in Washington and answering the President from the Senate floor.

The committee met to-day to hear a plea for Irish independence. In the Senate, Senator Owen, Oklahoma, was scheduled to deliver a speech in reply to that made by Senator Lodge on August 12, when the Republican leader was given an ovation following his attack on the pact.

MITT CAUGHT IN BINDER.

Harvey Pelo Loses Finger and Suffers Broken Arm.

Master Harvey Pelo, an adopted son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Kelly, of Asphodel, met with a very painful accident on Monday evening when he had the two bones in his right arm broken and his index finger taken off in a binder.

Master Pelo, who is twelve years of age, was walking behind the binder, and having a mitt on it got caught in the machinery with the above unfortunate result.

Dr. Sutton was called and set the fracture and afterwards took the boy to Peterborough hospital to have an X-ray made of the arm, which showed the bones had been correctly placed. —Norwood Register.

THE NEW ALLEN THEATRE OPENING TO BE A CEREMONIAL EVENT

MR. J. ALLEN, OF JULE AND J. J ALLEN, PROF. LUIGI, PROMINENT IN THE MUSICAL WORLD, AND MR. J. B. CRONK, GENERAL MANAGER, WILL BE PRESENT MONDAY EVENING, THE OPENING.

No expense is being spared to rush the work through for the Allen Theatre, in order to be open on Labour Day for the evening performance. The men are working night and day, and an extra crew has been put to work.

The opening night will be the Banner Event of the year. Many of Peterborough's most prominent citizens will be present for the occasion. Mr. J. Allen will personally appear. Prof. Luigi Romanelli, who is well known throughout the country for his excellent work, is expected to be present, together with Mr. J. B. Cronk, the Allen's general manager.

The entire Theatre is being re-decorated, and renovated, making this playhouse when completed the citizens' pride, and an ornament of art to the city.

An exceptional programme of good pictures and music has been provided for. The opening will be the same feature event that marks all of the Allen Theatre openings.

Those having the pleasure of witnessing the Allen's Danforth Theatre in Toronto, will long remember the occasion.

The local theatre's opening will be in accordance with the Allen's policy of comfort and entertainment.

As the demand for seats will be greater than the seating capacity of the Theatre, the management advises those wishing to witness the innaugural ceremony to come early.

HEARST TALKS ON REFERENDUM

IF FIRST QUESTION IS ANSWERED IN AFFIRMATIVE OLD ORDER COMES BACK.

BRAMPTON, Ont., Aug. 30. — I cannot follow my friend Mr. Dewart when he says that I have held a threat over the electors in connection with the coming temperance referendum, stated Premier Sir William Hearts, speaking in the Town Hall here last night. It is farthest from a threat to state that if the majority of the electors say "yes" to the first question we will go back to the license and bar system. What other result can there be? If you want things as they were before 1916 vote "yes" on the first question. If you do not, then vote "no." If the "nos" are in the majority on the first question you will have an act which can be amended. If the "yes's" are in the majority the Act will be swept away and there will be no amendment possible. Automatically the old order of things will have sprung back in existence.

"There are some," continued the Premier, "who say that the Ontario Temperance Act was at variance with the policy of the late Sir James Whitney. On the contrary it is the culmination of his policy. During his regime the number of licenses were reduced from two thousand to twelve hundred ,and the number of municipalities in which liquor was sold from 847 to 96.

OLE HANSON RESIGNS AS MAYOR OF SEATTLE

Associated Press.

Seattle, Washington, Aug. 28.—Ole Hanson, Seattle's mayor who gained nationwide fame as a result of his stand during the general strike here last February, presented his resignation to the City Council at 1.30 o'clock to-day. It was accepted immediately. "I am tired out and am going fishing," he said, in a statement accompanying the resignation.

A MOTHER'S TRIALS

CARE OF HOME AND CHILDREN OFTEN CAUSES A BREAKDOWN.

The woman at home, deep in household duties and the cares of motherhood, needs occasional help to keep her in good health. The demands upon a mother's health are many and severe. Her own health trials and her children's welfare exact heavy toils, while hurried meals, broken rest and much indoor living tend to weaken her constitution. No wonder that the woman at home is often indisposed through weakness, headaches, backaches and nervousness. Too many women have grown to accept these visitations as part of the lot of motherhood. But many and varied as her health troubles are, the cure is simple and the cure at hand. When well, it is the woman's good blood that keeps her well; when ill she must make her blood rich and renew her health. The nursing mother more than any other woman in the world needs rich blood and plenty of it. There is one always unfailing way to get this good blood so necessary to perfect health, and that is through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These pills make new blood abundantly, and ailing wives and mothers have been made bright ,cheerful and strong. If you are ailing, easily tired, or depressed, it is a duty you owe to yourself and your family to give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a fair trial. What this medicine has done for others it will surely do for you.

Georgette Crepe Blouses

Adaptions from New York and Paris

Freshly arrived are these charming blouses of georgette. They are fashioned into charming modes that originated in New York and Paris. Herein is described one of the Russian smocks that has caught all the charm of the original. There are many different versions of this style, of which we have several that exemplify charming colours, elaborate beading and embroidery trimming.

There are some to whom the modishness of a Russian Smock is peculiarly adapted, and this model illustrates how effective it can be made when properly treated. It is elaborately embroidered with Silk threads of Pale Blue, Green, Henna and Gold, up from the hem to a depth of five inches. The neck is round and garnished with a narrow band of embroidary to correspond. The sleeves are ¾ length, and a loose girdle encircles the waist. Price, $22.50.

The popularity of Chenile trimming is undoubted, and when it is worked into a scroll patterm and combined with Silk embroidery, it is doubly effective. In this instance the designer has chosen Pink Georgette and used the above mentioned trimming on an inset front that is edged with two pleats which fall from the shoulder to the waist band. On each pleat are four small Georgette buttons. The neck is round, with a turn-back collar. The cuffs are hemstitched and garnished with buttons of Flesh Georgette. Price, $13.75.

Of course Georgette (Navy Blue) is the material, even though there is a tailored collar with a turn-over of Beige and a two-inch pleat down the front of the same colour, which in turn is trimmed with two rows of Navy buttons On either side is a Motif of Silk and Coral beads in dark tones and shaded with silver. The cuffs correspond with collar. Price, $16.50.

Mid Grey Georgette has been employed in the making of this winsome Blouse, with its quaint frills that fall from either side of a panelled front. The panel itself is piped with Coral, six frills, three on either side are picot edged and extend from collar to waist band. The cuffs correspond with three similar picot edged frills. Price, $13.50.

This White Georgette Blouse is ideal for she who is partial to a tailored model. The opening is down the front and fastens with pearl buttons, and on both sides are loose panels edged with White Military Braid. There is a yoke of six inches in depth, outlined with Military Braid, on back and front. The cuffs are bell shape — braid finish and buttons. Price, $17.50.

This Blouse of Black Georgette is made fascinating by a sharp colour contrast. The front is of that charming shade, Capotte Blue, and is enhanced by scrolls of Coral and Maize beads. The neck is round and there is a Black collar with Blue piping. The sleeves are narrowed at cuff by two-inch bands of Blue, and finished with Picot edge. Price, $14.95.

CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC HAS BEEN ENLARGED AND REMODELLED FOR NEW SEASON BEGINNING SEPT 2ND

With the reopening of the fall term of study on Tuesday, September 2, the Conservatory of Music offers to the city of Peterboro and the Trent district one of the most complete suite of studios in the Dominion. For months extensive alterations have been in progress and are now nearly finished. Twelve studios will now be available for the students of the Conservatory and the teaching staff. The auditorium has been enlarged and thoroughly equipped for dances, concerts and other public assemblies. The improvements afford new comforts and facilities that have been carefully designed to make the Conservatory more than ever the centre of the artistic and social life of Peterboro.

The assembly hall now includes rest rooms and dressing rooms that will be greatly appreciated by the citizens who attend the many events that are held there every winter. An entirely new and expensive heating system has been installed throughout, and the additions now approaching completion provide for the accomodation of seven hundred persons. Special thought has ben given to the alterations for the greater convenience of those who attend the concerts and dances.

The remodelling of the buildings, however, has not been confined to the auditorium. In increasing the number of studios and properly furnished tham for the use of the students and teachers, Mr. Rupert Gliddon has indicated his confidence in the future development of this city. Since coming here twenty years ago he and the capable staff with which he has alwhys surrounded himself, have been successful in giving to hundreds of young people a thorough education in one or other departments of music that make up the Conservatory's syllabus. Graduates are scattered all over the Dominion, many of them with degrees and diplomas, and above all a splendid training that will remain with them through life. It is a significant fact that not a few of the present teachers are graduates of the Conservatory. The staff for the new term numbers twenty teachers, all qualified by their studies and experience for the promotion of a high standard of music in this city and for the education of the students who will be entrusted to their abilities. Their work is not only carried on in Peterboro, but it affects the whole district. Many students come from out of town and some of the teachers conduct classes in nearby villages. It may be remarked in passing that among the graduates have been exceptional students who were dsicovered by Mr. Gliddon and given every encouragement. It should also me recalled that the concerts that are held from time to time for the benefits of the pupils give them a confidence that cannot otherwise be obtained. Another very desirable advantage are the two orchestras, the Conservatory orchestra, which deserves all the support that can be given it, and the Children's orchestra, a feature that is bound to broaden the musical ideas of the children and also to deepen their interest in their studies.

Lyceum Course This Winter.

There are considerations that have exerted a strong appeal to parents and children alike, and as the Conservatory broadens with the growth of the city, they should occupy a larger place in the musical life of Peterboro.

The winter Lyceum course, which has already established itself as a success, has been arranged for the coming season, and Mr. Gliddon promises even higher standard of art than in the past. Even if the performers are as capable as those who have performed here in the past the public should be delighted by th prospect of new delights. Former students nd those who are just beginning are reminded that the Conservatory is ready for re-opening on Tuesday.

PRIZES TO BE GIVEN FOR BEST SET TABLES

EXHIBITION BOARD ANNOUNCE THIS CLASS OPEN TO AMATEURS ONLY —WAS OMITTED FROM PRIZE LIST.

At the Spring meeting of the Exhibition Board, a resolution was passed placing the class for best set tables in the ladies' work class and taking it from the floral and horticulture department, where it had been placed in previous years, as it was felt that making it open to amateurs only the ladies of the city and district would be the ones particularly interested.

The Exhibition Board provides the recommendation and there will be a watchman on specially all the time of the Fair.

The ladies will require to provide their own table silver, glassware and linen; no china is required and set for a party of four for luncheon.

The prizes offered are as follows, and it is expected there will be keen competition:

| | |
|---|---|
| First Prize | $10.00 |
| Second | 7.50 |
| Third | 5.00 |
| Fourth | 2.50 |

35 ALLEN THEATRES IN U.S. AND CANADA

two pieces until seven o'clock because of the fact that most of the players or ectherwise employed. There will be two operators and an assistant. All the employees are Union members. On Saturdays the orchestra will play from 2 p. m. until the close at night.

Theatre Greatly Improved.

The public will notice many improvements under the new management. In fact it has been completely renovated. Instead of bare, unfinished walls and ceiling all the interior has been decorated. Panels and other mural features give an exceedingly pleasing effect. The painting is in soft harmonizing tones, and there are decorative features that appeal to the eye, breaking the expanse of walls and ceiling with an artistic touch that is heightened by the rich plush curtains draped over the screen and stage and the boxes and exits at the back of the theatre. The shades of color have been nicely chosen and the visual effect is thoroughly satisfying.

A new gold screen that brings out the pictures brilliantly, a transverter for the operating machines, new and ample lighting fixtures and other details will be noticed and appreciated by the public. A step on the ground has been eliminated by tearing up and relaying a wide strip right across the house, rear seats have been raised to give a better view and some of the seats at the side near the front have ben removed because of their disadvantagous position. Lights have been placed in the aisles in the gallery to obviate the stumbling of those who enter while a picture is being shown, and other little details all consulting the patrons' convenience have been provided.

It is expected that Judge Huycke and Mayor Duncan will formally open the theatre on Monday night about 8.15, after the first picture has been shown, and Messrs. Jule and Jay J. Allen have promised to come to Peterboro for the occasion.

BIRDS NEED NO COMPASS.

Experiments recently made go to show that the so-called "sixth sense" of certain animals is a magnetic one enabling them to know instinctively the points of the compass, or at any rate the direction in which to go.

In one experiment a labyrinth of of passages was constructed in metal, and so aranged that the whole business worked on a pivot, and could be turned in any desired direction.

Rats were trained to traverse this labyrinth until they could go through in a few seconds.

The contrivance was then moved through an angle of ninety degrees, yet the rats went through in the same direction as formerly, but not, of course through the same passages to which they were accustomed.

A blind bat was turned loose in a room across which had been stretched a number of fine threads. The bat flew in and out among these threads with as much apparent ease as if it had been in full possession of its sight.

Small birds, as we know, cross great stretches of sea, frequently flying by night. They can have no possible landmarks by which to fly, and therefore must have a wonderful sense of direction.

ENGLAND VASTLY CHANGED SINCE LAST WAR SUMMER

MEN SHUN WORK, WOMEN SMOKE AND ALL ARE ON SPENDING DEBAUCH—LITTLE CARE OF HOW THE NATIONS BUSINESS IS RUN OR BY WHOM.

AND PRICES MOUNT HIGHER

LONDON.—The contrast in England between the industrial and living conditions of the summer of 1918 and those existing to-day is very marked. When the war was on and every one was willing to do his bit to carry one the big game and defeat the enemy. To-day apparently the majority do not want to do any work at all, but they all want the money. Very few appear to care how the nation's business is to be carried on or who is going to do it.

Thousands of men are idle in all the big cities, loafing about the streets and listening to the agitators who tell them that now the war is over the workers who toiled and moiled to win it must get their bit and have the leisure to enjoy spending it. This appeals to the masses in these sultry August days and strikes are occurring daily in the various trades which all helps to keep down production and increase the cost of living.

Ships are lying in the docks at London, Bristol, Cardiff, Liverpool and other seaports, while others are anchored in the river waiting to get in and discharge their cargoes of foodstuffs and other goods that are badly needed in the country. The loss in the shipping industry alone will run into millions of dollars and the end is not yet in sight. The most conservative among the business men and manufacturers express their emphatic opinion that unless the British working man stops agitating and returns to work the country will become bankrupt. This they admit, is like the old cry of "Wolf! Wolf!" because there has always been a cry about England going to the dogs, but now they say that this is going to happen and every indication points that way.

Young women who have been drawing unemployment pay of $6.25 a week for six months while they sat around thinking about work have another three emonths' grace to find a job, and in the meantime there are thousands of places open for milliners, dressmakers, maids, &c., at good wages.

People Have Rolls of Bills.

The people appear to have rolls of one pound notes to spend, which are worth $4.30 in United States currency and do not regard them seriously, as they did the old gold piece which was worth twenty shillings, and bought goods to that amount. Shoes that cost $8 during the war are now selling at $11 without any reason for the increase, except the hackneyed one given by the salesman who says: "They're all doing it." Clothes are fully 25 per cent. dearer than a year ago and the same with shirts, hosiery, ties, and all kinds of wearing apparel. Fruit is dear and scarce. Green apples cost 60 cents a pound, cherries 50 cents, and grapes $1.25 a pound, while small bananas from the western islands are retailed at 10 and 12 cents apiece.

Now there is a bakers' strike on, and numbers of restaurants and clubs place "no bread" signs out. Officials of the Government predict that the coming winter will be the hardest of any since the war commenced, and the orders have gone out already for meat, sugar and butter cards. Milk will be scarce, it is predicted, and will cost 25c a bottle. It can only be obtained now in restaurants for babies and invalids. Many of the farmers have given up their dairies and the selling of milk, butter and cheese because they have to pay their hands $8.50 a week with their board for 44 hours' work. They can make money easier by growing wheat.

Politeness has become almost extinct in the streets and public places. Men and women scramble for seats in subways and motor busses with such fierceness that New Yorkers get weary of it after a week in London and want to go home for a rest. Any suggestion in a store that the price is too high is met with indifference by the proprietor and sometimes with the remark: "These are our prices, and you can take it or leave it." Saleswomen are far worse than the salesmen in dealing with customers. The only polite women in London are the smart little conductresses on the motor buses, who are much handier and quicker at the job than the men are.

Heads of manufacturing firms in Sheffield and Birmingham are so disgusted with the behavior of the laboring classes that they talk of shutting down their works for six months to bring them to their senses. The labor leaders are shouting for nationalism of railways, mines and other industries, while Lord Rothermere and other public men say that it would mean ruination. While the men are striking their women and children are enjoying themselves at the seashore. There are not excursion rates on the railroads, and in spite of the 50 per cent. additional tax above the ordinary fares the trains are packed all day long. There seems no end to the supply of Bradcalled. The manager of one of the big munition plants said to-day that many of the girls had saved as much as £500 ($2,5000) to spend after the war.

On the River Thames above Richmond people pay as high as 10 shillings an hour for rowboats instead of the usual charge of two shillings.

Women Smoke Everywhere.

The increase in smoking among young women has been greater since the armistice than it was during the war. They walk about the hotels and restaurants puffing away at their cigarettes in mouthpieces nearly a foot long in a breezy, nonchalent manner which makes the elderly woman stand and exclaim: "What are we coming to?" Women smoke at meals in all places from the Ritz Hotel to Picadilly down to the small tea shops in the side streets of the city. The old-time pre-war custom when women listened while men expounded their ideas has vanished. The men do the listening while their better halves tell them how the country should be governed.

The theatres and moving picture houses are crowded nightly and some of the plays have been on ever since the war started.

The motor lorries have helped to relieve the congestion of traffic, but those who ride on them do not look happy. The lorries bump from side to side in the most disconcerting manner and nerve-racking fashion and afford a good imitation of the sensation experienced in riding a military trotting camel without going to the Sedan to get it.

There are very few shoeblacks in the streets, as they can do better by drawing unemployment pay. Those who are out range between 65 and 80 years of age and shine a pair of shoes in the delicate manner that would be employed in dusting rare orchids. I only found one shoeshine stand between Charing Cross along the Strand to Fleet Street, and the owner had gone to the bank to draw his dividends, his secretary, who sold papers, told me.

Americans intending to visit England should not leave New York before they have procured rooms in London, which has a floating population of at least 500,000 above normal pre-war conditions and very few hotels. A wealthy New Yorker, who arrived from Liverpool by the boat train, had to ride around London for two hours before he could find a place to sleep which he eventually secured over an Italian restaurant in the Strand. He had to clear out of there next day and passed the following night in a small temperance hotel nearby, where he was aroused at 8 a.m by the cistern on the roof carrying away and washing him out of his room into the street in his nightie.

Through the influence of several prominent bankers he obtained a room in the Carlton Hotel for one night only as the accomodation of the hotel had been engaged by the Government for the President of Brazil and a number of Indian Maharajahs. After sleeping all over London for one week the persevering American managed to get permanent accomodation in a West End hotel through being tipped off by the head porter, whom he had bribed, that one of the guests had been knocked down by a taxi cab and taken to a hospital in a critical condition.

Liverpool and Manchester are crowded in the same manner. Passengers have frequently to return on board the ship to sleep and regular commercial travelers are paying $2.50 a day in boarding houses for scant accomodation where the normal rate for the same is 75 cents.

SAYS LIEUT.-GOVERNOR IS USELESS OFFICIAL

(Special to The Examiner.)

DURHAM, Aug. 30.—In the opinion of W. T. Smith, of "The Farmers' Sun," chief speaker at the U. F. O. convention here yesterday afternoon, Sir John Hendrie, Lieut.-Governor of the Province, is the most useless official in the Province, and the Duke of Devonshire is not by any means the most useful official in Canada.

"It cost five thousand dollars alone," he said, in denouncing Government expenditures, "for fuel last year for the residence of Ontario's Lieutenant-Governor, the most useless official in the Province. It is a scandal to spend money like that at any time, and it is a crime in the face of the present situation. It cost $17,000 to heat the residence of the Governor-General of Canada, not by any means the most useful official in Canada."

38 SECURED WORK AT EMPLOYMENT BUREAU

At the Employment Bureau this week 87 applications were received for work and 38 men were placed. Thirty-eight vacancies were reported. Seventeen men were transferred to work in the lumber camps. In the woman's department only one application for work was received, this from a stenographer out of employment. She has not yet been placed.

Vocational Training.

Captain Morrison said this morning that the Vocational Training courses offered by the Government are becoming daily more in demand. Most of the applicants desire business courses, while motor mechanics come second.

Purina Chicken Chowder Helps Hens Moult

Few hens can produce feathers and eggs at the same time. Feathers are mostly protein. Purina Chicken Chowder helps hens moult because it runs high in protein. It is not a tonic, but a wholesome, scientific, balanced feed, to be fed with Purina Scratch Feed. These two form a perfect ration for moulting and laying hens. Grain feeds are not suitable for moulting, and unless Purina Chicken Chowder is fed, moulting will be slow, recovery slow, and the chances of winter egg laying considerably reduced. ## BIG BOXING BOUTS FOR BROCK ST. RINK

Peterboro is to have a chance of seeing a good programme of boxing on Friday evening, September 5th, in the Brock street rink. The main bout will be between young Cattle, formerly lightweight corps champion of the C. E. F., and Kid Brompton of New York. Cattle is a former member of the 18th Battalion and in 1917 won the corps championship in France. He now has his eyes on the Canadian lightweight title and his bout with Brompton, a well known New York lightweight, will be a good list. In addition to the main bout, there will be a good programme of preliminaries and an interesting night's sport is promised.

How About Your Boy?

...ou take a great deal o... interest in that boy o... ours—don't you?

Giving him a good education, watching over his health and his welfare—but what about his eyes?

Do you know that his eyesight is perfect? Have you ... had his eyes examined?

If you haven't, you don't know for a certainty that his eyesight is perfect. Children themselves are not conscious of slight eye troubles and it is these slight troubles which when neglected develop into serious troubles.

Let us suggest that before school opens again you have his eyes examined. It is the safest way.

AIRPLANE FALLS IN CORNFIELD THEN GOLD RAINS ON FARMER

ROOSEVELT FIELD, L.I., Aug. 30.—Lieutenant William T. Coates and his observer, Lieutenant Roullot, who completed their race to-day, were forced to descend near Batavia on their way because of motor trouble.

They landed in a cornfield. The irate farmer galloped at them, shouting:

"Hey, what you fellers doin' in my cornfield?"

"We just dropped in to make a social call," replied Coates.

Then the Lieutenant explained the difficulty and said he would remove the airplane as soon as he could make repairs. Meantime he and his observer would walk to a telephone and call up headquarters.

"Well," advised the farmer, "reckon you'll have to walk purty far up the road to find one. We'll take care of yer verlocipede."

Coates and Roullot were gone for more than an hour. When they returned they were startled to see a big sign hanging up where it could be plainly seen down the road, reading:

"See the Great American Ace and Airplane that fell 2,000 feet. Admission, 50 cents."

"They'll get a swell crowd in this lonely place," remarked Coates.

"How's business?" the Lieutenant inquired, walking up to the farmer.

"Purty good, so far," was the reply. "Collected little more'n seventy dollars up to date."

Coates made quick repairs, cranked up, and whirred away.

PRINCE STREET SEWER PLUGGED WITH SAND MAY HAVE TO BE RELAID AGAIN

"The Prince street sewer has been dug up and is being relaid for the third time. Who is responsible?" asked Ald. Edgar at last night's meeting of the Board of Work. City Engineer Parsons explained that the ground consisted almost entirely of quicksand. It was feared tlso that the Romaine street sewer would have to be dug up again. The matter was left over.

Grand Trunk Bridge.

A letter was received from the Railway Board stating that the Grand Trunk Railway had applied for authority to reconstruct the bridge over the creek at Bethune street.

It was understood that the railway intended to maintain only their part of the bridge and charge the city for maintenance of the bridge in the past.

It was moved by Ald. Turner and seconded by Ald. Hamilton, that the matter be referred to the Legal committee for advice.

Traffic Notices.

It was moved by Ald. Crowe and seconded by Ald. Edgar, that the chairman of the Board be authorized to have notices directing traffic at Burnham street and the Calcutt brewery for guidance to the temporary roadway through the lane behind the brewery.—Carried.

Mann's Mill a Nuisance.

Ald. Edgar stated that the sawdust and smoke from E. H. Mann's sawmill constituted a nuisance to Aylmer street residents. He thought that something should be done. Ald. Hamilton, however, thought that Mr. Mann had several losses and that it was "too bad to hit a man when he's down." It was decided to hold the matter over.

Good Roads.

The condition of the roads on the east outskirts of the city was next discussed. Ald. Phelan had tried to get in touch with the Reeve of Douro regarding the matter and expected to have it settled soon.

Ald. McIntyre stated that the government road along the canal, between Maria street and the Norwood road was in a very bad state. It was decided to write the Department of Railways and Canals to see if something could not be done.

Firemn in Labour Parade.

Ald. Hamilton informed the Board that the firemen wished to take part in the Labour parade on Monday. They would be in the lead, and in case of a fire could easily leave. It was decided to permit them to do so.

BELGIAN SOLDIERS NOT KEEN TO WORK

RECONSTRUCTION WORK SLOW--NONE OF GERMANY'S INDEMNITY PAID.

NEW YORK, Aug 29.—One of the 200 saloon passengers who arrived from England on the Cunarder Carmania was Prince Reginald de Croy of Belgium on his way to Washington to take up the post of First Secretary at the Belgian Legation. The Prince, who speaks English fluently, has not visited America since 1915.

He worked in Brussels during the war with nurse Edith Cavell and assisted her in getting wounded prisoners over the frontier into Holland. He said that he would have been arrested by the Germans and probably shared the English nurse's fate if he had not been warned in time to leave the country. His sister, who stopped in Brussels to nurse wounded soldiers, was arrested and had three years in a German prison when the armistice set her free.

"The work of reconstruction and rebuilding the commerce and industry in Belgium is proceeding slowly," said Prince de Croy, "because we have not received any of the cash indemnity from Germany, and the young men of 20 and 21 years of age do not take kindly to factory life after living in the open so long. They went into the army as boys and have never done any work before, and now, that peace has come, these young men seem to prefer to wander about and smoke their pipes, but they will follow the example of their elders later and settle down, I am confident. A soldier's not all fighting and living in dugouts, and it has always had a certain fascination, and more especially for young men. There has been a great deal of building in the principal cities to repair the damage done during the war.

"The question as to what is to be done with the seven millions of paper marks held by the Belgian Government is still in abeyance, and it is possible that the money will be spent in trading with Germany. She was one of the largest producing countries before the war, and if the Allies decline to trade with Germany there is very little prospect of Belgium or any of the Allies receiving the payment of the indemnities."

Had a Very Bad Attack of Bowel Complaint

IT WAS CURED BY

DR. FOWLER'S EXTRACT OF WILD STRAWBERRY

Any one suffering from bowel complaints such as diarrhoea, dysentery, colic, cramps and pains in the stomach, summer complaint, etc., will find that Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry will give quicker and more permanent relief han any other remedy on the market to-day.

This old tried and proven medicine has been on the market for the past 74 years. You don't experiment when you buy it. Surely the test of time proves this.

Mrs. Daniel Hartwick, Mountain Grove, Ont., writes:—"I used Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry and have found that it is a good remedy. When my little girl was 2 1-2 years old she had a very bad attack of bowel complaint. Nothing prescribed by the doctor seemed to do her any good. She got worse, until we thought we would loose her. I got a bottle of 'Dr. Fowler's', and she soon found relief. Every one who has children should not be without it in their home.

Price 35 cents a bottle; put up only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

THE NEW LIBERAL LEADER

Hon. William Lyon Mackenzie King, the new leader of the Liberal party, is one of the few living Canadian Liberals who may lay claim to international fame. This he owes to his actual achievements in dealing with the vexed problem of labor and captal,—a subject in which he has specialized since his student days. Politically he is a protege of Sir William Mulock, who while serving as Postmaster-General in the Laurier Cabinet induced Sir Wilfrid to establish a Department of Labor. For a time Sir William held the joint offices of Postmaster-General and Minister of Labor, but chose Mr. King, then a very young man, as his Deputy, and to the latter the work of organizing the department was delegated. Finally, in 1909 Sir Wilfrid decided to make the Labor branch a full-fledged Ministerial department, an on June 2nd of that year, Mr. King was sworn in as a Cabinet Minister. It had been a tradition for some years that Sir Wilfrid, who had a great admiration for Mr. King's oratorical powers, predicted that he would one day be leader of the Liberal party, and the prophesy (if uttered) has come to pass more quickly than the old chieftain could have anticipated.

Mr. King is a grandson of the famous rebel leader, William Lyon Mackenzie, but much abler than that turbulent and ill-balanced individual. He was born at Berlin (now Kitchener), Ont., on December 17, 1874, the son of John King, K. C., a well-know barrister ad expert on libel law. His education was remarkably complete. He is a graduate of the University of Toronto, and holds the degrees of B.A., M.A., and L.L.B., in that institution; and took post-graduate at the University of Chicago and at Harvard University in which he holds the degrees of M.A. and Ph.D. While at Harvard he formed a close friendship with Charles Elliot Norton, and other eminent Americans. He was one of the first Canadians to specialize in sociology and industrial problems and has a world-wide reputation as an authority on these questions. While pursuing his studies he also served as a newspaper reporter on the Toronto "Globe" and the Toronto "Mail and Empire". His entry into political and official life through the foresight of Sir William Mulock has been outlined, and during the years that he was Deputy Minister of Labor he took part in the adjudication of innumerable industrial disputes ,and in immigration problems One of the most important duties he was called upon to fulfill was that of one of the British Government's Commissioners on the International Commission to deal with the opium question, which met at Shanghai, China, in 1909.

He was one of the Ministers defeated on the Reciprocity issue in 1911, and since then has bee a private citizen. But in 1914 the Rockfeller Foundation of the United States appointed him Director of Investigation of Industrial Relations. His services in that capacity have been magnificient, and he is the actual author of the Industrial Relationship plan—or "Colorado" plan, so named because it was first applied in connection with the mines of that State—which has since been adopted by the Standard Oil Company and its allied corporations, the International Harvester Company, and other great concerns. His book, "Industry and Humanity," is one of the ablest works on the problems of capital and labor ever penned. He is also the real author of most Canadian legislation for the settlement of labor disputes, and the Whitley Councils of Great Britain are in part modelled on his ideas. Apart from his powers as a student and thinker his oratorical gifts are unexcelled by any Canadian, and though he has gained no very wide reputation as a practical politician, his growing strength in the councils of Canadian Liberalism was made apparent in his victory at the Ottawa Convention. —H. C.—In Toronto Saturday Night.

ARREST MAN IN A CHURCH

(Special to The Examiner.)

MONTREAL, Que., Aug. 30.—The sacriliges in churches and attacks on watchmen of same, have made detectives and police here give extra attention to all places of worship. At midnight last night Constable McLennon fround a man about forty years of age sitting in a pew in St. James' Catholic Cathedral with his boots off. After considerable questioning he gave his name as Joseph Reahm, and his occupation as an engineer. ## SUMMARY OF IRON AND STEEL MARKET

Not so very many weeks ago buyers were hesitating about going into the steel market to make purchases for future needs in large quantities. They preferred to buy for actual requirements, and to pay warehouse rather than mill prices for what they secured. Now the chances are that a large buyer would find it very difficult to get a mill to give him anything like a definite delivery promise. The uncertainty that exists regarding the labour situation in United States, especially as it centres around the steel mills, is having the effect of stimulating purchases in many lines, on the assumption that it may be hard to get supplies later on should the strike fever break out, as it threatens to do.

Canadian mills are well booked in some departments, and although no price changes have been made, there is a very plain intimation that bar mills will have new figures for the trade before very long. These mills have a lot of business now, and are not keen to book in some cases at prevailing lists.

Buying is quite general in plates, tubes, etc. In fact so urgent has been the call for plate in some cases that warehouse prices have been paid for tonnages that under ordinary circumstances would have gone to the mills. Delivery from the mills is not improving, this being especially true of boiler tube situation where there is considerable spread how between the time of order and that of delivery.

The automobile business is still a good purchaser of machine tools, and other interests that have contracts from these firms are also buying. Dealers handling agricultural machinery report heavy sales. In fact one large distributing firm reported this week that they had sold their allotment of tractors already, including those that had been counted on to keep their sales force busy right up to the end of the year.

Scrap metal shippers are not selling very heavily, unless under contract, there being a feeling that it is good policy to wait until the New York and Chicago markets settle down. There seems to be a feeling that manipulation is going on in some centres, and holders of good qualities are simply letting matters stand. Prices remain stationary. — Canadian Machinery.

GERMAN ARMY IN LITHUANIA

(Canadian Press.)

PARIS, Aug. 30.—(By Associated Press)—A German army of nearly 40,000 men, with modern equipment, including more than 300 airplanes, has assembled in Lituanie, and is apparently marching into Russia ostensibly to reach and help Admiral Kolchak, according to Lithuanian advices here.

Word to this effect was brought to Paris by Chief Engineer Steibikoś of the Lithuanian Railway system, who declared that the Germans talked freely of a common understanding between Germany, Russia and Japan.

In describing the situation to the Associated Press correspondent, M. Steibiko said that large German forces which had reoccupied Lithuanian territory from which they had been several times ordered away by both the Lithuanian Government and Marshal Foch, were entrenching themselves and making preparations for a march through Russia. They called themselves 'Kolchakis,' and pretended that their immediate object was to reach and cooperate with the admiral's forces. The Germans had partly evacuated the region but since August 11th, according to M. Steibiko they have been concentrating troops anew in western Lithunian, with their base at Shavli, where they also have established a general staff.

KEEP EYE ON LEGISLATION

ONTARIO MUNICIPAL ASSN.

About Forty Delegates Attending the Annual Meeting Which Opened in City Hall Yesterday.

With an attendance of about forty the annual meeting of the Ontario Municipal Association opened in the Council Chamber of the City Hall yesterday. A brief address of welcome was delivered by Mayor Church, to which S. Baker, of London, replied.

G. K. Dewey, City Clerk of Brockville, the president of the association, in his annual address, called attention to the fact that since the last meeting much important legislation affecting municipal government had been enacted, including votes for women.

W. B. Doherty, city solicitor of St. Thomas, in his address, said: "There has been a tendency of late years to shorten the sessions of the Legislature, so as to complete the work before Easter, with the result that a great deal of the legislation is rushed through in the closing weeks of the session and much of that affecting municipalities becomes law before their representatives even know of its introduction, and consequently they have no opportunity of giving it consideration." He suggested a bureau of municipal affairs to supervise such legislation and keep the municipalities in touch with it through the association.

Hydro Fund.

He referred to the clauses added to the Power Commission Act which provide that the commission may establish a fund for retiring allowance or superannuation for permanent employes of the Hydro. He said the question would be asked where this legislation emanated and whether the municipalities were consulted, and why employes of other municipal departments should not have a similar fund.

J. A. Ellis, of the Ontario Railway Board, gave an address on amendments to the Association Act, during which he said that while small homes were usually assessed up to practically their full value this was seldom, if ever, the case with the wealthy man's homes. He blamed the law for this.

SEEK RIGHT TO BARGAIN COLLECTIVELY AT SESSION

ONE OF THE PRINCIPAL POINTS AT "ROUND TABLE" CONFERENCE.

WORKING CONDITIONS

By Ralph F. Couch.
(United Press.)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2. — The right to organize and bargain collectively with respect to wages and working conditions will be the principal point organized labour will press at the "round table" industrial conference to be called by President Wilson, leaders here agreed to-day.

Labour leaders feel they will have the President with them in this demand and there is the belief among some of them that the President may go even farther.

THE ROYAL CREST ON HONOUR FLAG

PRINCE UNFURLS FIRST ENSIGN FOR THIS YEAR'S VICTORY LOAN.

Canadian Press:

OTTAWA, Sept. 2.—Two significant facts were emphasized yesterday morning when the Prince of Wales unfurled the first Victory Loan honour flag in front of the Parliament Buildings at the conclusion of the ceremony in connection with the laying of the corner-stone of the new tower of the Parliament Buildings. The first was that the honour flags to be awarded this year to those cities and districts which exceed their objectives in the Victory Loan campaign are to be known as the Prince of Wales' flags, and the second that the ceremony took place on the morning of Labour Day, as a fitting tribute to organized Labour in Canada, and as recognition of the part that Labour played in the great war, not only the fighting men at the front, but the great army of munition and other workers at home who backed up the men overseas.
